LIENS HIT 75 IN LAKEWOOD WHO BOUGHT FENCES (THEY THOUGHT)

By BUD LEMBEKE

More than 75 Lakewood homeowners who bought and paid in cash or with FHA loans for cement block fences last fall may have to pay again—up to $20,500—because of materials liens placed against their property, it was disclosed Saturday.

The liens were filed by Certified Materials Co., 6144 Cherry Ave., and Ray Sharp Materials Co., 1385 Orizaba Ave., to obtain money which they claim is owed them by B. R. Wilkinson, operator of Lakewood Fence Co.

Wilkinson is named co-defendant in the liens.

The two material firms charge that Wilkinson did not pay for the cement, steel and concrete blocks obtained from them to erect the fences.

Notice of intention to foreclose on the liens has been filed in Long Beach Superior Court.

The action brought a warning from Better Business Bureau, Federal Housing Administration and bank officials here that homeowners contracting for improvements on their property should protect themselves against such liens before paying for the work.

There are two methods of protection:

- 1.—Filing a notice of completion with the county recorder's office and waiting a period of 35 days before paying the contractor.
- 2.—Requiring the contractor to present lien releases or waivers of the lien privilege, signed by representatives of firms which provided the material.

The Certified firm also has filed suit for $12,000 against Wilkinson, according to Miles Perovich, partner in the concern.

Perovich said the suit against Wilkinson is set for court trial in July. No date has been set for court hearings on foreclosure of the liens. Perovich said his firm has filed them against "40 or 45 property owners."

Wilkinson reportedly owes Certified $12,000.

O. F. Marshall, manager of the Ray Sharp company, said Wilkinson originally owed the Sharp concern $10,000 for material used in constructing fences at 50 residences.

"About 10 of the property owners paid us for the materials used in their fences and since the 40 liens were filed last October, about five other property owners paid us," Marshall said.

The 35 Ray Sharp liens remaining are for $8500, Marshall said.

Martin Shide, 6118 Eberle St., in Lakewood Park, reported that the lien against his property is for $216.

Shide questioned whether the material firms would actually foreclose on a $11,000 or $12,000 house to collect a relatively small amount.

Most of the houses have first mortgages which would have to be paid off from proceeds of court sales before the material companies could obtain the amounts of the liens.

Most of the properties on which the liens were filed are Lakewood Park and Lakewood Plaza homes completed in the last year.

The law does not require lending agencies or FHA to have proof that a contractor has paid his bills before turning over to him the money for the improvement. This responsibility rests with the property owner.

M. E. Ridenour, manager of the Long Beach Better Business Bureau, pointed out, however, that all FHA offices were advised from Washington Jan. 13 to co-operate with the Better Business Bureau in preventing "unethical practices" by contractors doing "Title I" (FHA improvement loan) work.

Wilkinson said Saturday that he has not been in business since Oct. 1. He had operated the fence company for five years.

"Everything I have in assets is gone. The Division of Internal Revenue has attached everything I have to obtain withholding taxes," he said.

He contended that 80 per cent of the liens are improperly drawn. The amounts of many liens are for more than the cost of materials used in construction of the individual fences, he claimed.

Russ Demand Allies Junk Defense Pact

Moscow Bluntly Sets
Price for Removing Army From Austria

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BERLIN — (AP). Russia served notice Saturday its price for withdrawal of Red troops from Austria is abandonment of the American-backed European defense system.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov refused to roll back the Iron Curtain from the Danubian republic despite renewed appeals from the three Western Powers and Leopold Figel, the Austrian foreign minister.

Molotov cited to the foreign ministers' conference here the build-up of American and Western strength generally in Europe as the reason for his demand that Austria, even if granted "independence," must be garrisoned by the Soviet army until the German peace treaty is signed.

He added that it would facilitate matters in eventually freeing Austria "if the three Western Powers — the United States, France and Britain — were to reject their plans regarding the setting up of the European Defense Community and a resurgence of German militarism."

The East-West deadlock over Austria remained unaltered despite more than four hours' argument. It followed a private talk between Molotov and U. S. Secretary of State Dulles Saturday afternoon, in which they failed to nail down procedure for an international conference for the peaceful pooling of atomic energy.

In three weeks, the Big Four parley has failed to make concrete progress on any major issue—Germany, Austria, relaxation of international tensions, and peace in Asia's wars.

After his inconclusive atomic discussion with Molotov, the second and last to be held in Berlin, Dulles led a Western maneuver approved to early Russian independence or to shelve the topic here.

In sharp tones, the American suggested the conference settle at once five disputed articles which had held up the Austrian pact for five years.

French Foreign Minister Bidault startled Molotov by announcing he would accept all the old Soviet amendments to these articles.

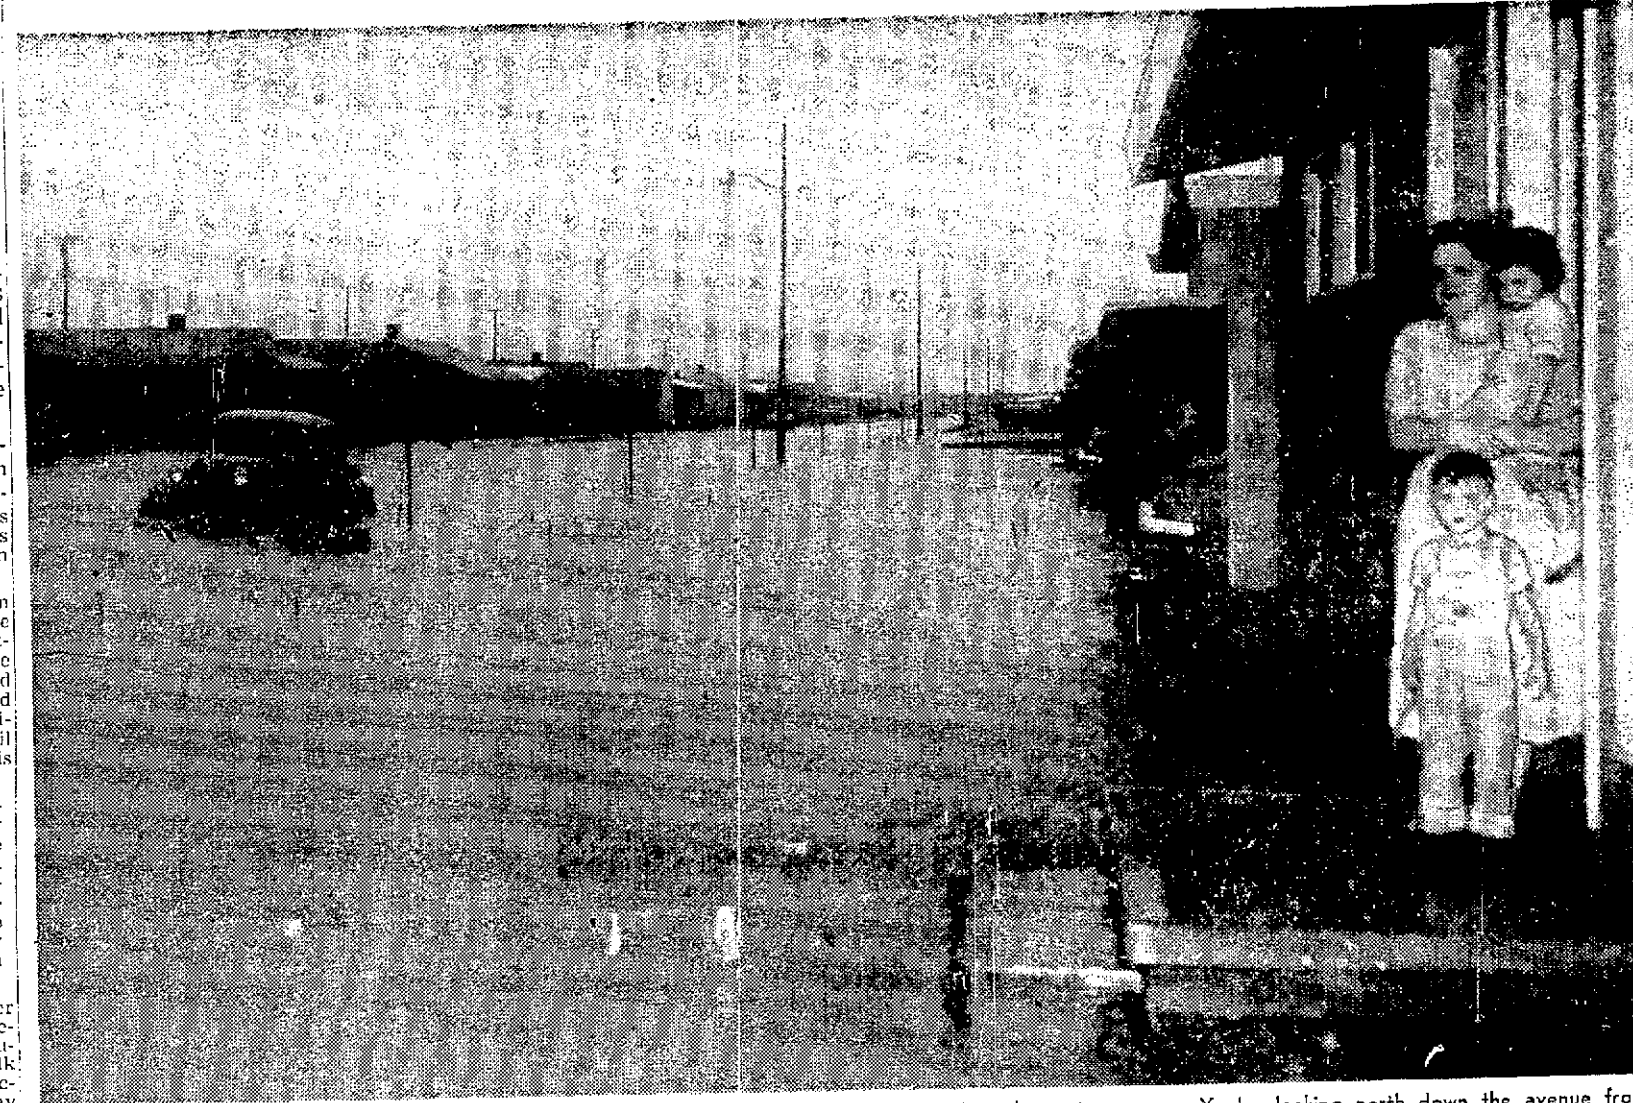

British Foreign Secretary Eden announced his agreement to the Soviet amendments, too, but made this conditional on the Austrian treaty being concluded now in Berlin.

Obviously fearing being cornered, Molotov beat a diplomatic retreat, covering it with a protest about procedure.

Dulles himself gave specific American acceptance only to the disputed article on displaced persons.

3-Inch Downpour Floods L.B.

24 Families Evacuated in Artesia Area

By FRED SCHOTT

Day-long downpours in Long Beach forced evacuation of at least two dozen families Saturday and the threat of continued heavy rains today brought out emergency crews to protect residents of hundreds of other endangered homes.

More than 2½ inches of rain in the Artesia area routed 10 families from their homes and brought floodwaters up to the doorsteps of scores of others, Norwalk sheriff's deputies reported.

Six families voluntarily evacuated their houses in the vicinity of Norwalk Blvd. and 195th St., where water rose to 15 inches in the street.

Two families in Norwalk were moved from their homes at 133rd St. and Norwalk and two other families left houses at 163rd St. and Norwalk as water crept into their floors at heights ranging to eight inches.

Two families in Norwalk were assisted from their homes by deputies when water inched up to their doorsteps.

All the families found shelter with friends or relatives. Roland Beach, manager of the Long Beach branch of the Red Cross, said.

Back reported Red Cross emergency crews were standing by at the old Pioneer School in Artesia. All available county flood control crews also were reported in operation under "emergency standby orders."

Sheriff's officers and the Red Cross official said families in the Artesia, Norwalk, Hawaiian Gardens and Paramount areas would "suffer quite a bit" if the deluge continued today.

U. S. Weather Bureau forecasters E. S. Kurtz said some sections of Southern California may receive a total of six inches of rain before the storm ends.

Norwalk received 2.68 inches Saturday, Artesia 2.63, Paramount 2.32 and Downey 2.43.

No reports of extensive flooding in the rich dairy country adjacent to the Artesia-Paramount area had been received by sheriff's deputies late last night.

However, water overflowed curbs in business sections in

Red Cross Alert for Refugee Aid

Skies over Long Beach poured out 3.02 inches of rain Saturday, turning streets in the Lakewood Plaza and Los Altos sections into navigable rivers and causing one of the most serious floods in recent years.

As scores of families watched the surging storm waters rise within inches of flooding their homes late in the afternoon, a fleet of city public service department trucks was alerted for evacuation of those stranded.

City lifeguard crews patrolled in boats along streets filled hip-deep with water and the Long Beach chapter of the American Red Cross began preparations to care for evacuees.

The downpour slackened in the evening, lifting the danger for residents in the eastern end of the city just north and northeast of the Long Beach State College campus.

The all-day deluge was the heaviest rain for a 12-hour period since 1951, the U. S. Weather Bureau reported.

The Bureau predicted recurring rain today, becoming heavy at times, with occasional showers tonight and Monday.

Swamped in the heaviest storm water for nearly two inches of rain fell between 1 and 5 p. m. were Atherton St., east of Palo Verde Ave., Vuelta Grande Ave., north from Atherton, and other streets leading into Atherton on both sides of the brimming Los Cerritos Drainage Channel. All the water emptied into the channel from Lakewood's network of drainage ditches.

Throughout the city, streets were studded with stalled and deserted autos, but the heaviest concentration was on Vuelta Grande, Lakewood Plaza Unit 9.

Water was four feet deep on Vuelta Grande.

Twenty-five men who live in the tract worked with shovels and picks for two hours to ease the danger by digging trenches from Atherton to a new roadbed in a subdivision being developed just south of Plaza 9. Their efforts helped to keep the water out of all but two or three houses at the southern end of Vuelta Grande.

Several families piled their furniture and belongings on saw-horses and other props in the houses as inundation threatened.

West of Vuelta Grande, on the opposite side of the swirling channel, residents of a tract occupied within the last two months ruefully surveyed the lake of storm water covering their newly planted lawns.

"It took us two weeks of hard work to put that lawn and

GI Admits He, Buddy Killed Talent Scout

EL RENO, Okla.—(AP). A 21-year-old AWOL soldier broke a solemn silence Saturday night and dictated to police a confession admitting he and a companion bludgeoned David L. Johnston, 30-year-old Hollywood talent scout, to death in his suburban Los Angeles home Wednesday night.

Ronald James Maurer, AWOL from Camp Stoneman, Calif., broke down under questioning by police officers. He told how he and his companion, Leo (Bob) Denmore of Los Angeles, who was arrested with Maurer, beat the Californian, stuffed his body into a closet in his home, then calmly helped themselves to his clothing, car and other goods.

Maurer first had told officers his name was George Edward Long, 21, of Astoria, Ore.

The real Long turned up Friday at Fort Bragg, N. C. His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Max Long, broke down and cried at Astoria when they learned, for sure, it was not their son held in connection with the slaying.

Maurer said he and Denmore killed Johnston when the hand-loomed talent scout refused them a loan. He also said Johnston made indecent advances to them, but they refused to co-operate.

Johnston's body was found by a friend Wednesday night after he failed to show up for an appointment.

"I am doing this to clear my conscience," Maurer said, "and also to help the police clear up this case without further trouble. I didn't do anything but slap him

Record Seeker Taking Off Here

A "souped-up" RF-50A Shooting Star jet fighter was scheduled to whisk aloft from Long Beach Air Force Base early today on an attempt to crack the coast-to-coast air record of 4 hours and 8 minutes.

Capt. William W. Brothers Jr. of Shaw Air Force Base, Sumter, N. C. aims to make the flight in 4 hours at 40,000 feet.

His destination will be New York.

The airman's plane was equipped with two standard 230-gallon wing tanks.

His flight plan called for the finding of a jet stream at high altitude that would boom his shooting star eastward with a tailwind of 80 knots.

Capt. Brothers hoped to take off at 3 a.m. Sunday, but had an alternate plan calling for a Monday morning takeoff.

NEW YORK — (AP). Frederick Lewis Allen, 63, author and editor, died here Saturday night after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage several days ago.

Allen formerly edited Harper's, the Atlantic Monthly and the Century Magazine. He has written several books, including "Only Yesterday," a record of the 1920s.

Seven Killed as Car Spins Across Road in Heavy Rain

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. — (AP). Five soldiers bound for a week end in San Francisco and a middle-aged couple en route to visit their son were killed Saturday in a bloody-broadside auto crash in heavy rain.

Only one man survived the shattering collision on Bayshore Highway near Moffett Field Naval Air Station, 36 miles south of San Francisco.

Killed in the accident, which road for almost an hour, were Mr. and Mrs. James Rostage, 63 and 58, of San Francisco, and five infantry trainees from the 20th Infantry Regiment at Ft. Ord.

The Army identified them as Privates Alexander A. Kong, 20, Honolulu; Arthur W. Linthicum, 35, Ankeny, Iowa; Albert L.

The California Highway Patrol said Vangler, driving the soldiers' car, was traveling at high speed when he suddenly slammed on his brakes, apparently to avoid slower traffic ahead.

The car spun across the highway broadside into the path of the Rostage car.

The impact wrecked the soldiers' car and threw all the soldiers but Matthews to the pavement. The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Rostage had to be cut from their car.

L. A. C. SAYS:

Indochina War

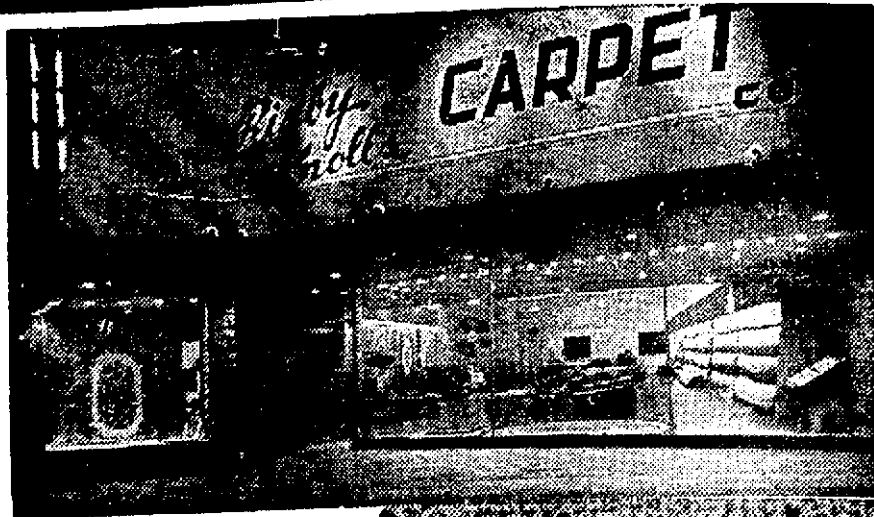

Considerable concern was expressed in the Senate over the United States sending some 200 technicians to Indochina. The technicians are for the purpose of training the French forces in using aircraft and other equipment furnished by this country. Quick denials were given that we were to send ground forces or any other sizable forces to Indochina to fight the Communists. It is an important discussion because the time may soon be here when we must make the decision as to how much we are to do in winning the Indochina war against the Communists.

News from that battle front indicates that the Communists are close to a sizable victory. The French, after seven years of fighting, are bankrupt and weary. Should the Red Chinese forces cross into Indochina, we will be faced with another Korea. We have stated our position as being ready to stop aggression wherever it a couple of times but Densmore hit him and kicked him."

The confession broke a two-day silence during which both suspects said they wanted to see an attorney. Densmore still would not talk and continued to demand counsel.

Maurer told officers Densmore was AWOL from the Canadian army. He said that while driving eastward from California they threw the Canadian army uniform and his army clothes out of the car "somewhere in Arizona."

Police made Maurer initial the confession paragraph by paragraph.

Maurer said they were in Johnston's home two hours talking and drinking beer.

"He started talking queer and made advances to me. I told him to get away from me. He kept talking that way. . . . He started to come at me. The next thing I knew I slapped him and we started wrestling around and all of a sudden he was lying on the floor."

"Bob was standing there with a piece of wood in his hand. I only remember part of what happened. We looked into each other's eyes to see if there was any money there. Bob came in with some pieces of cloth, rags of some kind, and started tying him up and gagging him with the rags."

Maurer's confession said he wanted to call police but Densmore wouldn't let him, commenting, "no, we're in too deep. We have to get out of here."

He said they threw clothing into the car and went to the home of Tom Foster, a Los Angeles grocery clerk, and took a camera and some clothes on a hanger.

"We went to Los Angeles and pawned the camera and a watch for $20. The camera belonged to Foster and the watch to Johnston."

Maurer said they left the city around noon, repeating that he begged Densmore to call a doctor "because the guy looked like he was hurt bad. He kept telling me no. He said he was conscious and trying to get his hands loose."

Maurer said they drove 90 to 110 miles an hour and made the 1600 miles to El Reno in 18 hours.

They were arrested by scout car officers here who recognized the car from an earlier description.

Maurer said he went AWOL from Camp Stoneman when he found out his outfit was going overseas. Army authorities there said they had a Ronald J. Maurer AWOL.

age displaced persons not to return to their countries of origin."

When Dulles tried to go on then to the article dealing with Austria's co-operation in preventing German rearmament, Molotov hotly demanded that the articles be discussed "not numerically but in order of importance."

This was a bid to swing the debate to his new proposals of Friday for indefinite garrisoning of Austria and for banning Trieste as a Western military base before there is an Austrian treaty.

Molotov's procedural filibuster was not choked off. Instead the Big Four agreed to hold an extraordinary Sunday session at which time they will try to decide the order for discussing the treaty.

They also arranged to hold their fourth secret talk on Asian war problems Monday morning and go back to the dead-end topic of Germany and European security in a regular session Monday afternoon.

Dulles administered a stinging personal rebuke in denouncing the Molotov scheme:

"Friday afternoon the Soviet foreign minister presented us with a rather peculiar sandwich. The top and the bottom of his remarks stressed the necessity for the early conclusion of an Austrian state treaty, which would re-establish a free and independent Austria. But in between he inserted some poisonous proposals. They meant that an Austria without freedom and independence . . . an indefinite occupation . . .

"I can understand that the Soviet Union fears a withdrawal from Austria which would also require it to withdraw its Red armies from Hungary and Romania."

"Is it, however, really decent that little Austria should have to continue to be an occupied state so that the Soviet Union will have a pretext for continuing to occupy also Hungary and Romania? So cynical an attitude will surely shock the conscience of the world."

As Austria's spokesman, Figl expressed "deep disappointment" at Molotov's demands. He rejected them because they would "not only destroy all hopes of the Austrian people but delay indefinitely the prospects for real liberation from foreign occupation."

County GOP to Invite Ike to Big Rally

WASHINGTON — (AP) President Eisenhower will be invited Monday to attend a big Republican rally in California in April.

If he decides to go, Los Angeles County Republicans who want him to speak before their $100-a-plate dinner, April 22, will have to change their date.

The President last Tuesday accepted an invitation to speak that day before the annual dinner of the American Newspaper Publishers' Assn. in New York.

There have been rumors for several days that Eisenhower might visit Palm Springs, Calif., soon, perhaps as early as the latter part of next week. Asked about these rumors at the Eisenhower vacation headquarters in Thomasville, Ga., Saturday night, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty replied:

"We will have no comment on that before returning to Washington."

The President, hunting quail in southern Georgia, will fly back to Washington this afternoon.

The White House made an appointment Saturday for the Californians to present their Los Angeles invitation at 12:30 p.m. Monday.

Pope's Voice on Air From Rome Tonight

VATICAN CITY — (U.P.) Pope Pius XII, recovering from a 19-day attack of gastritis, Saturday recorded from his own sickbed the start of a message to be broadcast to the sick and ailing of the world today.

He had hoped to give the entire message, Vatican sources said, but on the advice of doctors and aides recorded only the opening phrases.

The Vatican radio will carry the Pope's message to the world tonight on the Catholic "day of the sick."

A microphone and recording equipment were brought into the pontiff's bedroom and from his bed he spoke a greeting to the sick and ailing and then the start of his message.

Vatican sources said the 77-year-old Pope spoke in a firm and clear voice despite the attack of gastritis.

Father Francesco Pellegrino, of the Vatican Radio, will read the bulk of the message. The Vatican transmitter will beam recordings and translations of the message around the world in 30 languages.

3-Inch Rain Swamps City, County Areas

MOTORISTS were stranded by the dozens along Long Beach's Vuelte Grande Ave. in Lakewood Plaza during Saturday's 3-inch downpour. Hardest hit were streets and homes in the 1800 to 2300 block areas. Some motorists had to wade through waist-deep water after they left their vehicles.

24 Families Evacuated in Artesia Area

Downey, Lynwood, and Norwalk, reaching a maximum depth of 12 inches in front of Norwalk stores.

Fire and street departments in Lynwood sandbagged entrances to several stores on Long Beach Blvd. and State St.

Barricades were set up by police, sheriff's deputies, and California Highway Patrolmen on dozens of streets during the height of the storm. Thousands of cars were stalled and several motorists narrowly escaped being drowned when their autos became trapped in rushing torrents.

CARS SINK

Three cars were reported completely under water at Atlantic Blvd., south of Washington Blvd. in East Los Angeles.

Virtually every major highway in the county was flooded during the storm, highway officers declared.

However, most roads were open and passable late Saturday although the Highway Patrol cautioned drivers to "drive 10 miles an hour" in heavily-flooded areas.

Wilmington, San Pedro and most of the harbor area were cut off from the Los Angeles area because of flooding of all north-south arteries in the Torrance-Gardena area.

Dominguez Channel overflowed in the North Torrance area and residents were alerted for possible evacuation. Slackening off of rain early Saturday night reduced the danger temporarily.

The Bellflower Fire Dept. reported flooding of Clark St., but no homes were believed endangered.

OTHERS EVACUATED

Elsewhere in the county, Duarte and El Monte were hard hit with "about 25 families" evacuated from the two communities when water reached the floor level of their homes.

In Inglewood, police evacuated several families in row boats. All off-duty policemen were called back to work as water rose to nearly the height of cars in some low spots.

An outboard motorboat was towing some Inglewood streets to take motorists from autos that were stranded as the run-off turned streets into fast-flowing rivers. Officers said "many cars were stalled and all you can see is about six inches of their tops."

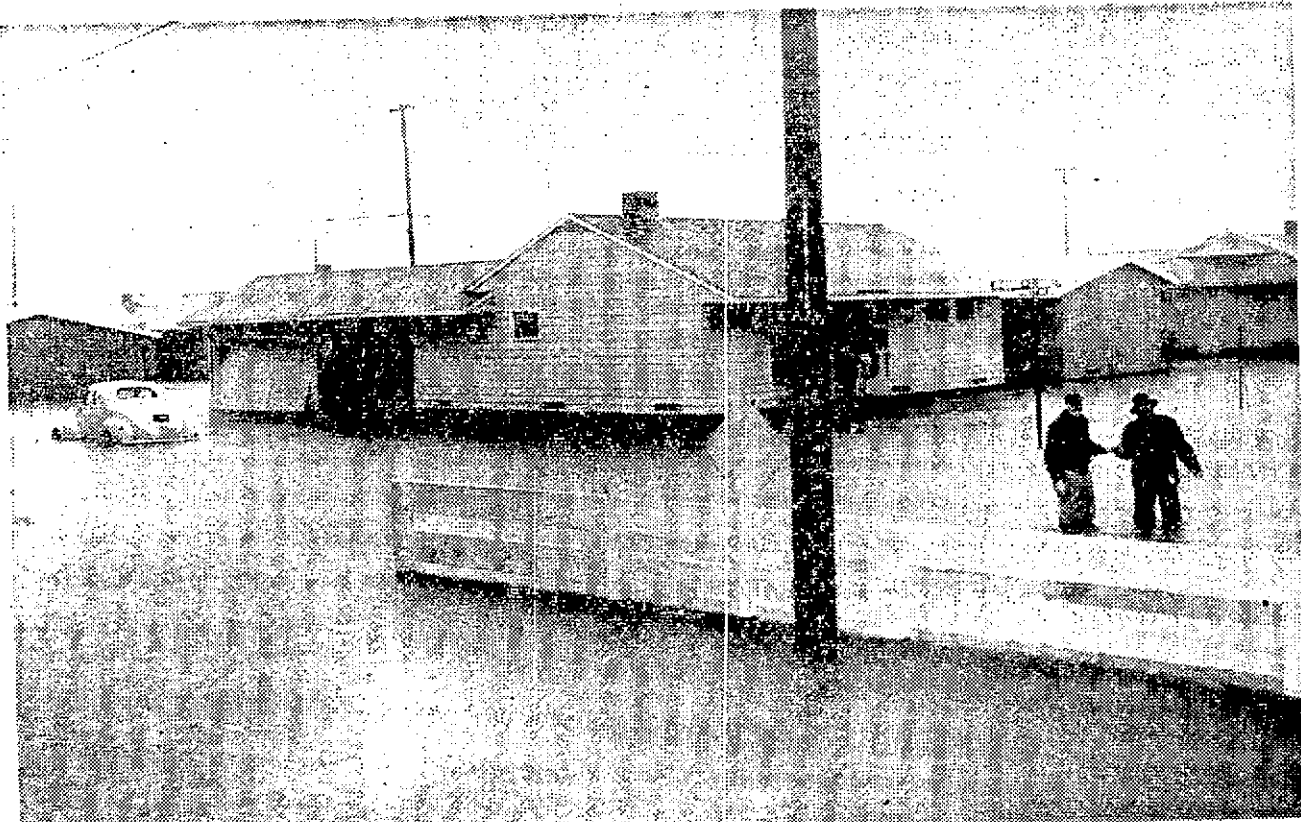

At least three homes were evacuated in West Los Angeles, police said, when the water depth reached up to eight feet in low spots.

Expensive low-slung sports cars parked near the Beverly Hills Hotel along Sunset Blvd. were endangered when water rose over the curb. Cars and buses were reported stalled along Sunset.

The Weather Bureau issued a special "heavy rain warning" advising that rainfall Saturday and Sunday would total two to four inches in Southern California sections. The forecast called for "heavy precipitation at times" in Los Angeles, Southern California mountain and coastal areas and intermediate valleys and reaching 150 miles south to the Mexican border.

He said all the streets in the tract drain into a concrete-lined ditch along Atherton, which in turn discharges into the channel through three 36-inch pipes in the channel levee.

Rita, Dick Again Secluded in Hotel

NEW YORK—(UPI) Rita Hayworth and her trouble-beat bridegroom, Dick Haymes, took refuge in a New York hotel Saturday while their attorney coped with their latest woe—landlord trouble.

The couple came here from their rented house in Greenwich, Conn., and registered at the Hotel Madison, where they lived in a state of siege for more than 24 hours nearly two weeks ago.

The trouble then involved all money Haymes allegedly had not paid one of his three ex-wives. The difficulty Saturday was a charge by Haymes' landlord, Joseph Kravich, that the honeymooning couple were $675 in arrears in rent and owed $4000 for damage to antique furniture in the Tudor-style mansion.

A wag drew a ripple of laughter from residents of flooded Vuelte Grande Ave. in Lakewood Plaza Saturday when he suggested the street be renamed "Rio Grande."

Among other locations in the city where flooding was heaviest were: Cherry Ave., north of Signal Hill all the way to the city limits; Ocean Ave. in Belmont Shore; Clark Ave., north of Centralia St. in Lakewood Village, E. 58th St. in North Long Beach, and Palo Verde, north of Willow St.

Two Boats Come to Grief in Storm, All Hands Safe

One vessel was lost and two by Ed Gallasch of Newport other craft were periled in Beach, struggled through the storm-tossed Southern California storm-tossed sea most of the day in an attempt to reach Avalon.

A small fishing vessel, the Southwind, instituted when she failed to report into Avalon as scheduled, was canceled when the vessel returned to Newport Beach at 5:30 p. m.

William Whitlock, of Redondo Beach, the only person aboard, was saved from the flames by the fishing boat Reno, operated by Robert Grotter, 246 St. Joseph Ave., Long Beach. Cause of the fire was unknown.

A heavy sea accompanying Saturday's storm drove a 32-foot cabin cruiser, Knotty Gal, aground on rocks at the foot of P. Fermin cliffs in San Pedro, the Coast Guard said. Four men aboard, named by the Coast Guard as Steven Benic, Walter Kearney, Elmer Lala and Ray Steele, reached shore safely, apparently by scrambling over slippery rocks and climbing up the rugged windswept cliff in the rain. A third craft, the 40-foot sailing vessel Southwind, operated

Houston's a Whisky and Trombone Town

By Saul Pett

Associated Press Newsfeatures Writer

IF THE GENTLEMEN will remove their hats, I'd like to say a few words about the biggest city in Texas.

Houston is not only the biggest, it's the richest. Proportionately, it's also the fastest growing big city in Texas and, for people who insist on being redundant, it's the fastest growing in the United States. From 1930 to 1950, Los Angeles' population more than tripled but Houston's more than quadrupled.

Today, Houston has 665,000 people. It has, somebody said, about 1000 millionaires. But not all of them are rich; some have less than $15,000,000. This is a town with about 4000 air-conditioned Cadillacs and, if you're rich and drive only the biggest Buick money can buy, you're somewhat daring and Bohemian.

"This is the kind of town," a city editor told me, "where a man died and left $25,000,000 and made the front page only because everyone expected him to leave more."

MOST PEOPLE, of course, don't have the big money but most people talk about it. The funniest I met was at the Press Club. He's got a new invention for which he's accepting only limited orders. It's a lightweight, collapsible, easy-to-work money chopper. Need to save space? Chop up your money. "It works as well for 5's and 10's as for hundreds," he says, "but why waste it?"

This town has grown so fast even the press agents can't keep up with its superlatives. It was started by two real estate promoters from New England in 1836, shortly after Sam Houston won Texas her independence from Mexico at near-by San Jacinto. (The site is marked today by a monument, which — wouldn't you know? — is 15 feet higher than the Washington National Monument.)

For more than 100 years it has been a new town, always growing and changing. Every time you look there's another big building going up in Houston. Seems like they tear down buildings here not when they get old, but dusty.

Up to 1930, the city's population tripled every 30 years. From 1940 to 1950, it jumped from 21st to 14th in the national population ranking. Back in 1836 you could buy in Houston at $1 an acre. Today, some of the downtown area goes for as much as $2000 a front inch.

The city rises abruptly out of the Texas flats about 50 miles from the Gulf of Mexico. Galveston, right on the Gulf, had a better natural port. But one day in 1951, while Galveston's back was turned, Houston completed a 50-mile deepwater channel to the Gulf.

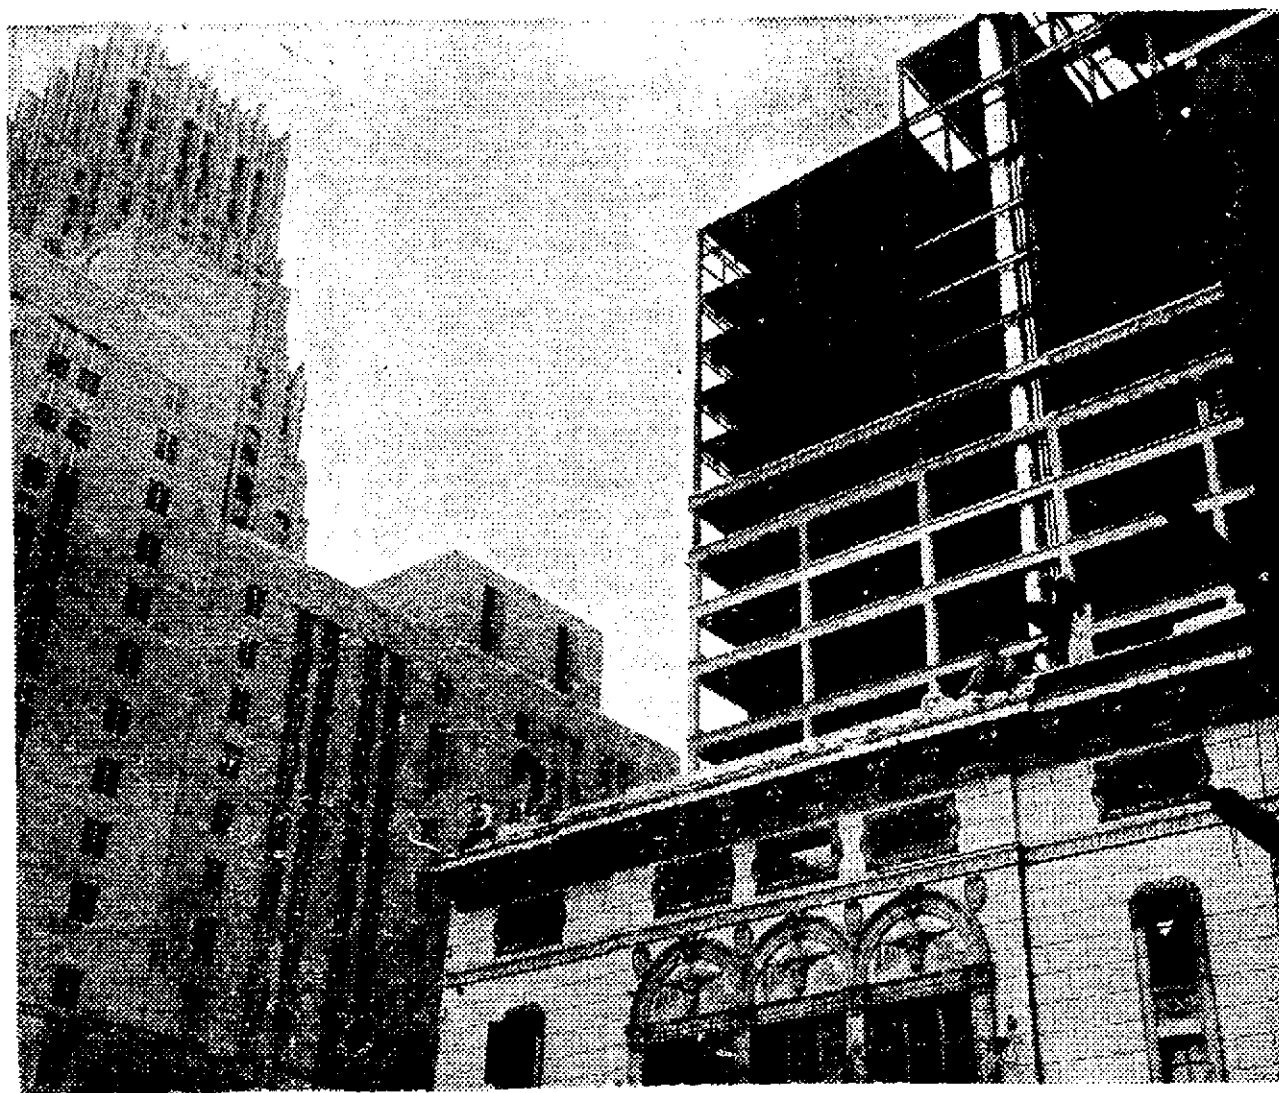

TODAY, the Port of Houston handles shipping tonnage second only in volume to New York — an exception Texans bear with brave stoicism. It is said to be the world's largest oil port and one of the greatest for cotton.

Within a 200-mile radius of the city, say the experts, more wealth is taken from the ground than in any other area of equal size in the world. Some 270 oil fields gush more than 200,000,000 barrels of oil a year. Other fields produce millions of cubic feet of natural gas. Houston also has a huge refining and petro-chemical industry.

All this, plus the fact that oilmen are allowed a 27 per cent "depletion allowance" in their tax returns, has made for some incredible fortunes.

One of the biggest belongs to Hugh Roy Cullen, the generous, volatile philanthropist who has given away an estimated $175,000,000. Others belong to Jesse Jones, former Secretary of Commerce, who owns 35 of the biggest buildings in downtown Houston, and Will Clayton, who, until he retired recently, headed one of the world's largest cotton firms. In their personal habits,

The Fabulous Lost Dutchman Mine

By Spencer Crump

DESPITE legends of Apache Indian "thunder gods" and of the angry ghosts of murdered Spanish explorers, prospectors and their faithful burros even today push their search for the multi-million dollar lost gold mines waiting in the rugged, foreboding Superstition Mountains of Arizona.

A great many Southern Californians visit Arizona in the spring. They drive out on the California desert for its warmth and wild flowers, like it so well that they just keep going and wind up in the Cactus State. And there, rising abruptly and mystically from the forests of saguaro cactus beside U. S. Hwy. 80, about 35 miles east of Phoenix, are the jagged Superstitions. Few visitors actually enter them, preferring instead to gaze wistfully toward them, recall tales told about them, and speculate.

Most sought after bonanza is the famous Lost Dutchman Mine, lying somewhere in the sun-blistered Superstitions. Mines can be operated profitably with ore yielding gold valued as low as $30 a ton; estimates have it that the Lost Dutchman ore nets up to $15,000 per ton.

The Superstitions are splashed with the blood of unlucky prospectors who ventured into the wilderness in search of gold. Many treasure seekers mysteriously vanish among the rugged canyons and dry arroyos, never to be seen again. They are victims of rival prospectors, the desert heat, or wild animals.

Gold prospecting in this primitive desert country remains essentially the same as a century ago. Prospectors still pack in by burros and use pans or picks and shovels to search out elusive gold. Even four-wheel-drive trucks cannot reach the narrow and isolated canyons. The main innovations are electronic instruments to sound out hidden deposits and "black light" to detect gold or silver bearing rocks.

Travelers out Phoenix way get their first close up look at big Superstition Mountain at the junction of Highway 80 and State Route 88, known as Apache Junction. A few miles farther on Highway 80 is a sign, "Superstition Mountain," pointing to a side road leading into the mountains themselves. Many would-be gold prospectors enter by this route.

KNOWLEDGE of the Lost Dutchman Mine dates back more than a century. There appears to be no record of when it was originally discovered, or by whom, but it is supposed that Indians who knew of its existence led soldiers of Spain or Franciscan friars to the treasure.

It has been recorded that a Mexican family named Peralta, living at Arispa, in the State of Sonora, obtained the mine through an ancient church grant. Two members of this family worked the mine, then known simply as the "Peralta Mine," without incident and accumulated considerable wealth.

A third Peralta continued to make the long treks to the mine with a small army of peons who rode horses and carried their provisions and ore on donkey-back. While on one of these expeditions, one of the Peralta peons molested an Apache woman. The Apaches retaliated with a savage attack on the entire Peralta party. Peralta, if he were along on this trip, escaped but most of his peons were massacred without mercy.

Some time after this tragic incident, two Dutch prospectors appeared at the Peralta hacienda. Peralta made a deal with them to accompany them to the mine for a 50-50 split. They returned with thousands of dollars' worth of rich ore. Peralta then offered them the mine if they would give him their half of what they had just taken out of the fabulous hole in the Superstitions.

THE DUTCHMEN, Jacob Waltz and Jacob Weiser, agreed and returned to the Apache-infested mountains and proceeded to take more gold from the mine, which they immediately placed in caches near by. Provisions ran low and Waltz went to the nearest settlement to replenish them. When he returned, he found his partner had been brutally murdered by the Apaches. Badly frightened, he loaded a quantity of the rich ore on his burro and hurriedly left to escape the same fate.

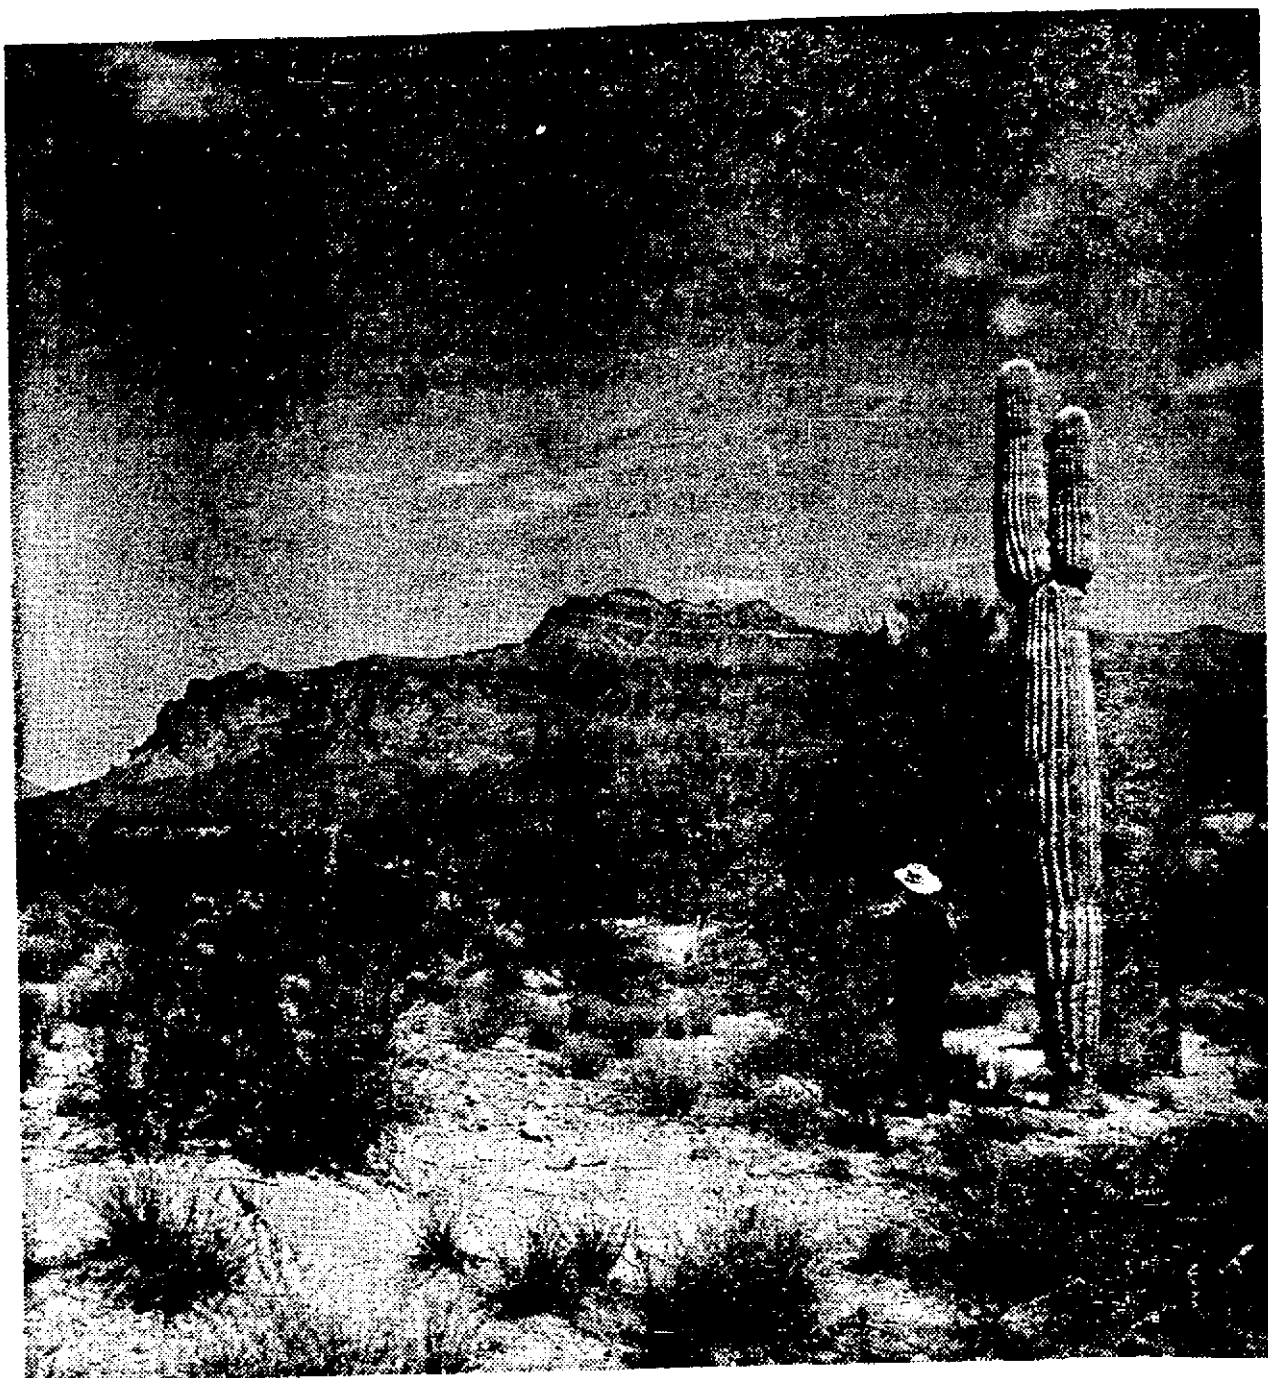

Hoping to discourage future seekers, the Apaches methodically set about obliterating all vestiges of the mine, which was supposed to be of the pit type, shaped like a funnel. While the bucks directed the work, the squaws and children filled the hole with stones and dirt and, so meticulous were they that they reproduced various stratas of earth to conform with that of the surrounding area. Finally, cactus and other native plants were placed atop the filled areas to further camouflage the location.

Before Waltz died in 1891 of natural causes — unusual for prospectors of that period — he confided his mine's location to friends. Yet try as they would, his friends never could locate the hidden mine.

ONE OF THE MEN with whom Waltz talked was Jim Bark, who, after hearing Waltz' story, named the mine the "Lost Dutchman," and it stuck — a name that has been on the lips of every prospector from that day to this.

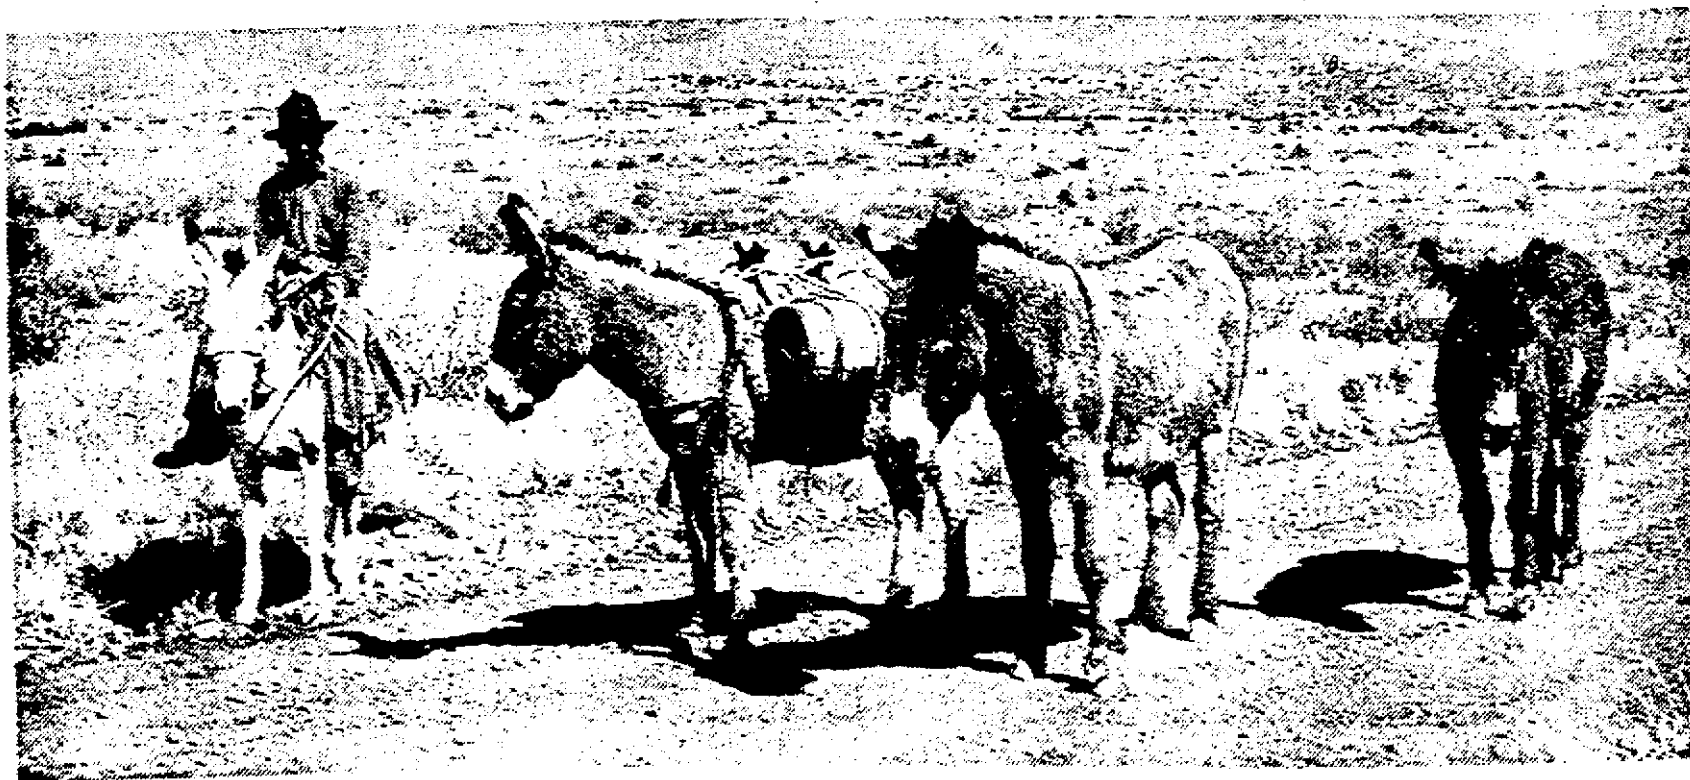

Every year since, as soon as the blazing summer heat cools down, hopeful prospectors push over the saguaro covered plains and into the rocky canyons of the Superstitions. Each hopes to find the Lost Dutchman—or some other equally rich lost gold mine.

Splashed with the blood of slain men, Superstition Mountain (background above) and the range that bears its name guard well the secret of Lost Dutchman Mine.

Tourists from near-by dude ranches now ride the fringes and easier trails of the Superstitions.

GOP Orators Mixing Fire and Conciliation

WASHINGTON—(AP). Republicans brought Lincoln Day oratory Saturday night to a climax that mingled friendly gestures toward moderate Democrats with another furious fusillade of charges that the opposition party coddled Communists.

Here and there, Democrats thundered back more hot protests that the GOP is trying desperately to convince America that there is a party of Communism and treason.

In large measure, the oratorical salvoes across the land sounded much like the same records the party partisans have been playing over and over for a week or more in tune-ups for what looks like one of the roughest, bitterest congressional election campaigns in many a year.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader of the Senate, held out an appreciative hand to "moderate Democrats in Congress" for "fine support" of Republican policies "essential to the national defense and functioning of our government."

But House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) called upon the GOP to "sweep back for all time the tide of waste, bankrupt spending and Communist coddling that carried us to the edge of ruin."

Carrying the ball for the opposition was the veteran Texas legislator, Sam Rayburn, and acid-tongued Democratic Chairman Stephen Mitchell.

JENNER RAPPED
Commenting on what he termed "vituperative statements and speeches of Republican Sens. Jenner and McCarthy," Mitchell said:

"They remind me of what Lord Bacon said about an orangutan—the higher he climbs up a tree, the better you can see its indecency."

Rayburn sternly criticized the Republicans for creating the impression that 2200 government workers had been fired as subversives. He called it "the meanest, untrust, most diabolical thing that has happened in all his 40 years in Congress."

While Knowland took some swipes at the Truman administration on China policy and the handling of FBI reports linking the late Treasury official, Harry Dexter White, to Soviet espionage, he appeared, in the main, to be taking President Eisenhower's tip to the GOP to go easy on extreme partisanship. Knowland spoke in St. Louis.

In fact, said Knowland, he was not speaking in any narrow partisan sense, for America's fate hinges on whether members of Congress treat important legislation "as Americans rather than as narrow partisans."

Eisenhower told a news conference Wednesday, any statements alluding to all Democrats as traitors were both untrue and politically foolish. He said he would counsel administration officials against extreme partisanship and would expect the Republican National Committee chairman, Leonard W. Hall, to heed that advice.

FEW DISTURBED

Above the noise of the political bombing rose the voice of Senator George (D-Ga.) saying here in Washington that, "The only people who are disturbed by what a politician says are other politicians."

George told a reporter he didn't think there would be much lasting effect from all the charges and counter-charges, because:

"This is a political year and you've got to expect things like that."

NORWALK — A 17-year-old boy who shot at a bird with a 22 caliber rifle Saturday noon but missed, his stray bullet crashing through a window, narrowly missing a man seated in his home, was nabbed by deputy sheriffs.

Kenneth E. Newcomb, of 9214 S. Laurel St., South Whittier, was arrested for violation of Los Angeles County gun laws when it was discovered by sheriff's deputies that a shot fired from his gun entered the home of Louis F. Elich, 29, or 9201 S. Laurel St., missing him by about two feet.

The boy was turned over to Los Angeles juvenile authorities. His gun was confiscated.

Nixon Bids Young Voters to Keep on Backing GOP

SEATTLE — (AP). The Eisenhower administration has earned the adjectives "loyal, honest, competent and solvent." Vice President Nixon said Saturday night in a call for support of Republicans, Democrats, independents and the nation's young voters.

He made the call in an address at King County Young Men's Republican Club.

"For 20 years," he said, "we have had to talk about how to get the other side out. Now we can talk about how to keep them out and our side in."

To do this, Nixon said, it is essential to get more than just Republican votes.

LEAVE DOOR OPEN

"In addition," the vice president declared, "we need, as we did in 1952, the votes of Democrats and independents who believe in our program. We should avoid indiscriminate attacks on members of the other party as a group. We should leave the door open for all, regardless of party, to support our President and his program."

"It is also essential for the future of the Republican Party," Nixon continued, "that we appeal to the new young voters who supported the Eisenhower ticket in 1952."

"For 20 years a solid majority of the young voters were in the other camp. We won them over in 1952. Let us make sure we do not lose them in 1954."

MUST CONVINCE PEOPLE

To win those votes, he declared, Republicans must not be satisfied with a negative, destructive, reactionary approach, which he deserves...

New Deal and Fair Deal policies were criticized sharply, and he said they "never were able to accomplish the objective" of having "peace and prosperity at the same time."

NO FAITH IN PUBLIC

"They held to the theory," Nixon said of the Democrats, "that the government has to manage the economy because people are incapable of doing it; that only government can assure prosperity."

By contrast, he declared, the Eisenhower program is based on Lincoln's statement:

"The legitimate objective of government is to do for a community of people whatever they need to have done but can not do at all, or can not so well do in their separate and individual capacities."

REPUBLICAN AIMS

To effect this program, he said, the Republican program includes these features:

1. A balanced budget to assure the stability which will attract investment.

2. The removal of controls on the economy.

3. Tax measures to encourage new businesses, small businesses, and investment at home and abroad.

4. Lowered interest rates to encourage borrowing for new enterprises.

5. A farm program which emphasizes high farm income rather than artificial high parity.

To do this, he said, "it is the responsibility of Republicans everywhere to give him (Eisenhower) the support in the count-down, in the halls of Congress, in the streets, in the homes, in the hearts of the people."

Ike to Ask Greater A-Data for Allies

By MERRIMAN SMITH
 THOMASVILLE, Ga.—(AP). President Eisenhower will ask Congress next week to let more atomic knowhow be passed on to American allies abroad and to encourage its conversion to peacetime use by private enterprise at home, it was disclosed Saturday.

The President's two-fold plan to make the best use of the United States' top atomic position was described by the White House as a follow-up to the recommendations he sketched briefly in his January message on the state of the Union.

It will have no connection, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said, with Mr. Eisenhower's December proposal to the United Nations. That was creation of a special U. N. pool of fissionable material and atomic knowledge.

Hagerty made the announcement of the special atomic message after Mr. Eisenhower himself had taken to the rolling fields of Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey's plantation to seek his bar limit of 12 quail. The President shot 30 Friday in a brief outing after he flew down from Washington for the week end.

It was pointed out that under present security laws, the United States, for example, cannot report to North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies the results of tests being made to determine the effect of atomic weapons on troops.

Mr. Eisenhower's message will ask amendment of the Atomic Energy law "to permit our allies to have more factual knowledge of the use of atomic weapons and their effect so that they themselves, in their planning with their general staffs can take into account the use of atomic weapons," Hagerty said.

The President also will ask, Hagerty said, that a new law be enacted encouraging peacetime industrial development of atomic energy in this country. Mr. Eisenhower will recommend that this development

Traffic Safety Parley

WASHINGTON — (AP) Some 5000 delegates from 48 states will meet here Wednesday at the call of President Eisenhower to parley a nationwide attack on the problem of preventing traffic accidents. Objective of the three-day "White House conference on highway safety" is to achieve a 40 per cent reduction in accidents.

Navy Cuts Costs by Over Billion

WASHINGTON — (AP). The Navy claimed Saturday to have saved about $1,500,000,000 as a result of a streamlined supply system set up seven years ago.

In addition the Navy said the "integrated Navy supply system" enabled it to find materials in its stocks which otherwise it might have purchased.

The supply system, set up by the Navy Secy. James V. Forrestal on Feb. 14, 1947, "made possible more accurate inventory reporting and co-ordination of day 'White House conference on highway safety" is to achieve a 40 per cent reduction in accidents.

RKO Accepts Hughes Bid to Buy All Stock

ATLANTA — (AP). Millionaire Producer Howard Hughes became sole owner of the big RKO Pictures Corp. Saturday—subject to stockholders' approval—when directors of the movie firm accepted his offer of $23,489,473 for the stock he did not already own.

The directors announced their acceptance after two days of intense secret talks. The talks proceeded against time because Hughes had set a Monday deadline on his offer to buy RKO stock outstanding at $6 a share. The whopping offer had sent RKO stock jumping from a little over $2 to $5.25 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The tall, handsome bachelor producer has set another deadline—March 31—for the stockholders to give final approval of the transaction. The directors recommended that the stockholders do so.

Hughes has been a controversial figure in RKO since he took working control in 1948 by buying up about one-third of the stock. Some stockholders have sued him, charging "mismanagement." The objections have been mainly to his hiring of bosomy actresses considered "outsiders" by the old guard of RKO.

The directors disclosed that their board had to be shaken up during the tense hours of discussion at the Biltmore Hotel here before the acceptance could be worked out.

Doctors Clear Hospitals in Scalded Baby Death

CHICAGO — (AP). The Chicago Medical Society said Saturday an investigation showed that a scalded baby received "adequate emergency attention" at two hospitals before her death.

The child, Laura Lingo, 5 months, kicked over a vaporizer in her south side home Jan. 17. Hot oil spilled on her. Mrs. Irene Lingo, the infant's mother, said she took her to Woodlawn Hospital, a private institution. The mother said she was unable to put up a $100 deposit and moved the baby to the Cook County Hospital, a public institution.

A coroner's jury completed its inquiry in the case Feb. 5. Its verdict was that attendants at Woodlawn Hospital were "negligent" but the death was accidental.

Laura's death and the circumstances which surrounded it were widely reported. The society asked physicians to make a full investigation. The society's statement gave this version.

Laura was examined at Woodlawn by a physician of 14 years experience. He found she had second degree burns covering about 10 per cent of her body.

The child's burns were cleansed by the physician and the standard vaseline gauze pressure bandages applied. That was the treatment indicated. She was not in shock.

The mother then was asked "whether she could deposit $100 toward the final bill within the next day or two."

"She said she could not and agreed that it would be better for the child to go to Cook County Hospital, which care is provided at public expense. An ambulance was offered and refused."

The child's treatment at the county hospital included application of the same type of bandages, tetanus antitoxin and penicillin. She was checked by resident physicians and nurses that day and night but died the next morning.

The statement said: "On the basis of these facts our committee on hospitals and professional relations, headed by Dr. Karl A. Meyer, medical superintendent of Cook County

INDEPENDENT-PRESS-TELEGRAM—A-5
 Long Beach (Calif.), Sun., Feb. 14, 1954

Hospital, found that the child had had adequate emergency attention and that the child probably did not die of burns."

The society said death might have been caused by a respiratory infection.

PORTRAIT OF A CAMPUS BELLE

Beautiful--but Smart

By Don Drury

WHAT IS THE MODERN college coed really like? By a good many people, the campus queen-of-this-or-that is automatically assumed to be prettily empty-headed, registered strictly for Fun and Games, and (with traps set for the nearest unwary male) majoring in nothing but Applied Matrimony.

When members of the Long Beach City College student body cabinet recently pondered their annual selection of a Valentine Queen, they saw a good chance to challenge this outmoded idea by choosing a representative modern miss who was (1) pretty, of course, but (2) otherwise utterly unlike the stereotyped "beautiful but dumb" husband-hunter in about every possible way.

Having seen their duty, the City College student leaders did it. They elected a pretty, blonde, hazel-eyed, 19-year-old sophomore, name of Charlotte Jones.

Valentine Queen Charlotte, the daughter of Mrs. Sallie H. Jones, 2630 Washington St., simply does not fit the usual stock portrait of the campus belle. In addition to plenty of charm and personality (duly registered in adjoining photographs), this coed queen is beautiful but smart, ditto but studious, and ditto again but serious about school and career and (finally, but no hurry) marriage.

DESPITE an active social life, and leadership in many campus activities through Poly High and

City College, Charlotte has managed quite well, thank you, on the scholastic front. She was a member of CSF, scholarship honor society, for four semesters at Poly and has maintained a B-plus average during her career on the City College Lakewood campus.

By digging in for two summer sessions and taking a full class schedule, this winsome miss also managed to complete her lower division work in three semesters instead of four. She is currently taking some City College night classes but actually fulfilled the requirements for graduation last month.

ALL THIS, incidentally, while she worked 20 hours a week in a Lakewood real estate office. Next destination: Probably UCLA, says Charlotte, where she plans to transfer as a junior and continue her studies in business administration.

The all-work-and-no-play approach, however, is definitely not in the modern coed's scheme of things. Jan. 29, 1954, was an important evening in the life of Charlotte Jones, for the Valentine Queen also traditionally reigns as Queen of City College's annual Sweetheart Prom. The same evening, to the surprise of practically nobody but herself, the queen was also announced as one of the winners of the Viking Award, the college's highest honor, for outstanding service in campus activities.

Among many achievements on the Lakewood campus, Charlotte was president of the freshman class, first vice president of the Associated Women Students, president of the Pan-Athanaean Board, and a member of Entre Nous, women's social club, and Kassai, honorary service club. She was also a winner of the AWS five-jewel award.

At Poly High she was a winner of the gold "L" award, president of the Chamber of Commerce, secretary of the senior class and president of the Socii sorority.

Popularity has never been a problem for Charlotte, who likes to dance, play tennis, bowl, attend plays and concerts — but who also budgets her dates in proportion to work and study.

ROMANCE? No objection, says the Valentine Queen, but it can wait. She is not at all concerned by the fact that she has now been six times a bridesmaid, never a bride — and there is no "steady" on hand to complicate her plans for the immediate future.

These include finishing her college studies and going to work — for a while, anyhow. Before considering marriage, this particular lass intends to (a) buy a car and (b) brush up a bit on her cooking.

No, somehow Charlotte Jones doesn't fit at all into the stock category of the popular-coed-on-campus. It is just possible that she represents an increasing number of young college women who can take the queen nominations in stride and combine a healthy amount of social activity with a good deal of serious educational endeavor.

He Tames Mountains for Fun

IF JOHN D. GRAHAM, 57-year-old retired realtor of Santa Barbara, were to adopt a personal theme song an apt one would be "I'd Climb the Highest Mountain." That's because Graham who started scaling steep mountains as a hobby a few years ago, is now a champion mountain tamer who has conquered an even 100 of the world's tallest peaks and wrapped up a record of "firsts" which few, if any, other mountain climbers can equal.

To persons who are not athletes, Graham's list of authenticated exploits seems incredible. For instance: Over a period of 15 years, from 1934 to 1949, the handsome youthful-looking sportsman climbed all the 14,000-foot peaks in the United States—some of them four times. He was the first person to conquer all 67 mountains. Next, he scaled all 23 of the peaks over 14,000 feet in the Alps during a single season! This was accomplished in 1951 and constitutes a record for Alpine climbing in a single summer which is unchallenged.

In 1952, Graham clambered over all 10 of the peaks over 14,000 feet in Mexico—eight of them with a broken toe. He is the first American to climb every one of these below-the-border monsters.

Thus, with 67 in the United States, 23 in the Alps and 10 in

John D. Graham, 57, is a champion mountain climber; has conquered an even 100 peaks 14,000 feet or more.

By Douglas Nelson Rhodes

Mexico, Graham believes that his 100 lofty conquests is a world's record in itself.

The wealthy retired businessman tackled his first mountain in Colorado while on vacation in 1934. "It was just a molehill to real mountain climbers," he recalls, "but reaching the top gave me a wonderful feeling of being 'on top of the world' both literally and figuratively. I knew then that I'd never be satisfied until I had matched my skill, strength and endurance against the biggest mountains I could find."

TOUGHEST ASCENT was the North Palisades Glacier climb, a man-killing peak near Big Pine, Calif. The forbidding mass of ice and rock was coated with snow when Graham tackled it in early April one year. Using a rope and ax, the rugged sportsman crossed treacherous crevasses in a 10-hour tortuous climb to the summit. Suddenly an avalanche of rock and snow nearly swept him to his doom as it tore down the mountain directly in front of him. He paused momentarily and a huge boulder, weighing a ton or more, whizzed by his head and plunged into the great depths below. The pause had saved his life.

But Graham pushed on, re-

Mayor Reports 19 Political Slayings

MEDELLIN, Colombia — (UPI) The military mayor of the town of Canagordas, 93 miles north-west of here, reported Saturday 17 men and two women have been killed during the past few days in political slayings. The dead were identified as members of the Liberal party.

The report filed with the brigade commander for this area listed the names of 28 members of the Conservative party as responsible for crimes. Newspapers received the reports but under a presidential order are not permitted to publish news about political feuding which results in deaths.

Baby Racket Trips 2nd Lawyer, 2 Women

MONTREAL—(UPI) Authorities who cracked a $3,000,000 international baby black market ring announced the arrest of three more persons Saturday after a veteran New York policeman caught the alleged racketeers red-handed by "buying" an infant for $3500.

The latest arrests in the drive to stamp out the black market were made Friday night, police said. Those taken into custody were Louis Glazer, 52, the second attorney seized in the investigation of the racket, and two women whose names were not disclosed.

The three were seized shortly after Theresa Bogalito, New York policewoman assigned to the district attorney's office, arranged for the "purchase" of a baby at a house in Montreal.

Miss Bogalito was accompanied by Sgt. Hilda Beaucage of Montreal. They "paid" $5500 for a baby and received a false birth certificate for it. Police said. A short time later, police raided the house and seized the occupants. Also under arrest was Herman Bulter, 38, a Montreal lawyer. He was caught in a police trap at Montreal's Dorval airport Friday as he was about to board an airplane with three members of his family for a vacation in Israel.

Official police sources said the baby black market ring had operated out of Montreal for 10 years and had many ramifications here to help Canadian authorities. Doctors, lawyers, nurses ties.

Police said the peddler and the trooper were seated in the officer's car. The man of course was unaware that a recorder had been hidden in the auto.

"I don't want to brag," said the man, "but if anything crooked is going on, I'm right in the middle of it."

Toward the end of the conversation the man apparently became suspicious when the officer kept questioning about his source of supply.

"You make a buy like a cop," the peddler said. "They always want to meet the big man before they bust (arrest) you."

The man pressed a knife against the trooper.

"Careful, you'll cut my throat," the officer said.

A signal then brought a squad full of officers to the scene.

He said he had interviewed at least 70 couples in New York who admitted buying babies in Montreal.

Mittler said the ring had netted a profit of about $3,000,000 in the last 10 years. Unwed girls who gave birth to the babies received only pregnancy expenses "and perhaps $50 to get them on their feet," he said. The operators of the ring got the rest of the money, he said.

Glazer was arraigned on a charge of conspiring to falsify documents and certificates. He was released in $850 bail and was ordered to appear for a preliminary hearing next Friday.

Authorities said false birth certificates appeared to be the key to the ring's operations. Couples purchasing babies could take them across the border without difficulty with the false certificates, it was said.

Police said there were other cases in which babies were smuggled into the United States on trucks.

Police Make Record of Dope Pusher's Sales Talk, Nab Him

DETROIT—(UPI) State police said Saturday that they had made a wire recording of a suspected dope peddler's sales talk to a disguised racket squad officer posing as an addict.

The recording was made earlier this week in the arrest of an unidentified man who took the officer's marked money in exchange for marijuana, police said.

Although the rare recording can't be used as evidence, it was cited by police as an example of what goes on in an illegal narcotics transaction.

In the recording, the suspect is heard as saying, "The only way I get any stuff (dope) is by selling it. I get some for myself for a commission."

The man told the state trooper that three high school girls, 14, 15 and 18, were among his customers.

"I stopped by the school Tuesday to sell them some," the suspect said.

Police said the peddler and the trooper were seated in the officer's car. The man of course was unaware that a recorder had been hidden in the auto.

"I don't want to brag," said the man, "but if anything crooked is going on, I'm right in the middle of it."

Toward the end of the conversation the man apparently became suspicious when the officer kept questioning about his source of supply.

"You make a buy like a cop," the peddler said. "They always want to meet the big man before they bust (arrest) you."

The man pressed a knife against the trooper.

"Careful, you'll cut my throat," the officer said.

A signal then brought a squad full of officers to the scene.

BLENDED LENSES

DO WHAT BIFOCALS DO - BUT MUCH BETTER!

THE SHADOW PROVES IT
How Blended Lenses Work
You use Blended Lenses like bifocals or trifocals. The big difference is that you don't have to jump when you move your eyes. You have gradual changes from reading to extra long and distance areas. Gradual changes are more acceptable to bodily functions than quick abrupt shifts. With bifocals, when you move your head and objects jump, beware of stumbling. There is no confusion of Seeing Double. When moving about or driving with Blended Lenses you are safe. You will not see double through any part of lens.

Trust to Pridham Davis' Experience
Pridham Davis started fitting Blended Lenses over six years ago. His success was so great that he has opened a total of eleven offices in Southern California to fill the demand.
Pridham Davis makes all types of glasses. Examination of your eyes will indicate the type of lenses best for you. Whether these be Blended Lenses, or any other type, Pridham Davis is prepared to fit you best for your needs.

GE Wins Contract for Super-Radar

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—(U.P.) General Electric Co. announced a multi-million-dollar contract for the most powerful airborne search radar yet developed.

GE spokesmen said the radar is about twice as powerful as any previous airborne search unit.

Ike Urged to Open U.S. to Fugitive Reds

WASHINGTON—(U.P.) Sen. Douglas urged President Eisenhower Saturday night to offer "asylum and employment" to diplomatic and military officers of Communist countries who flee to the free world.

The Illinois Democrat made public a letter to the President in which he said such an appeal by Eisenhower would be "another important step toward winning the initiative against Communist Russia."

Douglas wrote that "a statement by yourself, to these people, and broadcast to them through all available facilities, might have tremendous repercussions."

CITES THEIR FEARS

He suggested that the offer of protection and employment be made to officers of Communist countries who "flee their posts to seek protective custody and who bring with them information and documents pertaining to military plans and espionage operations."

Douglas said that "undoubtedly a considerable number of such men and women are deterred from doing this by doubts that they would be received and that they might be handed back to communism and to the firing squad."

He pointed out that Igor Gouzenko, who quit communism in Canada, "unlocked the Russian espionage activities in the western hemisphere."

He said also that valuable military information was obtained from Russian MIG pilots who flew their planes from behind the Iron Curtain to neutral or American soil.

More recently, Douglas said, "Russian espionage and plans in the Far East are being unmasked" by Yuri Alexandrovich Restorov, who deserted from the Soviet mission in Tokyo.

Another Democratic senator, Hennings of Missouri, demanded that Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. immediately make public his views on any substitute proposal for the deadlocked Bricker treaty-restrictions amendment.

Hennings made public a telegram to Brownell in which he said that "when it comes to putting the President of the United States in a strait-jacket in the exercise of his constitutional powers in conducting the foreign affairs of the United States, we cannot compromise."

Hennings called on Brownell to "make public a statement outlining your views on the subject to avoid any possible misunderstanding or failure to comprehend your views precisely."

On the congressional farm front Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said he expects the Agriculture Department to recommend his food stamp plan for the nation's needy families or come up with a better plan of its own.

The department has given up official reaction to Aiken's plan for disposing of surplus food stocks.

Aiken's food stamp plan involves giving and selling on a graduated scale depending upon a family's income—stamps or coupons redeemable for surplus foodstuffs acquired by the government in its farm price support program.

SUPPORT PROPOSAL

Sens. Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Gillette (D-Ia.) have become actively interested in it. Mrs. John B. Sullivan (D-Mo.) introduced a similar bill last week in the House.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) asserted, meanwhile, that flexible supports, proposed by the Eisenhower administration, would result in more instead of less crop surpluses.

He challenged Secretary of Agriculture Benson's contention that lower support levels would induce farmers to switch from production of wheat, corn, cotton, butter and other surplus commodities to crops which are more in demand.

In many cases, he said, it would be like "asking General Motors to switch from automobiles to egg beaters."

He compared General Motors' investment in car-making machinery to the dairy farmer's investment in special barns and milking machinery, and the corn farmer's investment in churning and planting equipment.

Trapped in School, Pupils Hope for Encore

COLLINGWOOD, Ont.—(U.P.) Thirteen children who were marooned in a snowbound rural school for 28 hours said Saturday they had such a good time they hoped it would happen again.

The youngsters and Mrs. Lilian Durant were forced to stay in the school Thursday night after a heavy blizzard made roads impassable.

"We played all kinds of games—musical chairs, monopoly and hide and seek—until the kids got tired," Mrs. Durant said. "Farmers from the district brought us in sandwiches, hot dogs, cake and candy. The kids had the time of their lives."

"Then they curled up on blankets and I read stories to them until they went to sleep. The room was warm as toast all night."

Regular classes were held Saturday morning and then the group was brought from the school at Bala to Collingwood. Old-timers said it was the first time in 60 years that pupils had been marooned in the school by snow.

Furniture You Can Assemble

By Caroline Coleman

IF YOU CAN OPERATE a screwdriver, you can make furniture.

At least, you can make furniture of a new build-it-yourself line that may be obtained locally. The furniture is so easy to assemble that anyone able to use a screwdriver and wield a paint brush can put it together and finish it.

What's more, this furniture is smartly styled in simple, contemporary design, of smoothly finished Appalachian ash (a fine hardwood) and it is low in cost.

Individual parts of each unit come boxed, with the screws, glue and an instruction chart showing how to put the unit together. Joints are mortised and doweled to fit with precision, and all you have to do is to dot on some glue, fit the parts together and screw them in place. All pieces stand straight and sturdy without wobbling and all edges are beveled smooth.

FINISHING KITS also are available. They contain a stain sealer, high-gloss varnish, stain varnish, wiping stain cloth, two-inch bristle brush and complete instructions for finishing the furniture. You have a choice of three finishes — blond, platinum or suntan.

There are many pieces in the group — a six-drawer Mr. and Mrs. chest; three-quarter dresser; bookcase headboard for double bed or twin bed; plain headboard for either double or twin bed; night stand, cocktail planter table, step table, desk with three drawers on either side, cabinet with masonite doors, hutch which may be used over the cabinet or on the cocktail table, 54-inch dinette table and dinette or desk chairs.

Not only is this new build-it-yourself furniture easy to make and easy on the budget, but it provides a thrill of accomplishment. Persons who take pleasure in their homes like to say, "I made that . . . and that . . . and that."

This new furniture, its backers say, is another manifestation of a major revolution going on beneath nearly 20,000,000 American roofs. Its motto is simple: When you want something done, do it yourself in your spare time. Major objective is to save the cost of somebody else's labor, thereby getting for yourself something you otherwise can't afford. Through it, a large part of the population is happily on its way back to the pioneer idea that a good man — or woman — is one who can handle any job that need to be done.

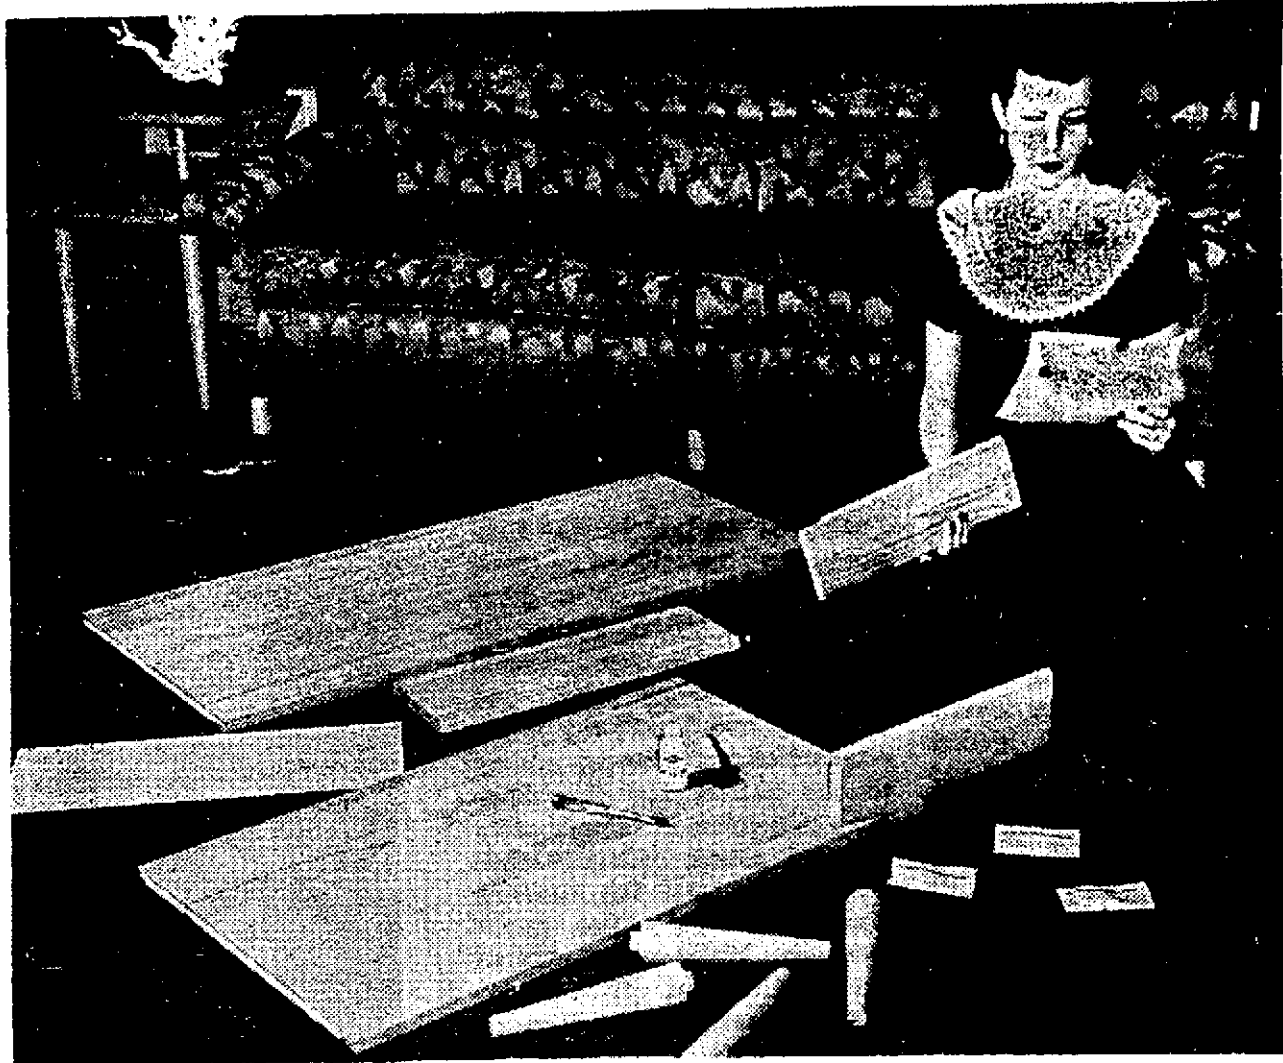

IN THE PROCESS, the building world reports, the do-it-yourself boom is rapidly developing into a multi-billion-dollar industry. This is what is happening:

One gallon of paint out of every four now is sold to an amateur instead of a pro. Home-owners and home-renters are finding that it is cheap — and fun — to paint their houses, apartments, furniture.

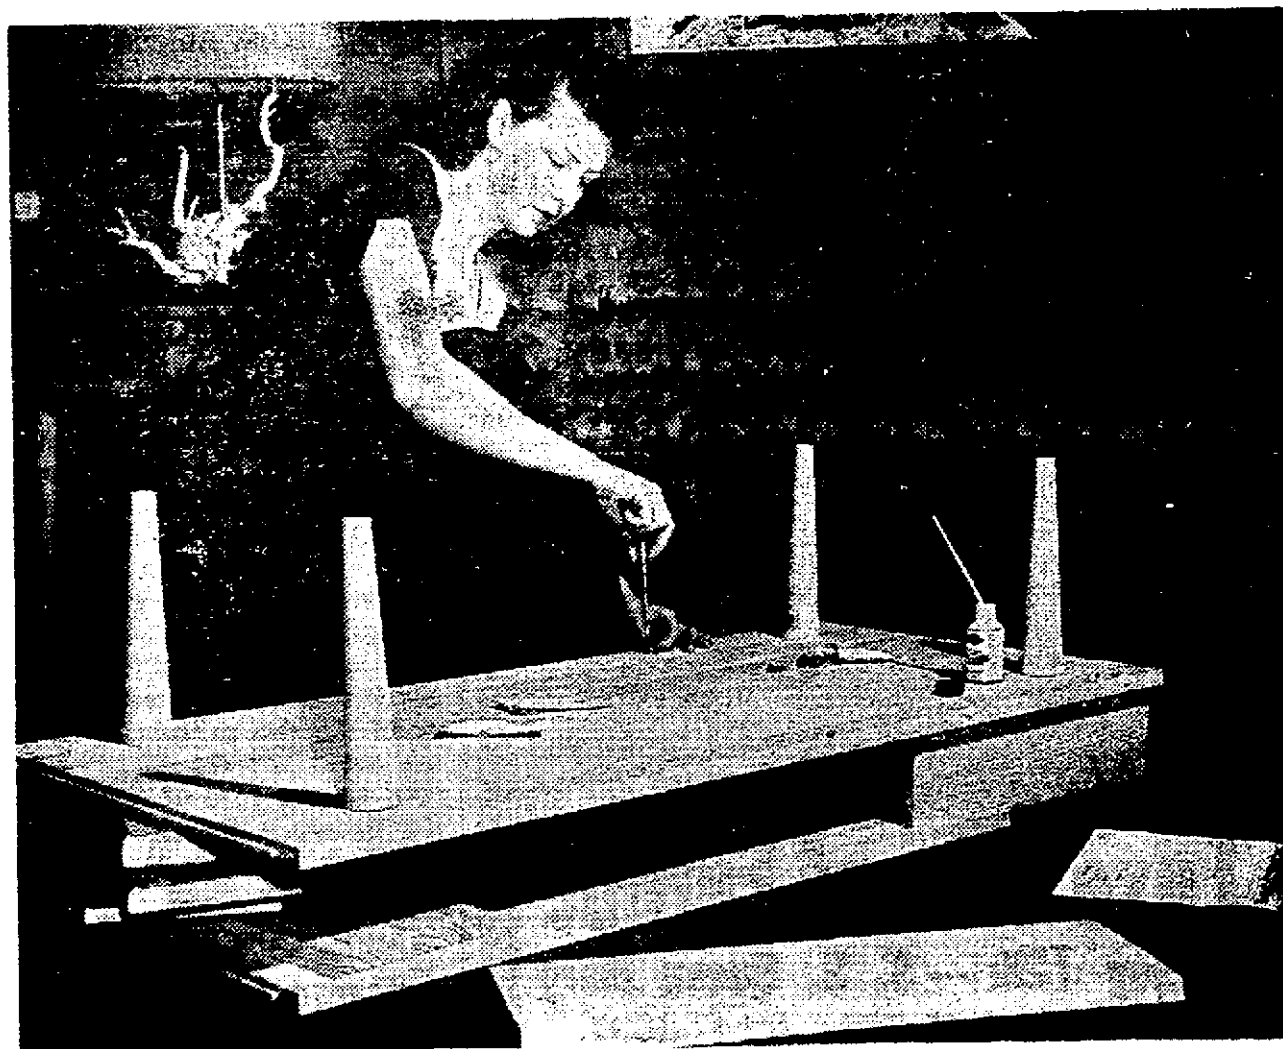

The same picture holds for wall-papering: 60 per cent of all United States home-owners now are slapping up their share of the 200,000,000 rolls of wallpaper sold in a year.

Eleven million American families now have home workshops and the homey sounds of sawing, planing and hammering resound through the land.

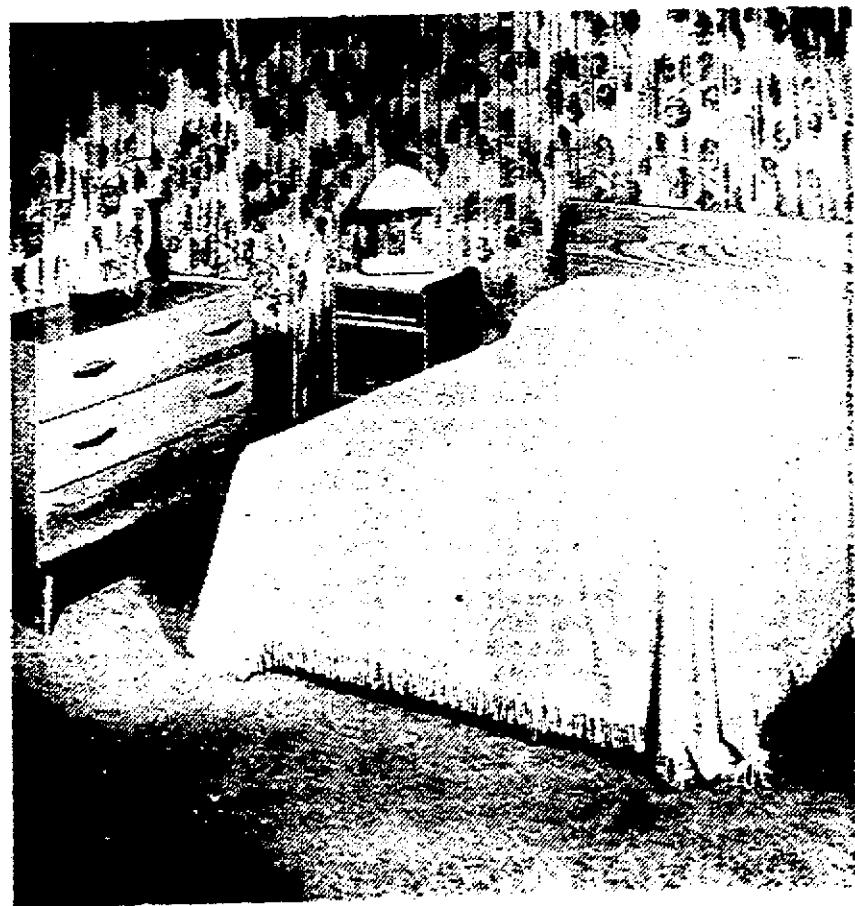

Now, with good, easily-assembled furniture on the market, Mr. and Mrs. Fixit, who also are Mr. and Mrs. Painter, Mr. and Mrs. Paperhanger and Mr. and Mrs. Builder, become Mr. and Mrs. Furniture-Maker.

With a screwdriver, a bit of glue and an instruction sheet, Shirley Montell is ready to assemble a coffee table with new do-it-yourself furniture kit.

Half-completed, the table has posed no problems. Each piece has been carefully readied for assembly and will provide modern beauty when completed.

This bedroom set, consisting of drawer dresser, night stand and headboard, also can be assembled.

Shirley looks pleased with her new table, and why shouldn't she? She made it herself! Many items of household furniture can be made in this new way.

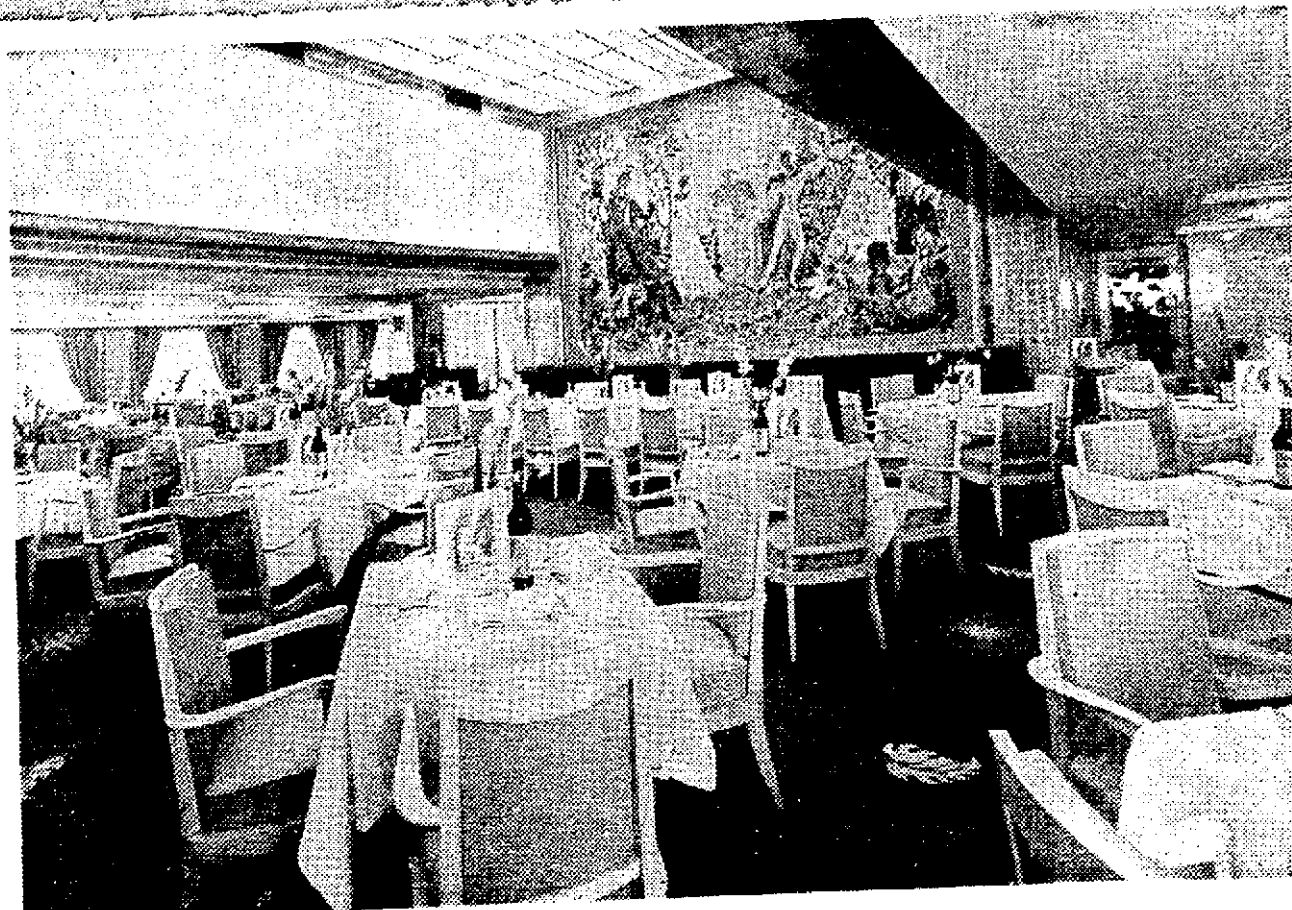

Adventure in Africa

THE WORLD has shrunk considerably within the last decade, shrunk to such an extent that both the seasoned and the potential traveler sometimes get the feeling that there are no new worlds to conquer, no hidden corner to explore, no trail to pioneer. Yet, in North Africa, that bizarre amalgam of antiquity and modernism, within a figurative stone's throw of France and Europe is a veritable touristic virgin forest, a storied land rich in history and culture, a land of paradox and contrasts where, Kipling to the contrary, east meets west. The French Line 1953-54 tour schedule offers motor coach tours, private car tours and, for the intrepid traveler, a combined air and Saharian tour embracing the heart of the great desert, the Niger River and the very shores of the Gulf of Guinea.

French North Africa is a varied land done little or no justice by the slick magazines and the movies. It is far more than sand, mirages, camels and Foreign Legionnaires. In Morocco it is Rabat, ancient pirate city, now noted for the lovely gardens of the Oudaias, the Hassan Tower, the ruins of its great mosque — Casablanca, a great metropolis of 600,000, facing the Atlantic—close by, Mazagan and Safi, Mogador and Agadir and further inland, Tiznit, the southernmost city of Morocco leading to the Sahara and the Atlas Mountain cabin. It is pink granite and brown villages, olive trees, fruits, and the startling majesty of the Atlas peaks reaching 12,000 snow-covered feet into infinity. It is many-hued Marrakech, Sir Winston Churchill's favorite retreat, a winter wonderland of hunting, golfing, swimming and tennis.

IN ALGERIA it is Algiers, city of contrasts—Bou Saada, set amidst white sand dunes—El Golea, the richest, most beautiful oasis, complete with swimming pool and rose garden—the Hoggar, that fantastic range of ebony granite reminiscent of the Dakota Black Hills—Biskra, the worldly wise floral paradise—Mchouneche and its troglodytic villages—Rhoufi, hanging on the side of a colorful canyon—Tim-gad, the African Pompeii, faithfully restored—Constantin, with

the gorges of the Rhummel, the streets of its native quarter clinging precariously to the abutment of Sidi Rached

In Tunisia it is Tunis bordered by Lake Bahira and mountain ranges, the sea a mere seven miles removed — Nabeul and Hammamet, lovely wintering spots lost in a verdure of jasmine, roses and citrus groves—Kairouan, bringing back memories of World War II, the holiest of Moslem cities after Mecca—through Roman ruins to Sfax and its thousand gardens—Gabes, North Africa's only oasis situated on the sea, a delightful city that rivals any resort of the world—Djerba, so tranquil "that one could not die there"—Tozeur, on the edge of the Tunisian Sahara, a city of red palms and buried beneath the largest palm groves in North Africa.

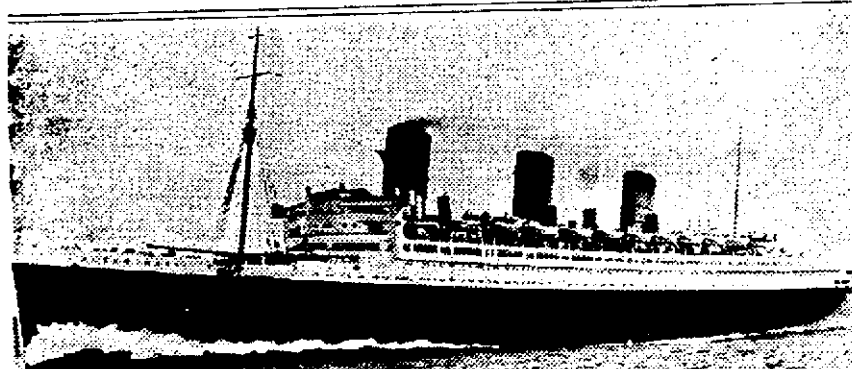

Ensenada Carnival

THREE DAYS of street dancing and the burning in effigy of Bad Humor will feature the biggest carnival in the history of Ensenada, the charming Mexican resort city 80 miles south of San Diego. The celebration is slated to open Feb. 27.

Included in the program will be a parade of floats presided over by the Carnival Queen. Avenida Ruiz, Ensenada's main street, will be closed to traffic during the parade which will feature 50 local mariachis and marimba bands.

Climax of the carnival will come with the burning of Bad Humor in Todos Santos Bay, the city's harbor, with the celebrants watching from shore and small boats. According to the legend, Bad Humor collected all the people's troubles during the year and at the end of the year he was taken on a ride through the city and then burned, thus doing away with grief and unhappiness.

Visitors to Ensenada from the United States for the carnival are invited to bring costumes of any kind for the celebration. Ensenada has many fine motels and hotels and excellent cafes and restaurants. The highway to Ensenada from San Diego is a continuation of U. S. Hwy. 101 through Tijuana and parallels the scenic Lower California coastline most of the distance.

Often called "the Chicago of South America," Sao Paulo, Brazil is a modern city with towering skyscrapers and modern architecture. It is one of the fastest-growing cities in the Western Hemisphere, and to celebrate this growth from a missionary outpost, Sao Paulo in 1954 will hold a World Fair which, according to Pan American World Airways, will be operated on a 30-million-dollar budget.

GROWING FASTER THAN L. A., HOUSTON'S A WHISKY AND TROMBONE TOWN

men like Cullen, Jones and Clayton live quietly.

But not Jim West, millionaire oil and cattleman. He is said to own 30 cars, including 11 Cadillacs; four planes, and two ranches — one of 60,000 acres and one of 160,000.

IN HIS DRESS, Jim favors a 10-gallon hat, a diamond-studded Texas Ranger's badge and a huge gold buckle for the belt that holds his two guns. He likes to play cop at night, cruising around town with city police. He also is fond of tossing around silver dollars in public and watching people scramble for them.

Houston has other semi-legendary figures. There's supposed to be an oil man who pays $18,000 a year for a suite at the Hotel Shamrock, which he uses one month out of 12. There's Glenn McCarthy, builder of the $21,000,000 Shamrock, who's as fast with a buck as he is with his fists. And there's Doug Prince, who owns a chain of hamburger restaurants.

Among other things you hear about Prince, you hear that he wears $30,000 worth of diamonds and owns a 100-foot yacht. He is said to be particularly fond of spending a rainy afternoon riding around town in his Cadillac, accompanied by a bucket of pink champagne in the back seat. Once, at a charity auction, Prince paid $72,000 for a prize steer and then cut it up for steaks at a press party.

In urbane Dallas, which is inclined to look down its nose at Houston, the Shamrock is known as the "Damnrock." In Houston, the Shamrock seems to be the hub of cafe society.

RIISING SUDDENLY out of extremely flat land, the hotel seems more massive and taller than it is. Looking it over once, architect Frank Lloyd Wright had but one comment: "Why?" Inside, the hotel is decorated in 67 shades of green. The first thing you see in the lobby is a spotlighted portrait of McCarthy.

The huge Emerald Room, which seats 1000 nightclub style, once prompted a visiting comic to say, "I've played towns smaller than this."

In the ground-floor jewelry shop, they'll tell you at the drop of a word, publicity, that one night an oilman came in and took one of these and one of those and one of the other. In a few minutes, he spent $41,000.

Physically, Houston is difficult to describe. There are trees dripping Spanish moss to suggest the Old South and royal palm trees to suggest the tropics. There is a busy main street with its smart, modern shops (one is selling a mink coat for Dallas for $295) and above, at night, you see the lighted store signs along with one which says, "Jesus Saves."

There are the Negro and Mexican slums and the exclusive River Oaks section, where most of the millionaires live, where every garage seems to have at least two sets of Cadillac fish-tails sticking out and where the Country Club costs $10,000 to join.

There is the beautiful new Texas Medical Center, now rising as a monument to Houston philanthropy and which one day may be a bulwark of research. And downtown, there is a slick, modern building which looks like a new hotel or a TV station. This is police headquarters and the city jail.

THE CITY has grown so fast there aren't enough storm sewers to drain off rain water and half the town's residential streets have no street lights. Because Houston is still unzoned, you see some odd contrasts: A fertilizer plant adjoining a beautiful home and a perfectly manicured private lawn ending up at a septic tank factory.

Because the town has grown so fast, the crime rate is high but not as bad as the loosely applied tag, "Murder capital of the country," might imply.

In 1952, Houston ranked second to Atlanta in proportionate number of murder and non-negligent manslaughter cases reported to the FBI. But both the FBI and local authorities point out that no conclusions can be drawn from this because cities use too many different bases for reporting homicide.

Recently the city seemed to be in the throes of an armed robbery wave. A huge police dragnet pulled in 1000 known criminals off the streets. One shady character called headquarters and asked if he could go out on the street to look for a job. "It's OK," he was told, "as long as you don't do it after sundown."

PUBLIC SIN is now a matter of the past. Houston's brothels were closed three or four years ago, including one with an attached 12-car garage.

Any report on the city must also include the fact that a survey by the Houston Post found that a "miasmic fear of communism . . . has permeated the city." The Minute Women, an organization of intense patriots, have been unusually active here.

On one occasion, the American Friends Service Committee had some difficulty arranging a meeting here because someone said the Quaker organization was harboring Communists. Others cried that visiting Rhodes Scholars must be carefully watched because, it was alleged, they advocate union with England.

In 1952, the annual essay contest on the United Nations was banned in city schools because the U. N. had become "controversial." Last year, Dr. George Ebey, deputy superintendent of schools, was charged with a Communist taint in his background. He was thoroughly investigated by a group of former FBI men. They found that on one occasion he might have opposed Reds more in the American Veterans Committee but they concluded there was no evidence he had been a Communist or fellow traveler or disloyal. Still, he was now a "controversial" figure and was fired.

"HOUSTON," a newspaperman told me, "is probably the most reactionary city in the country. It is a sucker for any crackpot that comes along on the lunatic fringe of politics or religion."

But there are others, in and out of the newspaper business, who point out that Houston is no worse in this respect than any other city growing rapidly. Los Angeles has long been noted for the same thing.

Culturally, Houston has a highly regarded symphony, an art museum, three little theater groups and the University of Houston, Texas Southern University for Negroes, the University of Texas School of Dentistry, Baylor College of Medicine and Rice Institute, which has a student body of 1500 and a football stadium that seats 70,000.

There are many book stores. On occasion, one of them has rented 200 or 300 books at a clip to wealthy Houstonians who require a sizeable literary display on their walls for one night.

A few years ago a woman wrote a newspaper columnist asking him to recommend a nice restaurant where she could sip wine and listen to a violin.

"This is no wine and fiddle town," he wrote back. "This is a whisky and trombone town."

FEDERALISTS TO MEET

Radio Commentator to Address Conclave

Raymond Swing, celebrated and St. is in charge of convention arrangements. Saturday night in the Wilton Hotel, addressing the banquet of the fifth annual state convention of the United World Federalists of California.

Master of ceremonies at the banquet will be Clinton D. McKinnon, publisher of the Los Angeles Daily News.

Attendance of 250 is expected at the convention Friday through Sunday in the Wilton Hotel. Ralph R. Gordon, 3777 E. Sec-

Officers are Luther Carr of San Mateo, president; Allan M. Chambliss of San Anselmo and Ralph R. Gordon of Long Beach, vice presidents; Raymond G. Bacon of San Rafael, secretary-treasurer. Officers will be elected next Sunday.

Primary purpose of the convention, it is announced, is to discuss provisions of the United Nations charter and how best these provisions may be revised at the Charter Review Conference slated for 1955.

These statements are advanced as best explaining the policy and platform of the United World Federalists:

"Modern warfare imposes crushing economic burdens and threatens to destroy the rights, freedoms and lives of Americans and of all mankind."

"As men in the past created national governments to provide the security local governments could not assure, so we must now create a limited world federal government to give all people the protection against war which is no longer within the power of national governments."

"To this end, we call for the support and strengthening of the United Nations and for such amendments of its charter as will enable it to achieve universal disarmament en-

Long Beach Dimes Drive Tops $96,000

The 1934 March of Dimes now has $96,180.54 to its credit, Mac Algeo, executive secretary of the Long Beach Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, reported Saturday.

Proceeds are ahead of last year for the comparable date, but an accounting is still lacking from the Long Beach Douglas plant, the Navy, Catalina, the schools and a dozen smaller sources which promise to raise the overall total well past the $100,000 mark by week end.

Earlier proceeds of the Mothers' March on Polio, conducted Feb. 2, have been raised to $32,263.59, Mrs. Algeo reported.

Persons who still have coin containers and who have not yet contributed are urged to fill them and mail them to autioptic headquarters, 301 Polio Bldg.

From 10 days to two weeks will be required to complete the drive and account for all returns, Mrs. Algeo said.

Woman's Rib Broken in Crash of Cars

A 54-year-old woman suffered a fractured rib Saturday afternoon when the car in which she was a passenger collided with another auto at Linden Ave. and 45th St.

The victim, Gail B. La Mar, of 4521 Pasadena Ave., was taken to Seward Hospital. Neither her husband, Frank E. La Mar, 56, nor the driver of the other car, Daniel F. Landardi, 46, of 381 Janine St., was injured.

Dog Bites Woman, Slashing Her Arm

An 87-year-old Long Beach woman suffered deep arm wounds Saturday when attacked by her daughter's French poodle.

Treated in St. Mary's Hospital was Mrs. Elizabeth Kempster, of 2660 Chestnut Ave. Twenty-seven stitches were required to close the wounds.

Mrs. Kempster said the animal attacked when she reached down to pet it.

Kids' Burglary Gang Story by Boy, 9, Being Followed Up

Police and juvenile authorities boys for possible connection with Saturday night were checking the "Wildcat" gang. The boy, who told them he belonged to a gang of youngsters known as the "Wildcats" which has committed more than 60 burglaries in Long Beach and Wilmington during the past year.

The boy's father, James L. Foreman, 37, of 1079-C American Ave., was booked for investigation of receiving stolen property when he came to the police station Saturday night with a pocket watch police said was part of the youthful gang's loot.

Foreman told detectives he found the watch in his son's pocket several days ago when he took the boy's clothing away to keep him from going out.

He said his son told him a boy friend had given him the watch. Juvenile officers late Saturday night were questioning two other

REGIONAL POLITICS

Council Seats Race Speeds Up, 20 Vie or Tabbed Aspirants

By THE LOOKOUT

While most of the incumbent city councilmen continue to hold themselves aloof from the ranks of formally announced, many other citizens in their districts are feeling the stirring of political ambition. Already, at least a score of men and women have declared their candidacies for Council posts this year or have been mentioned as possible aspirants.

Of the nine incumbent Councilmen, two have declared they aren't going to run again, one has announced his candidacy, and the other six are playing it easy.

SEEKS RE-ELECTION

Councilman James Seaton of District 4 has said positively he will seek re-election. Mayor Lynn Sutter has renounced interest in re-election to the Council to clear the way for a race for municipal judge. Councilman Lynn Farley has said he won't run again.

Councilman Raymond Kealer, Clarence Wagner, Max Livoni, Carl Fletcher, Glenn D. Hughes and Basil U. Carlson generally are regarded as cinches to go after their old offices. But so far they've refrained from formal public declarations, presumably waiting for developments.

They've been coming fairly rapidly in Councilman Wagner's Fifth District. Mrs. Ruth Bach and John V. Eberle have previously declared their candidacies, and Saturday Mrs. Arlette V. Aldrich added her name to the list.

Wagner is president of the League of California Cities. His term in that office laps over into the next councilmanic term, and that is one reason it is generally believed the East Seventh St. pharmacist is sure to seek re-election.

SEVERAL CONTENDERS

Councilman Hughes' District 8 is another area where ambition seems to be running at full tide. Among those who have been mentioned as possibilities there, in addition to Hughes, are Bert Galloher, Robert Dilday, Jean P. Craig II and Irving Carroll. Galloher and Dilday were strong contenders in the special election last year that put Hughes in the office.

Councilman Carl Fletcher, District 7, is assured of at least one opposing candidate. If he runs, John P. Baker has declared in that district, and it is believed two or three others are considering running.

In District 9, represented by Carlson, there is talk that former Councilman Francis Crawford might make a try. Another name mentioned out there is that of Woodrow Baird, attorney, but Baird said Saturday he isn't interested.

In Councilman Max Livoni's District 6 John J. O'Brien, an attorney, has indicated he probably will run. Pat Ahern, an old campaigner in that district, is also mentioned in political gossip.

TWO COMPETITORS

Councilman Seaton knows already he will have a contest on his hands in District 4. Toby Wick, former city employee and long active in politics here, has declared his candidacy there. Carl Greer, who was active in the opposition to the civic center proposal on last year's special election ballot, is mentioned as a possibility.

So far there has been little talk about candidacies in Councilman Kealer's District 3.

In the first and second districts, where incumbency is removed as a factor in the election, contests are assured.

Lewis Reese, Don May and Gordon Peeking already have announced as candidates in the First District. Dr. G. C. Harrod, who ran for the post three years ago, is thinking it over.

In District 2, Sutter's district, Gerald Desmond and E. Curtis Clark have announced as candidates. Paul Roth has been listed as a possibility there.

Second woman to enter the Council race in District 5, Mrs. Aldrich said Saturday she is running at the request of friends

Snapshots From Your Kitchen Sink

By the Shutterbug

WE'VE HEARD of people who tried to include "everything but the kitchen sink" in their pictures. We don't approve of this, but do heartily approve of something you can do with your pictures in which the kitchen sink can play a very important role.

We're talking about your trying your hand at developing and printing your own pictures at home—and we're putting all the emphasis on the kitchen sink so you'll know right away that you don't need a darkroom in order to do it.

Start with a visit to your photo dealer for a look at the various kits that he has to show you. You'll be amazed to find that compactly fitted into a quite small box is everything you need for the operation. Of course, there are detailed instructions for doing it, too.

A home developing and printing outfit and a kitchen to use it in will add pleasure to your snapshooting.

Only one step in the procedure calls for complete darkness, and it is one that can be done in a hurry and any light-tight closet is a good place for doing it.

You can do the whole printing operation in subdued roomlight because there is a special kind of photographic paper, called Velite, which can be used under such conditions. This adds to the fun of home printing because everyone can gather 'round to enjoy the thrill of seeing the picture appear as you put the photographic paper in the developing solution.

Cherry-vanilla ice cream pie is a dessert that uses cherries, traditional fruit on Washington's birthday.

COOKING

Desserts for Party-Time

By Mildred K. Flanary
Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

FEBRUARY is steeped in party tradition . . . but so are other months of the year. The foods we serve in February, or March, or April, or any other month of the year may follow a theme—a special holiday, or go strictly seasonal — but the basic code for entertaining is the same all year.

Our hostess today, Mrs. Marion C. Houser, 35 La Linda Dr., finds the following rules fun to follow and easy to execute:

Don't work so hard getting the house cleaned up before the party that your back aches, you are tired and cross. Do you ever go around your hostess' home looking for dust?

Dress for company, but don't over dress. Your attire, should, however, make your guests feel they are important.

Don't try to serve "high stylish" or strange foods. Even Aunt Em's Hash served by a happy hostess is far better than "elegant" food surrounded by tension.

DON'T PLAN elaborate flower arrangements and a multiplicity of accessories. Plain,

Kitchen Tip:

MRS. HOUSER'S KITCHEN TIP: Never stretch pie crust to fit a plate. Lough shrinks when baking.

Conserve your energy, take party preparation calmly; then you'll have fun, too, advises Mrs. M. C. Houser, who today shares with readers a recipe for February.

old-fashioned geraniums are colorful and lovely—and a minimum of silver, glass and china require less romping to the kitchen.

Plan a conversation menu as well as one for food. At least, have a few spare topics to toss in should the conversation go personal, religious or political.

The final rule is so plain it never should need stating but here it is: Always ask the folks at home whether it will be convenient for you to have a party. They'll like it better that way, and so will you.

Since this is February, and since George Washington's birthday does call for a party, Mrs. Houser has given us her recipe for Cottage Pudding with Cherry Sauce. It appears separately on this page.

Another festive and timely refreshment is Cherry-Vanilla Ice Cream Pie topped with long-stemmed maraschinos for an extra touch. Bake your best and flakiest pie shell in advance. For an eight- or nine-inch shell, use two pints of ice cream (one vanilla and one cherry), or three pints for a 10-inch shell. Top with a ring of whipped cream and then the cherries.

Mrs. Houser's Cottage Pudding with Cherry Sauce:

- | | |
|---------------------------|---------------------|
| 1½ cup cherries (canned) | ½ teaspoon vanilla |
| ¾ cup sugar | ½ cup sugar |
| 4 tablespoons butter | ¼ teaspoon salt |
| 2 tablespoons flour | 1 egg |
| 1½ cup flour | ½ cup melted butter |
| 2 teaspoons baking powder | Milk to fill cup |

Crush cherries. Mix with sugar, flour and butter. Cook for 5 to 10 minutes and cool. Pour fruit sauce in buttered pudding pan. Sift dry ingredients together. Melt butter and measure into cup. Add the egg and enough milk to fill cup. Add to dry ingredients and mix well. Pour the batter over the cherry sauce and steam 1½ hours. Start in 350-degree oven for about 30 minutes, then reduce heat to 325 degrees. When done remove from oven and turn out, upside-down. Garnish with whipped cream and whole cherries.

Rhee Says U.S.-Aided Japs Plan Korea Grab

SEOUL — (U.P.) South Korean President Syngman Rhee charged Saturday that United States aid and support of Japan may pave the way for the Japanese to seize control of his country.

Rhee, in an exclusive written interview with the United Press, said, "The Japanese appear still to believe that they are the masters of Asia and that they can take anything they can lay their hands on."

"It sometimes appears to us that the United States has an understanding with Japan, as she did in 1905, that Korea can be taken over by Japan with the aid and support of the Americans," he said.

Rhee also charged that American rehabilitation purchases made for South Korea in Japan were to build up Japanese industry at the expense of South Korean industry.

The 79-year-old President said the United States was satisfied to give Korea "machines and tools," which had been scrapped by the Japanese, and replace them in Japan with newer, more efficient American models.

Rhee, who typed the final draft of the nine-page interview himself, also said the Korean peace conference will fail. "The Communists never intended to sign a peace agreement in the hope that the allies will get tired and drop out of our Korean defense line one by one."

Korea will be dependent on the United States and foreign aid as long as the nation remains divided, he declared.

Lawless?
During the first 17 years of ownership of Alaska by the United States, it was not possible that it was not up to South to be punished legally for crime, Korea in select a U. S. general to get married legally or to deed to take over French responsibilities in Alaska.

Rhee's Offer of Troops to Be Rejected

WASHINGTON—(U.P.) Official sources indicated Saturday that the United Nations Command in Korea will turn down the surprise offer of South Korean President Syngman Rhee to send a division of troops to Indochina to battle the Communists.

Officially, the South Korean offer still is "under consideration." But it was abundantly clear that high American policymakers took a cool view of it.

One informant predicted the U. N. Command soon will send Rhee a polite message saying, "effect. Thank you, but your troops are needed in Korea."

South Korea also proposed that Gen. James A. Van Fleet, former U. S. Army commander in Korea, be sent to Indochina to help train and organize native resistance forces, as he did in South Korea.

American officials had no comment on this suggestion, and there was no indication it would draw any sort of official reply.

The feeling in some quarters was that it was not up to South to be punished legally for crime, Korea in select a U. S. general to get married legally or to deed to take over French responsibilities in Indochina.

DUAL TITLES of Miss Valentine and Miss Greater Long Beach Press Club were bestowed formally upon Marlene Becker, 21, of 1040 E. Ocean Blvd. She was crowned at a dance in the Press Club's quarters in Wilton Hotel. Runners-up in the Miss Press Club contest were Mary Ellen Parziale, 18, 2286 Fanwood Ave., and Mike Headle, 19, 1310 W. Spring.

Bramblett on Job; No Resignation Expected

WASHINGTON—(U.P.) The activity in Suite 1339, new House office building, is like that in any other congressional office.

Secretaries are opening mail, typing letters and answering the telephone.

Rep. Ernest K. Bramblett is back at his desk in his private office.

The California Republican was convicted in Federal District Court Tuesday on charges of falsifying his office payroll to collect kickbacks.

"I'm going to carry on with my regular routine," he told a reporter. "That's what they're paying me for."

"Some people tell me this trouble has made me more friends than before," he said. "People are being nicer to me. I haven't had a single nasty letter, although I still expect I'll get a few."

He did read a "dig" into one letter from New York City containing a blank sheet of paper and addressed to "Senator" E. K. Bramblett.

None of Bramblett's House colleagues expects him to resign, nor do they expect him to seek re-election.

On the latter point, Bramblett only will say:

"I'll have to clear up this situation first, before I can make any plans for the future."

He said about the same thing in a meeting of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee in his district last month, which resulted in endorsement of another candidate. Bramblett gritted his teeth in expressing his determination to carry his appeal to the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court, if necessary.

He talked hopefully of a decision by the Court of Appeals by early summer.

"I'm due for a break sooner or later," he said.

2 L.B. Area Men Listed as Dead

Two men from the Long Beach area Saturday were added to the list of Korean casualties.

Cpl. Thomas L. Doufexis, brother of Mrs. Marna J. Pike, 14040 Ainsworth St., Gardena, and Sgt. Ralph Pittman, husband of Mrs. Ruby M. Pittman, 11850 E. Hayford St., Norwalk, who had been carried on the missing in action list for a year, have been established as dead, the Army announced. Army officers said evidence of their death had been obtained from exchanged prisoners and other sources.

To Whom It May Concern: "For over 30 years I have been going from one doctor's office to another hoping to find someone to help me with my asthma and stomach condition. No one knows how much I had suffered until I came to Dr. Chan. Night after night I had to sit up because I wasn't able to lie down to sleep. I was coughing and wheezing most of the night, besides, I was stuffed with a full of gas. After taking Dr. Chan's Herbal Therapy for one week, I began to improve. Now, after five months of continuous treatment, my asthma and stomach troubles are just about over. I wish to recommend this treatment to anyone who is anxious to get well. I am sure that Dr. Chan will do all he can to help you as he has helped me." Signed: Mrs. Tina Smith.

Rome Police Cut Name Off U.S. Church

ROME — (U.P.) Police chiseled the name of the Church of Christ off its building in Rome Saturday. A church spokesman denounced the action as a "violation of the law of the state" and said the protestant religious group would take the matter to court.

It was the second crackdown in about 12 hours by Italian authorities on the largely Texas-financed protestant evangelical group, which has been having trouble with the authorities in predominantly Roman Catholic Italy for a long time.

Friday night, police forced Italian worshippers from the small rented hall of the church in the seaport city of Leghorn. They took the Italian preacher into custody, but later released him.

American worshippers refused to leave and continued with the service.

Saturday morning, police appeared with ladders at the three-story building owned by the church in Rome and chiseled off the 10-inch stone letters "Chiesa di Cristo." They picked up an Associated Press photographer for snapping pictures of their activities, but later released him.

The church has been seeking recognition since it first came to Italy, shortly after the end of World War II. It has sought intervention of the U. S. State Department, saying the Italian government has levied exorbitant taxes on church properties.

Saturday's police action came on direct orders from Rome police headquarters, which are under the direction of the Italian Ministry of Interior, headed by Mario Scelba, who is also the country's new premier.

As Interior Minister in previous regimes Scelba had criticized the Church of Christ sharply and had accused it of aiding communism in Italy. Church leaders denied strongly his charges.

In recent weeks, Roman Catholic authorities have increased their criticism of protestant activities in Italy.

The U. S. embassy said it deplored the misunderstandings that had arisen between the church and Italian authorities and added the question appeared to be one of interpretation of Italian internal law.

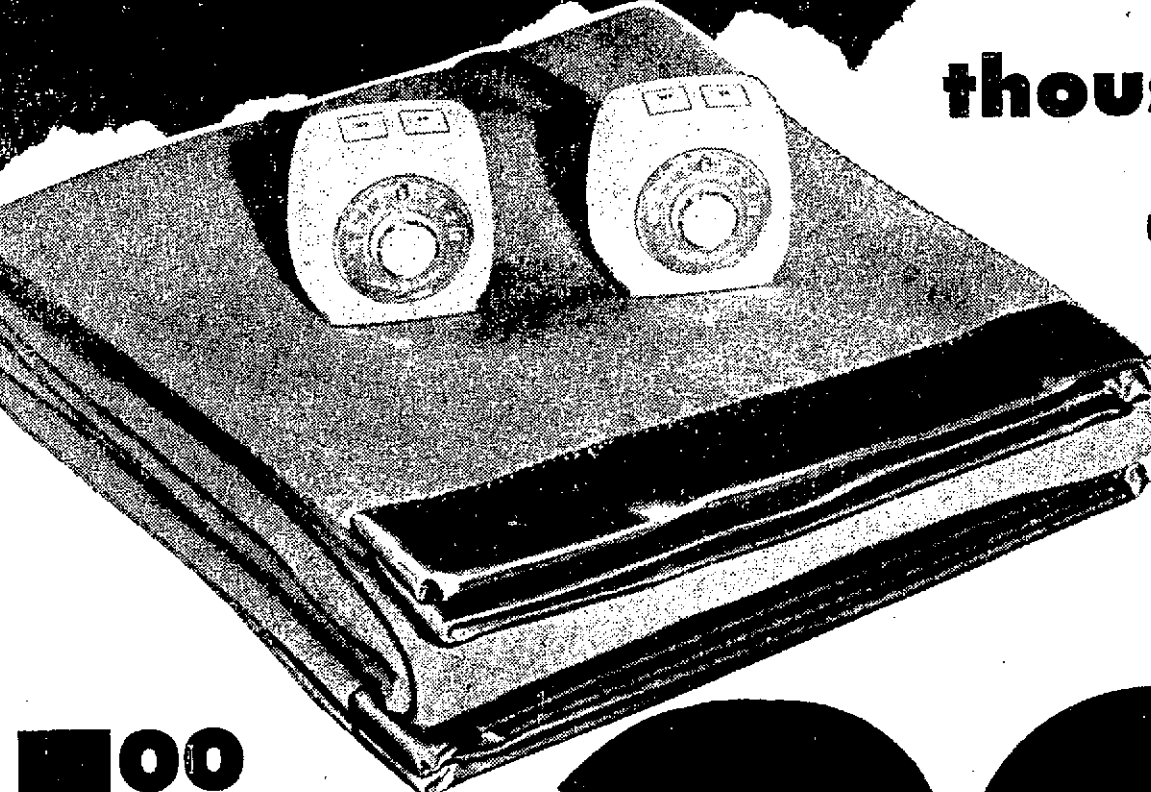

The State Department in Washington said it had received a report on the incident Friday night at Leghorn, and that the Rome embassy would aid church representatives in their difficulties with Italian police.

KARACHI, Pakistan.—(UP). The Food Ministry Saturday challenged a statement by Rep. Philip J. Philbin (D-Mass.), in Washington, that the American wheat gift was rotting in Karachi harbor while the inland population of west Pakistan was starving. In an official statement, the ministry said that of a total gift of 700,000 tons of wheat pledged to Pakistan, the total received up to January was 561,000 tons. Total distribution to date has been 343,000 tons. Of the remainder, 100,000 tons has been scientifically stored and the rest is on its way to the interior by rail and truck.

Revlon's new Build-up

age-defying facial that lifts
sagging contours!

When Nature lets you down ...

It happens to every woman over 21. An exhausting day — and fatigue brings lines and a tired, aging look to your face. Your contours seem to sag. Now, thanks to advances in cosmetic chemistry, you can go through the most grueling day — yet face the evening with poise and loveliness. Or, you can start the morning fresh and younger-looking ... and hiding those years you don't dare admit ... even to yourself!

At last, a beauty corrective for 'sagging contours' ...

Now, for the first time, you can really do something about fatigue lines and 'sagging contours', because a wonderful new cosmetic has been developed by Revlon. It is called "Build-Up" ... and it does just that! "Build-Up" helps lift exhausted facial contours — picking up and firming the lines of your face to help you look and feel fresher ... (and shh — so much younger!)

The Pick-up you can see and feel. The moment Build-Up touches the skin there is a feeling that the relentless pull of gravity on your 'sagging contours' has been released. At the jawline, at the throat, on your brow, at the corners of your eyes — all those little places where tiredness and age show — you feel and see an immediate tightening, a bracing pick-up.

A wonderful transformation in 10 minutes ...

After an exhausting day, use Build-Up and face the evening with poise and loveliness. Try the magic of Build-Up each morning before you put on your make-up. Or, used faithfully each night before retiring, Build-Up will help you look fresher, younger-looking day after day. Just smooth on—leave on 10 minutes — rinse off ... the work is done! Try Build-Up this very night — you'll thrill to a freshened, uplifted look! $3.50 (plus Fed. tax)

The Sky, the Sea and a Beachside Home

By Eileen Ball

A fieldstone fireplace with jutting hearth and wide windows viewing sea are features of the Ray E. Copelands' home.

CCHEERFUL and informal, seeming to imitate the devotees of the beach, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Copeland, 5701 Seaside Wk., suns itself and looks toward the sea.

The exterior of this home, designed by George M. Montierth, AIA, is unusual in its use of 12-inch redwood planks used as vertical panels. The rough texture of the wood has allowed the yellow pigment of the paint to sink in, with the result that the siding has taken on a mellow, driftwood appearance. The informality of this siding, together with the sunniness of its color, has combined to make this the perfect choice for this informal beach home. And to add beauty to the building (and a note of provincialism, as well) reclaimed brick was used extensively.

Inside, a large entry leads directly to the lanai and the living rooms. To the left, four steps lead down into the lanai-playroom, cool and inviting with its unique usage of mural wallpaper portraying a Haitian beach scene. This panel occupies the wall opposite one of sliding plate glass that opens onto the outdoor patio.

To offset the cool turquoise and green shades used in the mural, the remaining walls are paneled in Japanese katsura wood, stained the color of birch and finished with a surface smooth as satin. Flooring is of natural cork.

A diagonal indoor barbecue of used brick vies with the mural for focal point of interest in the room. The furnishings are of rattan, carrying out the South Seas motif.

ON A LEVEL with the entry is the living room, solidly carpeted with a deep-napped, sand-colored carpeting. The walls, as well as the connecting dining room, are paneled with the same satiny katsura wood. The ceilings of the rooms are sloping, and the immense open beams are painted a subdued blue-green.

Dominating the living room is a large open fireplace of natural Ojai fieldstone. Its raised hearth is wider than the fireplace and part of it, extending beneath a sea-view window, has been cushioned to provide a casual seating area. The pad on the improvised window seat has been covered with deep blue-green nubby fabric. Yellow bolsters and an array of gaily colored throw pillows enhance the comfort and the attractiveness of this conversational area.

Opposite the windows which frame the ocean view is a curved sofa upholstered in cocoa-and-turquoise tweed. Over the sofa hang four water colors portraying Paris street scenes.

THE DRAPERIES in the living-dining rooms are beautifully styled of a heavy linen-like fabric patterned with rather stylized sunflowers of creamy yellow against a background of blue-green. The draperies are sill length and are spanned with a formally pleated valance all the way across the window expanse. When the desire for greater privacy prevails, casement curtains of the same identical blue-green of the draperies' background may be pulled

The College Grows

COLLEGE enrollments normally drop at the beginning of the spring semester. But this isn't holding true at Long Beach State College. President P. Victor Peterson announced this week that the spring enrollment there has established a new record in the institution's brief career. The new figure is 3401 students, representing an 18 per cent increase over the fall enrollment.

A major institution of higher education, with enrollments larger than those of many long-established colleges throughout the country, is swiftly growing up right here in our community.

This growth reflects the important position the State College system, once considered a minor branch of the main university stem, has attained in California's education setup.

If demands for educational service are to be fulfilled in the future, the role of the State College system must continue to expand.

It is made clear by statistics in recent reports by Superintendent of Public Instruction Roy E. Simpson and the Council of State College Presidents.

Everyone is aware of the tremendous increases in enrollments in elementary and secondary schools and the consequent shortage of classrooms. This problem is being transmitted to the college level.

In 1947 there were 73,453 California high school graduates; in 1953 there were 82,500. The number of graduates in 1954 is estimated at 89,300; in 1955—104,800; 1956—119,200; 1960—144,200; 1965—189,800. The predictions obviously are not based on estimated birth rate figures. The students represented in the figure 189,000 are already among us.

The number of students attending the University, the State Colleges, and the junior colleges in California will increase by an average of 9000 students annually up to 1965. And one-third of these students will apply for admission to California's 10 state colleges.

Simpson estimates building requirements at $128,000,000 by 1965. The Council of State College Presidents' reports puts the cost of the necessary expansion program at more than $195,000,000. We note that most past estimates of enrollments and school building needs have turned out to be far too conservative.

This community, located in one of the heaviest concentrations of population in California, is eye-witness to the need for expansion of the State College system. Long Beach State now has under construction facilities costing about $2,000,000, with $2,500,000 authorized for further additions. And the classrooms can't be built fast enough.

The Great Mockery

ABRAHAM LINCOLN was a gentle, compassionate man not easily angered by the vituperations of his critics.

His moral strength was such that he could endure abuse and slander without descending to the level of his tormentors, or yielding a single conviction under fire.

No President in history has ever been defamed as maliciously as was Lincoln, nor carried the burdens of that great office with more humility and quiet courage.

It is the custom each year for Republican orators to pay tribute to the memory of Lincoln in a series of political dinners held throughout the country.

These would seem as they were for many years, to be appropriate occasions on which to extend the citizenship of the first Republican President and to rededicate the party to the ideals and principles of the Great Emancipator.

Unhappily, in modern times, this is seldom the case. Lincoln Day banquets have become violently partisan affairs in which the speaker devotes a few opening paragraphs to "Honest Abe" and then proceeds to castigate the Democrats for as long as the audience will listen.

The same criticism can be made of the Jefferson Day dinners where politicians of the New Deal stripe cynically drape themselves in the cloak of a great constitutionalist who would abhor the latter day philosophies they have embraced.

There are indeed suitable and frequent opportunities for the tub thumpers of both parties to berate each other and dwell upon the inadequacies of the opposition.

But to do so in the names of Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson and Abraham Lincoln is both stupid and objectionable.

It was decidedly inappropriate for Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy to choose a Lincoln Day dinner as the setting for his recent statement that all Democrats "carry the stain of historic betrayal."

Or for Sen. Jenner to say at a similar affair that "Democratic Fair Dealers opened the gates of the citadel to the Communists."

Even Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams got off balance long enough to charge that "political chairmen" were attempting to press a "Fear Deal" on the country.

A previous attack by Republican Chairman Leonard W. Hall lumped all Democrats together as "left wingers" who see a depression as a "one-way ticket into power."

These questionable blasts at the Democratic party brought a quick and angry retort from House Democratic Leader Sam Rayburn who called them "mean, untrue and dastardly."

It is true that the Republican criticism of the Democratic party did not come without provocation.

A week earlier, Harry S. Truman had given his successor in the White House what Time Magazine called "an old-fashioned history-stick tanning." This was a speech delivered to the Roosevelt Day dinner of Americans for Democratic Action.

In all this political turmoil, only President Eisenhower has kept his head. In his press conference on Wednesday, Ike said that he thinks it is untrue, politically unwise and foolish to say that all Democrats are tinged with treason or loom as security risks.

While others might waver in a wallow of political muck, the President stood solidly upon the foundations of fair play and good Americanism.

It made one feel like jumping on a chair and leading a cheer.

No one, including Eisenhower, wants to dilute the traditional rivalry between the two great political parties. The issues can be, and are, furiously debated in every political campaign.

But it was an unbelievably stupid blunder for the Republicans to use Lincoln Day as the reason to blister the Democrats with a barrage of loose and unsupported charges, and thus jeopardize the success of the President's program in Congress.

If Eisenhower has a broader appeal to the people than his party, the reasons are not difficult to discern.

DREW PEARSON

'Old Doc' Townsend Making Progress

"OLD DOC" TOWNSEND of old-age pension fame is back in town.

Gray, gaunt, kindly, and just as persistent as in New Deal days, Dr. Townsend is making more progress than the public realizes in putting his ideas across on Capitol Hill.

Now 87 years old, Doc doesn't look a day older than in 1932 when he came to Washington from Long Beach, Calif., to cajole, bulldoze, and butt on hole Congressmen into voting pensions for oldsters.

He keeps his youth by following his own ideas about diet and taking his own vitamin pills, which, incidentally, he sells to other people at cost.

Lunching with Doc Townsend, I noticed that he ordered only fruit juice and black coffee, later munching on a piece of corn bread.

"I eat a good breakfast in the morning and a fairly good meal at night," he explained, when I expressed admiration for his Ghandi-like appetite. "I'm not against eating. I just don't need any more to get through the day."

Doc Townsend's weekly magazine is still going strong out in Cleveland.

"The average old-age pension today," Dr. Townsend explained, "is only $34 a month, and you can imagine how far that would take the average old person. Colorado has the highest pension rate, with around $85, while Mississippi and Arkansas are about the lowest, with around $25 to $30."

"PENNY-MONEY" PLAN Though Doc Townsend never put across his own pet idea about a universal spend-as-you-go pension plan, it was his consistent hammering at the Congress back in New Deal days which helped materially in passing the social security program.

Doc was never satisfied, however, and now he's back with his same ideas all over again, slightly revamped to suit modern times.

"The United States has now become a nation of slaves," he points out. "We have so developed mechanical production that we can make more of anything—from wheat to automobiles—with about one-half our manpower. And since the world can't pay for all our production, we must either accumulate it in storehouses, which is foolish, or sell it to ourselves. My plan is to sell it to ourselves."

To do this, he would increase prosperity, buying power, and production by giving every person over the age of 60 the benefit of a 2 per cent production tax. This would amount to a gift of about $130 a month to every old person, and he would make the same gift available to every invalid and every widow with children.

His only provision would be that they spend this amount each month, so as to increase production and prosperity.

"How would you make sure the money was spent each month?" I asked.

"That's easy. Deposit the money in the banks—which means more business for the banks—and if anyone starts hoarding, the banks will know about it. We won't insist that people spend every last penny by the end of the month, only they don't hoard."

Ike's Shushing Puts GOP in Dilemma

WASHINGTON—Out of the gracious speech in the Senate of Sen. Frank Carlson, Republican, of Kansas, may grow a "be-kind-to-the-Democrats" movement applicable especially to the period of Lincoln Day dinners.

But it will be of little avail unless the speakers of the Democratic party at Jefferson-Jackson Day banquets will reciprocate with a "be-kind-to-the-Republicans" attitude.

The Kansas Senator thinks the Republicans have a right to criticize "extraneous" in government and "the fact that there was an effort to shield Communists."

Gov. Dewey of New York, Republican, however, seems no good in attempting to gag the members of his party and charges that the Democrats in Congress who are trying to silence Republican critics cannot by such tactics "lessen the responsibility of the last administration for having bungled us into a war in Korea and for the ammunition shortage that caused the tragic, needless loss of many American lives."

On the other side of the political arena, Stephen Mitchell, the Democratic national chairman, doesn't seem to have taken too kindly to President Eisenhower's plea for more restraint and less extremism in political speech-making.

For Mr. Mitchell, through his publication, "The Democratic Digest," has just declared that Attorney General Brownell accused former President Truman of "reasonable conduct."

A careful examination of what Mr. Brownell said at Chicago and his statements before the Senate Subcommittee reveals that the Attorney General merely accused Mr. Truman of laxity in administration and of having misjudged the evidence about Harry Dexter White.

DILEMMA

But if Mr. Mitchell keeps on repeating his own sensational misstatement as a means of diverting attention from the real charge, must the Republican now be justified? Or will they now be silenced in reopening the publicity on the White case in order to set the record straight? That's the kind of dilemma that has been produced by President Eisenhower's effort to apply conciliatory measures to political combat.

Incidentally, some of the Trumanite reporters are out to get the Eisenhower administration with as bad a press as they can muster. If the Eisenhower staff are not quick on the comb, they will lose ground for the Republican party.

A notable example of the partisanship evident in the news dispatches is the way some of the Trumanite reporters handled the political journey of Scott McLeod of the State Department.

The State Department was bombarded with requests from the reporters as to whether Mr. McLeod had obtained "leave of absence" without pay. It turned out that he did take leave of absence.

Curiously enough, when other State Department officials under the Truman administration made political speeches for the Democrats, no such fuss was raised and, of course, none was on "leave of absence."

There's nothing wrong with what the Truman officials did in making those speeches. Nor is there anything wrong with what Mr. McLeod has done in making a Republican speech, though to read some press dispatches it might be inferred that he had done something that never had been done before.

MALCOLM EPLEY

Republican Congress Vital to Ike

ON his visit here this week end, Rep. Craig Hosmer brought up a point that could be used effectively by Republicans in their fight at this year's elections to retain and extend their control of Congress.

As everybody knows, if Congressional control changes hands, top committee positions will go to Democrats.

Working admirers of President Eisenhower, Democratic spokesmen have been saying that this would not be at all bad for the President's program because many Democrats have co-operated in support of the administration's legislative objectives.

While it is true they have, Hosmer comes up with an interesting study of voting records to show that certain Democrats, who would come into key committee positions in case of a Democratic victory, are not the "co-operating" kind.

Hosmer cited the records of six Democrats who are now ranking members of the minority party on important committees. He gave each a percentage rating as the measure of his opposition on issues in which the administration has had an interest in the current session of Congress.

Here they are, as the Congressman figured them:

Appropriations — Clarence Cannon, Mo., voted 56 per cent against the administration.

Banking and currency — Brent Spence, Kentucky, voted 47 per cent against.

Education and labor — Graham A. Barden, North Carolina, 63 per cent against.

Interstate and foreign commerce — Robert Crosser, Ohio, 47 per cent against.

Judiciary — Emmanuel Celler, N.Y., 56 per cent against.

Public Works — Charles A. Buckley, N.Y., 94 per cent against.

These are men, Hosmer pointed out, who would exercise the tremendous power of House committee chairmanships in case the Republicans lost control of Congress. Their records, he said, raise serious doubt as to whether a Democratic Congress could be counted upon as "friendly" to Eisenhower.

The Long Beach Congressman said that there are many Democrats who are in sympathy with the administration's objectives, but he thinks their co-operation would be offset by the "damage" done by those who feel otherwise.

Hosmer believes Republicans should use the strongest arguments they can summon to convince the people that election of a GOP Congress is essential to giving Ike a chance to carry out his program.

It looks as if the Long Beach Congressman has hit upon an approach to this issue that carries a punch.

Hosmer thinks that Eisenhower's popularity and prestige will be the deciding factor for the Republicans in the election if they get that story across. As evidence that Ike has the popularity and prestige, he points to the Democratic efforts to appeal for support on the basis of their co-operation with Eisenhower.

L.A.C. SAYS:

occurs. But will the American people support such a program? That is the question troubling the Communists. If they believe we will not send forces to Indochina, we may be sure that country will be taken over by the Communists and Moscow will dictate the affairs of that country.

From Indochina they need but cross the border into Siam and quickly take over the oil, tin, rubber and the rice-rich Malay Peninsula. Such a victory would place the Communists in complete control of that rich area. It would be the greatest blow to the free world since the conquest of China. The situation is not greatly different than when the Communists drove across the 38th Parallel and President Truman ordered Gen. MacArthur to go to the aid of Korea.

The big question now is—how much have the American people softened in their attitude toward stopping the aggressions of the Communists? There is no doubt but that the Korean war was unpopular. And yet most of us agreed President Truman did the right thing when he sent our forces to stop the Reds. It is probable that moved saved Japan and probably the rest of the Pacific area. But we may be sure the Communists will try again if they feel certain, or fairly certain, we will not strongly oppose them again.

From the uproar raised by our sending the technicians, along with planes and other supplies, to Indochina the Russians may well question our willingness to again sacrifice to stop their aggressions. We taught them a lesson in Korea at great cost to ourselves. The big question is—are we ready to sacrifice again? If we are and the Russians believe that it is probable, we will not have to fight. But any show of weariness or hesitation on our part will surely mean our future will be placed in ever-increasing jeopardy. These are not pleasant thoughts. But it is an issue which may have to be faced in the not-distant future.—L.A.C.

TOWN MEETING

No Quarrel

TO THE EDITOR:

I would like to clarify my position in the recent controversial "Majorette vs. Models" story in the Sunday Independent-Press-Telegram.

I have no quarrel with trained majorettes. I have found that it is only the untrained majorette who requires added attention in professional model training to correct posture faults.

Long Beach has produced many fine and talented majorettes of whom I am proud. Five of my top models are also very fine majorettes. It is an entirely different type of training and performance.

BARBARA BLAKELEY, Blakeley School of Modeling and Charm.

TO THE EDITOR:

Only free men can be great. An authoritarian system can make a man physically strong, but those who obey become as sheep. The man exists for the sake of the system. He reflects the system and obediently conforms. He dare not think except within the rigid limits fixed by the system.

Freedom is risky. It leaves a man's fears up to him. It stimulates him toward achievement but does not compel. It gives him opportunity to learn and to investigate whatever he wishes so far as he is willing for the sake of the man. It is nothing except as its men are great. Within it men develop self-reliance. They learn to co-operate without sacrifice of independence.

Free men judge for themselves. No authority but evidence tells what they must believe. They dare to use their minds to think and judge independently. An animal can memorize. Only a man can think, and though he makes mistakes he discovers and corrects the errors of the past.

Unitarians and many other Christians believe that both in religion and in government this principle of freedom of judgment and belief is supremely important, that progress is always possible while it is maintained.

JOHN D. LEE, 641 E. Carson.

No Mandate?

TO THE EDITOR:

It has been publicly stated that a bulkhead will be built around the outside of Rainbow Pier as protection against subsidence. This would probably dry the lagoon and lead to filling it, which would destroy our most attractive, most distinctive and most enjoyable recreation facility, such as no other city can boast of. A delightful to kiddies and others who prefer quiet, warmer and less dangerous waters. Something, which if we did not have, we would be striving to attain.

I have always favored spending enough tideland oil money, when available, for building an auditorium of 15,000 seating capacity, but only if situated on high ground, easy of access and transportation and free from subsidence.

Voters were given no choice; it was either take that site or none, and at last April election a mere 18 per cent and on Jan. 21 just 12 per cent voted authorization to expend $4,250,000 for this project, with $250,000 more necessary for subsidence protection.

By no stretch of the imagination can such be said to be a representative vote, nor a mandate. Therefore fair play demands that this project be submitted again at either the May or June election, at no added cost, offering a choice of two sites, one on high land, easy of access.

Russ Chiefs Flay Kazakh Government

By MILTON MANOR
LONDON—(AP). The Kremlin turned its wrath yesterday on the vast mineral rich Soviet republic of Kazakhstan, accusing its premier of blundering and vowing "speedy liquidation" of Communist errors in that central Asian state.

Moscow hinted broadly it was cleaning house in the Soviet Union's second largest republic, reportedly a source of raw materials for Russia's atomic program.

A broadcast over the official government radio at Alma Ata, quoting the party newspaper, Kazakhstanskaya Pravda, denounced Premier Y. B. Taybekov for "short-comings and mistakes." It blasted also two recently purged Kazakh deputies.

The paper said drastic measures were being taken to repair a breakdown in the "link between the tasks facing the republic and the leadership." The broadcast blamed the republic's lagging agricultural and industrial production on "unsatisfactory leadership on the part of the bureau of the central committee of the Kazakh Communist party."

Then it pointed an accusing finger at Taybekov and the ousted first and second secretaries of the Kazakh Communist party, Z. Shayakhmetov and Afonov.

"They also stem from a low standard of organizational work on the part of the bureau and of comrades Shayakhmetov and Afonov, as well as of the chairman of the Kazakh council of ministers, comrade Taybekov." Taybekov took office as premier in January, 1952. Three months later, his agricultural program got a going over from Moscow's two top papers—Pravda and Izvestia.

The Alma Ata Radio's denunciation of Premier Taybekov and his associates appeared in line with Malenkov's program to weed out any possible opposition to the new Kremlin regime.

Observers noted that the Alma Ata broadcast stressed Kazakhstan's "colossal reserves and natural wealth."

1st Mother Wins Boy, 6, From 'Mommy, Daddy'

PITTSBURGH — (AP). Little Larry Eastman, sobbing and crying, was reunited with his natural mother Saturday after bidding good-bye to the foster-parents he had known as "Mommy and Dad" since infancy.

"I want to stay with my Mommy," he shouted as loudly as a six-year-old could. He referred to Mrs. Robert G. Barr, who along with her husband had raised the boy since he was seven months old.

But a Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision ordered Larry returned to the custody of his natural mother, Mrs. Eleanor Buckner of Central Valley, Calif. Mrs. Buckner arrived by plane to claim her son.

Larry was placed in the Barrs care five years ago by Mrs. Buckner's first husband, a Navy chief petty officer.

When Mrs. Buckner remarried, she started legal proceedings to regain custody of her son. The Barrs, in an 18-month court battle, contended that Mrs. Buckner was an unfit mother, but the State Supreme Court ruled otherwise.

Earlier, the Barrs complied with a court order and surrendered the child to the family and Children's Service Agency. As it was, the Barrs "technically" were in contempt of court. The original order directed them to deliver Larry to the agency Saturday morning.

They appeared five hours late but the matter was not pressed.

When Mrs. Barr began to cry at their final moments together, Larry wiped the tears with his own cleaning tissue and buried his face in her skirt.

Brainy Women Grads Lucky at Jobs, Unlucky at Love

BRYN MAWR, Pa. — (AP). A survey of Bryn Mawr College graduates showed Saturday its most highly educated women graduates can hold on to jobs but apparently have a tough time getting a man.

The survey showed 85 per cent of the women Ph. D. graduates with doctor of philosophy degrees still are employed—a record of employment "far higher than usually found, even among professional groups," Dr. Eleanor A. Bliss, dean of the graduate school, said. The survey showed the typical Ph. D. of the early days remained unmarried, although some married and had families of one to four children.

The number divorced at any period was "very low—far below the national average," Dean Bliss said.

The results of the survey, Dean Bliss said, are important because the opinion that women college graduates don't stay long in their jobs "has led many employers to restrict opportunities for women and often kept potential donors from supporting education for women as generously as education for men."

She said the Bryn Mawr survey was undertaken because of a "widespread concern" in this country about possible shortage of highly qualified professional personnel.

Studies of some of the university groups, she predicted, would show—"as the Bryn Mawr group shows"—that manpower problems among women should be analyzed in greater detail and that both opportunity for employment and financial support for women should be increased "where the record of past and present accomplishment warranted."

By far the largest single professional group among all the Bryn Mawr Ph. D. graduates is college and university teaching, which includes 62 per cent of those employed.

Between the dining room and the living area stands a grand piano in an unusual fruitwood finish, and the dining room makes further use of this soft-toned wood with its pearwood French provincial dining set. The large oval table is surrounded with chairs, of a more formalized French provincial styling, upholstered with striped fabric in turquoise and blue-green.

The kitchen, which opens into the dining room by means of an open service and snack counter, is paneled entirely of red birch stained the exact tone of the katsura wood used in the living rooms.

The Copelands' kitchen permits serving informal lunches at the snack bar, enabling the diners to enjoy the ocean view through the dining room picture window beyond. And yet, when a more formal dinner party is in progress in the dining room, a sliding panel of katsura wood and birch slides down over the opening, neatly closing off the kitchen. Closed, the sliding door appears to be just a part of the dining room's effective paneling.

The dropped ceiling in the kitchen is papered in a soft provincial print with a gray ground patterned with brown-leaved berries. The deep red of the fruit has been repeated in the double-tiered print curtains.

Though the house, viewed from the beach, has all the appearance of a single-story dwelling, it is, in reality, a story and a half. Both the bedrooms are upstairs in the back.

THE MASTER BEDROOM has three walls of paneling

painted a soft aqua. The fourth wall is papered in gray with a pink rose cluster pattern interspersed with tiny provincial scenes. The sloping, open beamed ceiling is the same aqua as the walls.

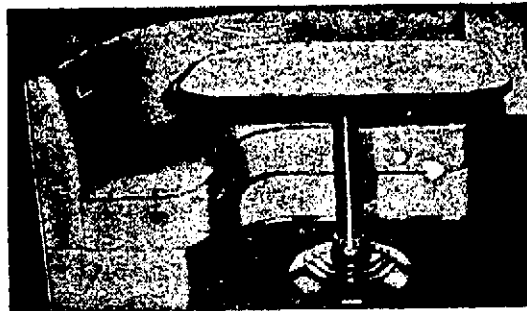

The diagonal fireplace, set into its paneled wall, is faced with glazed tiles patterned with provincial sunflowers.

Across the hall, Miss Barbara Copeland's room is carried out in pale blue accented in white and touches of deeper blue. Her twin spreads of light blue have double flounces of scenic fabric in tones of blue and yellow.

A built-in dresser-desk combination provides surface and storage area for all the things that make a young girl's room perfection. Here is Miss Copeland's telephone, record player, radio, books and sailing trophies.

The final touch, however, that makes this room complete is the connected sun deck.

Stitched into selected material and then combed with a wire carding brush, wool yarn becomes silky fur on decorative animals made by Mrs. H. Asher (above).

WHAT'S YOUR HOBBY?

Fur for That Toy Dog

By Jule Armin

GIVING decorative and toy animals a "living" touch is the accomplishment of Mrs. Herbert Asher, 2519 E. Third St., who adds silky fur to a decorative kitten, a shaggy coat to a toy dog, a fluffy tail to a squirrel or a long mane to a rearing horse that brightens a sofa pillow.

"I just give a new twist to old-time punch work," Mrs. Asher says in describing her hobby, "combing out yarn with a stiff brush as one would the fur of a live animal."

First, Mrs. Asher has the desired animal pattern printed on muslin and bastes this cloth on the back of a piece of velvet or other contrasting material. Then, with a punch needle, she works the picture with close rows of simple in-and-out stitches, done in pure wool yarn. The punch needle leaves loops on the opposite side. As each row of loops is completed, it is brushed out with a small carding brush to give the effect of fur.

The stitches are locked in and only the yarn is combed out, being literally carded back into original wool state.

A white kitten made by Mrs. Asher was so silky and dainty that it was placed in a frame, making it almost a third-dimension picture.

Children are delighted with these furry animals and like to fondle them — one reason why the kitten went into a frame behind glass to retain its regal white. Mrs. Asher makes dark-haired horses and dogs in toy form for children to play with.

Mrs. Asher is a member of the Woman's Music Club and the Zahl Meistersingers.

When you were a Fabulous Flapper...

Dear Southern California,

Life ran a frantic course in 1925. It was your year for short hair, long cigarette holders and the Charleston. And we even loved you in those funny hats!

Youth was flaming, life was fun, and you were fabulous. Fashion was a wild round of hip-low waistlines and dipping hemlines. You wanted them and we saw that you had them! In fact, we didn't have enough space to house all the cloche hats, the feathered boas, the wrap-around coats, the teddy bears, the miles of beads — so we had to build a brand new six-story addition and fill it with flapper fashions for you.

Now, as then, we knock ourselves out to make sure you have what you want... when you want it. You've always loved fashion, Southern California. Your men, women and children are among the best dressed in the world. It makes us especially proud to know that, through the years, our name has been the one you preferred on so many fashions for yourself, your family and your home.

Today, you're better-looking, younger-looking, smarter-looking than ever, and we intend to keep you that way.

Devotedly,

Buffums'

Conquest of the Highest Mountain

By Ray Gise

THE CONQUEST OF EVEREST, by Sir John Hunt (Dutton, $6).

At 11:30 a. m., on May 29, 1953, a New Zealand beekeeper and a Sherpa tribesman stood on top of the world. This was 11 expeditions and 32 years since the first reconnaissance in 1921 but the experience gained in previous attempts all contributed to victory.

Dozens of books describe former expeditions but "The Conquest of Everest" is the first success story. It is well illustrated with Kodachrome and black and white photographs as well as pen and ink sketches and maps. Other members of the party have added appendices detailing equipment, supplies and other data and the chapter on reaching the summit is by Sir Edmund Hillary.

Sir John Hunt, the leader, did a masterful job of organization. Team work is most essential and he had it from Sherpa and Britisher alike. As in most previous expeditions he had his high camps established in order to take advantage of the first break in the weather, that unpredictable time between the western gales and the approaching monsoon from the southeast.

In the meantime tons of equipment had to be backpacked by all, higher and higher, thus setting up that final high camp from which the assault team would make the try for the summit. The highest camp was pitched just under 28,000 feet and oxygen equipment was a major factor of success.

Only 370 yards of altitude to go—five hours later, plus hundreds of steps cut into frozen snow and ice—the ridge dropped away—it was the summit!

Hillary: "A few more whacks of the ice ax and we stood on top. . . I looked at Tenzing and in spite of the balaclava, goggles and oxygen mask encrusted with icicles there was no disguising his grin of pure delight as he looked all around him. We shook hands and then Tenzing threw his arm around my shoulders and we thumped each other on the back."

"Senior Spring" is a fine first novel by C. G. Lumbard. In it, Steve Burnett struggles through his last year in a California college. There's a girl. (Simon & Schuster, $3.50)

Francisco housewife is a simple, poignant story that brings to life legends of Inca treasure. When Illoma's bridegroom was tortured almost to death, the Andes tribe knew word had leaked out of their secret treasure, hidden since the conquest by Pizarro. Torn by imprisonment of her father, the girl struggles against the teniente's determination to learn the secret, finally to lead him to the hidden valley where the great chain of gold lay at the bottom of the lake, and where a long tunnel led through the mountain. There Illoma took the teniente, and there the people—like the Ancient ones who

A writer of business news and author of several books, Mr. Neill points out that when everyone thinks alike, everyone is likely to be wrong; that the New York stock market crash in 1929 is a good example of disasters magnified and hastened by the pressure of mass opinion. His answer is "contrary thinking," or "training your mind to ruminate in directions opposite to general public opinion." But, as he says, you must weigh your conclusions in the light of current events and current manifestations of human behavior. Those who like to think for themselves will find much help in this book.

NOVICE COLLECTORS have been known to trim the margins and even to remove the selva from their plate number blocks. Don't do that anymore than you would trim the lapels or cut the buttons from your coat. Don't try to improve on the blocks for you merely ruin them for future resale if they should happen to be valuable.

Topical collectors will certainly like the new set of bi-colored stamps from Falkland Islands. Each stamp pictures a different ship. Several others of the new British Queen Elizabeth sets portray ships of various kinds.

Last summer, East Germany issued a new set of stamps for their regular series. Now, 11 values have been re-drawn and issued to replace the originals. The original issue should be good since they were short-lived.

The United States has no definite stamp program for 1954 at this writing. We will pass on the announcements when they are received.

LONG BEACH Stamp Collectors Club announces a $25 bond will be awarded for the best design submitted for a cacheted envelope advertising its stamp exhibit June 25-27. (A cachet is a seal or design which can be printed on the left side of an envelope.)

Competition is open to all, and any number of entries may be submitted. They may be in black and white or in color but on 8½x11-inch paper.

Entries should be mailed to the secretary, Mrs. Emily Moorefield, 68 Bennett Ave., Long Beach, 3. They must be in the hands of the exhibition chairman by March 24 and the winner will be announced at the club meeting April 5.

Nazi ace Heinz Knoke and his Messerschmitt.

I FLEW FOR THE FUHRER, by Heinz Knoke (Holt, $3).

Heinz Knoke traded his Boy Scout uniform for one of Hitler's Jungfalk when only 18, and his logbook contains records of nearly 2000 flights including more than 400 operational missions in the face of the enemy. Credited with shooting down 52 aircraft, he won the coveted Knight's Cross and Nazi's German Gold Cross, emerged from the war a captain and squadron commander. This is his diary, starting when the Germans were proud in the face of victories, ends with Knoke's closest buddies shot down, the Nazi squadrons diminished to a feeble likeness of what they once were, the German armies falling apart and Germany itself going over the brink to disaster.

JOE AND ESTHER DENDEL, husband-wife art team of Costa Mesa who combine their efforts at design and art by creating and manufacturing Denwar ceramics, will give an illustrated travelog, "Craftsmanship Among the Hinterland Tribes of Liberia, West Africa," at the Long Beach Art Association meeting at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd.

Designs for their ceramics are based on inspirations received from craftsmen of Africa, where the Dendels lived for two years. Another outgrowth of the Dendels' African experiences is a book, "New Song in a Strange Land," which was the Literary Guild bonus book in July, 1948.

In their talk before the Art Association, the Dendels will show articles of everyday use among the tribesmen of Liberia, and describe the village life which results in this type of design. Ritual masks, textiles, cast figurines made by the lost wax process and wooden utensils will be exhibited.

Florence Gendron will show china.

Refreshments will be served by the hospitality committee, Mrs. Ruth Mattison Eaton, chairman; Mrs. William Martin, Mrs. Val Shepherd, Mrs. Henrietta Foltz, Mrs. Leta Hiles, Mrs. Christian Gronfeldt, Mrs. Beth Lancaster and Mrs. Rex Hodges.

Gallardia will do well in almost any type soil and, being a sun-lover, is resistant to drouth.

WINTER PRESENTS a few sunny days that makes the confirmed gardener anxious to be out and doing. The problem is what to do in the garden that will be constructive. Plants that are set out now must stand the cold and wind and rain and should actually benefit by planting at this time.

Most of the perennials such as campanula, coreopsis, columbine, coral bell, dianthus, foxglove, hollyhock, geum and gallardia are hardy enough to thrive under adverse conditions. Actually they are better off the sooner that they can be planted out in the open garden, according to the California Bedding Plant Advisory Board. This is due to the need to establish an adequate root system during the long dormant season to support the heavy top growth and bloom that they yield during the spring season, and still have reserve strength for the following dormant season.

The last two of the above group of plant items are particularly suited for winter planting. Both are sun lovers and are drouth resistant and will give years and years of garden color. Geum is generally available in solid red and solid yellow and gallardia in a mixture of these two colors, so that the two items can be interplanted. Geum is taller growing with an airy appearance, while gallardia is denser and more firmly anchored to the ground.

Neither geum nor gallardia is choosy about soil type. Both thrive in full sun, will do well on poor soil and require little or no fertilization, and both are quite drouth resistant.

Golf Brand flourished anywhere—in sun or shade, on level or grade

Because Golf Brand is blended to meet all the various conditions found in every lawn, there's no need to buy special seeds for special lawn conditions. Golf Brand gives you sun-loving grasses—including famous Merion Bluegrass—to keep the lawn green in hot weather—grasses that stand deep shade... grasses with root structures that cling to slopes. Wherever you plant Golf Brand, the particular grasses best suited for the conditions take over. With reasonable care, you get a lush carpet of green over your entire lawn, all season long, year after year.

This blend of grasses grows a lawn so thick it crowds out weeds

True, most seeds give you a good looking lawn in a hurry. But they gradually thin out after the first season, leaving the lawn a perfect target for weeds. Golf Brand Lawn Seed, on the other hand, blends 11 perennial long-lasting grasses for an ideal combination: early lush growth plus ever-increasing turf thickness. You get a dense tightly-knit turf that grows constantly thicker, resists weed invasion for years and years.

Don't plant lawn seed until you read this important fact

Let's be realistic—it takes work to build or repair a lawn. It requires spading, raking, fertilizing, seeding, rolling, watering. Work that must be done no matter what kind of seed you plant. So doesn't it make sense to plant the very best seed money can buy? The kind that gives you a permanent lawn... a lawn that grows thicker, more luxuriant, more beautiful as time goes on. Golf Brand is blended to give you just that kind of lawn. And to make doubly sure that these fine selected seeds sprout into sturdy grass. Golf Brand is treated with Du Pont Arasan that protects against most grass-killing diseases. Plant this finer seed now.

Stable, distinctive and polished, the Weimaraner is from Germany. Above, Duke Von Hamm, fine example of the breed, owned by Gene Hawley, Lynwood.

PET PARADE

So Good, So Young!

By Eleanor A. Price

OWNING A FINE dog which you can proudly enter in dog shows opens up a whole field of interest and endeavor. Duke Von Hamm, whose picture accompanies this article, is a 15-months-old Weimaraner belonging to Gene Hawley of Lynwood. His handler, George Harski, has entered him in five shows, and in all five he has taken first place for his class.

The Weimaraner is a young breed of dog with a history going back only to the 19th century. However, it is a stable type, distinctive and polished.

No other dog can match its coloring, which is a gray that ranges through silver or mouse-gray with bright, dark, and yellow tones. Its eyes are blue-gray or amber.

Because of his bloodhound ancestors, the Weimaraner has a fine nose for scenting. His mouth is soft, enabling him to carry game without injuring it. In earlier days this dog was used against quarry in the game-abundant Germany. When game-hunting went out of style there, the Weimaraner was supported by a club and it became virtually impossible to buy this breed.

In 1929, Howard Knight, an American who belonged to this club, came to America with two specimens and began raising puppies. Now the Weimaraner is becoming increasingly popular, and deservedly so. The dog is intelligent and alert, an excellent watch dog, and a gentle, loving companion for children. He does not sulk but tries ever to win love and approval.

Reds Assail Hard of Hearing Boy Scouts in Youth Ouster

According to the Basic Diagnostic office, it is now possible for many who are hard of hearing to regain all or part of their hearing loss.

So many have told us, "We have tried everything and we are so discouraged that we hesitate to try anything else."

Once they try this new and proven method they are overjoyed. Just like magic, in many cases folks are able to hear without their hearing aid after the very first treatment.

The treatment is simple, it consists of three steps, and takes about 45 minutes. If the hearing loss is due to a nerve condition a special treatment is given, if the loss is due to catarrh a different treatment is given and if it is a bone condition, the tympanic-oscillations treatment is given.

"I have been wearing a hearing aid for a period of three years, after receiving only three treatments I was able to discard my hearing aid. I highly recommend Tympanic-Oscillations to anyone now wearing a mechanical device."

Mrs. A. C. (Letter in our files)

To all readers of The Independent Press-Telegram: The Basic Diagnostic Office will give the first treatment for only $2.00. The address is 927 E. Broadway in Long Beach, Phone 61-6203. In Huntington Park at 2636 E. Florence.

LONDON—(U.P.) Communists Saturday denounced the expulsion of a Young Communist League member from the Boy Scouts as a "witch hunt" and "McCarthyism." They demonstrated outside a hall where Britain's chief Scout defended the expulsion.

"We have a duty to the boys and parents to protect them from undue influences and what are known to be subversive lies," Lord Rowallan told a conference of the Guild of Old Scouts.

As he spoke, Communists paraded before the Central Hall in Westminster, shouting and waving their signs: "Stop the Witch Hunt in the Scouts," "Paul Garland Must Not Go, Put McCarthyism Out of the Scouts."

Garland, a 19-year-old Queen's Badge Senior Scout from Bristol, was expelled from the Boy Scouts after being elected secretary of the West of England Young Communist League. The British Boy Scout Association Friday night described him as "a high ranking leader of the Communist party."

Scout officials have insisted that communism and Boy Scouting are incompatible and that Garland could not be both. Garland, however, defended his loyalty and said he would fight to stay in the Scouts.

No Slump, Anywhere, as Severe as 1949's

CHICAGO—(AP). America's industrial centers hardest hit by the post-Christmas business slackoff still have more people working and fewer on relief than during recession year 1949.

This was shown in an Associated Press spot check of conditions in all 22 big city areas which have been classed by the Labor Department as distress regions with substantial unemployment. The designation gives them special preference in getting future government contracts.

The survey was designed to show what industries are chiefly affected, the extent of unemployment, the cause of the joblessness and the future outlook. It indicated:

1—The current business let-down has been scarcely a factor in the economic problems besetting some regions. More than three-fourths of the areas in the present distress category already were classed there as far back as 1952 or earlier. They have been plagued by long-range economic problems. Chief among them are a lessened demand for coal and textiles from some eastern regions or a big labor supply with only seasonal job opportunities in some southern states.

2—Unemployment is as bad in 1949 in most of the regions suffering from chronic long-range economic problems, but the opposite is true in the big midwest industrial centers. Unemployment compensation benefits generally are carrying the load in hard-hit midwest centers with little, if any, increase in relief rolls.

3—Spokesmen for local state employment offices in distressed cities in the industrial midwest generally forecast no change in the next 30 days with a slight upturn in manufacturing and the normal upswing in nonmanufacturing starting in the spring.

4—The affected cities can't rely too heavily on the federal government's contract program to solve their problems. A spokesman for the Office of Defense Mobilization in Washington said no contracts have yet been awarded under the distressed-area policy and that two or more months may be required to get the plan into operation. One official, pointing to the cutback in defense spending, said the program will not be a "Santa Claus" operation and will provide neither immediate nor very substantial relief.

The Labor Department lists a big city in Group IV (distress) when more than 6 per cent of the labor force is out of work. The listing entitles companies in the affected areas to preference, in event of a tie bid, in the award of government contracts.

The only newcomers to the distressed list since 1952 are Detroit; Toledo; Kenosha, Wis.; Muskegon, Mich., and Albuquerque, N. M.

Albuquerque, which joined the list last June, is suffering from an isolated problem. Much labor migrated to the state to construct thousands of homes for government employees at atomic and military installations. Many of these projects now are complete and there is not sufficient industry in the state to take up the slack.

The four industrial new-comer areas, however, are suffering principally from the slackening in demand for new autos and accessories and the cutback in defense contracts.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, which develops its figures from payroll statistics, has reported that factory payrolls dropped by 380,000 from mid-December to mid-January, the sharpest reduction for the season since recession year 1948. It listed declines not attributable to seasonal influences, in primary metals, machinery, leather, transportation equipment and ordnance. It added, however, that the nonfarm total January employment of 47,700,000 was the largest for the month except in January of 1953.

The Census Bureau, which obtains its data from interviews with households and includes domestic help, unpaid family workers and self-employed persons who do not show up on payrolls, has contended that the December to January decline in employment was no greater than the post-Christmas decline in recent years.

NO CRICK IN NECK

Shampoo Lounge Invented by Athletic Hair Stylist

Bud de Cannis calls it the "de Cannis shampoo lounge." He believes it is the only one of its kind in the state, and possibly even in the world.

By its aid, a woman lies down to have her hair washed. No crick in the neck. No water down the neck. Just relaxation and comfort.

"I got the idea last week end," says Bud, boxer, distance runner, football player and weightlifter, who now amazes by is a Long Beach hair stylist.

He is trying out the lounge at his shop, 3520 Atlantic Ave. He finds women patrons like it. And a few even have brought in their husbands to try it.

THE LOUNGE permits a patron to lie, her legs decorously covered, her head extending over a shampoo bowl. The operator can wash, rinse, tint or what-have-you her hair, without a drop of moisture getting on her face or running down her neck.

"... and look," says Bud, demonstrating, "you can pivot the customer's head around where you want it. No business of having to take her shoulders along."

When he gets around to it, he is going to try the lounge for facials, eyebrow shaping, permanent waving and perhaps even for hairdrying.

BORN IN CALEXICO of Greek parents, de Cannis was reared in Los Angeles where he was an all-city football star. He played semi-pro football for the Western Bears. He was a 4:38 mile track man. He was in a Catalina surf paddleboard contest. He trained with top wrestlers including Sandoz and Ali Baba.

He served five years with the Air Force, including three years as a pilot and observer in New Guinea. There he boxed in the "Guinea Gloves." He has had his Long Beach shop one year and expects to open another soon in Lakewood.

SANTA ANA — Ex-convict, Terrence Liske Mabry, 39, accused of floating a series of stolen payroll checks, was held Saturday in Houston, Texas, under $10,000 bail while authorities sought his extradition to face the bogus check charges.

Both Santa Ana and Huntington Park have holds on Mabry, with Santa Ana scheduled to return him from the Texas city.

Cities of Anaheim, Fullerton, La Habra and Brea, and the Orange County sheriff's office, also may file holds on Mabry charging him with passing worthless checks.

The vouchers had been stolen early last month from H. G. Larson, South Gate contractor, and they began to appear Jan. 8 in various cities. Mabry is accused of mulcting merchants of $2000 in a check-writing spree.

He was nabbed by Houston police through a combination of circumstances which began when Mabry asked a finance company there for a loan on a car he was driving. Not having a pink slip of ownership, the Houston finance company telephoned California authorities—who knew that Mabry was wanted and so Santa Ana police were alerted. They in turn notified Houston authorities to arrest the fugitive.

Extradition hearing was set for Feb. 26 after Mabry refused to return to California.

It's Spring When Redbuds Bloom

Given right soil and a proper site, the Redbud adapts itself quite readily to a place in the domestic garden.

By Murtha Hurley

ONE OF THE MOST attractive of America's native flowering trees, the gracious little Redbud, hovers in woodland areas, by the side of creeks, in the foothills of mountains and in forests, all across the land.

Its blossoming in early spring brings a sparkling note of vivid color to California mountain sides. In the Sierra Nevada foothills and inner coast ranges, the pretty redbud forms colorful thickets, and can be seen at the edge of canyons. It makes such a strikingly beautiful picture, when in bloom, visitors exclaim in wonder.

This charming American wildling has been lending grace and beauty to America's home gardens ever since our nation was founded. In the early days, gardening colonists made trips to neighboring woods, dug up the little tree and transferred it to their own property.

One such tree-planting gardener, George Washington, confides many times to his diary that he had transplanted redbuds from the adjoining woods to his farm estate at Mount Vernon. On his birthday, Feb. 22, 1785, Mr. Washington relates: "I removed from the woods and old fields, several young trees of Sassafras, dogwood and redbud." And on March 1, 1785: "I planted a circle of dogwoods with redbuds in the middle, close to the old cherry tree near the garden house." Later, in his quiet way he speaks of the glory of their spring blooming.

IN APRIL at Mount Vernon, the pretty flowering redbuds provide one of the loveliest sights of this historic spot. Many of the trees, planted by George Washington, nearly 200 years ago, still flourish there.

In California, redbuds bloom at the same time as the flowering peach tree, from late February to May. The flowers appear before the leaves unfold, the delicate, angled naked branches are strung with thick clusters of showy pea-shaped flowers in bright purplish pink or reddish purple shades.

After the flowers have faded, handsome large heart-shaped light green leaves, two to eight inches long, and as broad, adorn the tree concealing slender, tapering three-inch long fruit pods that turn to purple in the fall. In fall, the leaves, too, change from green to a clear yellow before falling.

The tree, attractive at any season, is insect-free.

Recently, a group of Southern California landscape architects chose the redbud as a favorite spring flowering tree for Southland gardens.

THE REDBUD is a hardy, deciduous, that endures indefinitely, if provided with growing conditions that approximate its native woodland habitat. It delights in a deep, rich, sandy, well drained, moist soil in a woodland situation, enjoying morning sun and afternoon shade and set away from the wind. Give the tree plenty of moisture, consistently, especially in hot weather.

Because of its modest size, it grows from 12 to 20 feet high, the redbud is ideally suited to a small garden. It makes a charming specimen tree for the lawn or patio, set singly or in groups. It is attractive at the outskirts of a shrubby border or against a bank of evergreens. Set it by a lily pond and you create a charming picture.

There are two species of the redbud that do well in the Southland, the redbud of the eastern woods, Cercis canadensis and the California redbud, Cercis occidentalis. The eastern redbud is preferred, here, as a tree.

Tasty Sapote
By O. G. Boyd
IF YOU SEEK a beautiful tree for your garden — one that stays green all the year around; a tree that bears prodigious amounts of fruit that looks like a medium-sized green apple; fruit that has something of the flavor of a luscious ripe pear and whose flesh is like the filling of a custard pie — a sapote, or marmalade plum, also called the sapadilla tree, is the answer to your quest.
Sapotes are delicious in fruit salad or eaten ripe as they come from the tree. They have a very high pepsin content and are fine for people who cannot eat the more acid fruits. In Mexico the fruit is used for the treatment of a malaric or tropical dysentery, and while not a cure, is very effective in alleviating the suffering caused by this disease.
The tree is hardier than most subtropicals. It is a fast grower and thrives in the Long Beach climate and the soils of this area. It also does well farther from the coast, where the temperature seldom falls below 20 degrees. It starts to bear in about four years and is highly resistant to any kind of pest.
There are a dozen or more different varieties.

Victim of Auto Mishap Treated

COMPTON — Stella Moore, 65, of 1422 E. Rosecrans Ave., a pedestrian knocked down and injured by an auto at Rosecrans Ave. and Long Beach Blvd., was treated Saturday in Physicians and Surgeons Hospital for multiple lacerations.

Policemen Jack Pickell and R. R. Robbins said that the victim was hit in the crosswalk by an auto driven by Arthur Washington, 47, of Los Angeles.

Woman, Four Men Await Court Action on Check Charges; One Asks Jury Trial

SANTA ANA—A woman and four men Saturday were awaiting hearings on a variety of check charges brought in Superior Court's criminal division.

Mrs. Ruth L. Petterson admitted one of two counts of forgery of checks last Dec. 23, and she asked probation from Judge Robert Gardner, who set Feb. 26 as date for sentencing.

Hector R. Tarango, a Santa Ana business man accused of issuing a $200 check with intent to defraud last April 27, demanded a jury trial and his hearing will be March 8.

Richard Charles Kearns and Curtis Benjamin Carlisle, accused of passing bogus checks Jan. 23 in Santa Ana, will be up Feb. 23 for probation hearings; they pleaded guilty.

Lewelyn Hampton Cummings sought immediate sentencing. The court, however, decided to ask probation officers if they thought Cummings should go to a mental institution.

Decision on this case will be Feb. 19, the court said.

Goodwill Industries estimated Saturday night that 1954 will see $125,000 in wages paid and 85 persons employed in its Long Beach plant. This will be an increase of $25,000 and 16 persons over the 1953 figure, said Walter L. Case, director.

E. J. Wightman was re-elected president. New directors are Alvin Wiebe and Karl Grassie. Other members of the executive committee are Ward Johnson, vice president; W. N. Windes, secretary; E. E. Buffum, treasurer; G. Thoburn Davis, Dr. W. G. Cheney and Glen A. Gerkin, members-at-large.

Mrs. E. J. Bulgin is beginning her third year as director of public relations and personnel.

Musical Carob Tree

By V. Meldo Hillis

FEW PEOPLE are aware that the carob tree is nature's musical prodigy, murmuring peacefully as breezes stir its leaves. Under its many-leaved deep shaded boughs, children romp and play when midsummer days are warm.

The carob is more than just another tree. It is an evergreen seedling found growing on parking strips in the cities of Southern California. The carob was originally imported from the Mediterranean Basin about 30 years ago.

While the carob is ideal for shade, it is more than that. Since ancient times it has furnished food for both man and beast. It is believed the "Locust and Honey" on which St. John and the Prodigal Son subsisted while they were in the wilderness was the wild carob.

The carob bears a pod not unlike the bean, the sugar content of which is very high. The pods are ground for flour. Its taste and nourishing qualities are identical to chocolate. The flour is mostly imported and is used in soda drinks, ice cream, breakfast foods. Many commercial products are manufactured from the seed.

IN THE EARLY 1920's efforts were made to popularize the culture of the carob. Its ability to resist extreme drouth made it ideal for semiarid regions in the Southland. Glittering results were promised by indiscreet holders of semiarid land. Badly handled, the industry failed.

A quarter of a century has passed. Those who know the carob's food value are making a desperate effort to revive its growth through a demonstration plot of five acres of arid land near Vista. It is open for inspection and is under the capable management of Dr. J. Elliot Coit of Vista, an agriculturist of considerable repute. The trees for the most part are three and four years old and are expected to start bearing when they are seven or eight years old.

Could it be possible that this modest experiment at Vista will awaken interest in the culture of the carob? Its economical importance is highly potential. It is a food product whose future remains unexplored.

Sapote: Tasty Fruit

Some wild varieties grow to a height of 65 feet, with large trunks and branches.

SAPOTES are not very well known in Southern California and are seldom seen in the markets. In Long Beach and Garden Grove there are a few trees and in Carlsbad, between Long Beach and San Diego, there are two or three groves.

The sapote was one of the main articles of diet of the Incas and the Mayas. They also used the tree for its hard, durable timber.

You don't have to worry about a crop. Some trees have been known to bear 1000 pounds in a year. Trees in Carlsbad have fruit hanging on them in large clusters and the ground beneath yellow with fallen fruit. They usually ripen in the spring.

RECORD ALBUM

How to Sing a Hit

By Elaine Hauck

UNLIKE MOST starry-eyed singers who set their sights on the Broadway stage and musical comedy, Monica Lewis is perfectly content with making records. Monica feels that musical comedy has definite drawbacks for a singer.

"You have to yell your head off," she says, "and the orchestra's playing right with you. The composer wants to hear every note and the lyricist wants to hear every syllable."

"The songs are made hits off the stage by pop singers. They give them a little interpretation. On stage you have to sing note for note, word for word, just as it's written. On records you inject a little personality and that's what makes a song a hit."

As an example, she cites Perry Como's "No Other Love," the song from "Me and Juliet." It is Monica's theory that Como's interpretation made it a hit.

Her aversion to the stage isn't due to stage fright. Those who saw her on the stage of our auditorium a few years ago can attest to that. The cute Capitol star says that recording makes her more nervous than anything else. This, despite the fact that any time she can stop and do it over.

"But, with records," she says, "when it's finished it's permanent. And you never really know the song you record — you've only seen it a few days before the session, sometimes less."

Her secret weapon for relaxing during recording sessions? Will power.

COLUMBIA RECORDS imparts some good news to record enthusiasts who are budget conscious, in the announcement of their "sale and a half" which is going on in Long Beach and all over the nation.

By purchasing any Columbia long-playing record, another record may be obtained for just half price. Columbia offers record series from Broadway shows, jazz, symphonies, popular, chamber music, operas, children's records and mood music.

Good opportunity to add to your record collections. Hurry, because it's for a limited time only.

TEN TOP TUNES: Dean Martin's "That's Amore" captured the top spot on your local hit parade this week with Patti Page's "Changing Partners" running a close second; (3) "Oh Mein Papa," Eddie Fisher; (4) "Stranger in Paradise," Tony Martin; (5) "Heart of My Heart," Four Aces; (6) "Secret Love," Doris Day; (7) "Rags to Riches," Tony Bennett; (8) "Make Love to Me," Jo Stafford.

NEW RECORDINGS of the piano and organ are always welcomed by library patrons. This week the artistry of Friedrich Gulda, Wilhelm Backhaus, Rachmaninoff, Clifford Curzon, and Walter Gieseking, was heard in the following: Bach, "Prelude and Fugue No. 32" with "English Suite No. 3"; Beethoven, "Sonatas"; Grieg, "Sonata in C Minor" with Schubert, "Sonata in A" (Kreisler and Rachmaninoff); Schubert, "Impromptus," and Handel, "Suite No. 5" with Scarlatti, "Sonatas."

Male Buyers Act Bored at Lingerie Exhibit

WHOLESALE PRICES were the figures that held attention of male buyers at the California Corset, Brassiere and Lingerie Show in Los Angeles. Explaining the apparent male boredom, one buyer said, "It's not that we're not red-blooded, it's just that we're used to it." Added a model, "They're just like a doctor with a cadaver."—(Staff Photos by Bert Resnik.)

Wireless bras, frilly nighties and a frothy one-piece sleeper for comfort in watching TV were among the items modelled the other day at the California Corset, Brassiere and Lingerie Show in the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles.

A surprising number of the buyers were males, but as the girls paraded, lounged and even dined in sleepwear and bra exposures the businessmen seemed bored.

"Male buyers are very impersonal," reported one of the bra models, Gina Gleason, 23, of San Diego. "Just like a doctor with a cadaver."

"Actually I was subjected to a much more personal inspection when I was an air line hostess in full uniform."

The new note in bras is a strapless model with no wiring over the top. It's designed for low necklines, short on fabric and long on looks.

In night attire the trend is toward the more concealing sleepwear, according to Jean Weil, advertising co-ordinator for a nightie designer.

She pooh-poohed reports that more women are sleeping in less.

"Not according to our sales figures," she said. "And even the woman who sleeps in the nude owns at least one nightgown, because today's nighties are so pretty and feminine."

The one-piece sleeper recommended for television viewing is a bit of flimsy labeled Calamity Jane. It is designed to brighten the dreary hours of TV commercials.

The Long Beach area was prominently represented. Among bra models was Marian Lynn, who was Miss Belgium of the 1932 Miss Universe Pageant here. She is "in between films at the moment."

A Jordan High graduate, Mrs. Bunny Aguilar Riley, modeled girdles.

Mrs. Dorothy Frost, 25, of 5325 Seaside Wk. displayed something new in girdles—the bulge battle. The two-way stretch has become stretchier with a high-waisted four-inch addition on top.

A lounging bikini for the average housewife is made of washable velvet and equipped with drawstrings to pull the blimps and lengthen or shorten the suit.

"This type doesn't make you feel ashamed," confided Barbara Grantham, 21, of 409 W. 223rd St.

It is guaranteed against shrinkage. It has to be.

Riot, Yank Jets Enliven Havana

HAVANA, Cuba.—(AP). The vibrating boom of visiting U. S. jets breaking through the sound barrier and the chatter of police machine guns quelling a student riot gave Havana a busy time Saturday.

The jets—on an 11-nation Latin American good-will tour—shattered windows in the city as they burst through the barrier. President Fulgencio Batista watched the air show.

The police opened fire when University of Havana students staged a demonstration on the anniversary of the death of a fellow pupil killed in a fight with police a year ago. The students withdrew after hurling a few rocks at the police. No injuries were reported.

Orange Market Good

LOS ANGELES.—(AP). The California novel orange market continued good this week with sales increasing about 75 cents and prices rising 15 cents to about $3.90 a box F.O.B. on a total volume of some 800 cars, Sunkist Growers reported. Demand for California lemons also continued good, the growers said.

Layoffs at L.B. Shipyard Geared to U.S. Cutback

Employment at Long Beach will be some "unequal fluctuations," the Navy is deactivating 50 ships, and the decision as to which ships will be deactivated is not made on the basis of what yard the ship is going into, Hosen said.

The congressman said he will "fight like a tiger" to see that Long Beach gets its fair share of the work that is done. Complaints are heard, he said, from all of the yards, and Brooklyn and Boston have vigorously protested cuts. Mare Island, he said, took an equal cut with Long Beach in the last six months.

Police Wear 5-Oz. Radio Inside Caps

ATLANTIC CITY, N. Y.—(AP). A policeman pounding his beat in Atlantic City no longer has to stop at a call box and check with headquarters—he's now got a midsize radio concealed in the peak of his cap.

The tiny receiver is the size of a pack of cigarettes and weighs less than five ounces, including batteries.

An aerial about as long as a billy club sticks up from the front of the cap.

With his radio-hat on his head, the local policeman looks a little like a fugitive from a television space patrol.

The policeman can receive orders on the radio, but he can't talk back to headquarters. He has no transmitter.

The sets were built by Lawrence H. Smith, police department radio technician. He says they have a 20-mile radius and work well inside steel and concrete buildings.

SEAL BEACH STUDY

Army Erosion Engineers to Survey Strand Losses

WASHINGTON.—Two top officials of the Army Engineers Beach Erosion Board will take a look at the Seal Beach-Surfside Colony situation this week—but they won't bring any construction funds with them.

A spokesman for Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) said Col. J. U. Allen, resident member of the board in Washington, and Richard O. Eaton, Allen's technical assistant, will confer with Seal Beach and Orange County officials Friday.

Col. Allen and Eaton will be in Southern California inspecting areas where the engineers have projects and surveys for projects under way.

They are expected to visit San Diego County before coming to Seal Beach.

Sen. Kuchel's office emphasized that Allen's and Eaton's trip is no way connected with bills introduced by Rep. James B. Utt (R-Santa Ana) calling for appropriation of $486,000 to restore eroded beaches at the two Orange County communities.

Utt, meanwhile, said the measures have not been set for hearing by the committees to which they have been referred. Nor was there any immediate indication when they will be.

Starts on New Homes Show Small Decline

WASHINGTON.—(AP). Work was started on 66,000 new non-farm homes last month, a decline of three per cent from December and 8 per cent from a year ago.

The number of privately-financed housing starts also declined 3 per cent from December to a total of 64,700, 5 per cent less than a year ago. The Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

THE BLIND SEE THROUGH HEALER
EINAR ERIKSSON
"THE MAN WITH THE HEALING HANDS"

The patient pictured above caused a great sensation in the Scandinavian press when he got his sight back after having been completely blind for many years. He had several fruitless eye operations and finally came to me. After treatment, the patient's sight was such that he could read the time on his watch.

Blind for years with terrific pains in the eyes and head, the girl pictured above is now able to see the finest print and is now completely free from pain.

This patient from Long Beach had given up all hope of regaining his sight after having spent time in hospitals and seeking the best aid in sight. He came to me and I have now a testimonial witnessed by six persons that he now has his sight back. Also a letter from a local eye doctor who had him under treatment.

Mr. Eriksson has several hundred letters of testimonials and pictures showing the patients' condition before and after relief healing... cases such as blindness, arthritis, lameness, and eczema and many other kinds of ailments. Mr. Eriksson is leaving for Europe in May. Call for appointment.

STOP BUYING VITAMINS BLINDLY

FREE GUIDE BOOK
Tells How to Avoid Foolish Mistakes. Save Up to 40%

Vitamins are costing Americans over three hundred million dollars a year. Much of this vast sum is spent needlessly. It is time taking vitamins should be told the plain facts. Stop taking vitamin products just on faith, prestige and with the mistaken belief that "high price" means "quality." You can learn the truth and be informed. No longer need you complain about the high cost of vitamins. Now you can get quick proof if you are getting your money's worth.

Without cost or obligation you may get the answers to all the vitamin questions. Do you know just what vitamins can do for you? Do you know the sole test of "quality" in vitamins is "correct balance"? How effective is the new wonder vitamin B12 and Folic Acid in building rich, red blood? Are the lipotropic factors Inositol, Choline and vitamin B6 of value in arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries)? If your hair is turning gray, can vitamins help? If you are just fagged out about 4 o'clock every afternoon what's this got to do with vitamins? Is there such a thing as an "anti-stress" vitamin or what have vitamins to do with sex? Can you eliminate from your mindless by hoping to get your vitamins in cereals, bread, butter, meats and vegetables? These questions, which have perplexed thousands, are answered in the most informative FREE book on vitamins ever written. It is a simple, easy to understand, and most important of all, it will tell you how you may save money! You should not miss this opportunity to get the facts about vitamins without cost or any obligation. Do not spend a single penny for vitamins until you get this book. Stop buying vitamins blindly. Send postcard today for free book and catalog of over 100 products to VITAMIN-QUOTA, Dept. 4-92, 1125 Crenshaw Blvd., Los Angeles 19, Calif.

HAROLD A. JONES

SINCE NEWS about good food travels fast, people have come from as far away as Rome, London and even Punxsutawney, Pa., to try the house specialties at Jones Dining Room, 120 E. Fifth St.

There are a lot of reasons for the success of the dining room, and its adjoining cafeteria, but the main reason, of course, is simply the quality of the food.

Complete dinners in the dining room are priced from $1.65 to $2.75 — and when the Joneses say complete they mean COMPLETE. The patron starts off with his choice of a hearty soup or a fruit cocktail. Then the waitress brings a magnificent tray of salads and the guest, practically drooling by now, is permitted to choose whichever strikes his fancy. The tray usually contains 10 different varieties, ranging from molded fruit and vegetable salads to tossed green, combination, cole slaw, carrot-apple-and-raisin and cottage cheese.

Entrees on the $1.65 dinner include chicken fried steak, short ribs and fish. New York cut steaks, filets and double cut prime ribs are priced at $2.75 and there are other entrees priced in between. Guests get their choice of three kinds of potatoes, a second vegetable and a selection of hot rolls, including Jones' famed blueberry muffins. Each dinner also includes choice of beverage and dessert.

THE FOOD served in Jones' Cafeteria is of the same high quality, the only difference being in the prices (which are lower) and the style of service.

Host and hostess at the two restaurants are Harold A. Jones and his wife, Ivalou. Jones started the cafeteria in 1929 with a seating capacity of 64 and added the dining room 10 years later. The two places now have a total seating capacity of 400. Since Mr. and Mrs. Jones are Seventh Day Adventists, both restaurants close Fridays at 3 p. m. and remain closed all day Saturday. But they do a land-office business the rest of the week from 11 a. m. to 8 p. m.

'Do-It-Yourself' Show Attracts Heavy Entry

More than 80 of the 132 exhibits which will be featured at the "Do-It-Yourself Show" at the Municipal Auditorium for nine days commencing April 30 have already been signed up, according to Fred Taylor, president of Civic Enterprises, Inc., which is sponsoring the event.

At the rate which applications for space are now being received, all available exhibit space will have been reserved at least 30 days ahead of the opening date, Taylor declared Saturday.

More than 40,000 persons are expected to attend the show. The "Do-It-Yourself" movement has mushroomed into a $4,000,000 annual business and Southern California probably has more "home gadget" fans per capita than any other area in the United States, according to Taylor.

Among the many exhibits which have reserved space in the show during the past 10 days are the following:

A home course in judo, how to raise orchids at home for commercial sale, a complete outfit for home moviemaking, a special kit for salad and cake decorating, wrought iron patio furniture making, rug weaving looms, ceramic making, china painting, artificial flower making, power tools of all types and descriptions and even a 12-by-27-foot swimming pool "kit" delivered ready for owner-builder installation.

What Does Senator Do at Home? Dishes!

Mom Treats Tommy Like His Brother

By BOB GEIVET

ANAHEIM—Tommy Kuchel, known formally as U.S. Senator Thomas H. Kuchel, is just another boy to his well-groomed mother—who shows no favoritism between him and older brother Ted, a local publisher carrying on the family tradition of newspapering.

Tommy came home last week from Washington to plunge into a busy schedule of meetings and conferences up and down the state, climaxed by a Lincoln Day speech at Oakland.

Naturally, he visited his mother, Mrs. Henry Kuchel at 315 S. Claudina St.

It was his boyhood home—Tommy was born in Anaheim and lived here until he hit the political trail to Sacramento as assemblyman, state senator and state controller.

Like many another boy, he yelled "Hi, Mom," as he hit the front door and breezed into the modest home.

And he ended up doing the dishes.

Tommy took time out to visit his favorite teacher, Mrs. Faye Kern Schulz of Anaheim Union High School.

He has often said that she inspired him more than anyone else to "be somebody." She flamed the fires of ambition which his parents had kindled when he was a high school student.

Mrs. Schulz likes to recount that Tommy was a "typical teenager."

But now the responsibilities of a U. S. senator weigh heavily on him.

He met at breakfast with newspapermen, civic leaders and other friends—and told them he was so occupied with capital affairs he will have to rely heavily on his

BABY, IT'S WARM OUTSIDE

Little Eskimo Finds Southland Home After Special Delivery from Arctic

By BRYAN HODGSON

PARAMOUNT—A new baby was delivered last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Elkins, of 16445 Parkshire Ct., Paramount—delivered air mail special from the frosty shore of the Bering Sea, north of the Arctic Circle.

The child was born 18 days before his Southland arrival of Eskimo parents at Kotzebue, Alaska, and the Elkins, childless for 15 years, are going to adopt him.

It was a long jump and a big chance for Ronald John, but he seems just as happy in his new California home as he was in his home town at 25 degrees below nothing.

He arrived by plane in the care of Rev. C. T. Buchanan, Mrs. Elkins' brother, who is pastor of the Pentecostal Eskimo Mission at Kotzebue.

"Charles has always promised us a baby," Mrs. Elkins said. "Finally, the chance came several months ago when an Eskimo couple, who couldn't support another child, offered it to him and his wife."

"When the baby arrived, and was old enough to travel, Charles just bundled it up in a fur-lined sleeping bag, tucked it into a homemade bassinet, and flew on down."

Rev. Buchanan, who's had almost 18 years of service in Alaska, wasn't bothered a bit by the 25-hour baby-tending jaunt.

"Just took along two thermos bottles of baby formula, and some spare diapers. Made it in fine shape," he said.

The Elkins plan to file a petition for adoption soon, but right now they're busy making arrangements for the new arrival.

"We've got quite a lot of things for him already," Mrs. Elkins said. "But we still need lots of diapers and a bassinet."

Ronald, who mustered up a noncommittal "Gaaa!" for reporters, seemed to be concerned mainly with the state of the dairy industry, which is the way with babies.

And the Elkins?

"Tickled to death!"

Local Homes for Aged Get County's OK

Long Beach's homes for the aged get a clean bill of health from the Los Angeles County Public Welfare Commission, which licenses them and inspects their operation at least once a year.

The Independent Press-Telegram Sunday supplement, Parade, today starts a series of articles, "How We're Kicking Our Old Folks Around," charging that some homes for the aged throughout the nation subject their inmates to shocking abuses.

In a two-month coast-to-coast survey, Parade found "shocking evidences of inhumane treatment... in all parts of the country."

Questioned about these findings, Mrs. Thelma Shanks, secretary of the Public Welfare Commission, told The Independent Press-Telegram that "most of the homes in Long Beach are giving very good service."

There are 49 homes licensed to care for the aged in Long Beach. Two take care of mental patients, six take bed patients and 41 provide board and care for people over 65 who are not bedfast.

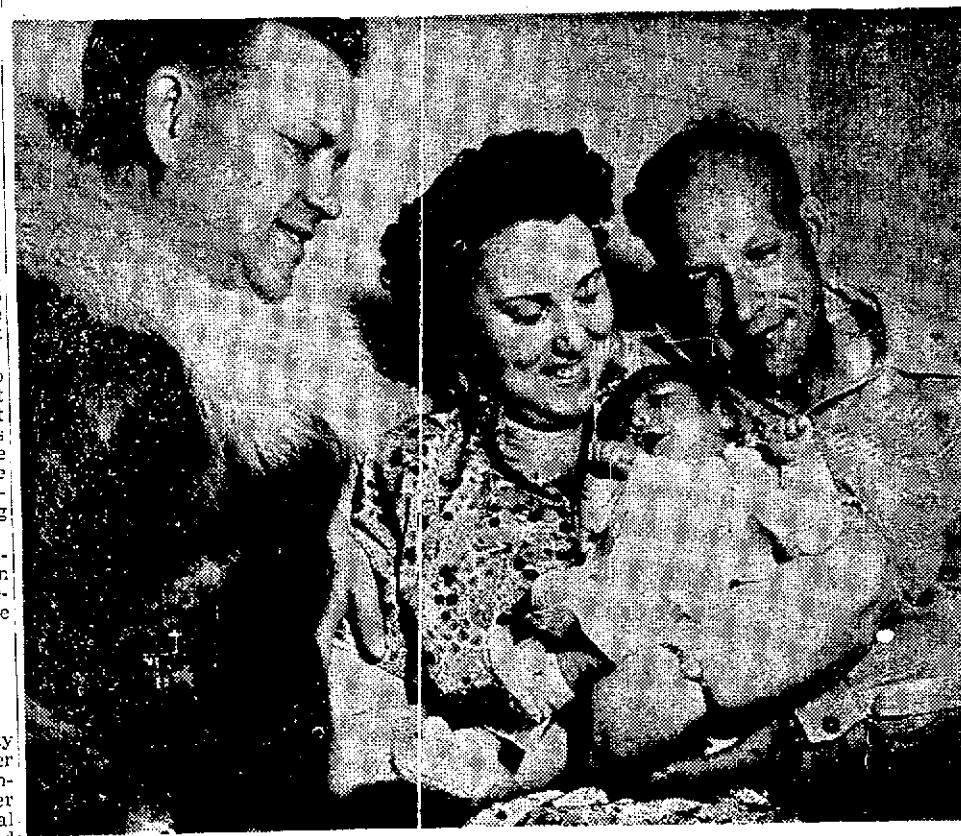

"We are required by law to inspect these homes at least once a year, but we inspect many of them as frequently as once every three months. We have no instances of such abuse or poor care. We have not revoked any licenses in Long Beach."

The Bureau of Public Assistance, which has 468 clients in Long Beach boarding homes, reported that it has found the homes "mainly adequate."

Missourians Plan Dinner Program

Long Beach Missouri Society will have a covered dish dinner at 6:30 p. m. Monday in Machineists Hall, 728 Elm Ave. Dinner will be followed by a musical program, motion pictures and canasta.

All former Missourians and their friends are invited, says Councilman James R. Seaton, program chairman.

HARDY TRAVELER at the tender age of 18 days is Ronald John Elkins, an Eskimo tot who flew in this week from Alaska for adoption by Mr. and Mrs. John Elkins, 16445 Parkshire Ct., Paramount, at right. Looking on with approval is deliveryman Charles T. Buchanan, minister of the Pentecostal Eskimo Mission in Kotzebue, Alaska, who is Mrs. Elkins' brother.—(Staff photo.)

"BE SURE they're good and dry," said Mama Kuchel

"SEE YOU LATER, MOM," said the senator, and away he went to another round of conferences around the state.

P-T TROPHIES

Junior Chess Tourney Set

U. S. Chess Federation officially has awarded the national junior chess tournament to Long Beach, June 29 through July 9, the Long Beach Chess Club announced Saturday night.

The tournament will be sponsored by the local chess club with facilities furnished by the Recreation Commission at the club's headquarters in Lincoln Park. Trophies will be given by The Independent Press-Telegram.

Long Beach's star will be Larry Remlinger, 12, national boy's champ.

Week Salutes War on Crime

Sponsored locally by Long Beach Exchange Club, National Crime Prevention Week begins today.

Mayor Lyman B. Sutter proclaimed the observance of the week urging all citizens to interest themselves in the educational program to abate crime.

Included in events planned by the club under direction of Sid Bacon is a general assembly of students at Wilson High School. Insp. Everett O. Carroll of local police will discuss various bunco methods employed by criminals. A similar assembly will be held at Poly High School on Thursday.

At the regular meeting of the club on Wednesday Det. Insp. William F. Stovall will tell procedures of the FBI National Academy at Washington, D. C. "We will emphasize," Bacon said, "President Eisenhower's statement that the greatest crime is the tolerance of crime."

CITY FOLK, ARISE!

Raise Your Groceries, She Advises

WASHINGTON—(AP). A 65-year-old California housewife who fought the battle of rising food prices through two world wars has advised Congress there's only one solution for city folks.

"They've got to get together and raise their own food."

"That may seem fantastic now, but to me it seems to be the only means of survival," Mrs. George C. Searle of Ontario, Calif., wrote Rep. Harry R. Sheppard (D-Cal.), who put the letter in the Congressional Record.

"What with improved storage methods and greed for higher and higher profits on the part of importers, processors and wholesalers," she said, "The ultimate consumer is in for a death struggle for mere existence."

"It is hard to get people to band together," Mrs. Searle added. "But if they did, they could lick this thing, but fast."

"Rent or buy sufficient acreage to start the thing off, then increase as the need justified."

"Make it a citizens' organized farm club. Hire low-priced labor to produce the raw food," she explained. "Add a dairy herd and egg-production unit; also meat (buy young pigs and calves to start, then breed them as the plan progresses). Members to get their supplies at cost."

"If anything is left over, either refrigerate for later consumption or set up roadside stands, just as the farmers do to sell the surplus."

"I think such a plan is workable, and people are just foolish if they continue to allow themselves to be hamstrung by continually rising prices in a country which is known the world over to be the richest and most productive on earth, yet where citizens must go without needed food while the government uses their money to buy up and store everything edible."

Mrs. Searle also offered a plan to control coffee prices:

Check coffee stocks in warehouses all over the country. Make the owners move the coffee out on the market. "If they get mulish and refuse... give them the alternative of government confiscation and back up your bark with a bite."

Find out the exact cost for the importer. Allow him a reasonable profit, but not an exorbitant one. Put the lid on and compel him to stick to it. Carry this procedure all down the line; processor, wholesaler, middleman and retailer.

If anything more is needed, issue ration books.

U. S. Selling Units of Cabrillo Homes

Taking formal steps to remove the Cabrillo Homes Annex housing units, the government is calling for bids on 29 of the structures. The bids will be received until March 5.

The 29 units are projects CAL-4772, located at the southwest corner of Pacific Coast Hwy. and San Gabriel Ave., and CAL-4790 on Harbor Ave. south of Pacific Coast Hwy.

Some of the 29 buildings contain four apartments and others have eight.

No land is for sale and officials said the land will revert to the former owners when cleared.

Under the official notice which will be published Monday the buildings may be removed "in any feasible manner for any use," but the bidders must comply with zoning and building codes if they are moved to use in another location.

Some personal property and furniture are included in the sale which the government said is being made on an "as is" and "where is" basis.

Bids will be received at the office of the Public Housing Administration, 1380 Mission St., San Francisco. Bid forms are available at the PHA office, 2001 River St., Long Beach.

There are 598 apartments in the two annexes which the city has been seeking to get the government to remove. Only 67 of them are now occupied. Last Aug. 1 all tenants were notified they must vacate.

The government gave no indication when action would be taken to remove the remainder. Construction of the frame

Eliza Houghton, 90, Donner Kin, Dies Here

Eliza Poor Houghton, 90, daughter of the youngest member to survive the ill-fated Donner party which met disaster in the Sierra more than 100 years ago, died Saturday in a local sanitarium.

Miss Houghton had lived in Long Beach seven years. She was born in San Jose.

Her brother, Stanley, who died here in 1951, and Miss Houghton, died in 1924, three acres of land in North Long Beach to the city and this became Houghton Park.

Miss Houghton's father was Col. Sherman O. Houghton, who served in the U. S. House of Representatives from the San Jose district. The late Stanley Houghton was born at the nation's capital but he was given membership in the Native Sons of the Golden West fraternal organization to which Miss Houghton belonged. She also was a member of Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mother of Miss Houghton was Mrs. Eliza Donner Houghton of the tragic Donner family.

The decedent attended finishing school at San Jose and, as a resident of Los Angeles, became the first woman court reporter in Southern California. She read extensively and became interested in travel.

In 1927, she set off by herself to travel overland from Cape Town, South Africa to Cairo, Egypt. She became the first white woman to make this then hazardous journey alone. The trip was concluded two years after she started.

In 1930 she made a tour by herself of South America.

Miss Houghton leaves a sister, Miss Clara H. Houghton of Whittier, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Stanley Houghton of Long Beach.

Funeral service will be conducted by Rev. F. Augustus Martz at 3 p. m. Monday in Motte's chapel. The service and interment will be private.

Women Slips on Floor, Injured Seriously

A 45-year-old woman was injured seriously Saturday when she slipped on the wet floor in the doorway of the Hartfield Store, Inc., 421 Pine Ave., police report.

The victim, Wilhelmina M. Alton, of 3248 Sorasue Ave., was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, where she was found to have a fractured pelvis and a broken right leg below the knee.

Mrs. Houghton plans to disregard her own advice, however. She'll hit the century mark Monday.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Yank, Tribe 'Name' Stars Top Early Roster of Holdouts

NEW YORK—(AP). A player officially doesn't become a holdout until March 1, but a number of major league baseball clubs acknowledged Saturday some of their top talent is reluctant to sign 1954 contracts.

Rupp Accepts Apology for Blast by Dee

LEXINGTON, Ky.—(UPI). Coach Adolph Rupp of Kentucky accepted an apology for some harsh words from Johnny Dee of Alabama Saturday and let the matter rest—until their Southeastern Conference basketball teams meet March 1.

Rupp, the famed "Baron of the Bluegrass," said Dee had called him to apologize for a mouthful of uncomplimentary remarks made Friday.

Dee said in Tuscaloosa, Ala., Friday that he was "disgusted" with Rupp and his "refusal" to play Louisiana State, the only other top contender in the Southeastern Conference. The Alabama coach ventured the opinion that LSU would beat the Wildcats if they ever met.

"He says he has the greatest team in history, yet he refuses to play LSU," Dee fumed. "It is irritating and isn't fair to the other schools in the conference." Until Dee's apology, it was believed that Rupp was preparing a strong counter-blast of his own.

L.B. Skater in World Meet

Ronald Robertson, former national junior champion from Long Beach, will make a bid for the world figure skating crown beginning in Oslo, Norway, Tuesday.

Young Robertson will be among eight American stars competing against specialists from 11 nations.

Hayes Alan Jenkins of Akron, Ohio, and Tenley Albright of Boston will be defending the world titles they won last year.

Miss Albright, at 18, one of the youngest ever to hold the title, will try to repeat as women's champion in one of the fanciest fields since the 1930's when Sonja Henie reigned.

James Grogan of Colorado Springs, Colo., with broad international and Olympic experience, is a strong American threat. Jenkins' kid brother, David, is another American entry.

NO NEW FORMATIONS IN '54

Evidence Shows Split-T 50 Yrs. Old

NEW YORK—(AP). Although college football coaches have been racking their brains and wearing out films looking for fresh information and styles of attack, they won't come up with anything really new this year.

The spring practice sessions (some already under way) likely will find a majority of coaches teaching the split-T because it's the newest and most effective formation. Most of the highly successful teams used it last fall.

Newest? There's evidence at hand to show the split-T may be one of the really old football formations, tried out more than 50 years ago.

That evidence was uncovered by casual scrutiny of a newspaper article about Mike Donahue.

The article told how Donahue, in 1909, began using what he called the "line divide" with remarkable success at Auburn. Then it went on to explain that it wasn't a brand new maneuver even then. Donahue and Yale's four-time All-American, Frank Hinkey, had worked it out together in the early 1900's. They were captain and coach of the "college" team, a collection of scrubs and ineligible, who worked

Reynolds, Dark Upset in Baseball Golf Meet

MIAMI, Fla.—(UPI). Southpaw Ed Lopat of the Yankees and right-hander Lou Kretlow of the Orioles advanced to the semi-finals of the 15th annual Baseball Players' Golf Tournament Saturday while the co-favorites, Alie Reynolds and Alvin Dark, were eliminated in upsets.

Lopat meets Detroit Manager Fred Hutchinson today, and Kretlow, Baltimore's oft-traded fastballer, faces rookie Pitcher John Gray of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Reynolds, winner of the 1953 tournament, lost to his Yankee teammate, Phil Rizzuto, 3 and 2, in the morning round while Dark, the Giant shortstop who won the tournament in 1952 and took medalist honors this year, was eliminated by Kretlow, 2 and 1.

Lopat then ousted Rizzuto in the quarter-finals, 2 and 1. In other quarter-final matches, Hutchinson beat Manager Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians, 2 and 1, and Gray, recently obtained by the Athletics, beat Pitcher Russ Meyer of the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5 and 4.

In the driving contest, Gray drove the ball 319 yards in a 15-mile an hour cross wind to beat out former Detroit Tiger hurler Dizzy Trout by nine yards. Dark and Kretlow tied with 295 yards and Reynolds was next with 293 yards.

"These slugging infielders and outfielders are really going to get the bird all summer," Reynolds said.

So it seems like a safe assumption that, when Missouri's Don Faurot dressed up the revived T by splitting the line, he was just modernizing the formation the Yale "college" team had used some 40 or 50 years before.

ment Mike used, but according to the best authorities, the T was the original football formation and didn't begin to go out of style until Harvard's Percy Haughton began using the short punt formation and Pop Warner devised the single wing "to get the most out of the backfield men" at Carlisle.

As explained by Donahue, the offensive linemen, leaving gaps of 2 1/2 to 3 yards. If the defensive line tried to play in normal positions, there was a hole too wide to protect. If a man was moved to the middle of the gap, a back could shoot through another hole and block him.

The key to the play's success, Donahue said, was careful planning and split-second timing. Nothing was said about the backfield arrange-

Ashenfelter Sets Two-Mile Record

NEW YORK—(UPI). FBI-man Horace Ashenfelter set a new world indoor two-mile record Saturday night when he clocked in 8:50.5, while little Joseph Barthel of Luxembourg streaked to a 4:08.5 triumph in the Baxter Mile in the New York Athletic Club track and field games at Madison Square Garden.

Five minutes after Fred Wilt, also of the FBI, finished second to Barthel by 15 yards in the mile, he stationed himself at a strategic point alongside the track to help Ashenfelter break the two-mile record of 8:50.7, held by Wilt.

Signaling Ashenfelter with his hands, Wilt pointed his fingers downward or upward, depending upon whether Ashenfelter was ahead or behind the record pace as he ran past him. Wilt pointed his fingers toward the floor as Ashenfelter trailed Charles Capozzoli of the NYAC after one mile.

The slender Ashenfelter regained the lead on the 12th lap of the 22-lap grind but Capozzoli dogged his heels. With six laps to go, Ashenfelter finally shook Capozzoli and when the time for the mile and three-quarters was announced at 7:44.7, Wilt kept pointing his forefinger downward, indicating to his FBI buddy that he had to step up the pace.

Spurred on by the co-operative Wilt, Ashenfelter gradually moved farther out in front to beat Capozzoli by half a lap. John Joe Barry, who set the pace for the first four laps, was third.

Scoring his fifth straight mile victory in the United States, Barthel wound up one and one-tenth seconds slower than the meet record of 4:07.4.

Wilt finished second, approximately 40 yards ahead of Gordon McKenzie in third place.

Harry Bright of the New York Pioneer Club won the Halpin 860-yard event in 1:53.4, turning back Paul Raudenbush of the University of Pennsylvania by a yard.

In the shotgun, Bernard Mayer, husky New York Pioneer Club veteran, was the winner with a toss of 53 feet, 1 1/2 inches. His throw was only two inches behind the world indoor record set by Jim Fuchs in 1951. Fuchs finished second at 56 feet, five inches.

American indoor champion John Haines, University of Pennsylvania, was third.

Wins by Neck With Arcaro

ARCADIA—(AP). Calumet's Mark-Ye-Well splashed through the rain and the mud of a sloppy track Saturday and won the $59,400 San Antonio Handicap over 10 rivals at Santa Anita Park.

Firmly establishing himself as the favorite in the rich Santa Anita Handicap Feb. 27, the Calumet color bearer pulled his familiar come from behind performance with Eddie Arcaro in the saddle and won out in a photo finish.

Mark-Ye-Well, collecting a net $36,300 for the victory, won decisively to observers in the press box high above the finish line. But it took a photo to determine the exact margin of the triumph—a neck.

REJECTED SECOND
The King Ranch 4-year-old, Rejected, came up with a flourish in the final strides to almost catch the flying Mark-Ye-Well, but the best he could get was second.

Andrew Crevelin's Decorated, somewhat of a surprise in the off going, finished third.

The time for the mile and one-eighth was 1:52.

The Calumet 5-year-old, a son of Bull Lea, went to the post the betting favorite and paid $7.80, $5.10 and $3.90; Rejected returned $8.80 and $4.70, and Decorated $8.10.

Attendance, expected to hit around 45,000, was cut down to an estimated 28,500 by the miserable weather. You could not count on four hands the brave souls in the infield.

Owners of six horses took a long look at the track, a mess to behold, and the driving rain, and ducked the issue.

Declared out was Mark-Ye-Well's stablemate, Hill Gail, as were the King Ranch's High Sead, and Fleet Khal, Correspondent, Skyleed and Merryman.

It began raining Saturday morning and continued unabated all afternoon.

SHOEMAKER EXCUSED
Jockey Willie Shoemaker, just out of bed from the flu, went back home after placing second in the first race. Joe Philippi, shaken up in a minor spill Friday, also was excused. Shoemaker had the ride on Rejected and Philippi was booked for Jampol.

Bob Summers, filling in for the ailing Shoemaker, rode Rejected, and Decorated got an excellent ride from Gordon Glisson.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Find, second choice in the betting, got off first from the gate, with Mark-Ye-Well just behind.

By the time the pack hit the clubhouse turn, Find was still on top. Mrs. Rea Warner's Trusting had moved up to challenge and Arcaro had drifted back off the pace with Mark-Ye-Well.

Find hung on to the lead, with Trusting just behind, on past the half-mile point, with Decorated

Selvy Hits 100 Points

GREENVILLE, S. C.—(AP). Frank Selvy of Furman rewrote the major college basketball scoring record book again Saturday night with a tremendous 100-point spree as Furman defeated Newberry, 149-95.

Selvy's phenomenal performance which broke the single game record of 73 set by Bill Mikvy of Temple in 1951 against Wilkes gave him a career record, in less than three seasons, of 2,197—43 more than the previous four-year career total set by Jim Lacy of Baltimore Loyola in 1948-49.

Selvy's 100-point total also broke the two year major college scoring record of 1540 set by Duke's Dick Groat in 1950-52. Selvy now has 1616 in two years.

Odds Drop to 2-1 on Aragon

Chuck Davey, the Michigan State southpaw with three consecutive defeats marring his record, may be washed up to some, but boxing betting circles are making the odds closer and closer for his welterweight bout with Art Aragon, Los Angeles' Golden Boy, Thursday night at the Olympic Auditorium.

Davey is still the underdog in the non-TV clash, but in the few days he's been training in town odds on the fight have dropped from 5-1 to 2-1 in Aragon's favor. It's expected to be even closer at fight time.

For the former Golden Gloves and NCAA champion, but his record of 41 victories in 44 fights still draws plenty of respect in boxing circles. He's a ring-wise lefty, moreover, the kind of fighter that has given Aragon fits in the past.

Aragon's record stands at three and one against southpaws, and after the Golden Boy narrowly won a decision over another lefty, Mario Trigo. Aragon's manager, Jimmy Roche, was quoted as saying, "Never again. That's the last southpaw Art will ever box. We don't need that kind."

But money talks, and Aragon is one to listen closely. The bout is glamorous enough to virtually guarantee a packed house of 10,400 and a $60,000 gross, of which Aragon will get 30 per cent. Davey has been guaranteed $12,500.

Trainer Issy Kline plans to lay off Davey today, but the scholarly southpaw will continue boxing Monday and Tuesday. He went four rounds Saturday before a large crowd at the Olympic gym.

Few reports, meanwhile, have come from Soper's Ranch above Ojai, Aragon's training camp. Word is that he is working hard against two southpaws, Benny Ventura and Eddie Williams, and will pack up and head for Los Angeles Wednesday.

Neither boy is expected to have any trouble meeting the 150-pound weight limit set up by the State Athletic Commission.

It's Official! Dickson to ND

Notre Dame completed its five-man varsity football coaching staff Saturday with the appointment of George Dickson, confirming an "exclusive" in The Independent Friday.

Dickson, 30, former Notre Dame reserve quarterback, was an assistant coach at Glendale JC in 1950 and in '51 coached Excelsior High. In 1952 he assisted Hugh Devore at New York University, and last season was backfield coach at Mt. Carmel High School in Chicago.

Dickson, who never won a Notre Dame letter, played in the 1946 squad with Irish head coach Terry Brennan. He dropped out of school for two years but returned to graduate.

A month ago Dickson signed with Dayton University as backfield assistant to Devore, but he was released from the commitment to accept the job as an assistant to Brennan.

Other Notre Dame staff assistants are Bill Fischer, Johnny Druze and Bill Earley, the latter two holdovers from the Leahy regime.

Landy Runs Sixth in 1:53.2 Half-Mile

SYDNEY, Australia—(UPI). John Landy finished sixth in the 880-yard event of the Australian National Track Championships, Saturday, with Jim Bailey of New South Wales the winner in 1:53.2.

Dennis Johansson of Finland was fifth.

IN THIS CORNER

with DICK ZEHMS

Among the men who know baseball best — the players — it's the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees destined to reign supreme again in 1938.

They confessed to these beliefs between 250-yard drives and short chips to the pin Friday at the Virginia Country Club where Joe Rodgers, Milt Arthur, Fred Yeager, George Brown and George Kerns held their annual bon voyage party in honor of Bob Lemon and Vern Stephens, Long Beach's two veteran American League campaigners.

Duke Snider, the pride of Compton High and the Dodgers, gives a golf ball the same long-draw treatment he uses on horsebites offered up by National League pitching opponents.

"I honestly can't see why we won't win again this year," said "The Duke," christened Edwin Donald. "Milwaukee has strengthened a great deal and will offer a stronger battle, but I don't think the Braves are as sound a club as we are."

"We, too, will be stronger, particularly in the pitching. The return of Don Newcombe from the service will take up any slack we may have on the mound. Big Don was the strong right arm of our club before he entered the service and should pick up where he left off."

"The addition of Bobby Thomson to the Milwaukee attack will make the Braves a stronger contender, since in the winter deal I don't think they weakened any department to obtain him. Sure, they'll be tough, but along about mid-July, I expect to see us comfortably out in front—to stay."

"Our new manager, Walt Alston, comes highly recommended. He's strictly a percentage pilot. That's what wins more often than not in the big leagues."

"I don't think the St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Phillies have enough to give us a serious challenge, and the same goes for the New York Giants, Cincinnati, Chicago and Pittsburgh don't have the balance to be pennant contenders."

"The Duke" leaves his Lynwood home Tuesday for Florida and spring training.

"I'll see you in mid-October, not before... I hope," was his parting shot.

CASEY STENGEL'S "fourth outfielder," Irv Noren, is convinced the Yankees will repeat. "We've strengthened with winter deals where we needed help the most," he said as he grabbed his nine iron for a blast out of a trap. "I think Harry Byrd, secured from the Athletics, will help our pitching a lot. Eddie Robinson, obtained from the same club, will, with Joe Collins, give us the two best first basemen in the American League."

"Like the Dodgers, we are getting pitching insurance back from the service. Tom Morgan will rejoin the club this season and I honestly think he'll be a starter, just as he was before he put on one of Uncle Sam's uniforms."

The Pasadena youth, who led the Hollywood Stars to a pennant a few years back and by this success moved into the majors for good, also sees help for the aging Phil Rizzuto.

"Jerry Coleman will be back after a tour of duty in Korea, you know," he went on. "You can play short or second with equal ability and plug the short-stop gap when Phil needs a rest or is hobbled with a few aches and pains."

"I don't see anybody in the American League right now who can match us. They say some of our pitchers are feeling their years. Vic Raschi still looks like a big winner to me if he gets enough rest between turns. Allie Reynolds is still Allie Reynolds, and that's good enough for me."

"Cleveland, Chicago and Boston will come at us hot and heavy, but I don't think they can stay with us all the way. Philadelphia, Detroit, Washington and Baltimore appear destined for the second division."

"I'm convinced we'll be meeting Brooklyn in October again."

SHORT SHOTS—Harry (Peanuts) Lowery, veteran St. Louis Card flyhawk, and Long Beach's Rocky Bridges, Cincinnati second-sacker, are the cigar-smoking golfers I've ever seen. . . . Lowery hits his tee shots out of sight. . . . The report is out that the Pacific Coast League clubs are hacking salaries again. . . . They'll be down in the Class A bracket if this habit continues. . . . Another slugger who treats his golf ball in rough manner was Hank Sauer, the Chicago Cub homerun basher. His last words to Johnny Lindell, the Philadelphia Phillie knock-kicker, late of the Hollywood Stars and Pittsburgh Pirates, were: "Hope you have a good season, John—except against me."

Eddie Sauer and Chuck Stevens, formerly teammates on the Twink team until Eddie finally retired from the game, gave Al (Zeke) Zarilla a briefing on the Seattle Rainier park. . . . At comes down this season from the Red Sox.

Gene Mauch, player-manager of Atlanta last season and a new infield candidate with the Los Angeles Angels, is right at home on the golf course, sartorially and otherwise, but will have a rough time enticing his manager, Stan Hack, out on the links. . . . Eddie Sauer is in the mail order advertising business. . . .

HEAT UP RUNNING FEUD

Casey Getting Too Big for His Britches---Lane

CHICAGO—(AP) Frank Lane, general manager of the Chicago White Sox, heated up his run-ning verbal feud with Casey Stengel Saturday, accusing the New York Yankee pilot of sticking his nose in other people's business.

"Stengel's job is so easy he not only has time to run his own business but other clubs' business as well," chided Lane.

What started the latest skirmish was a New York newspaper story that charged Lane with tampering in his effort to get third baseman Andy Carey from the Yankees.

"I merely expressed interest in a player the Yankees may want to trade," said Lane. "I've had another recent talk with George Weiss, Yankee general manager, and I now know there isn't a chance for Carey because Billy Martin may soon be back in the service."

"All this stuff about tampering sounds like Stengel. He's getting too big for his britches. He thinks he's the biggest brain in baseball. I think he's mad because the Sox recently gave me a new seven-year contract and Stengel's is only for a year."

Lane said Weiss is the brain behind the team and has put together the material that makes Stengel's job a breeze.

"Weiss gets 'em and all Stengel has to do is put them into the lineup," Lane added. "I would like to see what Stengel would do with a team like Pittsburgh, for instance. He wasn't such a genius when he had the Boston Braves or Brooklyn, was he?"

Santee Blazes 4:02.6 Mile in MSC Relay

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(UP) Wes Santee blazed a 4:02.6 mile in the anchor leg of the distance medley relay for Kansas to pull the Jayhawks to an American record at the Michigan State Relays Saturday night.

Santee's time compared favorably with the 4:03.3 indoor record set by Gil Dodds, the former Wheaton, Ill., runner. It won't be any record, however, because the mile was set in a relay race and Santee was off to a running start.

The four-man Kansas team covered the combination of a quarter mile, half mile, three quarters and mile in 9:51.4. The old medley field house and American record for the event was 10:04.5.

Kansas also set a field house and meet record in the one-mile sprint medley relay, winning in 3:28.7. Santee was clocked at 1:51.8 for his 880 leg.

John Bennett of Marquette won the broad jump at 24-6 1/2, while Gene Baynard of Illinois took the 1000-yard run in 2:13.9. The Illinois' Ralph Fessenden topped the 800 in 3:12. Illinois' Willard Thomson captured the 75-yard hurdles in 9.1 and teammate Willie Williams nabbed the 75-yard dash in 7.8.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP) An even par 74 was good enough to give Beverly Hanson of India, Calif., a one-stroke lead Saturday after the second round of the St. Petersburg's women's open golf tournament. She had a two-day total of 143.

Saturday's shooting was five strokes off her opening day round of 69. Chief trouble for her upward tilt in scoring was in the woods.

A stroke back at 144 was Babe Zaharias of Tampa, who went one above par in today's shooting.

PALM BEACH, Fla.—(UP) Youthful Joyce Ziske, 19-year-old golfer from Milwaukee, gained sweet revenge Saturday when she defeated Bonnie Colby of Hollywood, Fla., 2 and 1, to capture the 36th annual Palm Beach Women's Amateur title.

Miss Ziske won the match on the 16th green when she parred the hole while Miss Colby blew a short putt and wound up with a bogey.

A week ago Miss Colby teamed with Cookie Swift of Great Neck, N. Y., to beat Miss Ziske and Willy Smith of Mexico in the finals of the Women's International Amateur Four-Ball Tournament at Hollywood, Fla.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

A recent open letter to adults to start a class in the safe handling of firearms so that they, in turn, might pass along their training to juveniles, didn't start any mad rush, but it did bring to light an interesting story.

And the story has nothing to do with men, which may seem strange.

Mrs. Maxine Knutzen of 941 C Maple St., Inglewood, writes that she is president of the newly organized Ordnance Women's League, which meets every Tuesday night at the Centinela Park Pistol Range.

Mrs. Knutzen says that 32 women from Inglewood, Beach, Norwalk, Los Angeles and Hollywood formed the league to promote safe handling of firearms. The league has applied to the National Rifle Assn. for a charter and already has appeared on a TV program.

It is entirely a women's group, with ages running from 16 to 50, and any woman may join by attending a Tuesday night meeting, or by communicating with Mrs. Knutzen at her home. Her telephone number is OP 1-7492.

Well, men, it looks as though the women have the jump on you in this world.

expected to come through soon. The Chicago Cubs are still trying to sign pitcher Paul Minner, shortstop Roy Smalley, first baseman Dee Fondy and infielder Bill Sorensen. They are reported dickering to trade Smalley, Sorensen and Eddie Miksis to Philadelphia for shortstop Granny Hamner.

Other baseball news Saturday: First baseman signed contracts from Trond Baseman, Vern Stephens and Outfielder Don Lemon, who are the best hitters with the St. Louis Browns last season.

Mr. Art Ebers said that Stephens, at Long Beach, was given approximately the same amount as last year, believe it or not, in the neighborhood of $20,000. He batted .321 with the Browns and he hit from the Chicago White Sox but had an overall season average of only .262 for 30 games.

Gilbert—this word that young Trond Baseman took to the field has decided to trade his baseball hat for a real security in the paint business.

Said Gilbert, "A paint company in New Orleans has offered me a real security and I accepted because it will give me future security and a more solid family life."

Had you heard that Dick Pedretti, $75,000 bonus rookie from Los Angeles, is under contract to the San Diego Padres? He will play for the Padres this season.

YMCA Cees Nab 1st Win of Year, Complete Sweep

Coach Bill Balcorn's YMCA Class E basketball team got its first win of the season Saturday afternoon, handing the Hollywood 'Y' midgets a 32-13 setback in a Southern California League game on the local court.

With Bob Holland netting 25 points the Long Beach Cees earned a 43-33 triumph, while the Cees finished on the long end of a 42-26 count to make it a triple victory in the opening games of league second round play. The local Cees and Dees are currently atop respective loop standings.

Poly, Wilson Fives Prime Upset Targets

Poly and Wilson, looking ahead to their donnybrook for the Coast League championship next week, will be prime targets for a quartet of upset-minded loof foes in basketball games that still hold the prep sports this week despite a full schedule of spring sport activities.

Coach Del Walker's Rabbits will face the tougher pair of opponents before the Wilson tussle, a factor that may be in their favor next week—if they can win them both this week. Jordan, on the short end of a 49-47 decision in a first-round contest, provides tough opposition Tuesday and a considerably weaker Downey five is the foe Friday night.

The Bruins, meanwhile, go up against the upset champions of the loop, Excelsior, fresh from shocking triumphs over both the Panthers and the Vikings. On Friday, Wilson figures to easily handle the Pilots, but after Friday's poor, but winning, showing against Lynwood the upset straws are in the wind.

Track teams from both Poly and Wilson unveil their wares this week in week-long decathlon events.

Intersectionals Top Trojan Slate

LOS ANGELES—(UP) Four intersectional football clashes took place at the University of Southern California's 1954 11-game schedule, which was released Saturday by Athletic Director Willis O. Hunt.

The schedule for the 1954 season is as follows: Sept. 12—Washington State College (night); Sept. 19—UCLA (night); Sept. 26—Northwestern (night); Oct. 3—Texas Christian (night); Oct. 10—Oregon (night); Oct. 17—California (night); Oct. 24—Stanford (night); Nov. 7—Notre Dame (night).

WILD ACTION like this will be seen here beginning Feb. 24 when Roller Derby comes to Municipal Auditorium for two nights of action each week. Above, Joan Kozmerski of Philadelphia Panthers blocks Beverly Wallace of Braves with a neat elbow smash.

Roller Derby Returns to Auditorium Feb. 24

The clamor set up by Roller Ravens along with Tommy At Derby's Long Beach and sur-Kinson, Dolores Hansen and surrounding southern area fans has been outstanding young rookies. forced that popular spectator sport to open a new base of operations.

Starting Wednesday, Feb. 24th, the Derby will open at the Municipal Auditorium. Skating only that one night, the Derby will recess for the remainder of the week, and then continue weekly every Tuesday and Wednesday night thereafter.

Now appearing at the Exposition Park Armory every weekend, the same teams that contend there will appear here at the Auditorium. The Roller Derby played to big crowds at Memorial Stadium the past few summers.

The Braves and Ravens will inaugurate the Long Beach series and other visiting teams from the east will be brought in for competition.

Both the Raven and Brave squads are well known to Long Beach fans, having been seen quite often on television.

Leading lights on the Braves squad include Marion (Red) Smartt, Hal Janowitz, Don Lewis, Jean Porter and Joyce Beasley.

Trabert and Seixas Enter Indoor Play

NEW YORK—(AP) Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas, just back from the Davis Cup campaigns in Australia, top a star-spangled international field which will compete next week-end for the 51st National Indoor tennis championship.

The tournament at the Sevenside Regency Hotel Feb. 18-22 shapes up as the fastest since the late Bill Tilden was booming his drives off the boards back in the 1920's.

In addition to Trabert, the U. S. champion, and Wimbledon champion Seixas, contenders will include Davis Cup Captain Bill Talbot, Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif.; the defending champion, Budgie Patty of Los Angeles; Kurt Nielsen of Denmark and Sven Davidsson of Sweden. There will be a 32-man

Nielsen and Davidsson, Davis Cup aces of their respective countries, rate as two of the best indoor players in the world.

Nielsen was runner-up to Larson last year and also went to the finals against Seixas at Wimbledon. Davidsson recently won the Scandinavian indoor championship.

Larson is ranked No. 3 nationally, behind Trabert and Seixas, giving the tournament the top three players in the country.

Driggs owns the tourney's best game in 67 innings, one better than Joe Brandenburg, 3-0. Saltsbury has the high run of 13. Gomez was city champion in 1950 and 1951.

In play Friday night, J. L. Saltsbury defeated Ralph Frankenberg, 30-11, in 120 innings at Paramount. Both had high runs of three.

Calumet Ace Wins by Neck

a close third, Indian Hemp making a bid, and the Calumet horse still hanging back around fifth place.

Moving into the stretch, however, Mark-ye-Well began to run by horses, and grabbing the lead from Trusting, pulled out into the middle of the track and sailed on toward the wire.

Rejected suddenly barged up in the final strides and for a brief flash it appeared he might collar Arcaro and his charger. It was not to be, however. Mark-ye-Well was already under the wire.

Find, famed as the pinch-hitter for Vanderbilt's great Native Dancer late last season, ran himself out and finished eighth.

Movie actress Jane Greer's mud-loving son of Count Fleet, Ey Zaus, also closed belatedly and drew the fourth position at the finish.

Trusting finished fifth, and behind in order were Indian Hemp, Apple Valley, Find, Stranglehold, Phil. D., and Jampol.

The victory was one of four by Arcaro. He won on Far Echo in the fourth for $10.10, on Mr. Mustard in the sixth for a $3.90 payoff, and booted home another winner in the final race of the day with Free Soul paying $10.20. It was the first quadruple win day for a jockey during the current meeting.

After the feature, Arcaro declared:

"I can't tell you much about the race—I was blind. Coming to the quarter pole I went around three horses and all that slop hit me in the face."

The pari-mutuel handle for the eight races totaled $1,920,088.

Maharajah Upsets Field

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP) Maharajah, Greentree Stable's nomination for the rich Flamingo Feb. 27, scored an upset victory over eight other Flamingo eligibles at Hialeah Saturday, winning the $31,850 Everglades Stakes by two and one-half lengths.

Goyamo, Woodvale Farm's heavy favorite, finished fifth, to the disappointment of the large crowd of the year, 27,004. The bettors had run Goyamo's price down to 80 cents on the dollar.

Saturday's handle of $2,332,832 was an all-time high at Hialeah.

Big Crest, the only horse in the field of 10 three-year-olds not eligible for the $100,000 Flamingo, was second. The Cain (Joy Stable) colt finished third, quarters of a length ahead of Hal Price Headley's Royalt.

Naharajah's time for the mile, 1:49 1/5, was a record of $23.80, $10.80 and $7.30.

Hasty House Farm's Hasty Road, another Flamingo favorite, was scheduled to make his debut as a 2-year-old in the fifth race, but was scratched.

METRO CRUCIAL HERE

'Largest Crowd' Expected for LBCC-El Camino Go Tuesday

By JERRY HALL

"Now we've got them where they had us," said Coach Charlie Church as he sent his Long Beach City College cagers into weekend workouts in final preparation for the Metropolitan Conference championship "decision" here Tuesday.

The Vikings hold a one-game advantage over El Camino. It was only two weeks ago that the Vikes were a game in arrears, but East Los Angeles JC upset the Warriors and threw the race into a tie. Thursday Bakersfield turned the upset trick against El Camino.

Now it will take a victory for El Camino Tuesday and another in a playoff to keep the Vikings from their third consecutive Metro crown. That is, barring upsets along the way.

Long Beach still must get over Valley JC, Santa Monica, East L. A. and Harbor remain on the El Camino schedule. East L. A. is in a good spot for another upset win over El Camino, since they'll be playing on their home court.

Largest crowd of the season is expected for Tuesday's Long Beach-El Camino clash. "We'll see if we can't get off to a better start this time," said Coach Church, referring to the 11-point lead El Camino held before the Vikings even scored a field goal last time.

To help with that faster start there is a new face in the Viking lineup. Orrell Jeglum, who played for the Vikings in 1950 and since with the all-service Los Alamitos Navy all-stars, is back.

But Church has stayed firm with his first announcement that the starting lineup he's floored all season will not be broken up. In the two games he's been with the club, Jeglum has been substituted freely into the middle periods.

"He'll be used wherever he's needed," says Church. "He gives us insurance against anyone fouling out." Church admitted reluctantly that Jeglum represents some of the depth that was totally lacking before.

Last season Jeglum was No. 6 man on the Los Alamitos team that crushed all military opposition and finished runner-up to the Peoria Caterpillars in the national AAU championships after defeating the famed Phillips Oilers. Most observers concede that only his lack of height can possibly prevent him from being a four-year college star.

In their appearance here, El Camino's Warriors will hold a height advantage that has troubled the Vikings all season. Every close or losing game has been against a taller team.

The Warriors have 6-5 Al Herring and 6-5 1/2 Bill Baron for a one-two punch at forward. Though Herring is rated the team's star, it was Baron that beat the Vikings last time with unerring one-handed push shots.

Added height from the opposition means trouble for Viking Center Joe Handley. He has never scored consistently against a man who stood higher than he.

49ers Face Two Foes

Long Beach State College hoopsmen should break even this week.

Tuesday the 49ers play host to Pasadena Nazarene. One down, make it more convincing this time.

The 49ers dropped two close decisions to Fresno State and Redlands last week.

Murphy Heads Race Board

ARCADIA—(AP) Dwight Murphy of Santa Barbara was re-elected chairman of the California Horse Racing Board Saturday. Murphy offered the post to the two new members, George Holmes of Los Angeles or B. W. Raley of San Francisco. Holmes moved that Murphy continue in the chair and Raley gave the second.

PALM TREE CIRCUIT

California and Florida Supply Soph Winners

NEW YORK—(AP) The horse who wins one of the major 3-year-old races this winter in the Southlands may not capture the Kentucky Derby come May 1, but the chances are the Louisville winner is basking in some warm barn on the Palm Tree Circuit today.

The first of the big stakes for the sophomores, the $100,000 added Santa Anita Derby, rolls around next Saturday. A week later comes the $10,000 added Flamingo at Hialeah. The $40,000 added Louisiana Derby is March 18. A fourth major winter 3-year-old scramble is the $100,000 added Florida Derby at Gulfstream March 20.

Florida holds a big edge in the winter training of Derby-Freakness-Belmont winners. Whirlaway, who swept the Triple Crown in 1941, raced at Hialeah. In 1942, Shut Out came from Miami to win the Derby and Belmont, as did Freakness winner Alsob.

Pensive (1954), Hoop Jr. (1945), and Ponder (1949) also raced in Florida, then took a Derby. Pensive also won his Freakness. Bold won the 1951 Freakness, Counterpoint the Belmont that year and both began in Florida. One Count raced at Hialeah in 1952, then won the Belmont.

In 1947 Jet Pilot raced at Santa Anita then came east and copped the Kentucky Derby. Native Dancer trained at Santa Anita last winter, and won the Freakness and Belmont, as well as other major 3-year-old stakes.

Now the new crop of sophomores is coming along. Determine, James Session, Major Speed, Duke's Lea, Correlation, Porterhouse, Travertine, Mr. Mustard are among those eyeing the Santa Anita Derby.

At Miami, there are Turn-To, Goyamo, Hasty Road, Black Star, Maharajah, Black Metal and Revolt among others awaiting the Flamingo and Florida Derby.

PARTICULARS

by JERRY WYNN

Recreation Park has under-6th, and 7th, using just four weeks since construction has forced shortening of three holes.

The lowest score ever turned in on the course, a 62, was posted by Bob Darnell of 417 West 223 St., Torrance, last week while playing with K. E. Murphy, J. Hunt, and James Bryson.

Because of the temporary tee, the score will remain unofficial. The official course record of 63 is held jointly by Southland pro Fay Coleman and Slammie Sammy Sneed.

Darnell's card read:

Par out	444	451	445	39
Darnell out	443	445	445	38
Par in	443	445	445	38
Darnell in	443	445	445	38

The women, too, have had their licks at turning in fancy cards. During the Park-Meadowlark match, Mrs. Ed Kooser broke 90 and Mrs. John Petchon 100 for the first time in years of golfing.

But for Park regulars Bill Slaughter and Joe Hendry, whether the course plays long or short is inconsequential—they keep right on winning. The pair has won so many golf balls in the week-end Pro Shop Sweepstakes, that they'll soon be able to open a shop of their own.

Other consistent winners in the Sweepstakes include Bob Atticks, Doug Miner, John Cuttill, Louie Earl and Norm Fuller.

TWO LONG PORES made unusual news at Lakewood during the week.

One, a 3-iron, by Ed Pringle of 5984 Rose Ave. was immediately lost in the sun. After moments of intense search and just as hope was about exhausted, the ball was discovered resting in the can for a hole-in-one.

It came on the 163-yard 4th hole and Pringle was playing with C. E. Hamilton.

The other was a towering drive off the wood of Gardner Stoddard that carried an estimated 300 yards and bounced off a player's head on its downward flight. The party was uninjured, just a bit amazed at the distance of the shot as were Stoddard's playing companions, Homer Martin, Ray Ewing and M. B. McCormick.

Proof of the length came on the succeeding shot when Pringle reached the green with a 9-iron. The hole, the 14th, is 455 yards!

A SHORT COURSE—Virginia professional JOE ROBINSON was elected first vice-chairman of the Junior Golf Assn. of So. California for 1954. . . . The gala opening of Meadowlark's elaborate new clubhouse is set for Friday night. . . . DOROTHY HAMMOCK annexed two trophies to pace the Rio Hondo Women's Club monthly competition. Other victors were DOROTHY MATTINGLY and BETTY WALKER. . . . Virginia's VERN STEPHENS took low net at the ballplayers tourney at Fox Hills with a 81-9-72.

But AL ZARILLA turned the tables on all in the Virginia ballplayer meet Friday. After finishing last at Fox Hills with 143, he was awarded a 50 handicap and promptly turned in a 112 to win low net at 62. . . . Meadowlark's REX WALL turned in an eagle-bogey on the HOLE-IN-ONE honors for the week (in addition to Pringle) go to Byron H. Wolfe of 3512 Lemon Ave. and the Virginia Men's Club who aced the 134-yard 7th hole at Virginia with a 7-iron while playing with Gordon Shallenberger. Herb C. Davis, Cliff Menig and Hugh R. Davies.

It was a perfect shot to the green which took one bounce into the cup. It was Wolfe's second ace.

MARY SHIMER captured the Meadowlark Women's Club field-stroke meet with a 90-50½ aggregate. Her nearest competitors were Peggy Tucker, 95-54½ and June Chamberlain, 98-54½.

THE TEAM of Mrs. Jim Ferrie and Mrs. George Young defeated Mrs. Bob Reid and Mrs. George Messall by two strokes in a playoff for Class A third place in the Virginia Women's Club Martin-Browning Tourney. In a Class B playoff for second place, Mrs. Joe Robinson and Mrs. Charles Van De Water defeated Mrs. Alton Beck and Mrs. J. W. Henderson, 1 up.

Mrs. Roy Burke fired a 58 to win low net and Mrs. Hugo Stoddard posted a 62 to win low gross in the South Course Women's Club weekly tournament. Results:

Class A—Low gross, Mrs. Hugo Stoddard, 62. Low net, Mrs. Roy Burke, 58.

Class B—Low gross, Mrs. Buford Stoddard, 60. Low net, Don Hayward, 54.

Class C—Low gross, Mrs. H. A. Flemming, 62. Low net, Mrs. Clark Lebo, 57.

Class D—Low gross, Mrs. W. D. Arntzen, 66. Low net, Mrs. W. D. Arntzen, 56.

41—Mrs. Sharp, Price, Beemer. 42—Mrs. P. Priest, Mrs. Ed Kooser, Mrs. P. Tucker, Mrs. Ray Gray, Mrs. Ray Pomeroy, Mrs. Thomas Crosby.

43—Jane Lange, Mrs. Norman Buck, Mrs. M. Ward, Mrs. John Petchon, Mrs. Robert Secher, Mrs. Frank Stevens.

HARRIET HENNON was the victor in the Lakewood Women's Club blind-nine tourney. Results:

Class A—Harriet Hennon, 41-9-36. Class B—Helen Rodgers, 46-10-36. Class C—Jane Baker, 60-10-39.

Class D—Marie Everett, 61-11-39. Class E—Houchin, 52-10-41.

Pro Net Stars Vie for $10,000 Prize in L.A.

Five of the world's greatest tennis players will battle it out for $10,000 in cash and a chance for the world's pro title at the Olympic Auditorium, Los Angeles, Friday and Saturday nights.

Dick Gonzales, Pancho Segura, Frank Sedgman, Don Budge and Jack Kramer will tangle in the two-night tournament.

Gonzales will play either Budge or Segura in one of the singles matches Friday night while Sedgman will take on Segura or Kramer. A doubles event will follow. The singles contests will be for two out of three matches.

Playing the best and steadiest tennis of his career, Gonzales is the favorite to win the tournament. Segura, battling him closely for the amount of money won, and Sedgman, the Australian, will be out to give him a tough battle.

A darkhorse is Budge, only tennis player to make the grand slam by winning all major titles. Budge has played himself into top condition and believes he will be able to win his first big tourney of the tour.

The pro championship matches are sponsored by the Southern California Tennis Association of which Perry Jones is president. There has been a heavy advance sale from patrons of tennis in Southern California. Tickets have been placed on sale at the Olympic Auditorium.

KEEPS TITLE

Thesz Pins Moto on TV

Lou Thesz successfully defended his world heavyweight wrestling championship Saturday afternoon by pinning Mr. Moto in their nationally televised bout from Hollywood Legion Stadium.

Thesz easily took the first fall in 11:18 with his spectacular flying body scissors and was in control of the action during the next few minutes, too, until he suddenly ran into a paralyzing judo cut that gave Mr. Moto the second fall in 9:18.

The Japanese mat star swarmed all over Thesz with judo cuts at the outset of the final session, but the champion rallied with a series of elbow smashes to the jaw and then flattened Moto with a flying dropkick at 2:11 to retain his NWA title.

AUD 'DARK'

Rematch on Feb. 25

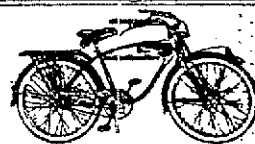

Due to a convention, there will be no wrestling show at the Municipal Auditorium Thursday night. But Promoter Louis Miller has lined up a "double special" event to make up for the week's layoff. He has rematched Carlton and Biceps—the "Lords" of the mat world—for Feb. 25.

The pair fought to no decision last week when police were called in to halt a free-for-all in the ring involving the wrestlers' seconds as well as assorted spectators.

Cycles to 'Scramble' at Palos Verdes Today

A "scramble type" motorcycle race is slated for Palos Verdes Hills today with the first event scheduled to begin at 10 a. m. One hundred of the top riders in Southern California will be on hand to try and capture first place honors from Bud Ekins, the favorite, who is the 1953 Southern California scrambles champ.

The Hilltoppers Motorcycle Club is sponsoring the race.

Expect It to Be Copied!

The beautiful new 1954 Cadillac is now in our showroom—and this is an automobile that every American motorist should see . . . and inspect . . . and drive!

They should do this, first of all, because it will give them a better understanding of the things by which to judge the world's motor cars. And they should do this, too, because it will give them a revealing glimpse into the future of automotive design.

For it can be said, with the full support of historic precedent, that much of today's Cadillac will find its way into the cars of tomorrow.

Cadillac's sweeping new lines, its new proportions of glass and steel, and its many superlative new details of design will unquestionably have a profound influence on automotive stylists the world over.

The new roominess of Cadillac's interiors, the new beauty of its appointments, and the new richness of its fabrics and leathers will give the industry completely new standards of comfort and luxury.

And Cadillac's great new power and responsiveness, its wonderful new handling ease and its incredible smoothness of operation are certain to serve as engineering guideposts for years to come.

But imitation is one thing—duplication another. And no amount of imitation could ever produce Cadillac's happy combination of brilliant styling, extraordinary luxury and magnificent performance.

Nor could it bring to another motor car Cadillac's unprecedented acceptance among the world's motorists . . . the feeling of pride that comes to the man who sits behind its wheel . . . or its reputation as the Standard of the World.

These are Cadillac "exclusives"—hard won through decades of motor car leadership, and through undeviating adherence to the highest ideals of automotive production.

We repeat—you ought to come in and see the new 1954 Cadillac. For it is Cadillac's annual report to the nation on the progress of American motor car design—and the news has never been so exciting!

You'll be most welcome at any time.

Business Gain Here; Most Cities Decline

Although some lines reported a slight decline, business in general in Long Beach showed a 12 per cent increase in January over the same month of 1953, bank debits reveal.

The Federal Reserve Bank reported that the debits, which reflect general business transactions as recorded through all bank clearings, were $247,044,000 in this city for January, 1954, which was a gain of 12 per cent over the corresponding period in 1953.

Most other cities showed a decline. Los Angeles debits were off 5 per cent. Phoenix was down 9 per cent. Bakersfield showed a drop of 11 per cent. Fresno down 9 per cent. Oakland off 12 per cent. Others reporting slumps include Spokane and Tacoma, 7 per cent; Salt Lake City, 13 per cent; Boise, 13 per cent, and Reno, 8 per cent.

The 12 per cent gain here was overshadowed only by Sacramento with 16 per cent and Bellingham, Wash. with 18 per cent.

The Federal Reserve Bank said that the overall report from Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Utah and Washington showed a decline of 4 per cent under a year ago.

Federal figures show that in some lines including apparel, sales were off over the area for the month but in Long Beach the apparel store decline was only 1 per cent.

Completion of an addition to the Autoette assembly plant here will increase production from 250 to 600 of the small vehicles a month. Joseph Lemmet, president, reports. Construction of another factory also is planned with work to get under way in May.

"We continue in an expanding economy with population accelerating, consumer buying power high, new products and techniques being developed, consumer desires far from satisfied," reports Pacific Finance after an extensive survey of this area.

"Business will be good in 1954, judged by any standards other than those set last year. Persistent reports are widespread concerning growing unemployment, business recession. But most informed opinion leans to the theory that business in 1954 will average about 6 to 8 per cent under 1953 and most readjustments already have taken place.

"Unemployment does not appear to be a major problem during the next decade."

Because areas such as Long Beach are growing much faster than major cities the hefty General Telephone Corp. is expanding its telephone and telegraph Co. Bell System.

General is the biggest of the 5291 independent telephone companies in the nation but it is a baby compared to the 11 billion dollar Bell system.

General's assets have risen from 175 million at the end of 1948 to 420 million now, and its system-owned telephones have increased from just over a million to nearly 1,700,000. It has spent more than 300 million dollars on expansion in the five-year span.

General, says Donald C. Power, president, has increased its telephone at a faster percentage rate than Bell.

"One big thing that has helped our growth has been that our largest property is in a California strip covering Long Beach—the fastest growing area in the United States," he told the Associated Press.

Cov. Humphrey, chairman of the board of the Munsingwear Corp., was a visitor at Buftums Wednesday and expressed amazement over the growth in this area. He accompanied store officials to the Santa Ana store of Buftums and was a guest at lunch.

Contractor Sam Duff of Long Beach is working on a $14,810 improvement in the galley and messhall at the Navy Base here.

Along REALTY ROW

Don Gilb, escrow officer of the National Title Division and James Healy, attorney for the Title Insurance and Trust Co. will be guest speakers Monday at 7 p. m. at the weekly Educational Course, being sponsored by the Board of Realtors, according to Herschel Hart, chairman. Their subject will be "How to Handle and Understand Escrows and Title Insurance." This meeting is open to anyone interested in learning the fundamentals of general real estate law and practice. On Thursday Morris Holmquist and Clive Graham, realtors, will talk on "Selling a Business" and "Selling a Residential Property." The sessions are at 500 E. Fourth St.

Bea Rusche, state director and member of the Long Beach Board of Realtors will be officially installed Saturday, Feb. 20th, at Hotel Lafayette, according to Ruby Peterson, local chairman. "The 175 women of the local organization have planned this installation in co-operation with the Santa Ana Board with whom she is also associated," states Ruby Peterson, in charge of arrangements. Some 400 women from Southern California will be present, representing many other boards in this area. Tickets are available at the Board office.

Guest speakers will be officials of the California Real Estate Association, the Real Estate Commissioner of Sacramento, D. D. Watson, and other dignitaries.

Plans are being made by the Society of Residential Appraisers, Chapter No. 94 of Long Beach to hold their first Residential Seminar in Long Beach on Feb. 27th, according to their president James Edmonds Jr. Gene Hoffman, chairman of education has issued over 1200 invitations to the various chapters to attend this all-day educational conference designed for those directly interested in residential selling. Such subjects as "Current Building Costs, One to 4-Family Units," "Cost vs. Value," "Architectural Trends" will be covered. Further information may be obtained by calling 7-1229 for a complete program.

Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards will be at the Los Angeles installation banquet at the Ambassador hotel on Feb. 17th at a dinner meeting. He will talk on the housing program of President Eisenhower.

Grace Small, realtor, is having sign trouble. Recently she placed two large billboards at Roycroft Ave. and Fourth St. Vandals knocked the plywood centers out of the billboards. Her signs were peppered with BB shot when installed on Artesia Blvd. Also, 10 long signs have been stolen from sales locations.

But the episode that hurt Mrs. Small the most was this one: While she was confined in St. Mary's Hospital someone entered an "Own Your Own" apartment at 420 Magnolia Ave. and took four new flags, two strings of flag streamers, four flag poles and two "Open House" signs.

Officers of the Custom Upholstering Dealers Association of the Long Beach area were installed Thursday night at a dinner meeting at Vivian Laird's. The association has 28 groups in the Long Beach area and 13 in the southern area of Los Angeles and will be extended this year. Members pledge to conduct their business on the highest ethical standards.

J. Rostrom, retiring president of the parent organization, presided. New officers are Charles Van Wagner of San Pedro, president; Rostrom, vice president, and Barrey Gallagher of Los Angeles, secretary-treasurer.

New officers of the southwest group are Sam Van Wagner of Inglewood, president; Henry Hirsch, vice president, and Mrs. Grace Lipke, Inglewood, secretary.

Officers of the Long Beach group are Art Wilms, president; Jim Singleton, vice president; Jim Durham, secretary; Bill Schlake, treasurer, and Elmer Baur, marshal.

Thrift Accounts in Morris Plan Gain

Thrift accounts for the Morris Plan Company of California gained $5,898,000, to a new high of $82,991,000 during the year 1953 according to Ralph N. Larson, president. Thrift interest paid to the more than 18,000 Thrift Account holders in California amounted to $875,489. This compares to $635,000 paid in interest during the year 1952. Outstanding loans and discounts increased by $4,356,000 to a new high of $37,071,000, while volume of lending amounted to $57,783,000, a decline for the year of $6,063,000. This decline was largely represented by a reduction in automobile financing business.

Features are the woodburning fireplaces, forced air heating, stall showers, New Freedom gas kitchens with Kaiser automatic dishwashers, two-car garages, lawns with shrubs and many others.

REALTOR OF WEEK

Be Sure Buyer Understands All, Hart Tells Salesmen

A man who never believes in rushing the completion of a sale unless he is certain the buyer is satisfied, yet he has a record of probably the fastest deal in history here, is the "Realtor of the Week."

H. Herschel Hart tried book-keeping, banking and was a history professor at Wilson High before he finally found his forte in the realty field.

Recognizing that the Long Beach area was to grow fast, Hart in 1935 joined Charles Hopper in selling homes and lots in the Lakewood section. Today he can point out hundreds of homes in that section that he has sold.

"Newcomers were eager to find homes, yet they knew little about California real estate laws. So from the first I adopted the policy of informing the customer fully, to make sure there was a good understanding about escrows, tax, insurance adjustment and anything that he might later think were 'hidden' from him," says Hart. And today he stresses this policy to his nine salesmen operating from the two offices, 4321 1/2 Carson St. and 8902 Garden Grove Blvd.

Hart's fastest sale was during the war when he drove to the Vultee plant, picked up a man during the noon hour, took him to Mayfair, showed him a house, received his deposit and signature and had him back at the plant with time enough to eat his lunch before returning to work as an assembler. Incidentally, Hart sold five homes that day.

Since 1945 Hart has missed a million dollars in sales only one year, 1949. His record was $2,230,000 in 1951. Last year he helped over $1,500,000.

With his wife and daughter, public is invited.

H. HERSCHEL HART
Has Grown With Lakewood

Linda Louise, Hart lives at 4214 Greenbrier Rd. Another daughter, Mrs. Jack Atwell, of Westchester, appears to have ample realty blood. Only Saturday she informed her parents that their home, for which they paid $13,500 a year ago, might be sold. "They offered us $16,500 for it today," she phoned. "When they make it $17,500 it will be a deal."

"And if she does that she's coming to Lakewood and join me if I have my way," laughed Herschel. "I could use another salesman like that."

Margaret Hutchinson at Roses Hardware

Margaret Hutchinson, color stylist for the Martin-Senour Paint Co., will be at Roses Hardware, 4132 Viking Way in Lakewood Triangle. Tuesday, Miss Hutchinson will discuss a new, simple approach to color planning for the home. The

State Realty Head Coming

Members of the Long Beach Board of Realtors will be hosts to the president of the California Real Estate Association, L. I. McLellan of Pasadena, who will speak at the Breakfast Forum on Tuesday, according to Arnold Berg, local president.

The state realty official will be accompanied by Eugene P. Conser, state secretary.

President McLellan has returned from an extensive tour of eastern financial centers and conferences with officials of the National Association of Real Estate Boards in Washington, D. C., following his installation, early in the year.

Participating with the local board in entertaining the state association executives are Reg Dupuy, national director; Isabel Mitchell of Compton, national director.

Ward Johnson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mayor Lyman Sutter of the city along with the City Council have been invited to welcome Mr. McLellan.

His subject will be "Better Business—Our Challenge for '54." Arnold Berg will preside. The meeting is being held in the Superior Room of Lafayette Hotel.

Already enlisted in the program are B. D. Dancheck, director of the Institute of Executive Development, who has listened to 25,000... 5 minute speeches by small business men on their problems; and John Knight, owner of the John Knight Company of the Riverside company specializing in "Decision" market sampling, customer and public opinion of Title Insurance and Trust Co.

Specific dates are still to be of preferred and common stock determined and local leadership of Riverside Title Company, to be selected. The tentative schedule is for the Long Beach clinic to be in March, Santa Ana and Orange County, April.

Own-Your-Own Apartments of 290 Units Announced

A new two and a half million dollar garden-type apartment project will be built soon in the Wardlow-Spring Sts. area of west Long Beach.

Called the Woodland Park Mutual Apartments, the development will cover a 20-acre area. It will contain 29 two-story apartment buildings, with 10 units to each building. Tenants will have their own apartments, under a new financing plan of the National Housing Act.

Constructed under FHA inspection, the apartments will feature large living rooms with picture windows, car ports, sliding doors, insulation, wall furnaces, laundry facilities, all-steel kitchen cabinets with garbage disposals, and television outlets and aerials.

Other advantages include spacious recreation and parking areas, wide paved streets and sidewalks, near-by schools and transportation facilities, low down-payments and long-term payment plans.

The Woodland Park builders recently completed the Carson Park and Lakewood Park housing developments near Long Beach, and the Charleston Park Homes project in Las Vegas.

Hamlet Will Build More Custom Built Duplexes

Reports from Realtors throughout the country note a marked upturn in the building of low-priced income duplexes, according to Milton F. Hamlet, president of Hamlet Development Co., Inc., 15724 Lakewood Blvd., Bellflower. Hamlet said that in Southern California this increase is particularly great because of the vast number of newcomers to the area who are seeking housing.

To serve these new residents, the Hamlet Co. plans to expand their low cost custom home program in 1954 and will include in their program the construction of a large number of low-priced income duplexes, he continued. They are built on lots provided by the owners.

The duplex unit styled by the Hamlet organization in 1953 is priced at only $6,250. As an income unit, it can be built behind an existing building in many localities, or as the main unit on a lot zoned for duplexes. Hamlet's custom-built two-and three-bedroom homes which are priced as low as $6,895 have proven popular.

Financing and other information can be obtained by phoning or visiting the Hamlet Development Co. offices.

To Hobby Show

Lew Mahieu, 211 Roosevelt Rd., left Friday by air for Chicago to attend the Hobby Manufacturers Trade Show in the Morrison Hotel. Mahieu, sales manager for the K&B Manufacturing Co., of Compton, said the size of the show this year proved that hobby business has grown to a major enterprise.

Borg Now Heads Service Managers

Walter E. Borg, service manager of the M. Verne Holmes Studebaker Agency here has been elected president of the Los Angeles Metropolitan Service Managers Club. The organization has over 40 members, all service managers of major firms. Borg has been with Holmes a year, coming from Standard Oil to the company. He has lived in California five years, moving here from Connecticut. Borg lives at 4512 Ladoga Ave., Lakewood.

New Los Altos Unit Gets Quick Response

Averaging 23 sales a day since the opening, the 16th Los Altos unit has but 69 of the spacious homes available, reports J. L. Tolbert, general sales manager of the L. S. Whaley Co., the developer.

The unit is on Bellflower Blvd., south of Spring St. with the entrance about 27th St. As with all Whaley tracts in Los Altos the development is within the Long Beach city limits.

Visitors at the unit have expressed particular approval of such features as built-in TV antennas, custom-made natural-finish kitchen cabinets, spacious wardrobe closets, selected hardwood floors, exceptional color combinations on interiors, thermostatic controlled heat, extra large lots and many other luxury appointments. Ornamental street lights used in all new Whaley projects also are appealing.

All buyers have expressed enthusiasm for the Los Altos Association, a protective organization to assure the home owner a sound investment, said R. J. Burdge, president of the Los Altos Realty Co., sales agents for the Whaley project.

The homes are available for all-sized families. There are two bedroom, three bedroom and three bedroom with a multiple-purpose room, and two baths.

The two-bedroom homes, priced from $11,700, are available to veterans for as low as $600 down, plus costs and impounds, with monthly terms lower than rent for principal, interest, taxes and insurance.

The three-bedroom homes, priced from $12,150, offer veterans terms as low as $650 down, plus costs and impounds. The three-bedroom, two-bath homes, with extra multiple-purpose room, are priced from $14,495. They are available to vets and non-vets on FHA terms, with down payments from $3495, plus costs and impounds, and monthly payments $89.45 for principal, interest, taxes and insurance.

Sewers and other property improvements are included throughout the development. Model homes are open daily at the project and the sales office may be reached by telephoning 312-411.

Plan Tract at Compton

COMPTON—A 217-unit $2-170,000 homes subdivision, the first large tract to be launched in Compton in some months, is "in the works" the city building department reported.

Application blanks to be filed for the permits have been taken out by three different companies that will participate in the subdivision.

The proposed subdivision will be located in an L-shaped parcel south of Tichenor St. and west of Northwood. Opening of several streets through the land is involved.

Companies interested in the construction are Supreme Builders, a co-partnership; the Don Jo Ran Construction Co. and Peerless Building Corp.

Another Cox Tract Opens

Construction has started on an unusual, new group of Lifetime Homes, which will offer 3 and 4-bedrooms with a choice of 1½, or 2 baths. Prices start at $12,250 with no down payment.

Henry C. Cox and Affiliated Companies, these homes will provide luxury features usually found only in much higher priced homes, including Thermador built-in electric range, mahogany cabinets, kitchen and bathroom fans, fireplace, sliding glass wall, and Pullman lavatory.

Early American Estates Offering Larger Homes

A new financing arrangement which will permit families now residing in smaller homes to trade for 1600-square-foot houses in Early American Estates, new limited subdivision in North Downey, is announced by Walker & Lee, exclusive sales agents.

This plan was devised at the request of many progressive young families who want a better, larger home but are faced with the formidable job of disposing of their present property and then of finding something new," explained Frank Hart, sales manager.

The subdivision is located in a neighborhood of generally more expensive homes and this insures increasing investment value," Hart explained.

Office Building

W. R. Corcoran will erect a two-story office building with two apartments above in the 3000 tifully finished kitchen cabinets block on Redondo Ave. T. J. Rus are popular because they typify sell is the architect.

Appeals to Buyers

CLEVER SNACK BAR, built into each home in Early American Estates, is both convenient and attractive, according to buyers in the new North Downey subdivision. Ralph Weiner, builder and developer, installed the bar as a result of research into buyers' preferences.

Will Sell Sharon Inn as Own-Your-Own Homes

Forty-six apartments in the as own-your-own apartments, Sharon Inn, 205 Chestnut, will be involving more than $1,000,000. He was formerly in business with James Garth and the two apartments, it was announced by A. Charles Koerner, real estate broker. John Gilsch is the owner several consecutive years. Among the sales he is associated with are the Heartwell Bldg., Masonic Temple, California Hotel and Dolly Varden Hotel.

Transit Official to Speak Here

Stephen O'Donnell, director of public relations for the Los Angeles Transit Lines since 1948, will speak at the meeting of the Society of Residential Appraisers, Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. at Victor Hugo's, 730 East Broadway.

His topic, "Transit Today and Tomorrow" will deal with transit problems that exist in Southern California as compared to other areas in the United States and he will discuss the solution of the problems.

If They Talk They Will Pay

Long Beach Retail Furniture Dealers Association officers will be installed Wednesday evening at a gala dinner at Vivian Laird's, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Jim Barnett, executive secretary, assures the members that all speeches will be very brief. "The officers can say one word for each pound of their weight," said Barnett. "And for every word over they will have to donate $1 to the Red Cross or some similar organization."

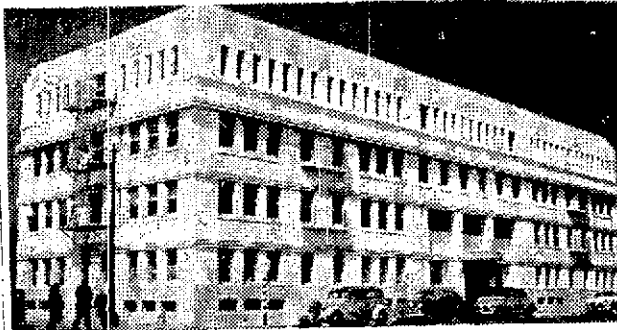

Stanley Schultz of the Aaron Schultz Furniture Co. is the president. Other officers are: Don Wells, Insurance Furniture, first vice president; Maynard Sarvas, Sarvas Furniture, second vice president; Ray Carl, Carl's Furniture, secretary; Sam Polonsky, Frank Bros., treasurer.

Talks Before Optometrists

Dr. Sidney Penn, local ophthalmologist, discussed "Diseases of the Eye and Cataracts" at the dinner meeting of the National Association of Optometrists Tuesday night at Victor Hugo's. This was another of the series of educational meetings arranged by Dr. J. M. Soss, president. Dr. Soss gave a report on the state convention held recently in Los Angeles.

To Sell by Unit

THIS 46-UNIT structure at 205 Chestnut Ave. is to be sold as own-your-own apartments, A. Charles Koerner, realty broker, announced.

World of Wheels

By DICK KLINE

THE PLYMOUTH BELMONT, an entirely new experimental sport car, made its debut recently at the International Salon in the Chrysler Building, New York City. President John P. Mansfield said it was designed and built by Plymouth as a styling research project and to test the feasibility of building a sport car with a reinforced fiberglass body on a standard Plymouth chassis.

"We shall be interested in the public reaction in New York and other cities where we intend to show it through the year," Mansfield said.

The Belmont has the typical smart low lines of a sport car. Its height, from the ground to the top of the door, is 32 1/2 inches. Overall length is 131 1/2 inches and overall width is 73 1/2 inches. Comparable dimensions for Plymouth's new 1954 Highway cars are 193 1/2 inches and 74 1/2 inches.

The exterior finish is azure blue. Seats are of the individual bucket type and are upholstered in white leather. Radio controls are mounted in the center arm rest between the seats, with an adjacent electrically controlled radio aerial. The instrument panel has a special grouping of instruments, which include an engine tachometer.

An intermediate compartment directly behind the seats provides space for luggage. The car's removable fabric top and spare wheel are carried in the rear compartment.

Bill Bryant, general manager of the Glenn E. Thomas Co., presented a new Dodge Power-Flite Transmission to J. E. Hollingsworth, dean of the Business and Technology Division of City College; Herschel G. Thomas, instructor of mechanics, and H. W. Ferguson, co-ordinator of trades and industries.

BRYANT made the presentation on behalf of the Dodge Division of Chrysler Corp. It will be used to better train mechanics in work on modern transmissions.

ALONG THE ROW—George Peck, general manager of Hale Young Ford, is vacationing in Sun Valley. . . . Bill Bryant, general manager for the Glenn E. Thomas Dodge Co., announced the appointment of Bill Lewis to their sales staff. Chet Henson, boss man at Harbor Chevrolet, announced that Ben Rosanoff has joined their sales force. . . . Bud Mc-Kenzie of Freeman A. McKen-zie Ford is vacationing in South America.

Dave Wilkenson, general manager of Campbell Buick, welcomed back Harry Longue to their sales force. . . . Glad to hear that Meredith Bailey of Marshall and Clappett is home from the hospital.

Gene Quick is back at his old stamping grounds at Masters Pontiac's 1860 American Ave. location after a short leave of absence. . . . Ed Hopper, VP and general manager of Parkwood Chevrolet, announced that they have added some of the finest new testing equipment to their service department, also that Robert Montgomery has joined their sales force.

We have two new additions to Auto Row as Charlie Campbell of Campbell Buick and Jim Crocker of Beach City Chevrolet recently have become proud new fathers; Charlie handed out cigars with a blue band and Jim's were pink.

Plymouth's Belmont

AN EXPERIMENTAL sports car styled and built by Plymouth and called the Belmont, combines sport car smartness with the proved durability and reliability of Plymouth's standard chassis design. It has a body of reinforced fiberglass construction.

Redwood Exteriors Used

POPULAR STYLING of four-bedroom, two-bath homes in Lakewood Plaza is distinguished by its redwood exterior. The homes, available to veterans for nothing down but costs and impounds, may be viewed at Studebaker Rd. and Los Santos Dr., one mile south of Spring St., in the Lakewood district.

Aldon Plaza Sales Continue to Climb

Lakewood Plaza total sales reached $4,550,000 the past week, it was reported by Aldon Construction Co. officials, who revealed that sales of the four-bedroom, two-bath "Kingsize" homes had averaged about $1,500,000 for the past three months since going on the market.

Continuing on sale to veterans for nothing down, except costs and impounds, the current 509-home unit is located at Studebaker Rd. and Los Santos Dr., one mile south of Spring St. On display are three model homes, furnished by Aaron Schultz and open daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Full price of the homes, each with 1350 square feet, is $13,000.

Many of the widely ranged stylings feature four bedrooms while others have three bedrooms and a combination den-TV-hobby-guest room. All of the exteriors at Lakewood Plaza are distinguished by a complete use of redwood in an extensive choice of details and color schemes.

Fine Kitchen Big Point in Home Buying

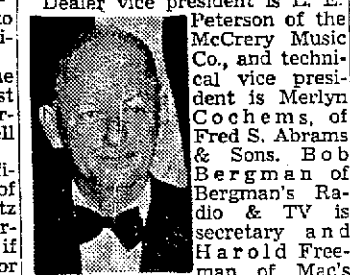

Wise home builders make sure they include efficiently planned and thoroughly equipped kitchens in the houses they offer to the public, says Bill Tietz, president of Tietz Construction Co.

Tietz also announced that the sales program launched last week at Skylark Terrace in Garden Grove was exceptionally well received.

Women know that an efficient kitchen will save hours of labor during the week," Tietz said. "We would be fooling ourselves—but not our customers, if we slighted the kitchens in favor of more showy parts of the home."

Mushrom Grower Raises Tasty Variety in 4 Days

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—(UP). It takes a lot of self-control for Chester Koda to keep from growing mushrooms all over the Syracuse University campus.

He knows a way to grow literally millions of them—in only four days.

Koda, who is on the staff of the State College of Medicine at the university, has done it in his laboratory. He doesn't grow the ordinary mushroom you use to decorate your steak. His are the rare and delicious variety known as morchella hortensis, boud, long admired by European gourmets.

Koda grows his mushrooms much the same way scientists produce the antibiotic penicillin. Cultures of two species of the morchella mushroom were imported from Holland in 1950. These were turned over to Koda, who chopped bits of mushroom produced from the cultures into a solution beefed up with vitamins, minerals and other elements.

Each tiny fragment of mushroom fiber began to expand and formed a ball about the size of a pea. The solution was kept in motion by compressed air. All Koda has to do to make more mushrooms is chop up the little fibrous balls formed in the solution. Each piece chopped off becomes another mushroom in about four days.

Koda's associates in the project were Dr. Paul Klens, formerly of the plant science department, and Dr. C. C. Carpenter, a professor in the department.

The three researchers agree that because of its small size and fragility, the artificially produced morchella may never replace the popular variety you find in your supermarket. But this way to keep it from becoming a favorite, they point out. It has a superlative flavor and it could be canned.

While producing his laboratory mushrooms, Koda also discovered a mushroom seasoning which can be used like salt and pepper as a "lucky accident."

This could revolutionize dinner table conversation. Instead of just "pass the salt and pepper," people may soon be saying, "Pass the mushroom, please."

Gen. Taylor Sees 45th Division in Farewell Review

EAST CENTRAL KOREA—(UP). The U. S. 45th Infantry Division, which captured Old Baldy Mountain and battled for Heartbreak Ridge, staged a mammoth farewell review Saturday as 1000 of its men prepared to return home.

The 45th "Thunderbird" Division is the first American division to return to the United States since the Korea war began. It rounded out two years of service with the parade.

More than 10,000 men and 600 trucks, jeeps, tanks and field guns passed a reviewing stand where Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U. S. 8th Army commander, took the salute.

Although the division was called to service as an Oklahoma guard unit, the Guardsmen have been rotated home and the division now is made up of regular Army men, draftees and reservists.

Quake Recorded

MEXICO CITY—(UP). The government seismograph station Saturday reported an earthquake it believed occurred off the Pacific coast of the state of Guerrero shortly after Friday midnight.

Silver Year Celebration Today for Community Players

Leslie Esposito. They will be in attendance this afternoon, also, to share in the silver anniversary of the Players from 3 to 5 o'clock at 5021 E. Anaheim St. Civic-minded friends of the local thespians will celebrate the occasion with wives of directors acting as hostesses. Martha Knowles is chairman.

and grouped right are Robert Milner, George Bruce Jr. (standing), Vi Coulter and Barbara Bariko. At the 25th anniversary open house this afternoon in the Playhouse, incidental music will be by Ruth Cozart and Don Reese. Harriet Wood will play harp selections.—(John J. Lloyd Photos.)

FIRST NIGHTERS Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cozart, left, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Schinnerer arrive just before curtain time at Community Playhouse to view the 104th production by local thespians. This afternoon at the Playhouse, many now famous thespians will return to the scene of their first dramatic effort to participate in the 25th anniversary. The Players was established by public-spirited citizens solely for the cultural benefit of the community and is a nonprofit organization.

MUCH OF THE SUCCESS of Long Beach Community Players is due to the faithful service of Mrs. Walter Case, above, who has served the group as president for the past 20 years and as business manager since 1931. A charter member of the Players, she has never missed seeing at least one performance of each new play. Through her efforts the Players now have their own Little Theater building at 5021 E. Broadway, completed in 1931. The Playhouse has a rightful place in the cultural life of Long Beach and to the young aspiring actors and actresses, it offers entertainment in a wholesome and delightful environment.

Hostess Duo Has Victorian Tea; Pre-Nuptial Whirl for Bette Cree

By BETTY WENTWORTH
Independent Women's Editor

Characterized by fragile charm as well as great elegance was the beautiful Victorian Valentine tea over which Loraine (Mrs. Earl Burns) Miller presided as gracious hostess on Thursday in her Bennett Ave. home, with Haldis (Mrs. Francis) Hertzog as her equally gracious co-hostess.

Loving care was expended on each minute detail, creating an atmosphere of that leisurely era of sweeping bustled gowns, horse-drawn carriages and potted palms.

Many of their treasured antiques were sent over by friends to add their luster to Loraine's own, being anxious, as one friend phrased it, to come to the party. Loraine received in her great-aunt's high-necked ivory lace dress with a little train and trimmed with tiny blue velvet bows. Haldis wore white lace designed with rustling blue panniers.

Full skirted gowns and black velvet ribbons pinned with cameos at their throats were costumes for the assistants, Mildred Shank, Wayne Osborne, Sallie Van Dyke, Ann Sattle, Kathleen Mason, Winifred Carney, Margaret Hanson, Marion Chaffee and Vivian Davis, all of whom carried nosegays of rosebuds and forget-me-nots.

Pink tulips, peach blossoms and pale blue ribbons were arranged with frail old fans in the living room. Guests received their tea and curiant cupcakes in the large dining room where a sheer embroidered linen cloth over pink was used on the table set with Haviland. In the smaller dining room, with its Victorian furniture a Battenberg cloth, yellow rosebuds and gold and white china were used.

Sounding like an old-fashioned music box was background music played throughout the delightful afternoon by Harriet Wood at her harp with its celeste attachment.

Life is a breath-taking rose-tinted round of trousseau shopping, showers and pre-wedding parties these days for lovely bride-elect Bette Cree whose wedding to Bill Edwards is one of the most anticipated events on the spring social calendar. It's to be on Mar. 13 at the First Congregational Church.

Hostess trio entertaining for Bette on Tuesday will be

Moore Home Carmelite Auxiliary Plans Party Scene Gala Benefit Ball Feb. 26

Mrs. Val R. Moore, 113 Cartagena Ave., was hostess for a lovely valentine luncheon in her home, when guests were members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Long Beach Pharmaceutical Association. Mrs. Moore was assisted by Mmes. Rex Kaylor, Lowell Gorton and Lee Benno.

Mrs. E. J. Gavin, president, conducted the business session, when Mrs. J. L. Breckman, chairman of the apen booth for the Have-a-Heart bazaar, reported that $135 was given to the Heart Fund, and also a donation was given by the auxiliary to the same fund.

Mrs. J. Vernon Brown, chairman of the ways and means committee, announced that the auxiliary would have a card party March 31. Mrs. Frank Dillon, sister of Mrs. Moore, presented three beautiful hand knit stoles to the elderly women's ward at Rancho Los Amigos. Bridge and canasta concluded the afternoon.

Telephone wires are humming, committees are meeting and an air of gay anticipation hangs like a rosy tinted cloud over members of the dance committee of the Carmelite Nuns' Auxiliary who are busy with exciting plans for a big benefit ball featuring the Mexican theme to be staged from 9 p. m. to 7 a. m., Feb. 26, in Long Beach Municipal Auditorium.

Determined that every purchaser of a one dollar ticket will get more than the money's worth of fun and thrills, the committee will highlight the evening with the awarding to the lucky holder of the magic number, a round trip ticket for two persons to Mexico City . . . all expenses paid! It is not necessary for the winner to be present to claim the award, they state.

As an extra added inducement to the public to attend, dance music will be provided by Leighton Noble and his band of TV Bandstand Revue, according to James J. Diotte, general chairman.

Co-chairmen of the ticket committee, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Campbell, 2260 Montair Ave., state that bids may be purchased from committee members or at the door on the night of the big event. Mrs. James A. Hayes, second vice president of the auxiliary, is assisting Diotte as dance chairman. Thomas O'Hara is general publicity chairman.

According to Mrs. E. J. Hayes, decoration chairman, and her assistant, Mrs. Stephen F. Breitfeller, the auditorium where the dance is to take place will be gay with banners and pennants pointing up the Mexican theme and adding a fiesta air.

Assisting General Chairman

Diotte and Mrs. Diotte in receiving guests at the door will be Mrs. John Ryan, president of the Carmelite Nuns' Auxiliary, and Mr. Ryan, and Mrs. James McMahon, first vice president, and Mr. McMahon.

Because the 16 Carmelite nuns who reside in the House of Carmel, 5361 E. Ocean Blvd., live a cloistered life of contemplation and prayer, never leaving the monastery grounds, contact with the outside world is made through the auxiliary composed of 733 lay women from the various Catholic parishes in this area. Headed by the prioress, Rev. Mother Mary Elizabeth, the Long Beach monastery, called Carmel of St. Joseph, was established in December, 1939, the former Archbishop J. Francis McIntyre, D.O., who was recently elevated to the rank of cardinal, being instrumental in the selection of this city as the site of the monastery.

The nuns, in compliance with the strict rules of their order, devote their entire lives to prayer. They answer requests for prayer for the sick and distressed from all denominations, races and creeds in Long Beach and vicinity thus enriching the spiritual life of

NIGHT IN OLD MEXICO might well be the title for this scene enacted by some of the members of the Carmelite Nuns' Auxiliary with their husbands to call attention to the forthcoming "South of the Border Ball" to be staged in Municipal Auditorium, Feb. 26, as a benefit for the Carmelite Nuns of Long Beach. Leighton Noble and his band of the TV Bandstand Revue will provide lilting dance music. Center of attention in the foreground of the picture is the pretty matador, Mrs. James A. Hayes, a vice president of the auxiliary, whose manipulation of the bullfighter's flaming cape proves a fascinating attraction for the brave toro so ably impersonated by James J. Diotte, general chairman of the dance committee. Spectators providing a colorful background for the make-believe bullfight are, from the left, Mrs. Stephen F. Breitfeller, Mrs. George W. Keough, Mr. Breitfeller, Mrs. John Ryan, auxiliary president; Mrs. Diotte, Mr. Hayes, and seated on the floor, Mrs. Joseph T. Lenorak.—(Staff Photo by H. S. Melvin.)

Heart Tea Series High Lights Social Week

By IOLA MASTERSON

This is grand slam in hearts week and if you haven't purchased at least one little Valentine your credit is on a par with the two of clubs! And speaking of hearts brings to mind, but quick, the current Long Beach Heart Association's annual fund drive. The ladies of town, as usual, are "aces high" and are making the business of a donation to the good, good cause a very pleasant experience.

Take, for instance, Peg Leatart and Marian Hull's donation bridge tea of last Wednesday, held at the Leatart home. A lovely party for a host of their mutual friends and, in return, the guests made contributions under the nicest circumstances possible to the Heart Fund.

Winifred Carrey will be hostess this next Thursday at a handsome tea in her home at 4160 Locust and it, too, will be a donation affair.

Miss Beatrice Hughes and Carolyn King will be luncheon hostesses on Feb. 27 for the same good cause and Pauline Fischer, among others, is planning a friendly neighborhood party.

All social signs this week point to the big midwinter formal dinner dance at the University Club next Saturday. One of the club's three major parties of the year, this promises to be without parallel in recent months. A special floor is being constructed so the party-goers will have a choice of two dance spots in the clubrooms.

Reservations have been pouring in and a few of those who will be on hand are Suzanne and Vic Mingers, Marialice and Preston Johnson, Kay and Vern Smith (they'll be among the evening's pre-party cocktail hosts), Emily and Roger Coleman, La Vern and Ray Peterson, Peggy and Julian Davis, "Jeff" and Bob Latham and Evelyn and Don Sullivan.

Big thanks for the evening's fun will be owed to the committee composed of Rose and Gene Bishop, Jane and Phil Brewer, and "Jackie" and Dr. Ed Neushutz.

Evans Mong, Maude Taylor and Ella Smiri pooled efforts and ideas and came up with one of the gayest brunch parties of the season week ago Friday over at the Assistance League Clubhouse. Thoughts of winter went a-flying as guests viewed the lovely buffet table with its bright spring flowers—yellow tulips, daffodils and acacia spiked with the fresh blue of iris blossoms. And each of the quartet tables, too, sported friendly daffodils in gay miniature yellow flower pots.

With 100 guests bidden, the hostesses needed assisting and there to do the job were Ruth Kerr, Gertrude Killingsworth, Lillian Courtiour, Charlotte Cook, Beulah Jones and Zoe Freeman.

Up went a spade and thud! went the first spadeful of dirt as work started Wednesday on Betty Jean and Ed Ingle's new peninsula home on 58th Pl. It will be early American and the Ingles are counting on a moving day sometime before school is out this summer.

Vada and Don Spring flew out of town last Tuesday bound for New Orleans and a date with a gangplank. Once aboard they'll set sail for a leisurely cruise of the Caribbean following which they'll return to N'Orleans in time for the spectacular Mardi Gras (which really should be something this year!).

Hoping for snow this week end were Beverly and Dick Matlock's youngsters when Mom and Pop took them up to the mountains in search of winter sports.

A Valentine potluck supper will be order of the evening tonight when a gang of friends gather at Shirley and Bob Zietan's home, 34 Via di Roma, for a "just because we like each other" party. Those bringing casseroles, salads and the like will be Wanda and Dick Berbow, Dorothy and Dick Dilday, Pat and Claude Gearheart, Betty and Gene Kirkpatrick, Deanie and Earl Swigart, Virginia and Walt Nichols, June and Bill Seils, Deanie and Earl Davis and Joyce and Johnny Dixon.

Ski enthusiasts Rollie and Bonnie Coltrane are whooping it up in Sun Valley these days. Expect they'll be back end of the week with glamorous tales of the white and the high country.

Speaking of Sun Valley, hear that Geraldine and Kenny Crockett, more expert skiers, have their sights set for an end of the month safari to the ski country.

Nothing but happy smiles for "Bugsy" and Jim Crocker last week end when they greeted their second baby daughter born at Seaside.

Tonight the Singer's Workshop will have four candles on their birthday cake and there'll be a buffet supper at workshop headquarters, 3051 E. Ocean. Such active and important charter members as co-founder Henri Scanlon, Blaine Ellefson, Rose Bishop, Joan Bennett, Bobbie Fields, Ray Holstad, Pat and Bob Vieg and Ed Mead will be on hand.

After the supper party a group will travel over to Veterans Hospital to entertain the boys with a musical variety show. Among those who will sing for the good cause are Laura Killingsworth, "Cec" Julian, Hazel Thompson, Ed Davis and Jimmy Jay (provided he's up off that sick bed!).

'OPEN YOUR DOORS and open your hearts' is the plea of the volunteers who are assisting in Heart Sunday drive today between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock. Mrs. James T. Carriel of Naples has opened her door already for little Joe and Jeri Poppler who are accompanying their mother, Mrs. Philip Poppler, on the door-to-door campaign today for funds. Since this is the first time for Heart Sunday in Long Beach, and since all areas cannot be reached by the volunteers, friends not contacted are asked to forward their contributions to the Long Beach Heart Center, 812 Pina Ave. Funds will be used locally and nationally for heart research. Dr. Donald H. Roof is president of the local group and William Grant is campaign chairman for the drive, which will continue until Feb. 28.—[Staff photo.]

Beverly (Mrs. Joseph) McLaughlin, Virginia (Mrs. Franklin) Waters and Dorothy (Mrs. Lee) Witte who have planned a bridge luncheon and shower to take place at the home of Beverly's parents, the Gus Walkers, at 4170 Country Club Dr.

Guests will be mothers of the engaged couple, Ruth (Mrs. William) Cree and Katherine (Mrs. Leland) Edwards as well as Marian Boice, Nancy Cree, Nancy Hartley, Marie Ferguson, Barbara Rowan, Avis Roemer, Mary Sprague, Betty Jean Green, Elizabeth Wallace, Marjorie Hight, Joanne Jones, Marjorie Clarke, Barbara Davis, Nancy Ward, Betty Field and Sally DeGolla of Los Angeles.

There was the luncheon and miscellaneous shower yesterday given by Florence (Mrs. Sam) Magill to which a group of 24 neighborhood friends of long standing were bidden. Masses of pink and white sweetpeas lent a sprightly note to the tables.

With Bette's future kitchen in mind Joanne (Mrs. Henry) Jones invited 35 guests to a luncheon and kitchen shower at the Virginia Country Club on Thursday, and used a gay Valentine motif for her decorations.

Other forthcoming courtesies include a dinner party next Friday eve when Janice and Dr. Howard Coale will be dinner party hosts honoring both Bette and Bill; and invitations are just out for a tea on Feb. 24 from 3 to 5 p. m. for which Mrs. Roy McClure, Mrs. George Bruce Clifford (Marilyn McClure) and Mrs. John W. Buol will be hostesses at the Buol home, 4251 Pacific Ave.

Even now on the high seas on a Caribbean cruise are those intrepid voyagers Cassia and Gus Walker and Margaret and Marvin Davis. They're aboard the SS Alcoa "Cavalier" and will touch at such ports of call as Jamaica, Curacao, Trinidad, and Caracas, La Guaira, Puerto Cabello and Guanta in Venezuela. They plan to be home about Feb. 22.

Welcoming 70 friends to a kaffee klatsch this morning from 10 to noon at their Rod-loy Ave. home will be June and Homer Roughton who decided to be sentimental and have a Valentine party. June's mother, LaVerne Spinning, will help serve the steaming black gold (a tea doubtless would have been thriffter). Red roses each framed with white paper lace frills, will make fragrant fresh Valentines in the centerpiece, and favors for the gals will be dainty nosegays.

Legion Auxiliary

Dr. Carl L. Taylor Unit No. 490, American Legion Auxiliary, will meet Tuesday evening in Signal Hill city hall. A covered-dish dinner and social hour at 6:30 p. m. with members of the post will precede the business session presided over by Ruth Staley.

Lincoln Circle

Abraham Lincoln Circle No. 44, Ladies of the G.A.R., will have a card party Tuesday in Veterans Memorial Bldg. Refreshments will be served.

NLB Women's Club to Note Federation Day Wednesday

Important event on the calendar for North Long Beach Women's Club is the annual Federation Day luncheon which will take place at noon Wednesday in Houghton Park clubhouse, with Mrs. J. L. Montague presiding.

This traditional affair is in charge of Mrs. Ralph Gott, first vice president and federation secretary. On this occasion, the club will honor the state, district, and county federation presidents and federation chairman of Los Angeles District.

Mrs. George Cornelius, Los Angeles District president, will be the featured speaker.

Mrs. Virgil Koon, program chairman, will present the Choralettes, singing group of the club, directed by Mrs. LaVerne Hughes, who will sing a group of selections, with Mrs. Carl Doie at the piano.

UDC Chapter Entertained at Tea in Windham Home

Mrs. W. W. Windham entertained members of the Gen. Joe Wheeler Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, at her home, 215 Prospect Ave., the occasion marking the February meeting for the group. Mmes. D. E. Humphreys and Mabel Trotter Dunn were assisting hostesses, and Mrs. Thomas W. Arrowsmith presided.

Mrs. Clarence Black, chairman of the committee to study increasing junior membership, suggested giving the young people more social activities and topics of interest on national affairs, in order to hold their interest.

Mrs. C. P. Harris, chapter historian, gave a brief review of the life of Sidney Lanier, southern poet, whose birthday occurs in February, and read some of his more familiar poems. She then read a humorous story, entitled, "I Married a Southerner," by a Connecticut Yankee. An interesting collection of rare, antique combs was displayed by Mrs. Joe Handly.

Guests for the day were Mrs. Clarence Black, president of the James Park Caldwell Chapter in Los Angeles; Mrs. Marguerite Black James of the same chapter, who is a candidate for the presidency of the California Division, UDC; Mrs. Burt Proctor of Corona del Mar; Mmes. R. W. Thompson and G. Bruce Newby.

lowed with Mmes. Black and James assisting at the flower-decked tea table.

Carmelites

(Continued from Page D-1.) the entire community, both Catholic and non-Catholic. Similar monasteries located in all cities are a continuation of those founded by St. Teresa of Avila in the 15th Century.

Although the auxiliary stages numerous smaller social affairs throughout the year, the only events of interest to the entire city and surrounding communities are the two big benefits sponsored each year, the event of Feb. 26 being the annual spring ball. All funds raised through the sale of tickets are to go toward the expenses of the Long Beach Carmelites.

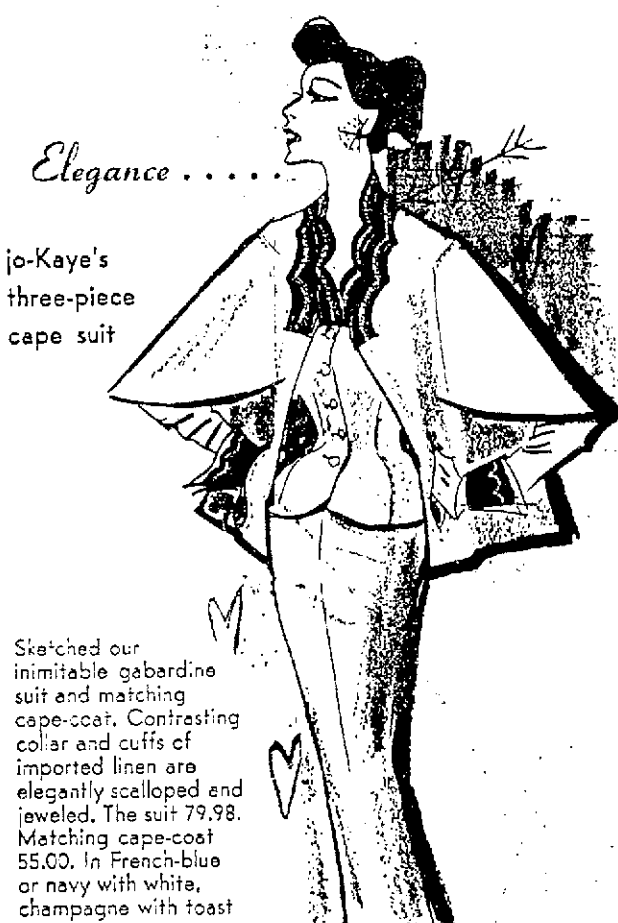

Bachelorettes Fete Newcomers

A dinner at Welch's Monday evening will fete new members of Bachelorettes. Being welcomed into the group are Misses Dorothy Hartwell, Susan Wright, Charlou Ripch, Isabel Gundry, Mary Kukura, Diane Houts, Kathy Jackson, Judy Humphrey, Mary Jo Howell, Ruth Miller, Mary Hinton and Pat Duke.

Another event being planned for the new Bachelorettes is a jaunt to Big Bear the week end of Feb. 27.

WBA Meeting

Woman's Benefit Association Review No. 15 will have a covered-dish luncheon at noon Tuesday in Machinists Hall, with past presidents as hostesses. A business session will take place at 1 p. m. when plans for the year will be discussed by the president, Edith Robinson.

Opens Drive for Members

Their 1934 campaign for new members will be launched by the Lakewood Federation of Republican Women at an all-day meeting Friday at St. Thomas Episcopal Church, 5306 Arbor Rd., with Mrs. J. K. McCall presiding. Speaker will be Lawrence A. Collins, editorial columnist of the Long Beach Independent, who will discuss the varied reactions to his editorial column, "L.A.C. Says."

"Every woman in Lakewood is a potential new member of this club," Mrs. George D. MacDonald, membership chairman, said, adding that every Republican woman in the area is invited to become acquainted with this energetic, friendly organization. Working with Mrs. MacDonald on the membership committee are Misses Joseph R. McCleskey, Harold Mestad, Wilson Muhleim, Ernest J. Kruse, and Wilbur B. Williams.

The drive for members will be for a three-month period, ending with the April meeting. Mrs. MacDonald announced that every Republican woman in the area is invited to become acquainted with this energetic, friendly organization. Working with Mrs. MacDonald on the membership committee are Misses Joseph R. McCleskey, Harold Mestad, Wilson Muhleim, Ernest J. Kruse, and Wilbur B. Williams.

LAKEWOOD FEDERATION OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN will open its 1934 campaign for new members at an all-day meeting set for 11 a. m. Friday at St. Thomas Episcopal Church, 5306 Arbor Rd. Examining one of the handsome awards to be given to members who bring the most guests to the meetings during the three-month membership drive are (left to right) Mrs. George D. MacDonald, membership chairman; Mrs. Joseph R. McCleskey and Mrs. Harold R. Mestad, committee members.—(Staff photo.)

She will be assisted by Harvey Wagner as Count Germont, John Smith as Alfredo. Mrs. Jene Bishop will be accompanist, and Mrs. Russell Fisher narrator.—(Staff photo.)

Among Career Women

Deanelda Mahl to Head Women's Traffic Club in March

By ANNE GILCHRIST

Ballots were cast and counted by members of Women's Traffic Club of Long Beach-Los Angeles Harbor at last regular meeting at the Victor Hugo and the satisfactory results found popular Deanelda Mahl (William's Diamond & Co.) elected to serve as president for the coming year. She will be installed in March.

Elected to serve with her were Edith Haney (Standards Products Co.) first vice president; Artie J. Neilson (Comet Service), second vice president; Angie Anderson (Union Pacific), recording secretary; Ella Eaton, corresponding secretary; Eva Ranger, treasurer; Sophie Rushton (Mt. View Dairies), sergeant-at-arms; Rose Kaliterna, membership; and Violet Symons, education.

In addition to election of officers, members discussed at length the local club's participation in the west coast conference which will be in Oakland, Feb. 20-22.

All wrapped up in one package for Long Beach Women's Credit Club was the business of earning money for their ways and means fund, having a party in the home of a member, and regular business meeting. It happened Wednesday at the home of Ine Nelson. Ine prepared a delectable home cooked dinner for the members who paid just as if they had been "downtown." Only the "cashier" in this instance was club treasurer and the "earnings" went into the club's own coffers! Main discussion of the evening was Career Girl Night, when members will vote not only the "career" girls within their own ranks but many special guests.

President Carolyn Neff reported attending formal organizational meetings for two new women's credit clubs in the area. One at Santa Ana and one in Costa Mesa. She was accompanied by Thelma O'Neill and Lucille Drew. Also attending both meetings was Bill Kleese, vice president of NRCA who was guest speaker at both occasions.

Seventh birthday was celebrated by the Queen Beach Chapter of National Secretaries at club's monthly dinner meeting held Tuesday at Apple Valley Steak House. Of the several charter members still active, all were present but one. The tables were centered with red hearts and red and white carnations interspersed with twinkling birthday candles.

President Betty Mahoney presided and introduced Glean Robinson, chairman of the evening. She presented John Hersey, fashion co-ordinator of Buffums, who gave a talk on fashion accessories.

Hersey predicted that fashions for spring will find the princess and empire dress silhouettes in great demand. Top colors will be orange, cognac, peach, hats will be small; fabrics will be lighter in texture; shoes will feature more covered heels and toes.

Another feature of the evening's program was the showing of colored slides of national convention held in Seattle last summer. These slides were loaned to the local club for special showing.

Dr. Joseph R. Goodman, member of the physiological research laboratory staff at Long Beach Veterans Hospital, was the distinguished guest speaker Thursday night at Medical Laboratory Technicians regular meeting held at Harriman Jones Clinic.

Dr. Goodman's topic was "Blood Lipids and Their Relation to Heart Disease." He was introduced by president Ray Terry.

Dorothy Logan Goodnight, president of the Assistance League at the time its famed collection of Chinese art objects was acquired by the League, was charming speaker at Monday's regular meeting of the Long Beach National Business and Professional Women's Club, held at the Assistance League Clubhouse, Fourth and Nieto.

Mrs. Goodnight gave members of the B&PWC a history of the valuable collection and many interesting facts concerning several of the specific pieces. She told how it was gathered by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Howard from the time of their round the world honeymoon trip in 1900 until their deaths. Because the Assistance League was most able to meet the provisions of the Howard will, they were here.

The Clerks and Secretaries Association of the Long Beach public schools has planned a gala Valentine party for next Tuesday which will be at Stevenson Elementary School beginning at 7:30.

Preceding games and refreshments, Mrs. Gladys Potlender, deputy superintendent of schools, will talk on "Public Relations" and a movie concerning the same subject will be shown.

All clerks and secretaries of the school system, whether or not they are members of the association, are invited to attend.

President Catherine Nagel of Longfellow and program chairman Fern Stretchberry of Lincoln are in charge of the party.

Patrons Take Campus Tour

Patrons of City College met on the campus of the business and technology division, 1305 E. Pacific Coast Hwy., for the February meeting. Following luncheon in the school cafeteria, a short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Harold Seymour, president. Final plans were made for a rummage sale to be held March 17, the proceeds to go into the scholarship fund raised each year by the Patrons.

Mrs. Edgar Lore, program chairman, introduced Dean J. Everett Hollingsworth, head of the business and technology division of City College. He, in turn, presented Harmon Clark, associate dean and host for the afternoon. Clark told of the new additions to the division and answered questions concerning the various courses offered. At least 5000 students are expected to be enrolled in the day and evening classes this semester. Later, Clark and Dr. C. Douglas Barnes, materials testing teacher, acted as escorts on tours of the recently expanded campus.

Rebekah Gleaners

Rebekah Gleaners Club will have a luncheon Thursday in MacArthur Park. A business session and cards will follow. Visiting Rebekahs are invited.

Hostess to Delta Gams

A lacey valentine tree decorating the luncheon table set the theme for the February meeting of Long Beach Delta Gamma Alumnae recently at the lovely home of Mrs. R. J. Tarpy Jr., 3901 Rose Ave. Chairman of the event was Mrs. W. B. Hamlin, assisted by Misses R. J. Ritner and L. McLane.

At the short business meeting preceding the program, plans were discussed for the annual Founders' Day celebration March 4 and the coming benefit for the Nursery School for Visually Handicapped Children, which is supported by all Delta Gamma chapters. Madam Josui Oshikawa of Japan, one of the outstanding authorities on flower arranging, will give a lecture with demonstrations Thursday afternoon, March 11, at Community Playhouse.

Mrs. John P. Davis gave an interesting talk on her recent trip to Europe. Mrs. Davis spoke mainly of her experiences in England and France, particularly in and around London and Paris, in connection with buying antiques. Mr. and Mrs. Davis visited widely contrasted locales in their quest for antiques, including the Flea Market in Paris and Caledonia near London as well as some lovely estates in both England and France.

Sharon Geary Is Bride-Elect

Miss Sharon Geary surprised her many friends Thursday at Stillman House, Stanford University, when she revealed her betrothal to Merritt Huntley Adamson. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Edward Geary, 4266 Pacific Ave., Miss Geary was graduated from Polytechnic High School. Now a senior at Stanford, she will be graduated in March.

A large heart-shaped cake in red and white surrounded by gardenias which were centered with small red hearts bearing their names, told the romantic news. The pair plan to wed in early summer.

Her fiancé, whom she has known since childhood days, is the son of a family that pioneered Malibu. He is the son of Mrs. Merritt Huntley Adamson of Los Angeles and Malibu and the late Mr. Adamson and his grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hastings Rindge of Malibu. He is a graduate of University of California at Davis and affiliated with Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Miss Geary, Pan-American and national swimming champion, was a member of the 1932 Olympic swimming team and has been Southern Pacific AAGU champion since 1947 in backstroke and freestyle. Her swimming activities have taken her to Europe, South America, Hawaii and many cities in the United States.

Miss Sharon Geary

New Series of Suppers Scheduled

"Monthly suppers will be added to the rapidly growing activity list of the Women's League of the Bellflower-Lakewood Jewish Community Center," Mrs. Jack Fishman, ways and means chairman, has announced.

The first supper will be held at the center building, Woodruff and Rose Aves., next Sunday. Cards and mah jong will follow the meal.

Mrs. Jerry Silverstein, monthly supper chairman, will be assisted by Mmes. Barney Schlessinger, Louis Novick, Ruben Schneider, Murray Cannon, David Suberl, Robert Koppel, Harold Storch and Blanche Jurist.

Mrs. Fishman is continuing her search for applicants to compete in the Queen Esther contest to be held at the Purim Ball March 20. Single girls between the ages of 16 and 21 who are interested should contact Mrs. Fishman, 6122 Arbor Rd., Lakewood.

Open House for Keelers

Celebrating their golden wedding anniversary at an open house last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Keeler of 1073 Olive Ave. They were guests of honor in the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Kinz, 3510 Gaviota Ave., who were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Keeler of Downey, son and daughter-in-law of the honorees, and Kathleen Kinz, only granddaughter of the Keelers.

The Keelers were married Feb. 4, 1904, in Muscatine, Iowa, and resided on a farm near Lone Tree, Iowa, until 1917 when they moved to Long Beach.

Among guests at the open house was Mrs. Armina Magee, mother of Mrs. Keeler, who has just celebrated her 89th birthday.

Women of Moose List Activities

Initial activity of the week for Long Beach Chapter, Women of the Moose, will be a child care meeting Monday in the home of Mrs. Betty Langdon, 2275 W. 19th St. from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. On Wednesday the college of regents has planned an initiation chapter program at the Moose Hall, with the public being invited.

Amvets Post No. 48 will host the dance planned for Saturday night.

Mrs. Edith Gagnier, pianist at Women of the Moose meetings, recently received word that the young man she and her late husband, John Gagnier, sponsored at Mooseheart School in Illinois recently has become a Catholic priest. He is Father Donald Eugene Hartisly, OSB, of St. Precarpus College in Illinois.

Travelers Aid to Honor Volunteer Workers

Besides the valentines they will receive today as sweethearts, wives or mothers, hundreds of Long Beach women deserve special tokens of love and appreciation from the whole community, according to Lyle Huggins, president of Travelers Aid Society.

These he identified as the volunteers in community services, who give freely of their time and energy for the benefit of their fellow man. More than a dozen of these devoted volunteers serve at Travelers Aid, he said, helping out at the society's booth at the Pacific Electric Depot.

On a nation-wide basis, Huggins pointed out, Travelers Aid uses more volunteers the year round than any other social agency besides the Red Cross.

"If we can't send our volunteers hearts and flowers," Huggins said, "we can at least warm our own hearts by recognizing what their unselfish devotion to service means to the community as well as to the persons who benefit directly from their efforts."

Thursday at a luncheon at the Armed Services YMCA, Travelers Aid will honor their volunteer workers, who during the past year have given 1716 hours to manning the information booth.

These women have made it possible for this Community Chest agency to give a needed service to 16,824 people during the past year, Huggins reported.

The Travelers Aid volunteer, he continued, does far more than just sit behind the blue and white Travelers Aid lamp directing people to the ticket counter or ladies' room. She answers innumerable questions requiring an intimate knowledge of the city—"How do I get to Josie Ave.?" "How much will it cost to go to Los Alamitos by taxi?" "Where can I find a room at less than $10 a week?" Through the use of directories, imagination and "sometimes a touch of Holmes-like genius," she tracks down vague names and addresses for distressed people who expected to be met and weren't.

Workers who will receive recognition from the agency in appreciation for their efforts are Mmes. Dorothy Anderson, Marie Beck, Yvonne Ferrette, Frances Francis, Nellie Goddard, Clara Henry, Dorothy Odell, Thelma Puckett, Ida Sanson, Vallie Thurio, Miss Elizabeth Newton and Jay Grinnell.

"Not all Travelers Aid services can be given by volunteers," Huggins further explained, "for many people come to the agency with problems so complicated as to need the help of expert social workers, trained and experienced in helping people to untangle knots created by the interaction of circumstances and personality. Nevertheless, without the volunteers to take the brunt of immediate request, the professional would be so hampered that the counseling service to persons with serious problems would suffer. "We in Long Beach have reason to be grateful not only to the Travelers Aid volunteers who in a sense act as our city's hostesses to the strangers in our town, but also to all 2100 Travelers Aid volunteers throughout the country, 1200 of whom work in booths at travel terminals and 900 in USO-Travelers Aid lounges. Many of those in other places often give help to servicemen and other travelers from Long Beach."

War Mothers

American War Mothers, Chap. 5, will meet at noon Monday in Veterans Memorial Bldg., for a covered dish luncheon and business meeting. Monthly card party will be Thursday noon.

Tea Honoring Miss Light

The first bright yellow tulips of the spring were combined with blue iris, white stock and acacia to form the fresh and lovely arrangement in a Dresden bowl on the tea table when Mrs. Harold Harris and her mother, Mrs. Merritt Gordon Snyder, entertained last Sunday for Jacqueline Light.

The popular Miss Light's wedding to Robert Gordon Snyder will be an event of April 25. Miss Edith Mercer greeted guests at the door of the Snyder home at 2242 Pacific Ave. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Frank N. Harris and Mrs. Newton Eagleson. The honoree was presented with a service of china by the hostesses.

Guests bidden were Mrs. King Light, and Laura Light, mother and sister of the bride-elect; Mmes. Willard N. Harris, Joseph M. McLaughlin, John B. Campbell, Robert Jurgenson, William O'Neil, John Carroll, Wresley Rush, Gordon Silkwood, Leland Dugmore, John R. Flandrick, Jerold Pederson, Richard Curtis, Laurence Reed, Leland M. Joan Dreyer Weds Merrill G. Jessup Mission Inn, Riverside, and Santa Barbara were honeymoon destinations of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill G. Jessup whose wedding took place last Sunday afternoon at North Long Beach Methodist Church in the presence of 300 guests.

The couple will reside in Indianapolis, Ind., where she will be an elementary school teacher while he completes his service in the Army at Ft. Benjamin Harrison.

The bride is the former Miss Joan Fay Dreyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Dreyer of 3753 Pacific Ave. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jessup of Thousand Oaks.

Solemnizing the nuptial service was Rev. Roy Mason, and in the wedding party were Miss Joan Reece, maid of honor; Edith Desmond, Beverly Curtis, Barbara Yonkers and Linda Taves, bridesmaids; Kerry Dreyer, the bride's brother, best man; Arthur Tuman, Tony Pierno, Dick Bellis and Roy Wilson, ushers.

The bridal attendants wore full-skirted, floor-length gowns of white net, accented by scarlet velvet sashes. They wore red velvet and pearl crowns with brief veils and carried heart-shaped bouquets of garnet roses and stephanotis.

The bride's lovely Cahill gown was of traditional white satin trimmed in Alencon lace and styled en train. A crown of matching lace decked with pearls held her fingertip-length veil. Bridal flowers were phalaenopsis, stephanotis and carnations.

The former Miss Dreyer attended Poly High and is a graduate of Whittier College, where she was affiliated with Palmer Society. Her husband, also a Whittier graduate, attended high school in Oxnard. At Whittier he was a member of Sachsen Society.

Miss Carole Gene Davis

Carole Gene Davis to Marry in Spring

A Valentine's Day decor at the home of Mrs. Erlene Davis, 93 Corinthian Wk., announced the engagement of her daughter, Carole Gene to Douglas Sidney Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Davidson of San Luis Obispo.

Close friends and family of the bride-elect gathered for an open house last Sunday and were greeted by a large red heart and raphkins bearing the names of the engaged pair. Red and white carnations centered with little red hearts graced the table.

The bride-elect was graduated from Wilson High School, where she was a Phi Gamma Chi, and active in music circles, performing with the Long Beach Philharmonic Orchestra, Highland Park Symphony, and Los Angeles Conservatory Symphony as piano soloist. She is now a junior at Pomona College, where she is a music major, and is the accompanist for the choir, a member of the Women's Glee Club, and secretary of the Associated Women Students.

The bride-elect was graduated from San Luis Obispo High School, where he served as student body president, and is now a senior at Pomona College. He is a music composition major, co-captain of the golf team, a sponsor, and serves as president of Nu Alpha Phi fraternity.

A traditional Monday night chocolate-passing will spread the news to Pomona classmates tomorrow evening. The pair plan to continue their studies at Claremont Graduate School and a wedding is being planned for the spring of 1938.

Out-of-town guests at the party included Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Davidson of San Luis Obispo, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mockler and Mrs. Julia Fredricks of Wisconsin, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Sulphur of Santa Barbara and Mrs. F. B. Davis of Seal Beach.

Etienne Chamberland

Betrothal Announced

Among betrothals being announced this month is Miss Etienne Chamberland's. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Chamberland of St. Philippe de Nerl, Que., Canada, the bride-to-be resides at 540 E. Esther St., and is a nurse at Seaside Hospital.

Her fiancé, James V. Evans of 1900 E. Ocean Blvd., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George V. Evans of Altoona, Pa. A graduate of USC, he is a member of University Club of Long Beach and a lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve.

A July wedding is planned.

Pair Observe Anniversary

Quietly observing their 58th wedding anniversary Friday evening are Mr. and Mrs. W. Phillips of 3827 Western Pl. The couple was married in Clinton, Mo., and have resided in Long Beach since 1920.

Their children are Mr. Wellington L. Phillips of Long Beach; Dr. John Pendleton Phillips of Japan; Mrs. Allison Knittle of Salt Lake City, and Mrs. Robert Sims of San Francisco. Another son, Dr. Frances Leroy Phillips, was killed in World War II. Their grandson is Wellington L. Phillips III, now serving in the Air Force.

Elect New Staff

Compton Junior Chamberettes enjoyed pot luck last week at the home of Jean Finley. Officers to serve the organization will be: Merry Shaheen, president; Dorothy Shaheen, vice president; Norma Dunn, secretary; Faye Kerr, treasurer, and Adele Joseph, publicity. Big plans are under way for their annual progressive dinner under the chairmanship of Pam Tucker.

Mrs. Merrill G. Jessup

Kassai Seats Spring Staff

Mary Ann Martin, newly elected president of Kassai, women's welfare club at Long Beach City College, presided over the club's initiation banquet at Manhattan Restaurant. Installation of the spring officers took place.

Other spring officers are: Alona Mealy, recording secretary; Pat Belanger, corresponding secretary; Lou Ann Santala, treasurer; Dorothy Finn, historian; Marilyn Sprague, publicity. New members are: Pat Bigelow, Ursula Delworth, Jo Ann Faust, Temple Gale, Peggy Higgins, Georgiann Hinkle, Nancy Jennings, Susan Kirste, Virginia Lass, Violet McLendon, Geri Millington, Carol Nymann, Crystal Searing, Louise Tripeny and Jackie Trogden.

Vacations, Dinner-Dances Fill Service Set Winter Calendar

By VIRGINIA NEWTON

Our neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Travis, Jim and Joan, enjoyed a week-end visit with our mutual neighbors CWO and Mrs. James David Sears in China at their new ranch. They report that the newest addition is young marine general, Dave Sears, age 9 months who takes to the country life and is the pride of his sister, Carol Ann. CWO Sears recently returned from San Francisco and is now at El Toro for duty.

Following the ship will be the order of the day this week-end for Mrs. Robert Martin, wife of Capt. Martin, commander of the USS Bremerton, and Mrs. Layne, wife of Comdr. Layne, also of the Bremerton, as they motor down to San Diego, and then up to San Francisco. Mrs. Martin, while in the Bay area, will visit her folks in Berkeley.

Feb. 17, is the date for the exciting fashion show and party planned by the wives of officers attached to the Mine Forces here. The occasion will be a spring luncheon at the Lafayette Hotel with Mrs. R. Foreman and Mrs. W. Miller as hostesses.

Comdr. and Mrs. Claude M. Flagg and sons, are now residing at 140 Rivo Alto Canal. The naval officer recently took over command of the newly commissioned Mine Squadron 9, and his flagship is the USS Illusive. Prior to this command he was executive officer on the USS St. Paul.

Coast Guard Officers Wives will meet Tuesday at the Officers Club, Allen Center. Mrs. R. C. Christie and Mrs. C. C. Wyatt, hostesses, will carry out a George Washington theme.

During the business meeting, plans will be discussed regarding a silver tea which the club plans to give early in March at the home of Mrs. T. Y. Awalt, wife of the district commander. In charge of the tea will be the ways and means committee of which Mrs. R. J. Fugate is chairman. She will be assisted by Mrs. Carl Faden, L. L. Stoltz, E. D. Shoemaker, Jr., T. W. Phillips, W. J. Edwards and E. J. Elwood.

The 15 Rifle Company, USMCR, at NA and ND, Seal Beach, is making great plans for the annual spring dance celebrating the Marine Corps' birthday. This year it'll be a gala event aboard the component on the evening of March 20.

Today is the Valentine fashion show and brunch at the Towne Club for all members and friends.

Last night was a gala and exciting event at the Officers' Club at the Long Beach Air Force Base when the Officers Wives Club members and their husbands and guests enjoyed a formal Valentine dinner-dance. Mrs. Mark Stevens was in charge of the program assisted by Nancy Boyer.

CWO and Mrs. Walter Julian entertained their friends Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Spater and son, Bill, for dinner aboard the USS Quincy an evening recently.

There'll be a big Washington's Birthday ball Feb. 22 at the Armed Services Y with the GSO as hostesses, and Monday night at the "Y" there'll be a Kitchen Kandy Kapers with Maude Harris as hostess.

Tuesday a board meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Fleet Reserve Association, Branch 43, will meet at the home of Lillian Eckles.

Shirle Lewis February Bride

Mrs. John J. Repecko Jr.

Candles lighted Greenwich Wedding Chapel for the double ring ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Shirle Ann Lewis and John J. Repecko Jr. Dr. Reuben L. Anderson solemnized the nuptial service in the presence of 70 guests.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lewis of 1809 Jeanette Pl., the bride was attired in a gown of white nylon net over taffeta, styled with rows of Chantilly lace ruffles from the neckline to the hem of the bouffant skirt. Completing her ensemble was a tiara of lace medallions to hold her fingertip-length illusion veil. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Mary A. Repecko of 650 Daisy Ave., had as his best man, Wyatt Owens. Bridal attendants were Mrs. William Sleff, matron of honor, and Sally Bailey, bridesmaid. The 70 guests were shown to their places by Richard Lewis, the bride's brother, and Jim Thompson.

The reception was at the chapel where hostesses were Misses Glenda Hutchison and Barbara Smith.

The couple are residing in Long Beach after a honeymoon to Yosemite and San Francisco.

Both attended Poly High where she was a member of Lambda Phi and Pi Sigma Phi and he of Phi Kappa Phi.

Miss Satariano's Betrothal to William Keys Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Satariano of 383 Panama Ave. announced the engagement of their daughter, Frances Marie, to William Keys at a dinner party for relatives and close friends.

Miss Satariano, a graduate of Wilson High, where she was president of Gamma Gamma, attends City College where she is affiliated with TNT.

The future bridegroom, son of Dr. and Mrs. John C. Keys, 285 Corona Ave., is also a graduate of Wilson High and City College. He attended State College for one year and is now serving in the Navy as a dental technician. He plans to enter the USC college of dentistry in the fall.

No wedding date has been set.

Story League Has Birthday

Story League of Long Beach celebrated its birthday anniversary at a gala luncheon in the social hall of United Presbyterian Church. A patriotic program followed, which had been arranged by Mrs. Earl Heise. Community singing of national songs, led by Mrs. H. A. Zelsdorf, with Mrs. A. E. Carroll at the piano, was followed by readings by Mrs. A. Lyon, who told the story of the Purple Heart; Mrs. Zelsdorf, "The Perfect Tribute," and Mrs. A. A. Scott, "America the Beautiful." Miss Cynthia Pearl Maus spoke on her recent books.

Mrs. Margery Sander of San Francisco, secretary-treasurer of the Western District of Story League, was an honor guest. Other guests included Mrs. Abba Field, Shelby, Mich.; Mrs. Lellita Hynes, San Dimas, and Mrs. V. Cunningham, Seal Beach.

PEO Hostess

KNOW YOUR CHILD'S FOOT & SHOE PROBLEMS

By G. R. FOSHOLOTT
So there may be a better understanding of your child's shoe problems, this column is being written.

Each Sunday we are going to answer one or more of your questions, as we know how anxious you mothers with small children are to have them grow up with strong, healthy feet.

If, through the information in these articles we can help decrease the appalling foot ills of our children, then we will have accomplished our purpose.

Next week your first question and the answer.

Families Should Be More Faithful in Financial Support of Church of Choice

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case K-324: Rev. Alfred C. Crouch, aged about 55, has recently become the pastor of the South Shore Presbyterian Church, which is in our neighborhood. He came to Chicago from a thriving church in St. Louis, and is a very talented leader, for he combines Christian principles with psychological "gumprism."

As soon as he arrived, therefore, he started issuing a monthly mimeographed bulletin by mail to all members and friends. This is excellent strategy for it keeps everybody informed and permits a pastor to offer the honest verbal bouquets which deserving workers merit.

Every topnotch priest or clergyman must be a wonderful psychologist if he expects to follow in Christ's footsteps, for Jesus was the greatest psychologist who ever trod this earth.

"Did you know that it costs $12 per day to operate our church?" was a challenging heading in Rev. Crouch's mimeographed church bulletin. Then he explained that the $42 included salaries, plus operating expenses such as heat, lights, water, insurance, etc.

"Just $40 per week for 50 weeks, will operate our church for one day," ran another statement.

Later, the Finance Committee then called personally on members and friends of this church to raise the annual budget. And they kept the focus on that $42 per day.

They asked, for example, if your family could pledge enough to run the church for just one day. Or maybe one week.

Mrs. Crane and I are not members of that fine church but we are indebted to it in many ways, as for housing the Boy Scout troop to which our sons belonged, so we were glad to make our pledge.

The Methodist Church is now urgently stressing this tithe of one's income and many others have long done likewise, such as the Mormon Church.

Oddly enough, people who tithe, despite their meager incomes, never lack money for worthy causes. God seems to help them, for I have never heard of a tither who starved or lacked a place to sleep!

If more of you good people would develop the tithe habit, your church finance committees wouldn't get gray hairs trying to meet the budget. And you wouldn't lay yourselves open to criticism about near-gambling parties and other dubious money-raising schemes in the name of the church.

Dr. E. L. Geisinger, of the stewardship board of the Methodist Church, recently quoted figures to show the average annual contribution of various church members.

For Methodists it was $31.57, while Seventh-day Adventists averaged $158. The Wesleyan Methodists, $142. The Brethren in Christ, $124, and the Church of the Nazarene, $112.

The average Protestant contribution was $34.32, while the average Baptist member turned up $50.56 per year!

Uncle Sam now allows a 20 per cent income tax deduction for gifts to religious and educational organizations, hence, he allows us double the Biblical 10 per cent tithe. So try to be more faithful in the financial support of your church.

TWO JORDAN HIGH graduates, Miss Marlene Basham and Jerry Van Amburgh, are engaged. The betrothal is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Basham, 1918 E. Plymouth St. Parents of the future bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Van Amburgh, 5648 Linden Ave. Miss Basham, an honor graduate of Jordan, now attends Long Beach City College where she is a member of Associated Women Students, Commerce Club and Alpha Gamma Sigma.

FORMAL ANNOUNCEMENT was made at an open house by Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Ingles, 2165 Termino Ave., of the engagement of their daughter, Joyce, to Milo I. Hunt, son of Lt. (jg) W. S. Hunt of Havre de Grace, Md. The couple will wed May 21. Both young persons attended Wilson High where she was sophomore class vice president and a song leader. He was president of Scarabs. They are now students at City College where she is a TNT and a song leader.

Group Elects New Officers

Mrs. William T. Robertson was elected president of the Long Beach Police Officers Wives at a recent meeting in the Mounted Police clubhouse, with Mrs. Bruce Ketchum presiding.

Others chosen were Misses Raymond McConahay and Robert Platt, vice presidents; Mrs. Don McMahan, recording secretary; Mrs. Otis Lyon, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Harold E. McIntire, treasurer, and Mrs. Philip Costello, historian. The sum of $25 was donated to the March of Dimes.

Installation of the new staff will take place in March. Named to serve on the installation committee were Misses Randall Jera Beck, George Hanania, Roy Brown, Donald Phelps and Donald Moran.

Here's What America Means to Me . . .

By KIRK DOUGLAS

KIRK DOUGLAS: A year abroad taught him about America.*

NEW YORK.

I HEARTILY recommend that every American visit another country for a little while.

I recently made a trip to Israel, France and Italy. It was my first time abroad and I don't think I'll ever forget the lesson it taught me. I was away for almost a year and I'm not ashamed to admit I was homesick plenty of times. Whenever I'd see a friend off on a plane headed back for the States, I'd get a lump in my throat and wish I could hop on that plane, too.

It's a funny thing but whenever a group of Americans get together in Paris or London or Rome, they don't talk about what's around them. The first topic of conversation is what's happening back home! I call travelers like myself the "green passport boys."

It's a wonderful feeling to reach into an inner pocket and find that good American green passport—your ticket to freedom and opportunity.

That's what America means most to me—opportunity. Can you imagine a fellow like me getting the breaks I've had in any country but America? I'm just a plain ordinary guy from plain, simple folks. But I've had a good education and I have a good job.

I meet all kinds of people, rich, poor, famous, talented. I have chances to travel everywhere.

I Used to Chuckle

LIKE A lot of people, I've always chuckled at that old saying, "Any boy can grow up to be president," but I discovered the truth of that statement when I was abroad. People just don't have opportunities to change their lives radically or better themselves the way we Americans do. In Europe, it's almost impossible to "work up" the way every American youngster can.

I've got two boys of my own and it's a pretty nice feeling for a father to look at his sons and know they can become the happiest, most successful fellows in the world, because they're growing up in the land of opportunity.

Don't misunderstand me—I loved the countries I visited. They are all stimulating and beautiful, with wonderful, warm-hearted, talented people. I made lots of good friends and I learned a great deal. In Paris I lived in an apartment near the Champs Elysees. I never got tired of looking out on that beautiful city. In Rome I stayed in a villa on the Appian Way, the same road that Caesar once marched down triumphantly. There was a page of history wherever you looked.

No Greater Thrill

NONETHELESS, I don't know of a greater thrill than when I got back to a Manhattan hotel and saw the New York skyline . . . all those buildings soaring upwards! You don't see a skyline like that anywhere else. It's just as strong and free and full of optimism as America itself.

To me the power of America is the fact that we have a point of view on life that no other country has. You don't have to be born American, but you have to think American to be one. You've got to be part of democracy.

My parents came from Russia. They were simple, peasant people. They arrived here with their hearts full of dreams. They heard that the streets were paved with gold and they believed it!

It wasn't too long ago that my mother told me that she had found something better than gold bricks in the United States. She found freedom and a country where she and my father could raise a family of seven children and see all of them grow up in comfort. Each one was able to get an education and to choose a way of life.

Who wouldn't agree with my mother? Freedom is better than gold bricks!

* In Rome: "Ulysses" (Paramount); in Paris, "Act of Love" (United Artists).

THE COVER

• "That's my favorite kitten," says Walter Chandoha about the appealing subject of today's cover.

Chandoha, who's famous for his cat pictures, explains, "It isn't that he's anything special. He's just an alley cat. But he has that helpless look that makes kittens irresistible."

Chandoha should know what he's talking about. At his Huntington Station, N. Y., home, there are some 40 kittens born every year.

What happens to them? So far, he's been able to give them all to friends.

HERE'S A familiar sight at photographer Walter Chandoha's home. Arrow points to cover kitten.

HOME IS where the cars stop: Gene Ames and his son Gregory, 4 1/2, are interested spectators as Mrs. Ames diapers baby Jeffrey during a rest period for the Ames caravan.

The family goes, too

. . . in the singing Ames Brothers' plush caravan

AFTERNOON rehearsal at a nightclub: daddies sing while families listen.

OFF GOES the Ames caravan — back seats piled with toys, bassinets, music.

MAYBE YOU saw four shiny Cadillacs trailing each other through your town recently. It wasn't a stock car race. It was the singing Ames Brothers.

When the RCA-Victor artists got a lot of country-wide bookings, they didn't want to leave their wives and children behind. Their solution: the four-Cadillac caravan.

Joe, his wife and youngster, lead the way, followed by Eddie, his wife and two youngsters. Next comes Vic, Mrs. Vic and their baby. The last car contains Gene, his wife and two children.

Nobody wants to follow Gene because he gets all the flat tires. On their last expedition to Las Vegas, Gene had six flats!

Sometimes It's Funny

EVERY TRIP has its funny incidents: once the boys nearly drove a Nevada cafe owner crazy.

They all wear identical costumes—peaked caps and suede jackets. One afternoon all four stopped at the same restaurant within a half hour of each other to ask directions.

At last the fourth brother came along and asked, "Which is the shortest way to Las Vegas?" The restaurant owner was mad.

"This is the fourth time today I told you how to get to 'Vegas,'" he said. "If you don't know where it is by now, you shouldn't be on the road!"

AN EXCLUSIVE PARADE REPORT ON A 1954 DISGRACE...

How we're kicking

You don't believe it? Eye-witness stories of nurses, patients, friends

EDITOR'S NOTE:

● A recent nationwide study disclosed shocking conditions in many of the nursing and convalescent homes for the aged. Despite its frightening findings—that many old folks are treated worse than animals—the report received little publicity. Could these shameful conditions exist in 1954 America? PARADE investigated and learned the facts firsthand. Here is the first of a series on what may be our nation's most disgraceful problem—the “snake pits” in which many old people live. (All names in this story, except those under pictures, are fictitious.)

“I was a good friend of Mrs. Jean Hanson. “When I visited her in a nursing home one Saturday morning, she was filthy, just filthy. Her back was covered with horrible bedsores and blood was running from them...”

► “My name is Bill Brown. I’m 72 and I was born in Georgia. I can tell you about one home I was in. “Roaches and spiders would crawl across my face and wake me at night. The place was filthy—the whole blamed place...”

“The woman who ran the place? People always complained that she was mistreatin’ them. One old man told me she tied him to the bed with straps and buckles. He died there...”

► “I am a registered practical nurse and have been in the profession for about 30 years.

“I worked at one place, but I quit because I couldn’t take the conditions there. It was a two-story building.

There were about eight patients upstairs, all locked in their rooms. Downstairs, there were another three or four, also locked in...”

Those are excerpts from signed statements and interviews of three people who have seen the worst side of the nursing home problem. One of these people was a visitor from “the outside;” the second was a “guest” in a nursing home; the third, a nurse.

It Was True

THEY ARE just a few of hundreds of people we talked to in a two-month, “see-for-yourself” survey of homes for the aged in the U. S.

We found that what we heard about these homes was true. In fact, conditions were even worse than we expected.

This is the shame of our society—1954 style.

HAPPY HOME: At Loyal Order of the Moose's Moosehaven in Florida, Mrs. Lilly Brandschett, 82, works in the garden.

show many old folks fare worse than animals

By Robert P. Goldman & Sid Ross

After you've been in a half-dozen or so of the "bad" homes—and they certainly aren't all bad—everything falls into a pattern: the terrible smells, the weird sounds, the hopeless look in the eyes of the old people.

Over and over, we got the feeling that these old people knew they had been pushed out of the mainstream of life, taken to an institution to wait for death.

That is a part, a sickening part of the problem of, as one official put it, "keeping a roof over the heads of these pathetic human beings."

The story of facilities to house the infirm aged is not all black or white. There are good institutions, with conscientious people running them. And there are horrible places that turn your stomach and make you feel raiserable.

More and more American families are feeling the sting of this old age problem. There are 13,000,000 Americans over 65 today. By 1965, there will be over 17,000,000.

Today, no one can tell you exactly how many people there are in nursing homes from coast to coast. Informed guesses put the number at about 200,000. Some of these old folks are placed in homes by relatives—at times literally abandoned. Many are relief cases. Theoretically, they are supposed to receive care and attention, and, if possible, service which is aimed at rehabilitating them.

Here Are the Facts

THAT is the theory. Here are the facts as revealed by the nationwide study previously mentioned. It was conducted by the National Committee on the Aging of the National Social Welfare Assembly. Following are basic points of the Committee report:

Shocking evidences of inhumane treatment are known to exist in homes in all parts of the country.

Patients in some homes have been found strapped to their beds. Complaints that patients were given drugs "to induce almost continuous sleep" were followed up and found to be true.

Patients who are incontinent (cannot control their bladder and, or, bowels) have reportedly also been mistreated. Investigation showed that some homes refuse fluids to these old people in an attempt to "dehydrate" them, so they will not wet their beds.

Through overuse of sedatives, "some homes keep patients in a weakened, helpless state so that they eat little and make few demands."

"In one state," the report says, "the public health nurse inspecting a nursing home found nine patients strapped to their beds in a state of severe malnutrition and stupor. Continued on page 10"

So Fast You Need A Stopwatch To Time Its Speed!

FAST! Streaking down a wind-swept snow field in a breathtaking battle with time! Burning up the icy surface at 99.4 m.p.h.! That's ski-racing—so fast you need a stopwatch to time its speed! Yes—and when you drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet into a glass of water, you'll see that it starts disintegrating almost instantly—so fast you need a stopwatch to time its speed. The same thing happens in your stomach. That's one reason why Bayer Aspirin relieves ordinary headache—makes you feel better—fast!

EFFECTIVE! Highest medical authorities know that Bayer Aspirin's single active ingredient is one of the most efficient of all pain-relieving drugs.

GENTLE! Bayer Aspirin is so gentle doctors prescribe it even for small children.

DEPENDABLE! No other pain reliever can match Bayer Aspirin's record of safety—of safe use by millions of people.

A visitor's reaction— 'I was horrified; I was sick for days after ...'

Nursing home fire in Largo, Fla., cost 33 lives last year. These are the remains.

WHEN SHE again visited the home a month later six of the nine patients were dead. "In other homes, patients are known to be locked in their rooms or kept in restraining blankets . . . and left for long periods of time without supervision."

Shackling, oversedation, not enough food and other kinds of neglect are not the only evils revealed in the report.

Here are others:

1—Lack of adequate bath and toilet facilities is a frequent problem.

2—State agencies report that owners of some commercial homes are concerned solely with making a profit and abuse helpless old folks.

3—The biggest hazard to the aged in many institutions concerns fire. Many of these homes are firetraps. In two of the worst recent fires in homes caring for old folks, the fire spread because it fed on fibreboard and plywood construction.

4—Other safety hazards exist. Most frequently, they include steep, dark stairways; slippery floors; small rugs; other obstacles to free movement; and extreme overcrowding.

5—Poor health and medical care "exist in many homes under every type of auspices." There are reports of homes which do not keep medical or narcotic records and leave narcotics exposed in open cabinets. In addition, misuse of narcotics and barbiturates has been frequently reported and sometimes prosecuted.

That isn't all.

The string of abuses, fantastic cruelty and other less than civilized treatment of old people in some instances could be listed in volumes.

There is the case of a nursing home proprietor who reportedly fed patients dog and cat food, another who took crutches away from a man so he would be confined to his bed, and yet another who, now and then, would give a patient a well-aimed kick.

The Committee report after listing the shameful inadequacies unearthed points out:

"Persons familiar with homes responsibly managed . . . may consider the conditions described as exaggerated or infrequent. These conditions, however, have been reported from all parts of the country, from large and small communities and were confirmed . . ."

That means exactly what it says. The shocking conditions of homes for the aged are not confined to one city, one state, or one area. They exist from Maine to California, from Florida to Oregon and through the Midwest and across the country, east and west.

Let's look at those conditions firsthand again with some of the people who gave PARADE signed statements and interviews. All these people live in Florida. However, the conditions they describe are not confined to Florida. They exist throughout the U. S.

Miss Annie Jones, who worked at a home in a Florida city as a licensed practical nurse, said:

"When I was there (working at the home), it was awful. It was not fit for a home. It wasn't sanitary. The ceilings were falling and the beds were wearing out.

"It was never clean. There were so many in a room . . . that you couldn't clean them. The bathrooms were never sanitary . . . The commodes were always running and leaking. The place was full of trash. The attic was a firetrap for sure.

'Once, I Fell'

I REMEMBER her (the proprietress) cursing and reviling a patient in front of his wife and threatening to send him to an insane asylum when he argued with her about the way he was being treated."

Talking about the same home, Bill Brown, said: "Once I fell unconscious. I was unconscious for four days. When I woke up I was feelin' weak and sick.

"I was in a small room with a man who was dyin'. I had no dresser and I was just with nothin'—not even a washstand. When I had my meals, there was no table. I had to set my platter down on the floor and eat there.

"She (the proprietress) was the cussingest and cursenest person in the world. I heard her curse one old man because he asked her to get him some smoking tobacco.

"She likes to have bed patients. They have to put up with any kind of treatment. They can't walk around."

Who is the proprietress of this nursing home? The records of the clerk of a county criminal court in Florida, show that this woman served one year in the county jail for operating a "house of ill fame, resorted to for the purpose of prostitution or lewdness . . ."

Here is the statement of Mrs. Ellen McKay, of Tampa. She visited her friend Mrs. Jean Hanson, before Mrs. Hanson died:

"On one occasion, she was just lying there, with her mouth open gasping, 'water, water.' She finally roused herself and asked me weakly to go down for a glass of water.

'Odor Was Terrible'

I NEVER COULD find the nurse or the lady in charge. Mrs. Hanson's bed was filthy. The odor was terrible. She was lying there without a nightgown. They had some paper pads under her. They were soaked with urine and the mattress was soaked all the way up to her shoulders.

"I was horrified. I was sick for days afterward."

Another friend of Mrs. Hanson who also visited her before her death was Mrs. Frances Cole, of Tampa. She described the bleeding bedsores on Mrs. Hanson's back and added:

"The sheet stuck to her back. We had to pull it off. I was shocked. I'd say that home was a firetrap, too. That place ought to be closed fast. If they ever had a fire there, they'd never be able to get those old people down those crooked stairs."

The home in which Mrs. Hanson died is still open. As this is written, it is operating full swing.

Mrs. Edith Dow, of St. Petersburg, is the nurse with 30 years experience who left one "rest" home because she "couldn't take conditions there."

She said:

"The woman who ran the place just didn't seem to care. She said to me once, 'Now if any of them (the patients) pass away, let me know.'"

Those statements are part of the national picture. Florida has its fine institutions, but it has its institutional jungles, too.

One authority on the problem in Chicago told PARADE: "You can go to any state, close your eyes and find appalling conditions in homes for the aged."

NEXT WEEK: More abuses and why they continue. In subsequent articles PARADE will tell what is being done and what should be done to correct the abuses and provide the proper care for our aged.

ROSE EBLE WILEY, Winona, Minnesota, is mother of two teen-age daughters. Also works as secretary in husband's law office. Attorney Tom Wiley is also professor at College of St. Teresa. Mrs. Wiley's problem is typical of millions on low-salt and reducing diets.

"My reducing diet said,
'NO SALT!'

I thought I'd be lost without it!"

"MY DOCTOR told me to take off weight," says Mrs. Wiley. "I had to stop using salt at the table. That made my food so tasteless I couldn't stay on my diet.

"Then I began seasoning with fresh lemon juice. What a difference! I found I could stick to the diet, and I lost 20 pounds the first month! Then...

"MY FAMILY started using lemons, too. They found, salt or no salt, fresh lemons give foods lots more flavor." Husband Tom Wiley says: "I still use the salt shaker, but fresh lemon juice makes almost any dish taste better."

THESE FOODS—vegetables, meats, salads, fish—are wonderfully improved with a squeeze of fresh lemon juice, Mrs. Wiley finds. "We also put lemon on meat before cooking, to tenderize it. Fresh lemon juice is one of the great secrets of good cooking"

ONLY FRESH LEMONS have the taste, tang and aroma you want for table use! Not even the best processed lemon juices can match their flavor. Get plump, juicy Sunkist Lemons, finest from California-Arizona.

OVERWEIGHT? Many reducing diets recommend cutting down on salt. Seasoning with lemons instead of salt makes reducing easier. You lose weight faster. And a squeeze of fresh lemon makes reducing-diet foods taste better.

NO SKIRTS IN SPACE

Martha Hyer's "spacejard" is essential; skirts wouldn't work where there's no gravity to keep them down. Bill Lundigan's suit is a Navy model.

Rides in a Rocket are dreaming—and their dreams are coming true

HOLLYWOOD.

THE WAY people talk here, you'd think the first rocket ride to another planet will be launched from a movie lot.

And the talk isn't entirely idle.

Producers started dreaming about plots for "space" movies—and some of their dreams are right on the scientific beam.

Ivan Tors is one producer who has found himself keeping up with science.

His first space film, "Magnetic Monster," was all about a strange magnetic element that doubled its size and power every eleven hours. A month after he made it, U.S. scientists announced that matter can evolve from empty space.

"Gog," his next effort, featured a mechanical man who could work with deadly elements. Later, General Electric revealed it had built O-man, a robot created especially to handle dangerous materials.

Tors' third science-adventure film, "Riders to the Stars" (a current United Artists release) concerns itself with rocket flights into outer space to capture meteorites for experimentation.

"It's uncanny, but recently a new scientific book has been published here which emphasizes the importance of analyzing meteorites in space research," says Tors.

Tors used to keep busy writing romantic movie scripts like "Song of Love," "That Forsyte Woman," and "In the Good Old Summer Time." His lifetime hobby was reading science fiction.

Flying Saucers

ONE DAY I was reading about flying saucers," he says. "I knew I should go to work, but I wanted to continue reading about flying saucers. Right then I decided to combine work and hobby."

Tors firmly believes that space movies are the "lift" that Hollywood needs.

"No medium can handle them as well," he says, "especially with the advent of the wide screen. Also, there's a tremendous audience for them—a whole generation of youngsters who are growing up with radio and TV space serials, want to see more of them."

Science film addicts are a tough audience.

"They can spot anything that's incorrect or phoney," says Tors. "I don't have to worry about hair styles or dress lengths any more, but I do have to worry about such things as pressure chamber control boards!"

To keep his films authentic, Tors works closely with government and university research laboratories. Even his sound effects are genuine, recorded during rocket test flights or at jet plane takeoffs.

"I'm probably the only man in the U.S. with a centrifuge (a whirling machine) in his backyard," says Tors. "The neighborhood kids love it: to them, it's a scientific merry-go-round."

He also has his own radar equipment, space suits copied exactly from U.S. Navy suits, flame throwers, radio-controlled miniatures of rocket ships and a 500,000-volt cyclotron.

"About the only fake prop I've used to date was a meteorite," says Tors. "A real one

HE BEGAN WITH MATH

Ivan Tors (see story) studied mathematics at Budapest University in his native Hungary, switched to play writing when he came to the U. S.

would weigh about 500 pounds. I decided in favor of a 20-pound plastic job."

He set up a "Human Factor Laboratory" to test male and female reactions to various scientific tests.

"The girls always do better," says Tors. "Women will be the sturdier space explorers."

Once he hired one of Hollywood's top stunt men, a brawny fellow of over 200 pounds, for a centrifuge machine test. His test companion was a slender, 100-pound actress.

After 20 whirls on the machine, the girl was smiling and undisturbed. The stunt man collapsed and went home.

Tors says every science adventure movie must have its villain—uncontrolled nature—its hero and its quota of pretty girls. However, he insists the pretty girls all have a high I.Q.

When he interviewed lovely Martha Hyer (see opposite page) for the role of a rocket flight instructor in "Riders to the Stars," he made her pronounce a long list of words like, betatron, thematic apperception, gravitational density, cosmic radiation.

Miss Hyer didn't miss one! She got the job.

Never sick enough to stay in bed yet never really well. The GRAY SICKNESS keeps millions pale, tired and weak... never able to enjoy life to the full!

*IRON deficiency anemia has been aptly called the GRAY SICKNESS. Not only because its victims have lost their once healthy color, but also because life itself has become gray and drab for them. For you simply can't enjoy work or play when you have to drag through day after weary day feeling tired, weak and listless. And sleep doesn't seem to refresh you for you wake up tired.

The GRAY SICKNESS means your blood isn't getting enough iron. It becomes weak, thin, washed-out... just can't supply your body with the full supply of oxygen it needs for buoyant health and radiant color. Signs of the GRAY SICKNESS may be due to other causes so you should see your doctor regularly.

REBUILD STRENGTH FAST

Fortunately the GRAY SICKNESS responds quickly to proper treatment... and normal healthy color, strength and vigor return. In cases like this doctors usually prescribe an iron tonic containing many times your daily iron requirement. Each therapeutic dose, 6 tablets daily, of IRONIZED YEAST, contains 10 times your daily iron need... and this iron is fortified with vitamin B₁₂. Now this iron goes right to work... within 24 hours... to start building rich red blood... the kind of blood that soon brings back your normal strength and energy... fills you with your old-time pep... brings healthy color back to your cheeks again.

FEEL STRONGER IN 7 DAYS

Actually in just one week you'll start to feel your old self. You'll begin to enjoy doing a normal day's work again. So get IRONIZED YEAST tablets today. They are very economical to use even when taken in maximum dosage of 6 tablets daily. Just be sure you get genuine IRONIZED YEAST.

THE PEEWEE Champ lines up a putt. His Dad, holding the flag, never has played and won't try. He just tags along as the caddy.

He's a 7-Year-Old Ben Hogan...

... and even gets 'paid' for good shots

EVANSVILLE, Ind. ONE NIGHT recently, a golf ball smacked dead center on the bulls-eye of a canvas target in a cellar here. A grinning seven-year-old held out his hand.

"That'll be a dime, Dad," he said. And Vernie R. Bender, Sr., paid. (It's a dime for a bulls-eye, a nickel for a near-miss.)

Each payoff means Vernie, Jr., is ironing out that pesky slice.

Why is a seven-year-old trying to lick the old enemy of every Sunday golfer?

Well, last Spring in Orlando, Fla., he sliced into a ditch six times in six holes. Vernie won the National Peewee golf title, anyway, with a card of 53 for the six-hole match.

So far, his Dad has shelled out $33 while Vernie corrects that slice before he defends his title this year.

The nation's best kid golfer began swinging an imaginary club at four. His first set of midget clubs has given way to full-weight women's models, with cut-down shafts.

A Year-Round Game

HE'S OUT on the links across the street every day in summer, every weekend in winter—even in snow.

Winter evenings he spends in the cellar, whacking at the target, or in the living room, with his putter.

He works at the game like Ben Hogan, the mechanical man of the golfing world.

Vernie is emotionless and icy once he tees off. His studied calm won many compliments at Orlando.

But with the gang, he whoops like any seven-year-old. They think he's a "regular guy" even though he is a weak sister at baseball.

"I can't hit," says Vernie.

THANKS TO her big brother, three-year-old Becky is learning golf, too. That's her own little putter she's swinging.

HEADED STRAIGHT for the pin, this putt shows Vernie's polished form on the green. He's all business on the course and studies every shot. He never becomes rattled during a match.

Spicy Salmon Luncheon

A meal-in-a-ring: piping hot corn bread with a savory cheese sauce holding flaked salmon and green peas

By Beth Merriman, PARADE'S FOOD EDITOR

FOR A "SPECIAL" luncheon, or for a family supper, try this main dish that is both thrifty and easy to make—a golden ring of tender corn bread holding salmon and peas in a zestful cheese sauce. Begin with hot vegetable juice in soup cups.

Add a crisp salad or crunchy celery to the main course; spicy baked apples for dessert.

SALMON-FILLED CORN BREAD RING

1 pkg. corn muffin mix	4 tablespoons flour
1 1-pound can salmon	½ cup grated American cheese
1 1-pound can peas	¼ teaspoon hot pepper sauce
Milk	2 tablespoons chili sauce
4 tablespoons butter or margarine

Prepare muffin mix according to package directions. Turn into well-greased 5 cup ring mold. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 400°F., 30 minutes. While corn bread is baking, drain salmon and peas. Boil liquid rapidly until reduced to ½ cup. Add enough milk to make 2 cups; reserve. Melt butter; blend in flour. Add milk mixture; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Reduce heat; add cheese; stir until melted. Flake salmon in large pieces; add with peas, pepper sauce and chili sauce; heat. Place corn bread ring on platter; fill center with salmon mixture. Makes 6 servings.

KITCHEN HINT: Whenever possible, use the liquid from canned salmon as part of the liquid in the recipe.

'There I was — all alone — with 300 men ...'

A girl engineer tells how to succeed in a man's job

AMERICAN industry is crying for engineers. It needs 35,000 a year. Yet our colleges are turning out only 30,000 a year.

One answer to this manpower shortage is womanpower. But only one co-ed in 2,100 tries engineering. Here is the first person story of one of those girls.—The Editors.

DETROIT, Mich.

WHEN I TOLD my high school English teacher I had decided to study engineering, she looked at me in amazement.

"What, Lucille?" she asked. "And build roads through the jungles in South America?"

People are slow to give up the idea that every engineer wears muddy boots and bosses tough construction gangs.

They're even slower to admit that a mere girl might master the vitals of machinery or electronics. But the attitude is changing.

The test at the right is evidence. It is specifically aimed at testing the mechanical aptitude of girl high school graduates.

Many a girl by-passes engineering simply because no one ever suggests it to her. And others shy away because they believe that "muddy boots" stuff.

Yet where else can a girl draw upwards of $350 a month to start?

You Can Wear Silk Blouses

BECAUSE engineering is changing, the doors are open for more and more girls.

Nowadays, an engineer wears a white collar—or a silk blouse—and sits at a desk.

A dozen new fields have opened—theoretical, electronic, research, design. A sharp mind, not a strong back, is the basic qualification.

Engineers are needed for jobs that aren't "pure" engineering—technical writing, libraries, tests, sales. And in any of these jobs, a woman fits as well as a man.

Many industries still have a stout barrier against women. Others have hired them in desperation—and discovered they work out fine.

"How in the world did you happen to become an engineer?"

A thousand times, someone has asked me that question. It wasn't, as one Wayne University co-ed once whispered, "a different way of meeting boys."

I guess the real reason is that I'm lazy.

As a girl, I always tried to figure the easy way to do things. That's engineering.

My father operated a radio repair and appliance shop, and he let me help him.

But a test like the one here really decided it. I had never given engineering a glance, until the test showed "dominant interest and aptitude for engineering."

And then I thought, "Well, why not?"

It took a real selling job. I don't think my family was convinced even when I graduated, six years later, from a Wayne-Chrysler Corporation engineering training program.

Finding a Job

I WAS the only girl among 300 men.

Then I set out to find my field of engineering.

First, I tried technical writing.

"A man's job," the employer told me. The toughest part was convincing him to see me and then to give me the job. The rest of the work was nothing that any woman couldn't handle as easily as a man.

There were rough spots. The job involved contact work, and some contacts were reluctant to accept a woman as readily as a man.

Now my job—with Chrysler's traveling "New Worlds In Motion" show—is more in the line of technical "falking" than writing. I travel along, answering questions and explaining machines.

Still, people seem to believe I'm just somebody's stenographer with a canned speech.

Last winter, in New York, a man came to the platform and asked me to explain how an engine works. A half hour later, he broke in.

"Never mind," he said. "I'm convinced you're a real engineer. I'm a newspaperman and I looked all this up before I came over."

But if you're handling a man's job, doesn't that make you less feminine?

Well, there's a time for everything. Someone always asks what I would do if a date ever pulled that dodge about a car breaking down in a dark lane.

Now there's a good question to include in the test. Girls, would you be engineer—or woman?

WHAT—NO MUDDY BOOTS?

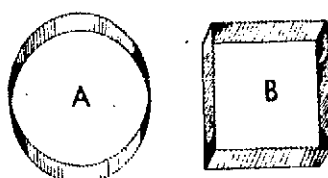

Lucille Pieti, all decked out for a dance, is not the average American's idea of a mechanical engineer. She says most people still think engineers have to wear muddy boots, boss gangs.

Lucille Pieti (above) is no amateur when it comes to talking engines.

Can you be an engineer? Here's a test for girls

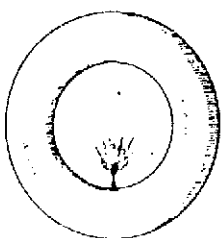

• Girls who think everything can be fixed with a hairpin won't pass an aptitude test like this one designed for high school seniors. It's based on a grasp of math, logic and observation. Try your hand at it. Answers below.

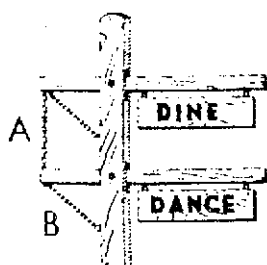

1. Fences are same length. Which encloses most ground? If no difference, mark C.

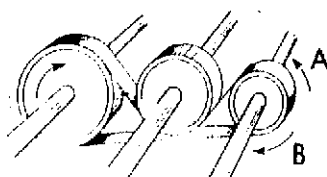

2. One of the three gears does not turn at the same rate of speed as Gear X. Which one?

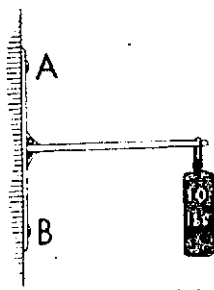

5. The air coming out of the tire will be (A) Warm; (B) Cool; (C) Neither warm nor cool.

6. Which of the lettered chains is unnecessary? If both chains are needed, answer C.

3. If the big pulley turns as shown, will the small one turn to A or B? If either, Mark C.

4. Which screw could be removed with less chance of the brace falling? If either, mark C.

Answers to Quiz: 1. (A). 2. (A). 3. (B). 4. (B). 5. (B). 6. (A).

Hoosier humorist Herb Shriner

about folks who say they're . . .

"Winter put a damper on romancing. A lot of girls used to wear braces

'Too poor to paint, too proud

P EOPLE ROAR at Texas tall stories, guffaw at hillbilly yarns. But Midwesterners tell stories that bring a special chuckle.

Take the fellow Herb Shriner, Indiana's favorite story-teller (see photos above), tells about. He made a lot of money here in Fort Wayne and then went to the big city.

He cottoned on to city ways pretty fast. Got to be a regular dude. Never forgot to take the cigar band off before he lighted up.

Finally he even took up horseback riding in the park. But you could always tell he was from Indiana, because he was always turning around to see where the plow was.

That's one story Shriner ("Two for the Money," CBS-TV, Saturday, 9 P.M., EST) told the other day when he was asked: "What is Midwestern humor?"

Strictly speaking, he said, that story is a sample of Hoosier humor. But Hoosiers are Midwesterners, and their point of view spills over into the rest of the corn belt—Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska.

Midwestern humor isn't the "belly laugh" kind. It's homespun, dry and—when necessary—can be fitted with a cutting edge.

"We had a guy at home," one of Shriner's stories goes, "who used to speak at banquets. He didn't ever have anything to say, but he mixed it up with the rest of his speech so you wouldn't notice it."

It Isn't Cruel

G ENERALLY, though, the humor of the corn belt is rarely barbed or intentionally cruel. Hoosiers, like other Midwesterners, are always ready to poke fun at themselves.

Back when the state was young, says Shriner, a lot of Indianans didn't wear shoes. When they did get around to putting them on, their feet were so tough that they wore their shoes out from the inside.

"We Midwesterners," Shriner says, "do a lot of thinking, but we don't do much talking. When I was a kid, people used to say hello to me. I never knew what to answer."

Midwestern humor flourishes in the small towns and crossroads communities, and that's what gives it its down-to-earth, folksy flavor. The weather, doings on the farm, happenings on Main Street and local characters—these are the subjects that sooner or later inspire flashes of homey wit. Some of Shriner's best stories are in that pattern.

"We had a weatherman in our town when I was a kid," Shriner recalls. "He had to quit his job after a while. His corn healed up."

"Our local dogcatcher, on the other hand, kept his job for a long time, even though he wasn't very good at it. Trouble was, he didn't know what to catch 'em at."

"Laziest man in our town was a fellow who'd never worked a day in his life. When he died, his wife fixed him good. She put his ashes in an hour glass, so he'd have to be working every day—all day. That was the only work he ever did."

Romance has always blossomed under the Indiana moon, even under difficulties.

"At home," Shriner says, "we'd take our girls out to spoon in a rumble seat. It was always real crowded—even in the summer time when you could leave the lid up."

"But winter always put a damper on romancing. A lot of girls used to wear braces on their teeth. You'd kiss them on a real cold day, and it was like kissing a sled runner . . . your lips'd get stuck!"

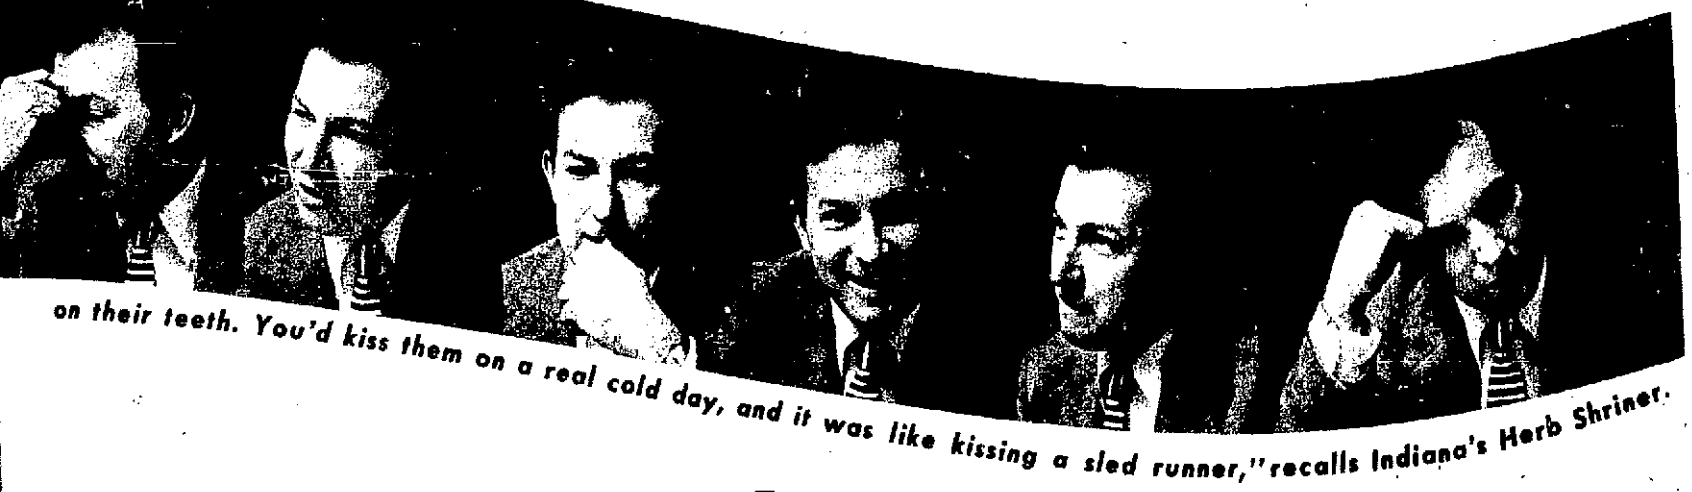

"Us farmers used to get up awful early. In fact we'd get up so early that our clothes were still warm from the night before. A lot of Indiana boys who went into the Army never did get used to five o'clock reveille. They couldn't sleep that late."

Before the days of radio and TV, there wasn't much in the way of outside entertainment in the prairie towns. People depended mostly on carnivals or county fairs for their fun. Occasionally a 'stray troupe of on their teeth. You'd kiss them on a real cold day, and it was like kissing a sled runner," recalls Indiana's Herb Shriner.

By KARL KOHRS

"play actors" would wander into town.

"One time," says Shriner, "a professional outfit came to town and everybody got pretty excited. They put on Shakespeare's 'Romeo and Juliet,' but it was sort of a flop. We'd had the Boy Scouts do it a while before, and everybody knew how it came out.

"One of the favorite attractions was the 'human fly.' Every once in a while, one of these fellows came to town, and then all the kids wanted to be human flies, too.

"Kid I went to school with—real tall kid, about seven feet—he bought this human fly suit so's he could put on an act. But we didn't have any tall buildings in town—they were only one story high. Well, this kid hung onto the side of the feed store all day long and nobody noticed him."

Town characters, of course, were always up to something that made good story material. Shriner tells about the movie house operator who was highly respected by everybody, because every time there was a funeral he'd close down the theatre. He was respected, that is, until people found out he was renting the movie seats from the undertaker.

Snitched Jelly Beans

"WE HAD one fellow," Shriner goes on, "he was sort of a pickpocket—a shoplifter. He used to go into the general store and snitch jelly beans. People would say: 'Oh, Homer's kleptomaniac-ing again.' They didn't mind—except when they found out he was snitching only the black ones.

"We also had one kid so tough that when he was six years old his family ran away from home.

"Later on he used to take toothpicks from restaurants where he didn't even eat. He got caught some years later when he tried to sell luminous sundials to tell time at night. He had got away with it for a while because folks went to bed so early they couldn't tell whether the sundials worked."

Midwesterners have always had a gift for "making-do"—use it, make it over, wear it out. That is probably a holdover from the old pioneer days, when it was a matter of getting along with what you had.

Hand-me-down clothes, of course, were the rule in almost every family. Says Shriner: "If there was a suit that still had some wear in it, they wouldn't throw it out—they'd just have some more kids.

"We had some awful large families while trying to make the suits and the kids come out even.

"Lots of times, when you saw a kid on the street you could tell who he was and what family he came from just by the suit he was wearing."

Shriner recalls that even some of the town institutions—like the hospital—came in for a share of good-natured ribbing.

"Our little hospital over the shoe store," he says, "had no such thing as private. They only had semi-private—two in a bed.

"But the nurses were very sanitary in the operating room—they all had fly swatters. The doctor was very sanitary, too. He wore rubber gloves everywhere he went. Only time he'd take them off is when he was operating."

Shriner's whimsical humor is in the great tradition of George Ade and Kin Hubbard, two old-time newspapermen whose writings made them immortals of Midwestern wit.

Ade was a columnist on the old Chicago Record at the turn of the century. One day he dreamed up what he called "fables in slang." They made him famous.

For a time, he ran one "fable" a week in his column. Then the fables appeared in book form and before long everybody in the United States who could read was laughing fit to bust.

The titles themselves are uproarious. For example:

- ▶ The Fable of the Honest Money-Maker and the Partner of His Joys, Such as They Were.
- ▶ The Fable of the Preacher Who Flew His Kite, But Not Because He Wished to Do So.
- ▶ The Fable of the Parlor Blacksmith Who Was Unable to Put It Right Over the Plate.

Ade's First Fable

ADE TOUCHED off the series with The Fable of Sister Mac, Who Did as Well as Could Be Expected.

Some of it ran like this:

"She began as Mary, then changed to Marie, and her Finish was Mac.

"The Vain Pleasures of the World attracted her. By skipping the Long Words she could read how Rupert Banisford led Sybil Gray into the Conservatory and made Love that scorched the Begonias. Sometimes she just Ached to light out with an Opera Company."

Though Ade spent most of his life in Chicago, he was a Hoosier. He was born in Kentland, Indiana. His Hoosier wit is typically Midwestern. It is kindly and generous, yet it crackles like a dry cornstalk in an October wind.

Remember 'Abe Martin'?

YET ANOTHER Hoosier who made Midwestern humor famous is Kin Hubbard. Unlike George Ade, Hubbard wasn't a native Indianan. He was born in Bellefontaine, Ohio. He moved to Indianapolis, got a job on the Indianapolis News and worked there from 1904 until his death in 1930.

Hubbard created "Abe Martin," the cracker-barrel philosopher of Brown County, Indiana. There is scarcely a Midwestern newspaper reader of the older generation who didn't turn, first of all, to the Abe Martin cartoon, captioned with one of his droll observations on the human race.

Abe Martin was a slack-jawed character with a pipe in his mouth who usually sat on a barbed wire fence. His comments ran something like this:

- "Woman's work is never done. Ther's allus someplace on her face she's missed."
- "Our idee of a happy coincidence is soft, easy collars for men, an' short skirts showin' up simultaneously."
- "A never failin' way t'git rid of a feller is t'tell him somethin' fer his own good."
- "While goin' after fishin' worms in a field where his wife was plowin' Tipton Bud found a Indian dart."

Here, then, is a sampling of Midwestern humor—from George Ade to Kin Hubbard to Herb Shriner. It has qualities all its own—warmth, kindness, a certain bite when bite is called for, and a sort of built-in regional pride.

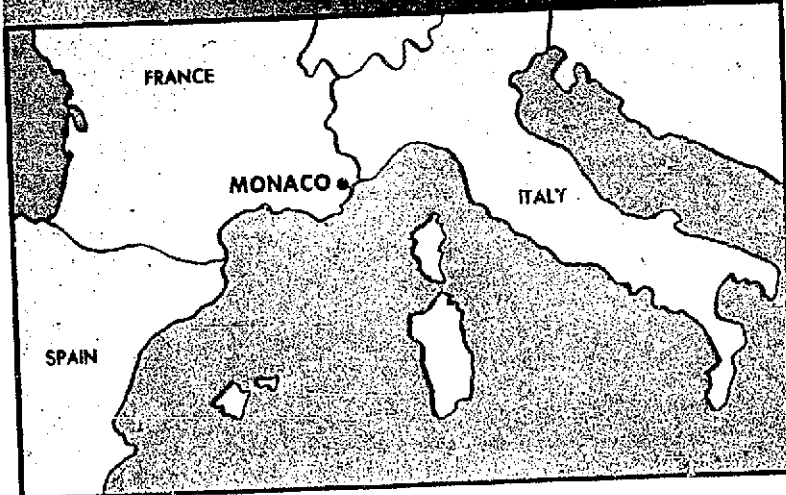

As Shriner says: "Back home we had a saying—'Too poor to paint, too proud to whitewash.'"

How a Delaware Priest Is

With ice cream, a band and easy-going democracy, Canon Tucker

MONACO YOUNGSTERS grin at the priest as he tries out a beret and motor scooter.

MONTE CARLO, Monaco.

IN THE postage-stamp sized principality of Monaco, home of the fabulous casino at Monte Carlo, a youngster dashed home from church bubbling:

"Maman, Maman! Guess who heard confession today? . . . Harry Truman!"

The boy had his Americans mixed. But ex-President Truman in their church or the man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo couldn't have created more of a stir than the Very Rev. J. Francis Tucker, of Wilmington, Del.

Tongues have been clacking steadily since Canon Tucker, three years ago, started to serve staid Monaco age-old religion with a strong flavor of American democracy.

"Shocking" and "scandalous" are a few of the nicer adjectives the more mossbacked Riviera residents apply to him.

But people are flocking to his church in greater numbers, and a new spirit is sweeping the little principality.

That's why most Monacans think "La Pere Tooker" and his American accent are tops. The kindly, white-haired priest would win a popularity contest among the younger fry hands down.

They adore him because, unlike other Monaco adults, he takes time to play.

He never fails to hand out ice cream, pastries and American candy and chewing gum with a lavish hand.

A Paris magazine once labelled Canon Tucker's easy-going antics "Yankee vaudeville." But around Monte Carlo, the voices seldom rise above a whisper.

The priest has the absolute backing of Prince Rainier III, absolute ruler of Monaco's 24,000 subjects and 370 hilly acres.

A 'Texan' Prince

IT WAS the prince's idea to import a priest as palace chaplain and pastor of the Church of St. Charles in the heart of Monte Carlo.

The prince had been a liaison officer with a Texas outfit in World War II and was sold on the American system. An American might be just the man to shake Monaco out of its religious lethargy.

At the time, Canon Tucker was counselor general for his order, the Oblates of St. Francis de Sales, at the Vatican.

The first American in the order, he had founded St. Anthony's Church in Wilmington.

'Shocking' Monte Carlo

gives an American flavor to an old-world church

With the Rev. George P. Shugrue of Philadelphia, and three European priests, Canon Tucker came to Monte Carlo.

Small-townish in spite of being a playground for Europe's wealthy, Monte Carlo began to buzz. An American priest! Poof!

The 67-year-old priest quickened the tempo of the gossip almost as he stepped into Monaco territory. He appeared in a black suit and felt hat where no priest had worn anything but a cassock.

Soon Canon Tucker gave them even more to talk about.

The first change was minor but significant. For years, worshipers who wanted to light candles had rung a bell and waited until the sacristan came to sell them one.

One day, they found a box of candles in the entrance with a sign, "Help Yourself And Pay Here."

It'll never work, the pessimists said. People won't pay. But they have in greater numbers than ever.

For 200 francs (55 cents) a year Monaco's privileged used to reserve pews with their names engraved on metal plates. One Sunday, they came to mass to find the plates gone.

In his church, said Canon Tucker, anyone could sit anywhere.

Grand Opera at Mass

MASS AT St. Charles had long been a semi-social function, for many Sundays a visiting artist would sing a solo. "Grand opera accompanied by Mass," it was called.

No more, the canon said. Women were forbidden to sing in his church.

"They said I'd lose my congregation," he recalled. "But I never wanted a congregation like that in the first place."

Monaco's working folk loved it.

"We merely changed the church to fit the people's needs," Canon Tucker said.

From the lowest to the highest, Monte Carlo gaped when the priest piled a load of workers' children in his car and headed for the beach.

Even more open-mouthed were the children, who watched the smiling priest pop into the surf in a black bathing suit.

Nor could Monte Carlo fathom a priest who doffed his collar and played soccer with the St. Charles Parish School team.

How closely prince and priest work together is shown by "The Prince's Cadets," a 46-piece, high-school-age band.

They were glancing through a Wilmington, Del., high school yearbook when the prince stopped at a photo of the school band.

"Why can't we have something like that here?" he asked.

The priest wasted no time in transplanting Wilmington to Monte Carlo. He ordered uniforms from the United States while Prince Rainier rounded up instruments.

Canon Tucker beat off a flank attack that wanted to name the group "something dignified like the Fanfare of the Church of St. Charles."

Resplendent in their blue and white uniforms, the "Prince's Cadets" tootled triumphantly in the festivities of November 19—Monaco's national holiday.

The Americanized church and the high school band are only part of the changes in a state that is turning its back on gambling and is scrambling for a reputation as a modern seaside resort.

Canon Tucker, hatching a few more surprises for Monte Carlo, is having a wonderful time. He has been a priest 45 years and likes nothing more than a good scrap.

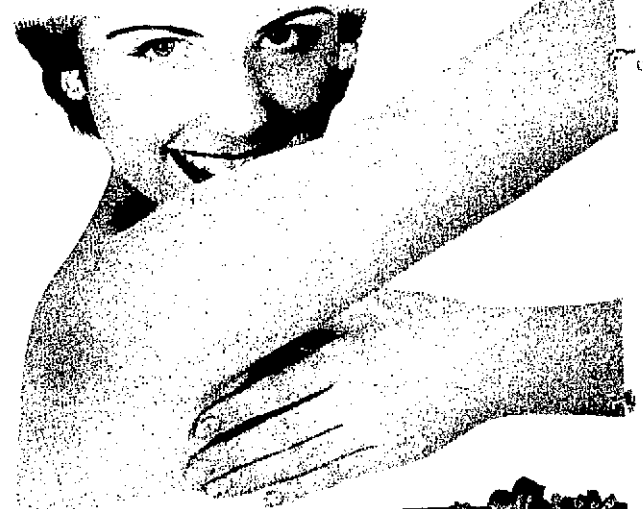

The warm-hearted priest with the twinkling eyes likes to recall the reaction of a group of nuns when he told them he had been assigned to Monte Carlo.

"You're entering the anteroom of Hell," they said, thinking of Monte Carlo's reputation as a gambling center. "We will pray for your soul."

"As a glimpse of Hell," Canon Tucker said, "Monte Carlo has been disappointing. Why, it's a good deal more like a Quaker town in Pennsylvania."

Keep calories down in fried foods with new Mazola method

Fry with Mazola Oil to keep "extra" calories in the pan...

Imagine! Now you can enjoy your favorite fried foods as never before...with minimum calories, maximum taste...whether pan-fried or deep-fried. The secret? Proper frying with Mazola Oil.

The Calorie Barrier

The new Mazola Method prevents fat-soaked foods. You fry with highly refined Mazola Oil at a higher temperature than ordinary fats allow. A thin crust quickly forms on the surface of food. This is the protective calorie barrier which keeps "extra" calories in the pan.

Why Mazola? Some fats and oils smoke or burn before they attain the frying temperature you use with Mazola Oil. Mazola can withstand higher correct frying temperatures without smoking, scorching or burning. As a result, the foods you fry, brown quickly, forming a crisp golden crust...keeping the calorie count down to a minimum.

You'll like the ready convenience of Mazola...being a liquid it pours and measures easily. And you'll have the best tasting fried foods ever! Sealed in are food flavors—sealed out are those "extra" calories.

FRENCH FRIED POTATOES

Cut potatoes lengthwise into strips $\frac{1}{2}$ inch thick and soak in cold salted water for 30 minutes. Dry potatoes with towel. Heat 1 quart Mazola Oil in a 3-quart kettle to 375° F. Add potatoes (do not overload frying basket) and fry until golden brown. Drain thoroughly on paper towels.

Mazola is perfect for all frying. In fried foods nothing is so important as good taste, the clean, clear appetizing flavor of the food. You'll discover that Mazola Oil produces the best-tasting fried foods ever. It is ideal for use in automatic electric deep fryers.

Mazola liquid shortening gives better tasting, truly digestible fried foods

FOR PAN-FRYING

How Much MAZOLA: $\frac{1}{4}$ cup MAZOLA in 8-inch skillet; $\frac{1}{3}$ cup in 10-inch skillet; $\frac{1}{2}$ cup in 12-inch skillet.

When to Fry: Always pre-heat MAZOLA (over medium heat) before food is added. Right frying temperature (375° F.) is reached in 6 to 10 minutes. At this temperature, a 1-inch bread square turns golden brown on the bottom in 15 seconds.

FOR DEEP-FRYING

How Much MAZOLA: 1 quart MAZOLA for 3-quart frying kettle. Never fill more than $\frac{1}{2}$ full. For automatic electric fryer, fill to oil line.

When to Fry: Heat MAZOLA to 375° F. Test with frying thermometer or 1-inch square of day-old bread which turns golden brown in 30 to 40 seconds. Never add food until the correct temperature is reached.

A Monkey Comes Home

CHICAGO.

VISITORS to the new zoo at Brookfield here are surprised to see monkeys scampering around outside their cages.

But zoo officials don't worry. They're just baby bonnets, and they always go back behind bars for dinner!

Small enough to squeeze their heads through the cage bars, they take French leave and roam as they please.

Outside, they swipe candy from refreshment stands, ice cream from kids.

One hellion perched on the monkey house and snatched hats off visitors.

He topped it off by grabbing and smashing a boy's glasses. Cost to the zoo: $80.

The baby bonnets stay right around home. None has ever escaped permanently. They scuttle home when mama calls them.

Their freedom ends abruptly at age two. Their heads won't fit between bars.

"By then," says Zoo Director Robert Bean, "they're ready to settle down and watch the funny people outside."

Hint for hurried housewives: Shell a full pound of Diamond Walnuts at a time... store the fresh, golden kernels in your refrigerator... ready to add tempting good looks and nourishing food value to almost any dish!

Walnut-Wonderful Gingerbread

Prepare 1 package gingerbread mix as package directs, adding 1/4 cup finely chopped Diamond Walnuts. Just before serving, make this topping:

1 egg white
Dash of salt
1 tps. lemon juice
3/4 cup sugar

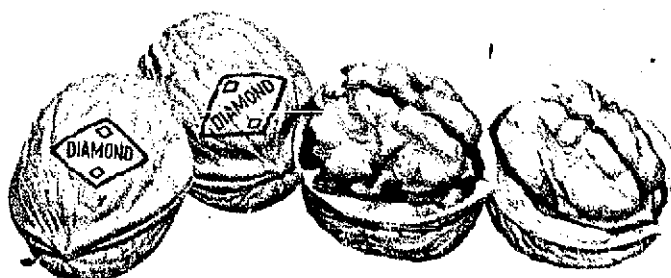

1/2 cup canned applesauce
1/4 cup chopped Diamond Walnuts
Diamond Walnut halves

Beat egg white, salt and lemon juice till frothy. Gradually add the sugar, beating till stiff. Stir in applesauce, then beat till mixture stands in peaks. Fold in chopped Diamond Walnuts; spoon on gingerbread. Top with Diamond Walnut halves.

Tip for all thrifty shoppers: Just one pound of Diamond Walnuts gives you over 2 full cups of usable kernels—enough to add extra flavor, "body," and appetite appeal to four average recipes! That's a real "buy"!

Nothing adds so much to your meals as
DIAMOND WALNUTS

Buy Diamond Walnuts in 1 lb. cellophane bags—large nuts in red bag, medium size in blue. Or get Diamond shelled Walnuts—vacuum packed in 8 and 4 oz. cans.

HE SELLS...

Pianos in the desert

■ This music store manager

PHOENIX, Arizona.

WHEN A RANCHER'S wife wants to buy a piano out here, she just keeps her eyes peeled on the road out beyond the corral gate.

Sooner or later, a white truck (above) rolls up and stops. On it, big gold letters read "COME BUY MY PIANOS."

In a jiffy, out jumps a cheerful man in blue levis and a white hat. Running around to the back, he opens the doors, lets down some steps, and invites everybody to come inside and play his spinets and parlor organs.

Every rancher, school kid, minister and Indian for 250 miles around knows him as The Piano Man.

He's Laurin Mueller, 34, the whirlwind manager of the Redewill Music Co. in Phoenix, who doesn't believe in waiting for business to come to him.

Two years ago, when his father-in-law, old Gene Redewill, died, Mueller modernized the store. A year ago, when he found that rural customers weren't coming into the store, he decided to take the pianos to the customers.

He fitted up a truck chassis with a deluxe, 8x16-foot body, big enough to hold six pianos (or four pianos and two organs), and he hit the road.

RANCHER'S wife, Mrs. Richard Evans, of Tempe, tries a piano inside Mueller's truck. It's parked near a corral. Evans, holding child, grins as the music makes his cattle stir uneasily.

KIDS wait along road to welcome music store on wheels wherever it goes. Mueller travels 40,000 miles a year, knows kids on route.

INDIAN kids at Guadeloupe bang the keys as Mueller shows them how to play. When parents are along, he often makes a sale.

turned peddler and hauls pianos . . . out on the range

It paid off. At one of his first stops, a filling station at Casa Grande, south of here, a man hurried over. "Are you selling those pianos?" he asked. "Sure," said Mueller. "I'll take one," said the man. Mueller just drove around to the house and dropped off a $700 upright.

He Hunts Customers

LAST SUMMER, he cruised the cool mountain roads, selling pianos as he went. This winter, he's rolling through the warmer desert where there are Indian towns but few pianos. "They like music," he says, "but they can't get much on their battery radios. They think pianos are great."

Often, he backs up to a country church, hooks up one of his electric organs and invites the minister to come in the truck and try out some organ music. It sells organs.

The music store-on-wheels has been selling eight to 10 pianos a month, worth up to $1,600 apiece, plus an occasional church organ worth up to $3,000.

"That's nonsense about pianos being hard to sell," he says. "Someday I'm going to hire a driver for the truck while I stay in the store. But I'll sure miss the fun."

PIANO, worth $1,200, is bought by rancher Evans (right) and moved into house. Soon, Mueller knows, neighboring wives will want pianos, too. He sells $8,000 worth a month.

FIVE GREAT DIALOGUES

ON MAN IN THE UNIVERSE

NOTHING short of amazing is the way these classics—written two thousand years ago—hit so many nails squarely on the head today! Here, in the clearest reasoning in all literature, two of the greatest scholars of all time tell us how to live intelligently happy lives, whether we possess worldly wealth or only the riches in our hearts and minds. Little escaped the reflections and discussions of Plato and Aristotle. They were mighty pioneers in the field of knowledge, and their ideas are astonishingly timely now.

PLATO is presented in the famous Jowett translation, and contains the five great dialogues—Apology, Crito, Phaedo, Symposium, and the Republic. ARISTOTLE includes the five celebrated essays—Metaphysics, Parts of Animals, Nicomachean Ethics, Politics, Poetics. These De Luxe Classics Club Editions have been brilliantly edited and annotated by Louise Ropes Loomis, Professor Emeritus of Wells College. Both books will be cornerstones of your library. And both are yours free, as membership gifts!

WILL YOU ADD these two volumes to your library—as membership gifts from The Classics Club? You are invited to join today . . . and to receive on approval beautiful editions of the world's greatest masterpieces.

These books, selected unanimously by distinguished literary authorities, were chosen because they offer the greatest enjoyment and value to the "pressed for time" men and women of today.

Why Are Great Books Called "Classics"?

A true "classic" is a living book that will never grow old. For sheer fascination it can rival the most thrilling modern novel. Have you ever wondered how the truly great books have become "classics"? First, because they are so readable. They would not have lived unless they were read; they would not have been read unless they were interesting. To be interesting they had to be easy to understand. And those are the very qualities which characterize these selections: readability, interest, simplicity.

Only Book Club of Its Kind

The Classics Club is different from all other book clubs.

1. It distributes to its members the world's classics at a low price. 2. Its members are not obligated to take any specific number of books. 3. Its volumes (which are being used today in many leading colleges and universities) are luxurious De Luxe Editions—bound in the fine buckram ordinarily used for $5 and $10 bindings. They have tinted page tops; are richly stamped in genuine gold, which will retain its original lustre—books you and your children will read and cherish for many years.

A Trial Membership Invitation to You

You are invited to accept a Trial Membership. With your first book will be sent an advance notice about future selections. You may reject any book you do not wish. You need not take any specific number of books—only the ones you want. No money in advance, no membership fees. You may cancel membership at any time.

As price goes down, quality also goes down. Accordingly there is a point where carpet is so poorly made it will not

"WHERE YOU CAN BUY WITH CONFIDENCE"

Houston's a Whisky and Trombone Town

By Saul Pett

Associated Press Newsfeatures Writer

IF THE GENTLEMEN will remove their hats, I'd like to say a few words about the biggest city in Texas.

Houston is not only the biggest, it's the richest. Proportionately, it's also the fastest growing big city in Texas and, for people who insist on being redundant, it's the fastest growing in the United States. From 1930 to 1950, Los Angeles' population more than tripled but Houston's more than quadrupled.

Today, Houston has 665,000 people. It has, somebody said, about 1000 millionaires. But not all of them are rich; some have less than $15,000,000. This is a town with about 4000 air-conditioned Cadillacs and, if you're rich and drive only the biggest Buick money can buy, you're somewhat daring and Bohemian.

"This is the kind of town," a city editor told me, "where a man died and left $25,000,000 and made the front page only because everyone expected him to leave more."

MOST PEOPLE, of course, don't have the big money but most people talk about it. The funniest I met was at the Press Club. He's got a new invention for which he's accepting only limited orders. It's a lightweight, collapsible, easy-to-work money chopper. Need to save space? Chop up your money. "It works as well for 5's and 10's as for hundreds," he says, "but why waste it?"

This town has grown so fast even the press agents can't keep up with its superlatives. It was started by two real estate promoters from New England in 1836, shortly after Sam Houston won Texas her independence from Mexico at near-by San Jacinto. (The site is marked today by a monument, which — wouldn't you know? — is 15 feet higher than the Washington National Monument.)

For more than 100 years it has been a new town, always growing and changing. Every time you look there's another big building going up in Houston. Seems like they tear down buildings here not when they get old, but dusty.

Up to 1930, the city's population tripled every 30 years. From 1940 to 1950, it jumped from 21st to 14th in the national population ranking. Back in 1836 you could buy in Houston at $1 an acre. Today, some of the downtown area goes for as much as $2000 a front inch.

The city rises abruptly out of the Texas flats about 50 miles from the Gulf of Mexico. Galveston, right on the Gulf, had a better natural port. But one day in 1951, while Galveston's back was turned, Houston completed a 50-mile deepwater channel to the Gulf.

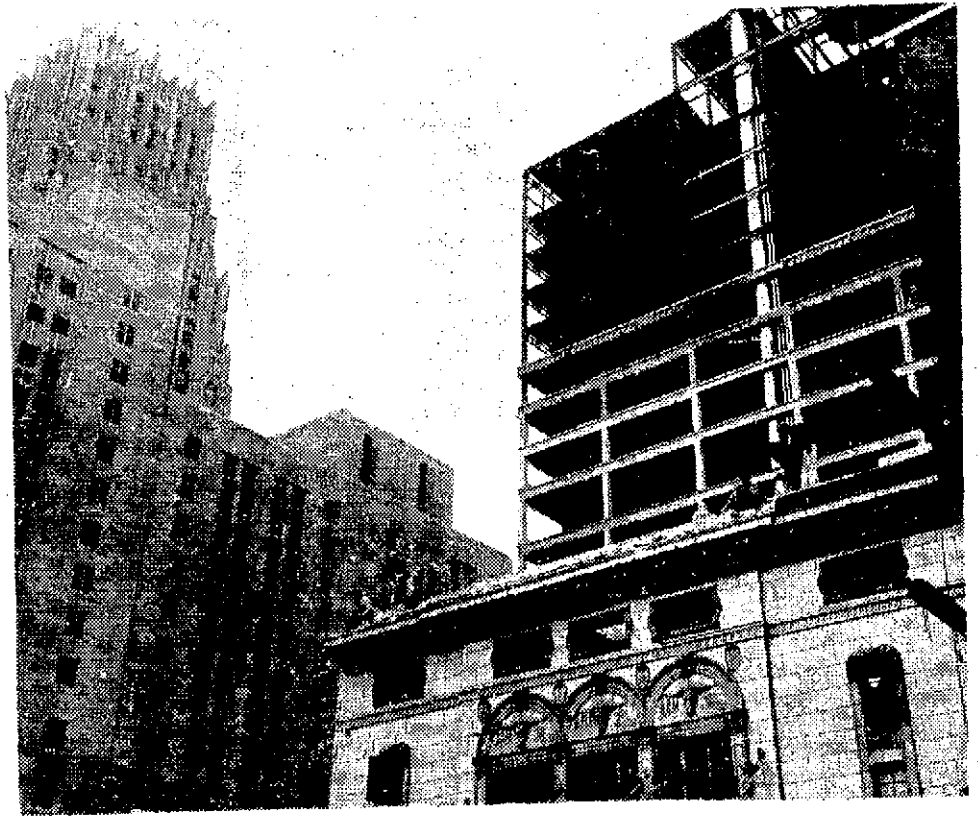

TODAY, the Port of Houston handles shipping tonnage second only in volume to New York — an exception Texans bear with brave stoicism. It is said to be the world's largest oil port and one of the greatest for cotton.

Within a 200-mile radius of the city, say the experts, more wealth is taken from the ground than in any other area of equal size in the world. Some 270 oil fields gush more than 200,000,000 barrels of oil a year. Other fields produce millions of cubic feet of natural gas. Houston also has a huge refining and petro-chemical industry.

All this, plus the fact that oilmen are allowed a 27 per cent "depletion allowance" in their tax returns, has made for some incredible fortunes.

One of the biggest belongs to Hugh Roy Cullen, the generous, volatile philanthropist who has given away an estimated $175,000,000. Others belong to Jesse Jones, former Secretary of Commerce, who owns 35 of the biggest buildings in downtown Houston, and Will Clayton, who, until he retired recently, headed one of the world's largest cotton firms. In their personal habits,

AFTER 100 YEARS, PROSPECTORS ARE STILL COMBING ARIZONA'S MOUNTAINS FOR

By Spencer Crump

DESPITE legends of Apache Indian "thunder gods" and of the angry ghosts of murdered Spanish explorers, prospectors and their faithful burros even today push their search for the multi-million dollar lost gold mines waiting in the rugged, forbidding Superstition Mountains of Arizona.

A great many Southern Californians visit Arizona in the spring. They drive out on the California desert for its warmth and wild flowers, like it so well that they just keep going and wind up in the Cactus State. And there, rising abruptly and mystically from the forests of saguaro cactus beside U. S. Hwy. 80, about 35 miles east of Phoenix, are the jagged Superstitions. Few visitors actually enter them, preferring instead to gaze wistfully toward them, recall tales told about them, and speculate.

Most sought after bonanza is the famous Lost Dutchman Mine, lying somewhere in the sun-blistered Superstitions. Mines can be operated profitably with ore yielding gold valued as low as $30 a ton; estimates have it that the Lost Dutchman ore nets up to $15,000 per ton.

The Superstitions are splashed with the blood of unlucky prospectors who ventured into the wilderness in search of gold. Many treasure seekers mysteriously vanish among the rugged canyons and dry arroyos, never to be seen again. They are victims of rival prospectors, the desert heat, or wild animals.

Gold prospecting in this primitive desert country remains essentially the same as a century ago. Prospectors still pack in by burros and use pans or picks and shovels to search out elusive gold. Even four-wheel-drive trucks cannot reach the narrow and isolated canyons. The main innovations are electronic instruments to sound out hidden deposits and "black light" to detect gold or silver bearing rocks.

Travelers out Phoenix way get their first close up look at big Superstition Mountain at the junction of Highway 80 and State Route 88, known as Apache Junction. A few miles farther on Highway 80 is a sign, "Superstition Mountain," pointing to a side road leading into the mountains themselves. Many would-be gold prospectors enter by this route.

KNOWLEDGE of the Lost Dutchman Mine dates back more than a century. There appears to be no record of when it was originally discovered, or by whom, but it is supposed that Indians who knew of its existence led soldiers of Spain or Franciscan friars to the treasure.

It has been recorded that a Mexican family named Peralta, living at Arispa, in the State of Sonora, obtained the mine through an ancient church grant. Two members of this family worked the mine, then known simply as the "Peralta Mine," without incident and accumulated considerable wealth.

A third Peralta continued to make the long treks to the mine with a small army of peons who rode horses and carried their provisions and ore on donkey-back. While on one of these expeditions, one of the Peralta peons molested an Apache woman. The Apaches retaliated with a savage attack on the entire Peralta party. Peralta, if he were along on this trip, escaped but most of his peons were massacred without mercy.

Some time after this tragic incident, two Dutch prospectors appeared at the Peralta hacienda. Peralta made a deal with them to accompany them to the mine for a 50-50 split. They returned with thousands of dollars' worth of rich ore. Peralta then offered them the mine if they would give him their half of what they had just taken out of the fabulous hole in the Superstitions.

THE DUTCHMEN, Jacob Waltz and Jacob Welser, agreed and returned to the Apache-infested mountains and proceeded to take more gold from the mine, which they immediately placed in caches near by. Provisions ran low and Waltz went to the nearest settlement to replenish them. When he returned, he found his partner had been brutally murdered by the Apaches. Badly frightened, he loaded a quantity of the rich ore on his burro and hurriedly left to escape the same fate.

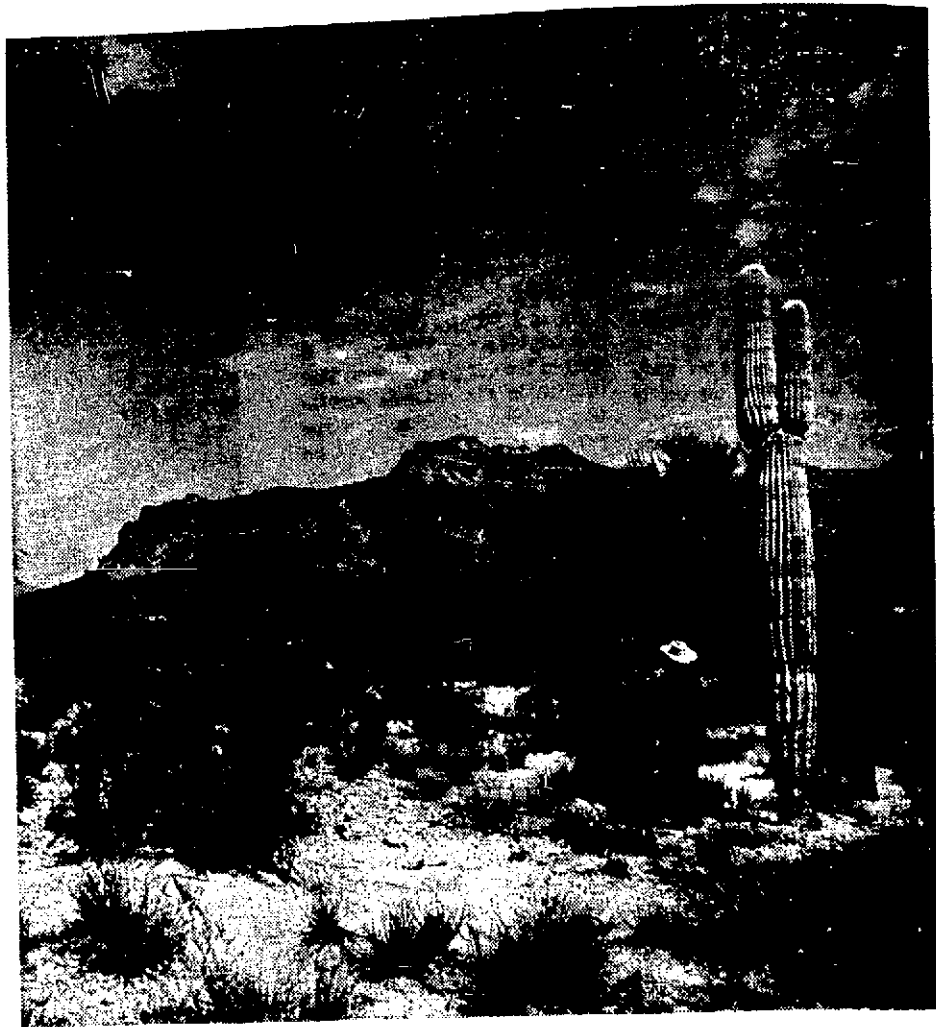

Hoping to discourage future seekers, the Apaches methodically set about obliterating all vestiges of the mine, which was supposed to be of the pit type, shaped like a funnel. While the bucks directed the work, the squaws and children filled the hole with stones and dirt and, so meticulous were they that they reproduced various stratas of earth to conform with that of the surrounding area. Finally, cactus and other native plants were placed atop the filled areas to further camouflage the location.

Before Waltz died in 1891 of natural causes — unusual for prospectors of that period — he confided his mine's location to friends. Yet try as they would, his friends never could locate the hidden mine.

ONE OF THE MEN with whom Waltz talked was Jim Bark, who, after hearing Waltz' story, named the mine the "Lost Dutchman," and it stuck — a name that has been on the lips of every prospector from that day to this.

Every year since, as soon as the blazing summer heat cools down, hopeful prospectors push over the saguaro covered plains and into the rocky canyons of the Superstitions. Each hopes to find the Lost Dutchman—or some other equally rich lost gold mine.

Splashed with the blood of slain men, Superstition Mountain (background above) and the range that bears its name guard well the secret of Lost Dutchman Mine.

Tourists from near-by dude ranches now ride the fringes and easier trails of the Superstitions.

PORTRAIT OF A CAMPUS BELLE

By Don Drury

WHAT IS THE MODERN college coed really like? By a good many people, the campus queen-of-this-or-that is automatically assumed to be prettily empty-headed, registered strictly for Fun and Games, and (with traps set for the nearest unwary male) majoring in nothing but Applied Matrimony.

When members of the Long Beach City College student body cabinet recently pondered their annual selection of a Valentine Queen, they saw a good chance to challenge this outmoded idea by choosing a representative modern miss who was (1) pretty, of course, but (2) otherwise utterly unlike the stereotyped "beautiful but dumb" husband-hunter in about every possible way.

Having seen their duty, the City College student leaders did it. They elected a pretty, blonde, hazel-eyed, 19-year-old sophomore, name of Charlotte Jones.

Valentine Queen Charlotte, the daughter of Mrs. Sallie H. Jones, 2630 Washington St., simply does not fit the usual stock portrait of the campus belle. In addition to plenty of charm and personality (duly registered in adjoining photographs), this coed queen is beautiful but smart, ditto but studious, and ditto again but serious about school and career and (finally, but no hurry) marriage.

DESPITE an active social life, and leadership in many campus activities through Poly High and

City College, Charlotte has managed quite well, thank you, on the scholastic front. She was a member of CSF, scholarship honor society, for four semesters at Poly and has maintained a B-plus average during her career on the City College Lakewood campus.

By digging in for two summer sessions and taking a full class schedule, this winsome miss also managed to complete her lower division work in three semesters instead of four. She is currently taking some City College night classes but actually fulfilled the requirements for graduation last month.

ALL THIS, incidentally, while she worked 20 hours a week in a Lakewood real estate office. Next destination: Probably UCLA, says Charlotte, where she plans to transfer as a junior and continue her studies in business administration.

The all-work-and-no-play approach, however, is definitely not in the modern coed's scheme of things. Jan. 29, 1954, was an important evening in the life of Charlotte Jones, for the Valentine Queen also traditionally reigns as Queen of City College's annual Sweetheart Prom. The same evening, to the surprise of practically nobody but herself, the queen was also announced as one of the winners of the Viking Award, the college's highest honor, for outstanding service in campus activities.

Rah, rah, rah! As Valentine Queen of Long Beach City College, Charlotte Jones feels it's her prerogative to play cheer leader. Who wouldn't yell for her?

was president of the freshman class, first vice president of the Associated Women Students, president of the Pan-Athanaean Board, and a member of Entre Nous, women's social club, and Kassai, honorary service club. She was also a winner of the AWS five-jewel award.

At Poly High she was a winner of the gold "L" award, president of the Chamber of Commerce, secretary of the senior class and president of the Socii sorority.

Popularity has never been a problem for Charlotte, who likes to dance, play tennis, bowl, attend plays and concerts — but who also budgets her dates in proportion to work and study.

ROMANCE? No objection, says the Valentine Queen, but it can wait. She is not at all concerned by the fact that she has now been six times a bridesmaid, never a bride — and there is no "steady" on hand to complicate her plans for the immediate future.

These include finishing her college studies and going to work — for a while, anyhow. Before considering marriage, this particular lass intends to (a) buy a car and (b) brush up a bit on her cooking.

No, somehow Charlotte Jones doesn't fit at all into the stock category of the popular-coed-on-campus. It is just possible that she represents an increasing number of young college women who can take the queen nominations in stride and combine a healthy amount of social activity with a good deal of serious educational endeavor.

He Tames Mountains for Fun

IF JOHN D. GRAHAM, 57-year-old retired realtor of Santa Barbara, were to adopt a personal theme song an apt one would be "I'd Climb the Highest Mountain." That's because Graham who started scaling steep mountains as a hobby a few years ago, is now a champion mountain tamer who has conquered an even 100 of the world's tallest peaks and wrapped up a record of "firsts" which few, if any, other mountain climbers can equal.

To persons who are not athletes, Graham's list of authenticated exploits seems incredible. For instance: Over a period of 15 years, from 1934 to 1949, the handsome youthful-looking sportsman climbed all the 14,000-foot peaks in the United States—some of them four times. He was the first person to conquer all 67 mountains. Next, he scaled all 23 of the peaks over 14,000 feet in the Alps during a single season! This was accomplished in 1951 and constitutes a record for Alpine climbing in a single summer which is unchallenged.

In 1952, Graham clambered over all 10 of the peaks over 14,000 feet in Mexico—eight of them with a broken toe. He is the first American to climb every one of these below-the-border monsters.

Thus, with 67 in the United States, 23 in the Alps and 10 in

John D. Graham, 57, is a champion mountain climber; has conquered an even 100 peaks 14,000 feet or more.

By Douglas Nelson Rhodes

Mexico, Graham believes that his 100 lofty conquests is a world's record in itself.

The wealthy retired businessman tackled his first mountain in Colorado while on vacation in 1934. "It was just a molehill to real mountain climbers," he recalls, "but reaching the top gave me a wonderful feeling of being 'on top of the world' both literally and figuratively. I knew then that I'd never be satisfied until I had matched my skill, strength and endurance against the biggest mountains I could find."

TOUGHEST ASCENT was the North Palisades Glacier climb, a man-killing peak near Big Pine, Calif. The forbidding mass of ice and rock was coated with snow when Graham tackled it in early April one year. Using a rope and ax, the rugged sportsman crossed treacherous crevasses in a 10-hour tortuous climb to the summit. Suddenly an avalanche of rock and snow nearly swept him to his doom as it tore down the mountain directly in front of him. He paused momentarily and a huge boulder, weighing a ton or more, whizzed by his head and plunged into the great depths below. The pause had saved his life.

But Graham pushed on, re-

Furniture You Can Assemble

By Caroline Coleman

IF YOU CAN OPERATE a screwdriver, you can make furniture.

At least, you can make furniture of a new build-it-yourself line that may be obtained locally. The furniture is so easy to assemble that anyone able to use a screwdriver and wield a paint brush can put it together and finish it.

What's more, this furniture is smartly styled in simple, contemporary design, of smoothly finished Appalachian ash (a fine hardwood) and it is low in cost.

Individual parts of each unit come boxed, with the screws, glue and an instruction chart showing how to put the unit together. Joints are mortised and doweled to fit with precision, and all you have to do is to dot on some glue, fit the parts together and screw them in place. All pieces stand straight and sturdy without wobbling and all edges are beveled smooth.

FINISHING KITS also are available. They contain a stain sealer, high-gloss varnish, stain varnish, wiping stain cloth, two-inch bristle brush and complete instructions for finishing the furniture. You have a choice of three finishes — blond, platinum or suntan.

There are many pieces in the group — a six-drawer Mr. and Mrs. chest; three-quarter dresser; bookcase headboard for double bed or twin bed; plain headboard for either double or twin bed; night stand, cocktail planter table, step table, desk with three drawers on either side, cabinet with masonite doors, hutch which may be used over the cabinet or on the cocktail table, 54-inch dinette table and dinette or desk chairs.

Not only is this new build-it-

yourself furniture easy to make and easy on the budget, but it provides a thrill of accomplishment. Persons who take pleasure in their homes like to say, "I made that . . . and that . . . and that."

This new furniture, its backers say, is another manifestation of a major revolution going on beneath nearly 20,000,000 American roofs. Its motto is simple: When you want something done, do it yourself in your spare time. Major objective is to save the cost of somebody else's labor, thereby getting for yourself something you otherwise can't afford. Through it, a large part of the population is happily on its way back to the pioneer idea that a good man — or woman — is one who can handle any job that need to be done.

IN THE PROCESS, the building world reports, the do-it-yourself boom is rapidly developing into a multi-billion-dollar industry. This is what is happening:

One gallon of paint out of every four now is sold to an amateur instead of a pro. Home-owners and home-renters are finding that it is cheap — and fun — to paint their houses, apartments, furniture.

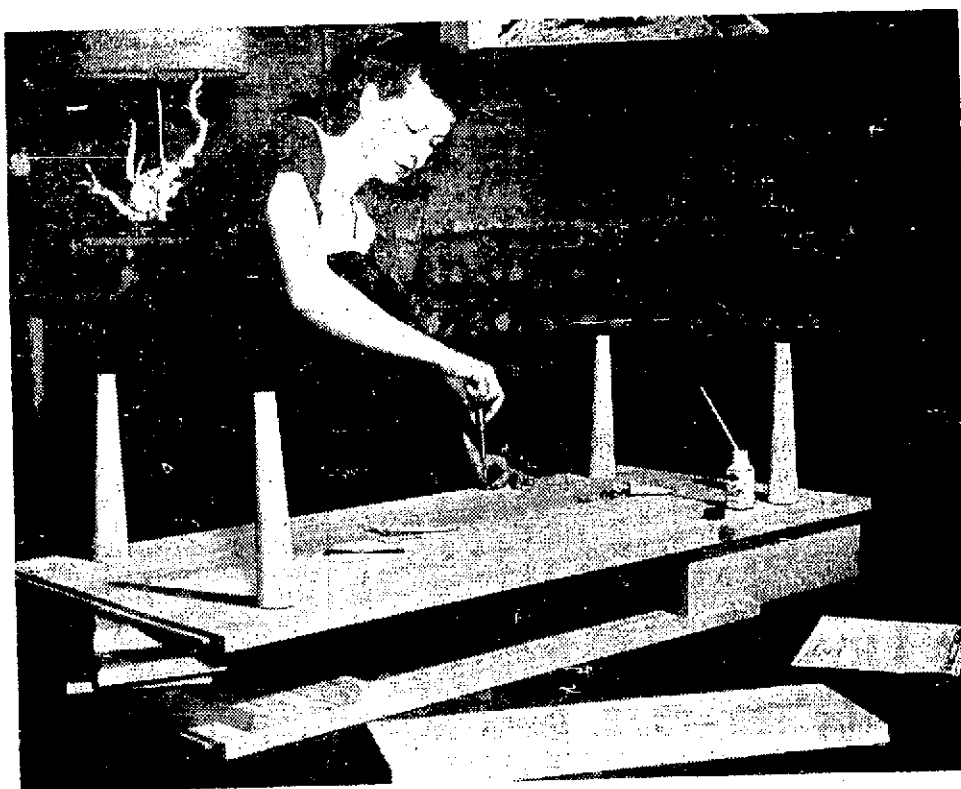

The same picture holds for wall-papering: 60 per cent of all United States home-owners now are slapping up their share of the 200,000,000 rolls of wall-paper sold in a year.

Eleven million American families now have home workshops and the home sounds of sawing, planing and hammering resound through the land.

Now, with good, easily-assembled furniture on the market, Mr. and Mrs. Fixit, who also are Mr. and Mrs. Painter, Mr. and Mrs. Paperhanger and Mr. and Mrs. Builder, become Mr. and Mrs. Furniture-Maker.

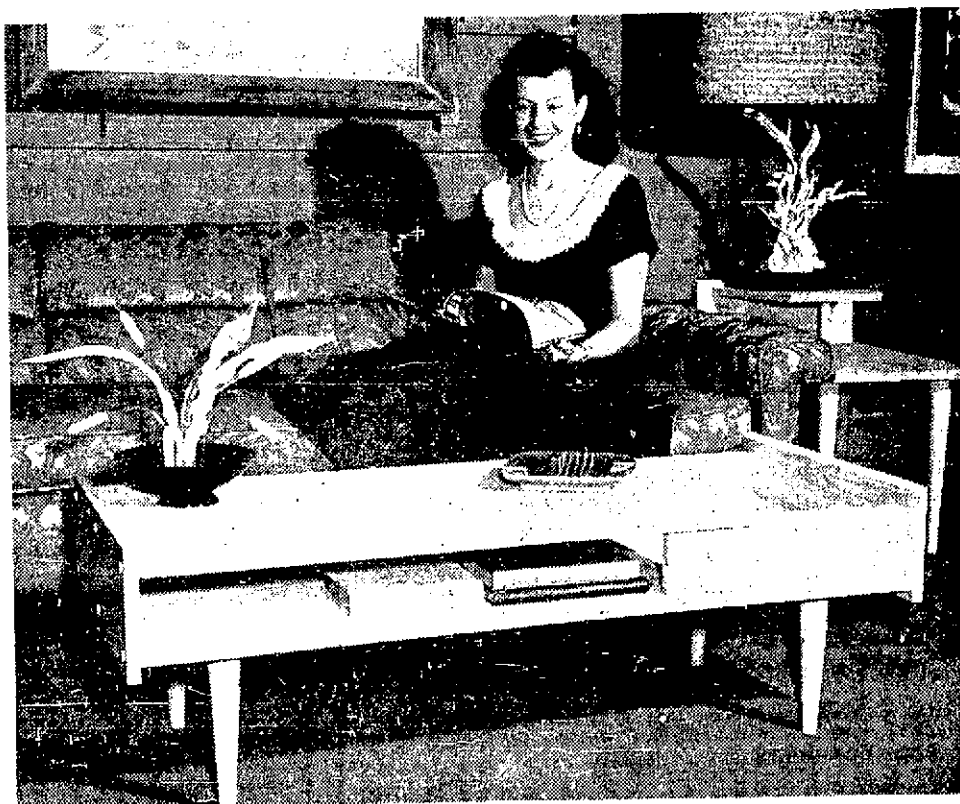

With a screwdriver, a bit of glue and an instruction sheet, Shirley Montell is ready to assemble a coffee table with new do-it-yourself furniture kit.

Half-completed, the table has posed no problems. Each piece has been carefully readied for assembly and will provide modern beauty when completed.

This bedroom set, consisting of drawer dresser, night stand and headboard, also can be assembled.

Shirley looks pleased with her new table, and why shouldn't she? She made it herself! Many items of household furniture can be made in this new way.

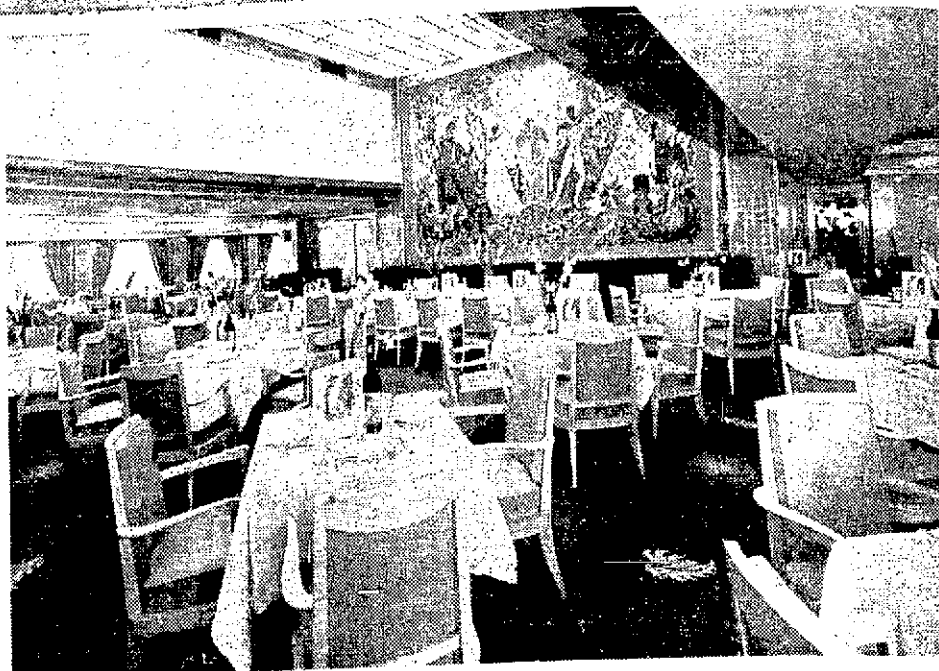

Adventure in Africa

THE WORLD has shrunk considerably within the last decade, shrunk to such an extent that both the seasoned and the potential traveler sometimes get the feeling that there are no new worlds to conquer, no hidden corner to explore, no trail to pioneer. Yet, in North Africa, that bizarre amalgam of antiquity and modernism, within a figurative stone's throw of France and Europe is a veritable touristic virgin forest, a storied land rich in history and culture, a land of paradox and contrasts where, Kipling to the contrary, east meets west. The French Line 1953-54 tour schedule offers motor coach tours, private car tours and, for the intrepid traveler, a combined air and Saharian tour embracing the heart of the great desert, the Niger River and the very shores of the Gulf of Guinea.

French North Africa is a varied land done little or no justice by the slick magazines and the movies. It is far more than sand, mirages, camels and Foreign Legionnaires. In Morocco it is Rabat, ancient pirate city, now noted for the lovely gardens of the Oudaias, the Hassan Tower, the ruins of its great mosque — Casablanca, a great metropolis of 600,000, facing the Atlantic—close by, Mazagan and Safi, Mogador and Agadir and further inland, Tiznit, the southernmost city of Morocco leading to the Sahara and the Atlas Mountain cabin. It is pink granite and brown villages, olive trees, fruits, and the startling majesty of the Atlas peaks reaching 12,000 snow-covered feet into infinity. It is many-hued Marrakech, Sir Winston Churchill's favorite retreat, a winter wonderland of hunting, golfing, swimming and tennis.

IN ALGERIA it is Algiers, city of contrasts—Bou Saada, set amidst white sand dunes—El Golea, the richest, most beautiful oasis, complete with swimming pool and rose garden—the Hoggar, that fantastic range of ebony granite reminiscent of the Dakota Black Hills—Biserta, the worldly wise floral paradise—Mehouneche and its troglodytic villages—Rhoulfi, hanging on the side of a colorful canyon—Timagad, the African Pompeii, faithfully restored—Constantin, with

the gorges of the Rhummel, the streets of its native quarter clinging precariously to the abutment of Sidi Rached

In Tunisia it is Tunis bordered by Lake Bahira and mountain ranges, the sea a mere seven miles removed — Nabeul and Hammamel, lovely wintering spots lost in a verdure of jasmine, roses and citrus groves—Kairouan, bringing back memories of World War II, the holiest of Moslem cities after Mecca—through Roman ruins to Sfax and its thousand gardens—Gabs, North Africa's only oasis situated on the sea, a delightful city that rivals any resort of the world—Djerba, so tranquil "that one could not die there"—Tozeur, on the edge of the Tunisian Sahara, a city of red bricks and hurried beneath the largest palm groves in North Africa.

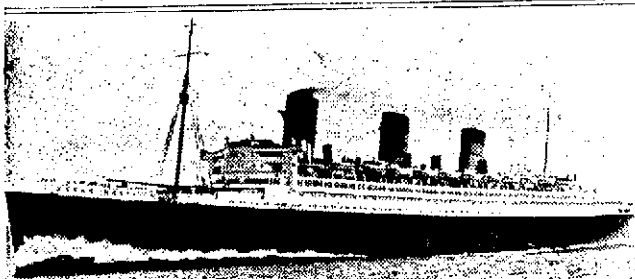

Ensenada Carnival

THREE DAYS of street dancing and the burning in effigy of Bad Humor will feature the biggest carnival in the history of Ensenada, the charming Mexican resort city 80 miles south of San Diego. The celebration is slated to open Feb. 27.

Included in the program will be a parade of floats presided over by the Carnival Queen. Avenida Ruiz, Ensenada's main street, will be closed to traffic during the parade which will feature 50 local mariachis and marimba bands.

Climax of the carnival will come with the burning of Bad Humor in Todos Santos Bay, the city's harbor, with the celebrants watching from shore and small boats. According to the legend, Bad Humor collected all the people's troubles during the year and at the end of the year he was taken on a ride through the city and then burned, thus doing away with grief and unhappiness.

Visitors to Ensenada from the United States for the carnival are invited to bring costumes of any kind for the celebration. Ensenada has many fine motels and hotels and excellent cafes and restaurants. The highway to Ensenada from San Diego is a continuation of U. S. Hwy. 101 through Tijuana and parallels the scenic Lower California coastline most of the distance.

men like Cullen, Jones and Clayton live quietly.

But not Jim West, millionaire oil and cattleman. He is said to own 30 cars, including 11 Cadillacs; four planes, and two ranches — one of 60,000 acres and one of 160,000.

IN HIS DRESS, Jim favors a 10-gallon hat, a diamond-studded Texas Ranger's badge and a huge gold buckle for the belt that holds his two guns. He likes to play cop at night, cruising around town with city police. He also is fond of tossing around silver dollars in public and watching people scramble for them.

Houston has other semi-legendary figures. There's supposed to be an oil man who pays $18,000 a year for a suite at the Hotel Shamrock, which he uses one month out of 12. There's Glenn McCarthy, builder of the $21,000,000 Shamrock, who's as fast with a buck as he is with his fists. And there's Doug

Prince, who owns a chain of hamburger restaurants.

Among other things you hear about Prince, you hear that he wears $30,000 worth of diamonds and owns a 100-foot yacht. He is said to be particularly fond of spending a rainy afternoon riding around town in his Cadillac, accompanied by a bucket of pink champagne in the back seat. Once, at a charity auction, Prince paid $72,000 for a prize steer and then cut it up for steaks at a press party.

In urbane Dallas, which is inclined to look down its nose at Houston, the Shamrock is known as the "Damnrock." In Houston, the Shamrock seems to be the hub of cafe society.

RIISING SUDDENLY out of extremely flat land, the hotel seems more massive and taller than it is. Looking it over once, architect Frank Lloyd Wright had but one comment: "Why?" Inside, the hotel is decorated in 67 shades of green. The first thing you see in the lobby is a spotlighted portrait of McCarthy.

The huge Emerald Room, which seats 1000 nightclub style, once prompted a visiting comic to say, "I've played towns smaller than this."

In the ground-floor jewelry shop, they'll tell you at the drop of a word, publicity, that one night an oilman came in and took one of these and one of those and one of the other. In a few minutes, he spent $41,000.

Physically, Houston is difficult to describe. There are trees dripping Spanish moss to suggest the Old South and royal palm trees to suggest the tropics. There is a busy main street with its smart, modern shops (one is selling a mink coat for Dallas for $295) and above, at night, you see the lighted store signs along with one which says, "Jesus Saves."

There are the Negro and Mexican slums and the exclusive River Oaks section, where most of the millionaires live, where every garage seems to have at least two sets of Cadillac fish-tails sticking out and where the Country Club costs $10,000 to join.

There is the beautiful new Texas Medical Center, now rising as a monument to Houston philanthropy and which one day may be a bulwark of research. And downtown, there is a slick, modern building which looks like a new hotel or a TV station. This is police headquarters and the city jail.

THE CITY has grown so fast there aren't enough storm sewers to drain off rain water and half the town's residential streets have no street lights. Because Houston is still unzoned, you see some odd contrasts: A fertilizer plant adjoining a beautiful home and a perfectly manicured private lawn ending up at a septic tank factory.

Because the town has grown so fast, the crime rate is high but not as bad as the loosely applied tag, "Murder capital of the country," might imply.

In 1952, Houston ranked second to Atlanta in proportionate number of murder and non-negligent manslaughter cases reported to the FBI. But both the FBI and local authorities point out that no conclusions can be drawn from this because cities use too many different bases for reporting homicide.

Recently the city seemed to be in the throes of an armed robbery wave. A huge police dragnet pulled in 1000 known criminals off the streets. One shady character called headquarters and asked if he could go out on the street to look for a job. "It's OK," he was told, "as long as you don't do it after sundown."

PUBLIC SIN is now a matter of the past. Houston's brothels were closed three or four years ago, including one with an attached 12-car garage.

Any report on the city must also include the fact that a survey by the Houston Post found that a "miasmic fear of communism . . . has permeated the city." The Minute Women, an organization of intense patriots, have been unusually active here.

On one occasion, the American Friends Service Committee

had some difficulty arranging a meeting here because someone said the Quaker organization was harboring Communists. Others cried that visiting Rhodes Scholars must be carefully watched because, it was alleged, they advocate union with England.

In 1952, the annual essay contest on the United Nations was banned in city schools because the U. N. had become "controversial." Last year, Dr. George Ebey, deputy superintendent of schools, was charged with a Communist taint in his background. He was thoroughly investigated by a group of former FBI men. They found that on one occasion he might have opposed Reds more in the American Veterans Committee but they concluded there was no evidence he had been a Communist or fellow traveler or disloyal. Still, he was now a "controversial" figure and was fired.

"HOUSTON," a newspaperman told me, "is probably the most reactionary city in the country. It is a sucker for any crackpot that comes along on the lunatic fringe of politics or religion."

But there are others, in and out of the newspaper business, who point out that Houston is no worse in this respect than any other city growing rapidly. Los Angeles has long been noted for the same thing.

Culturally, Houston has a highly regarded symphony, an art museum, three little theater groups and the University of Houston, Texas Southern University for Negroes, the University of Texas School of Dentistry, Baylor College of Medicine and Rice Institute, which has a student body of 1500 and a football stadium that seats 70,000.

There are many book stores. On occasion, one of them has rented 200 or 300 books at a clip to wealthy Houstonians who require a sizeable literary display on their walls for one night.

A few years ago a woman wrote a newspaper columnist asking him to recommend a nice restaurant where she could sip wine and listen to a violin.

"This is no wine and fiddle town," he wrote back. "This is a whisky and trombone town."

Snapshots From Your Kitchen Sink

By the Shutterbug

WE'VE HEARD of people who tried to include "everything but the kitchen sink" in their pictures. We don't approve of this, but do heartily approve of something you can do with your pictures in which the kitchen sink can play a very important role.

We're talking about your trying your hand at developing and printing your own pictures at home—and we're putting all the emphasis on the kitchen sink so you'll know right away that you don't need a darkroom in order to do it.

Start with a visit to your photo dealer for a look at the various kits that he has to show you. You'll be amazed to find that compactly fitted into a quite small box is everything you need for the operation. Of course, there are detailed instructions for doing it, too.

A home developing and printing outfit and a kitchen to use it in will add pleasure to your snapshotting.

Only one step in the procedure calls for complete darkness, and it is one that can be done in a hurry and any light-tight closet is a good place for doing it.

You can do the whole printing

operation in subdued roomlight because there is a special kind of photographic paper, called Velite, which can be used under such conditions. This adds to the fun of home printing because everyone can gather 'round to enjoy the thrill of seeing the picture appear as you put the photographic paper in the developing solution.

LONG BEACH CAMERA GUILD will have a color slide competition at 8 p. m., Wednesday at Municipal Art Center, 2300 F. Ocean Blvd. Plans are being made for a field trip Feb. 21 at Lake Arrowhead. Dr. and Mrs. Russell Fisher have invited the members to make their cabin the meeting place from which picture-taking sorties will be made into the surrounding snow country. Members will bring picnic lunches.

Desserts for Party-Time

By Mildred K. Flanary
Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

FEBRUARY is steeped in party tradition . . . but so are other months of the year. The foods we serve in February, or March, or April, or any other month of the year may follow a theme—a special holiday, or go strictly seasonal—but the basic code for entertaining is the same all year.

Our hostess today, Mrs. Marion C. Houser, 35 La Linda Dr., finds the following rules fun to follow and easy to execute:

Don't work so hard getting the house cleaned up before the party that your back aches, you are tired and cross. Do you ever go around your hostess' home looking for dust?

Dress for company, but don't over dress. Your attire, should, however, make your guests feel they are important.

Don't try to serve "high stylish" or strange foods. Even Aunt Em's Hash served by a happy hostess is far better than "elegant" food surrounded by tension.

DON'T PLAN elaborate flower arrangements and a multiplicity of accessories. Plain,

Kitchen Tip:

MRS. HOUSER'S KITCHEN TIP: Never stretch pie crust to fit a plate. Dough shrinks when baking.

Conserve your energy, take party preparation calmly; then you'll have fun, too, advises Mrs. M. C. Houser, who today shares with readers a recipe for February.

old-fashioned geraniums are colorful and lovely—and a minimum of silver, glass and china require less romping to the kitchen.

Plan a conversation menu as well as one for food. At least, have a few spare topics to toss in should the conversation go personal, religious or political.

The final rule is so plain it never should need stating but here it is: Always ask the folks at home whether it will be convenient for you to have a party. They'll like it better that way, and so will you.

Since this is February, and since George Washington's birthday does call for a party, Mrs. Houser has given us her recipe for Cottage Pudding with Cherry Sauce. It appears separately on this page.

Another festive and timely refreshment is Cherry-Vanilla Ice Cream Pie topped with long-stemmed maraschinos for an extra touch. Bake your best and flakiest pie shell in advance. For an eight- or nine-inch shell, use two pints of ice cream (one vanilla and one cherry), or three pints for a 10-inch shell. Top with a ring of whipped cream and then the cherries.

Mrs. Houser's Cottage Pudding with Cherry Sauce:

- | | |
|---------------------------|---------------------|
| 1½ cup cherries (canned) | ½ teaspoon vanilla |
| ¾ cup sugar | ¼ cup sugar |
| 4 tablespoons butter | ¼ teaspoon salt |
| 2 tablespoons flour | 1 egg |
| 1½ cup flour | ½ cup melted butter |
| 2 teaspoons baking powder | Milk to fill cup |

Crush cherries. Mix with sugar, flour and butter. Cook for 5 to 10 minutes and cool. Pour fruit sauce in buttered pudding pan. Sift dry ingredients together. Melt butter and measure into cup. Add the egg and enough milk to fill cup. Add to dry ingredients and mix well. Pour the batter over the cherry sauce and steam 1½ hours. Start in 350-degree oven for about 30 minutes, then reduce heat to 325 degrees. When done remove from oven and turn out, upside-down. Garnish with whipped cream and whole cherries.

Cherry-vanilla ice cream pie is a dessert that uses cherries, traditional fruit on Washington's birthday.

SOUTHLAND HOMES

The Sky, the Sea and a Beachside Home

By Eileen Ball

CCHEERFUL and informal, seeming to imitate the devotees of the beach, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Copeland, 5701 Seaside Wk., suns itself and looks toward the sea.

The exterior of this home, designed by George M. Montierth, AIA, is unusual in its use of 12-inch redwood planks used as vertical panels. The rough texture of the wood has allowed the yellow pigment of the paint to sink in, with the result that the siding has taken on a mellow, driftwood appearance. The informality of this siding, together with the sunniness of its color, has combined to make this the perfect choice for this informal beach home. And to add beauty to the building (and a note of provincialism, as well) reclaimed brick was used extensively.

Steps leading to the sheltered entry are bordered with brick planters containing camellias and scarlet begonias.

Inside, a large entry leads directly to the lanai and the living rooms. To the left, four steps lead down into the lanai-playroom, cool and inviting with its unique usage of mural wallpaper portraying a Haitian beach scene. This panel occupies the wall opposite one of sliding plate glass that opens onto the outdoor patio.

To offset the cool turquoise and green shades used in the mural, the remaining walls are paneled in Japanese katsura wood, stained the color of birch and finished with a surface smooth as satin. Flooring is of natural cork.

A diagonal indoor barbecue of used brick vies with the mural for focal point of interest in the room. The furnishings are of rattan, carrying out the South Seas motif.

ON A LEVEL with the entry is the living room, solidly carpeted with a deep-napped, sand-colored carpeting. The walls, as well as the connecting dining room, are paneled with the same satiny katsura wood. The ceilings of the rooms are sloping, and the immense open beams are painted a subdued blue-green.

Dominating the living room is a large open fireplace of natural Ojai fieldstone. Its raised hearth is wider than the fireplace and part of it, extending beneath a sea-view window, has been cushioned to provide a casual seating area. The pad on the improvised window seat has been covered with deep blue-green nubby fabric. Yellow bolsters and an array of gaily colored throw pillows enhance the comfort and the attractiveness of this conversational area.

Opposite the windows which frame the ocean view is a curved sofa upholstered in cocoa-and-turquoise tweed. Over the sofa hang four water colors portraying Paris street scenes.

THE DRAPERIES in the living-dining rooms are beautifully styled of a heavy linen-like fabric patterned with rather stylized sunflowers of creamy yellow against a background of blue-green. The draperies are sill length and are spanned with a formally pleated valance all the way across the window expanse. When the desire for greater privacy prevails, casement curtains of the same identical blue-green of the draperies' background may be pulled

across the windows. Either way — drawn or open — these windows are highly dramatic.

Between the dining room and the living area stands a grand piano in an unusual fruitwood finish, and the dining room makes further use of this soft-toned wood with its pearwood French provincial dining set. The large oval table is surrounded with chairs, of a more formalized French provincial styling, upholstered with striped fabric in turquoise and blue-green.

The kitchen, which opens into the dining room by means of an open service and snack counter, is paneled entirely of red birch stained the exact tone of the katsura wood used in the living rooms.

The Copelands' kitchen permits serving informal lunches at the snack bar, enabling the diners to enjoy the ocean view through the dining room picture window beyond. And yet, when a more formal dinner party is in progress in the dining room, a sliding panel of katsura wood and birch slides down over the opening, neatly closing off the kitchen. Closed, the sliding door appears to be just a part of the dining room's effective paneling.

The dropped ceiling in the kitchen is papered in a soft provincial print with a gray ground patterned with brown-leaved berries. The deep red of the fruit has been repeated in the double-tiered print curtains.

Though the house, viewed from the beach, has all the appearance of a single-story dwelling, it is, in reality, a story and a half. Both the bedrooms are upstairs in the back.

THE MASTER BEDROOM has three walls of paneling

Painted a soft aqua. The fourth wall is papered in gray with a pink rose cluster pattern interspersed with tiny provincial scenes. The sloping, open beamed ceiling is the same aqua as the walls.

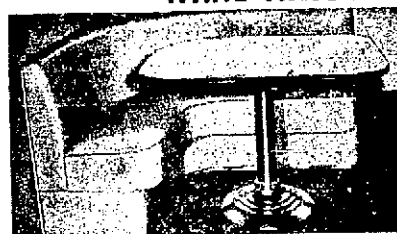

The diagonal fireplace, set into its paneled wall, is faced with glazed tiles patterned with provincial sunflowers.

Across the hall, Miss Barbara Copeland's room is carried out in pale blue accented in white and touches of deeper blue. Her twin spreads of light blue have double flounces of scenic fabric in tones of blue and yellow.

A built-in dresser-desk combination provides surface and storage area for all the things that make a young girl's room perfection. Here is Miss Copeland's telephone, record player, radio, books and sailing trophies.

The final touch, however, that makes this room complete is the connected sun deck.

Stitched into selected material and then combed with a wire carding brush, wool yarn becomes silky fur on decorative animals made by Mrs. H. Asher (above).

WHAT'S YOUR HOBBY?

Fur for That Toy Dog

By Jule Armin

GIVING decorative and toy animals a "living" touch is the accomplishment of Mrs. Herbert Asher, 2519 E. Third St., who adds silky fur to a decorative kitten, a shaggy coat to a toy dog, a fluffy tail to a squirrel or a long mane to a rearing horse that brightens a sofa pillow.

"I just give a new twist to old-time punch work," Mrs. Asher says in describing her hobby, "combing out yarn with a stiff brush as one would the fur of a live animal."

First, Mrs. Asher has the desired animal pattern printed on muslin and bastes this cloth on the back of a piece of velvet or other contrasting material. Then, with a punch needle, she works the picture with close rows of simple in-and-out stitches, done in pure wool yarn. The punch needle leaves loops on the opposite side. As each row of loops is completed, it is brushed out with a small carding brush to give the effect of fur.

The stitches are locked in and only the yarn is combed out, being literally carded back into original wool state.

A white kitten made by Mrs. Asher was so silky and dainty that it was placed in a frame, making it almost a third-dimension picture.

Children are delighted with these furry animals and like to fondle them — one reason why the kitten went into a frame behind glass to retain its regal white. Mrs. Asher makes dark-haired horses and dogs in toy form for children to play with.

Mrs. Asher is a member of the Woman's Music Club and the Zahl Meistersingers.

Conquest of the Highest Mountain

By Roy Gise

THE CONQUEST OF EVEREST, by Sir John Hunt (Dutton, $6).

At 11:30 a. m., on May 29, 1953, a New Zealand beekeeper and a Sherpa tribesman stood on top of the world. This was 11 expeditions and 32 years since the first reconnaissance in 1921 but the experience gained in previous attempts all contributed to victory.

Dozens of books describe former expeditions but "The Conquest of Everest" is the first success story. It is well illustrated with Kodachrome and black and white photographs as well as pen and ink sketches and maps. Other members of the party have added appendices detailing equipment, supplies and other data and the chapter on reaching the summit is by Sir Edmund Hillary.

Sir John Hunt, the leader, did a masterful job of organization. Team work is most essential and he had it from Sherpa and Britisher alike. As in most previous expeditions he had his high camps established in order to take advantage of the first break in the weather, that unpredictable time between the western gales and the approaching monsoon from the southeast.

In the meantime tons of equipment had to be backpacked by all, higher and higher, thus setting up that final high camp from which the assault team would make the try for the summit. The highest camp was pitched just under 28,000 feet and oxygen equipment was a major factor of success.

Only 370 yards of altitude to go—five hours later, plus hundreds of steps cut into frozen snow and ice—the ridge dropped away—it was the summit!

Hillary: "A few more whacks of the ice ax and we stood on top. . . I looked at Tenzing and in spite of the balaclava, goggles and oxygen mask enmeshed with icicles there was no disguising his grin of pure delight as he looked all around him. We shook hands and then Tenzing threw his arm around my shoulders and we thumped each other on the back."

TREASURE OF THE SUN, by Adeline Attwood (Houghton Mifflin, $3).

This first novel by a San

C. G. LUMBARD

"Senior Spring" is a fine first novel by C. G. Lumbard. In it, Steve Burnett struggles through his last year in a California college. There's a girl. (Simon & Schuster, $3.50)

Francisco housewife is a simple, poignant story that brings to life legends of Inca treasure. When Illoma's bridegroom was tortured almost to death, the Andes tribe knew word had leaked out of their secret treasure, hidden since the conquest by Pizarro. Torn by imprisonment of her father, the girl struggles against the teniente's determination to learn the secret, finally to lead him to the hidden valley where the great chain of gold lay at the bottom of the lake, and where a long tunnel led through the mountain. There Illoma took the teniente, and there the people—like the Ancient ones who had made this hiding place—came to move the mountain.—L. A.

THE ART OF CONTRARY THINKING, by Humphrey B. Neill (The Caxton Printers, Ltd., $1.).

A writer of business news and author of several books, Mr. Neill points out that when everyone thinks alike, everyone is likely to be wrong; that the New York stock market crash in 1929 is a good example of disasters magnified and hastened by the pressure of mass opinion. His answer is "contrary thinking," or "training your mind to ruminate in directions opposite to general public opinion." But, as he says, you must weigh your conclusions in the light of current events and current manifestations of human behavior. Those who like to think for themselves will find much help in this book.

By Harry Rickard

NOVICE COLLECTORS have been known to trim the margins and even to remove the selvage from their plate number blocks. Don't do that anymore than you would trim the lapels or cut the buttons from your coat. Don't try to improve on the blocks for you merely ruin them for future resale if they should happen to be valuable.

Topical collectors will certainly like the new set of bi-colored stamps from Falkland Islands. Each stamp pictures a different ship. Several others of the new British Queen Elizabeth sets portray ships of various kinds.

Last summer, East Germany issued a new set of stamps for their regular series. Now, 11 values have been re-drawn and issued to replace the originals. The original issue should be good since they were short-lived.

The United States has no definite stamp program for 1954 at this writing. We will pass on the announcements when they are received.

LONG BEACH Stamp Collectors Club announces a $25 bond will be awarded for the best design submitted for a cacheted envelope advertising its stamp exhibit June 25-27. (A cachet is a seal or design which can be printed on the left side of an envelope.)

Competition is open to all, and any number of entries may be submitted. They may be in black and white or in color but on 8½x11-inch paper.

Entries should be mailed to the secretary, Mrs. Emily Moorefield, 68 Bennett Ave., Long Beach, 3. They must be in the hands of the exhibition chairman by March 24 and the winner will be announced at the club meeting April 5.

Nazi ace Heinz Knoke and his Messerschmitt.

I FLEW FOR THE FUHRER, by Heinz Knoke (Holt, $3).

Heinz Knoke traded his Boy Scout uniform for one of Hitler's Jungfalk when only 18, and his logbook contains records of nearly 2000 flights including more than 400 operational missions in the face of the enemy. Credited with shooting down 52 aircraft, he won the coveted Knight's Cross and Nazi's German Gold Cross, emerged from the war a captain and squadron commander. This is his diary, starting when the Germans were proud in the face of victories, ends with Knoke's closest buddies shot down, the Nazi squadrons diminished to a feeble likeness of what they once were, the German armies falling apart and Germany itself going over the brink to disaster.

GARDENS

Plant Durable Flowers in Dry Areas

By Walter Finch

Gallardia will do well in almost any type soil and, being a sun-lover, is resistant to drouth.

WINTER PRESENTS a few sunny days that makes the confirmed gardener anxious to be out and doing. The problem is what to do in the garden that will be constructive. Plants that are set out now must stand the cold and wind and rain and should actually benefit by planting at this time.

Most of the perennials such as campanula, coreopsis, columbine, coral bell, dianthus, foxglove, hollyhock, geum and gallardia are hardy enough to thrive under adverse conditions. Actually they are better off the sooner that they can be planted out in the open garden, according to the California Bedding Plant Advisory Board. This is due to the need to establish an adequate root system during the long dormant season to support the heavy top growth and bloom that they yield during the spring season, and still have reserve strength for the following dormant season.

The last two of the above group of plant items are particularly suited for winter planting. Both are sun lovers and are drouth resistant and will give years and years of garden color. Geum is generally available in solid red and solid yellow and gallardia in a mixture of these two colors, so that the two items can be interplanted. Geum is taller growing with an airy appearance, while gallardia is denser and more firmly anchored to the ground.

Neither geum nor gallardia is choosy about soil type. Both thrive in full sun, will do well on poor soil and require little or no fertilization, and both are quite drouth resistant.

Golf Brand flourished anywhere—in sun or shade, on level or grade

Because Golf Brand is blended to meet all the various conditions found in every lawn, there's no need to buy special seeds for special lawn conditions. Golf Brand gives you sun-loving grasses—including famous Merion Bluegrass—to keep the lawn green in hot weather—grasses that stand deep shade... grasses with root structures that cling to slopes. Wherever you plant Golf Brand, the particular grasses best suited for the conditions take over. With reasonable care, you get a lush carpet of green over your entire lawn, all season long, year after year.

This blend of grasses grows a lawn so thick it crowds out weeds

True, most seeds give you a good looking lawn in a hurry. But they gradually thin out after the first season, leaving the lawn a perfect target for weeds. Golf Brand Lawn Seed, on the other hand, blends 11 perennial long-lasting grasses for an ideal combination: early lush growth plus ever-increasing turf thickness. You get a dense tightly-knit turf that grows constantly thicker, resists weed invasion for years and years.

Don't plant lawn seed until you read this important fact

Let's be realistic—it takes work to build or repair a lawn. It requires spading, raking, fertilizing, seeding, rolling, watering. Work that must be done no matter what kind of seed you plant. So doesn't it make sense to plant the very best seed money can buy? The kind that gives you a permanent lawn... a lawn that grows thicker, more luxuriant, more beautiful as time goes on. Golf Brand is blended to give you just that kind of lawn. And to make doubly sure that these fine selected seeds sprout into sturdy grass, Golf Brand is treated with Du Pont Arasan that protects against most grass-killing diseases. Plant this finer seed now.

Stable, distinctive and polished, the Weimaraner is from Germany. Above, Duke Von Hamm, fine example of the breed, owned by Gene Hawley, Lynwood.

PET PARADE

So Good, So Young!

By Eleanor A. Price

OWNING A FINE dog which you can proudly enter in dog shows opens up a whole field of interest and endeavor. Duke Von Hamm, whose picture accompanies this article, is a 15-months-old Weimaraner belonging to Gene Hawley of Lynwood. His handler, George Harski, has entered him in five shows, and in all five he has taken first place for his class.

The Weimaraner is a young breed of dog with a history going back only to the 19th century. However, it is a stable type, distinctive and polished.

No other dog can match its coloring, which is a gray that ranges through silver or mouse-gray with bright, dark, and yellow tones. Its eyes are blue-gray or amber.

Because of his bloodhound ancestors, the Weimaraner has a fine nose for scenting. His mouth is soft, enabling him to carry game without injuring it. In earlier days this dog was used against quarry in the game-abundant Germany. When game-hunting went out of style there, the Weimaraner was supported by a club and it became virtually impossible to buy this breed.

In 1929, Howard Knight, an American who belonged to this club, came to America with two specimens and began raising puppies. Now the Weimaraner is becoming increasingly popular, and deservedly so. The dog is intelligent and alert, an excellent watch dog, and a gentle, loving companion for children. He does not sulk but tries ever to win love and approval.

"K&K" GREEN STAMPS

bright purplish pink or reddish purple shades.

After the flowers have faded, handsome large heart-shaped light green leaves, two to eight inches long, and as broad, adorn the tree concealing slender, tapering three-inch long fruit pods that turn to purple in the fall. In fall, the leaves, too, change from green to a clear yellow before falling.

The tree, attractive at any season, is insect-free.

Recently, a group of Southern California landscape architects chose the redbud as a favorite spring flowering tree for Southland gardens.

THE REDBUD is a hardy, deciduous, that endures indefinitely, if provided with growing conditions that approximate its native woodland habitat. It delights in a deep, rich, sandy, well drained, moist soil in a woodland situation, enjoying morning sun and afternoon shade and set away from the wind. Give the tree plenty of moisture, consistently, especially in hot weather.

Because of its modest size, it grows from 12 to 20 feet high, the redbud is ideally suited to a small garden. It makes a charming specimen tree for the lawn or patio, set singly or in groups. It is attractive at the outskirts of a shrubby border or against a bank of evergreens. Set it by a lily pond and you create a charming picture.

There are two species of the redbud that do well in the Southland, the redbud of the eastern woods, Cercis canadensis and the California redbud, Cercis occidentalis. The eastern redbud is preferred, here, as a tree.

Given right soil and a proper site, the Redbud adapts itself quite readily to a place in the domestic garden.

By Murtha Hurley

ONE OF THE MOST attractive of America's native flowering trees, the gracious little Redbud, hovers in woodland areas, by the side of creeks, in the foothills of mountains and in forests, all across the land.

Its blossoming in early spring brings a sparkling note of vivid color to California mountain sides. In the Sierra Nevada foothills and inner coast ranges, the pretty redbud forms colorful thickets, and can be seen at the edge of canyons. It makes such a strikingly beautiful picture, when in bloom, visitors exclaim in wonder.

This charming American wildling has been lending grace and beauty to America's home gardens ever since our nation was founded. In the early days, gardening colonists made trips to neighboring woods, dug up the little tree and transferred it to their own property.

One such tree-planting gardener, George Washington, confides many times to his diary that he had transplanted redbuds from the adjoining woods to his farm estate at Mount Vernon. On his birthday, Feb. 22, 1785, Mr. Washington relates: "I removed from the woods and old fields, several young trees of Sassafras, dogwood and redbud." And on March 1, 1785: "I planted a circle of dogwoods with redbuds in the middle, close to the old cherry tree near the garden house." Later, in his quiet way he speaks of the glory of their spring blooming.

IN APRIL at Mount Vernon, the pretty flowering redbuds provide one of the loveliest sights of this historic spot. Many of the trees, planted by George Washington, nearly 200 years ago, still flourish there.

In California, redbuds bloom at the same time as the flowering peach tree, from late February to May. The flowers appear before the leaves unfold, the delicate, angled naked branches are strung with thick clusters of showy pea-shaped flowers in

With handsome foliage and fruit like custard pie, sapote is a fine adjunct to the garden.

Tasty Sapote

By O. G. Boyd

IF YOU SEEK a beautiful tree for your garden — one that stays green all the year around; a tree that bears prodigious amounts of fruit that looks like a medium-sized green apple; fruit that has something of the flavor of a luscious ripe pear and whose flesh is like the filling of a custard pie — a sapote, or marmalade plum, also called the sapadilla tree, is the answer to your quest.

Sapotes are delicious in fruit salad or eaten ripe as they come from the tree. They have a very high pepsin content and are fine for people who cannot eat the more acid fruits. In Mexico the fruit is used for the treatment of a malarial or tropical dysentery, and while not a cure, is very effective in alleviating the suffering caused by this disease.

The tree is hardier than most subtropicals. It is a fast grower and thrives in the Long Beach climate and the soils of this area. It also does well farther from the coast, where the temperature seldom falls below 20 degrees. It starts to bear in about four years and is highly resistant to any kind of pest.

Musical Carob Tree

By V. Meldo Hillis

FEW PEOPLE are aware that the carob tree is nature's musical prodigy, murmuring peacefully as breezes stir its leaves. Under its many-leaved deep shaded boughs, children romp and play when midsummer days are warm.

The carob is more than just another tree. It is an evergreen seedling found growing on parking strips in the cities of Southern California. The carob was originally imported from the Mediterranean Basin about 30 years ago.

While the carob is ideal for shade, it is more than that. Since ancient times it has furnished food for both man and beast. It is believed the "Locust and Honey" on which St. John and the Prodigal Son subsisted while they were in the wilderness was the wild carob.

The carob bears a pod not unlike the bean, the sugar content of which is very high. The pods are ground for flour. Its taste and nourishing qualities are identical to chocolate. The flour is mostly imported and is used in soda drinks, ice cream, breakfast foods. Many commercial products are manufactured from the seed.

IN THE EARLY 1920's efforts were made to popularize the culture of the carob. Its ability to resist extreme drought made it ideal for semiarid regions in the Southland. Glittering results were promised by indiscreet holders of semiarid land. Badly handled, the industry failed.

A quarter of a century has passed. Those who know the carob's food value are making a desperate effort to revive its growth through a demonstration plot of five acres of arid land near Vista. It is open for inspection and is under the capable management of Dr. J. Elliot Coit of Vista, an agriculturist of considerable repute. The trees for the most part are three and four years old and are expected to start bearing when they are seven or eight years old.

Could it be possible that this modest experiment at Vista will awaken interest in the culture of the carob? Its economical importance is highly potential. It is a food product whose future remains unexplored.

The Californian declares that conditioning is the key to his mountain climbing success. He keeps fit between expeditions by a program of activity that would hospitalize most men of his age. It is not unusual for him to play a round of golf and five sets of tennis in the morning, then top the day off by swimming 30 lengths of a 165-foot swimming pool.

Sapote: Tasty Fruit

Some wild varieties grow to a height of 65 feet, with large trunks and branches.

SAPOTES are not very well known in Southern California and are seldom seen in the markets. In Long Beach and Garden Grove there are a few trees and in Carlsbad, between Long Beach and San Diego, there are two or three groves.

The sapote was one of the main articles of diet of the Incas and the Mayas. They also used the tree for its hard, durable timber.

You don't have to worry about a crop. Some trees have been known to bear 1000 pounds in a year. Trees in Carlsbad have fruit hanging on them in large clusters and the ground beneath yellow with fallen fruit. They usually ripen in the spring.

WHY? Because a bare-root rose bush needs a full root system, storage in a properly moistened bed, and open air, if it is to remain fully vigorous.

Trimming roots for packaging and then subjecting the bushes to the drying effects of artificial heat is certain to reduce the blooming power of the plant.

How to Sing a Hit

By Elaine Hauck

UNLIKE MOST starry-eyed singers who set their sights on the Broadway stage and musical comedy, Monica Lewis is perfectly content with making records. Monica feels that musical comedy has definite drawbacks for a singer.

"You have to yell your head off," she says, "and the orchestra's playing right with you. The composer wants to hear every note and the lyricist wants to hear every syllable."

"The songs are made hits off the stage by pop singers. They give them a little interpretation. On stage you have to sing note for note, word for word, just as it's written. On records you inject a little personality and that's what makes a song a hit."

As an example, she cites Perry Como's "No Other Love," the song from "Me and Juliet." It is Monica's theory that Como's interpretation made it a hit.

Her aversion to the stage isn't due to stage fright. Those who saw her on the stage of our auditorium a few years ago can attest to that. The cute Capitol star says that recording makes her more nervous than anything else. This, despite the fact that any time she can stop and do it over.

"But, with records," she says, "when it's finished it's permanent. And you never really know the song you record — you've only seen it a few days before the session, sometimes less."

Her secret weapon for relaxing during recording sessions? Will power.

COLUMBIA RECORDS imparts some good news to record enthusiasts who are budget conscious, in the announcement of their "sale and a half" which is going on in Long Beach and all over the nation.

By purchasing any Columbia long-playing record, another record may be obtained for just half price. Columbia offers record series from Broadway shows, jazz, symphonies, popular, chamber music, operas, children's records and mood music.

Good opportunity to add to your record collections. Hurry, because it's for a limited time only.

TEN TOP TUNES: Dean Martin's "That's Amore" captured the top spot on your local hit parade this week with Patti Page's "Changing Partners" running a close second; (3) "Oh Mein Papa," Eddie Fisher; (4) "Stranger in Paradise," Tony Martin; (5) "Heart of My Heart," Four Aces; (6) "Secret Love," Doris Day; (7) "Rags to Riches," Tony Bennett; (8) "Make Love to Me," Jo Stafford.

HAROLD A. JONES

SINCE NEWS about good food travels fast, people have come from as far away as Rome, London and even Punxsutawney, Pa., to try the house specialties at Jones Dining Room, 120 E. Fifth St.

There are a lot of reasons for the success of the dining room, and its adjoining cafeteria, but the main reason, of course, is simply the quality of the food.

Complete dinners in the dining room are priced from $1.65 to $2.75 -- and when the Joneses say complete they mean COM-PLETE. The patron starts off with his choice of a hearty soup or a fruit cocktail. Then the waitress brings a magnificent tray of salads and the guest, practically drooling by now, is permitted to choose whichever strikes his fancy. The tray usually contains 10 different varieties, ranging from molded fruit and vegetable salads to tossed green, combination, cole slaw, carrotapple-and-raisin and cottage cheese.

Entrees on the $1.65 dinner include chicken fried steak, short ribs and fish. New York cut steaks, filets and double cut prime ribs are priced at $2.75 and there are other entrees priced in between. Guests get their choice of three kinds of potatoes, a second vegetable and a selection of hot rolls, including Jones' famed blueberry muffins. Each dinner also includes choice of beverage and dessert.

THE FOOD served in Jones'
Cafeteria is of the same high quality, the only difference being in the prices (which are lower) and the style of service.

Host and hostess at the two restaurants are Harold A. Jones and his wife, Ivalou. Jones started the cafeteria in 1929 with a seating capacity of 64 and added the dining room 10 years later. The two places now have a total seating capacity of 400.
Since Mr. and Mrs. Jones are Seventh Day Adventists, both restaurants close Fridays at 3
p. m. and remain closed all day Saturday. But they do a land-office business the rest of the week from 11 a. m. to 8 p. m.

FAITH MAY BE DEFINED BRIEFLY AS AN ILLOGICAL BELIEF IN THE OCCURRENCE OF THE IMPROBABLE—IN 1000% PROFIT, MAYBE! H.L. MURKIN

YES, I HAVE MADE MILLIONS... THAT'S TRUE... BUT, REALLY... I'M NOT A FINANCIAL WIZARD! NO... NO... I'M ONLY FORTUNATE IN PLACING MY FAITH IN FRIENDS! TRUST A TRUE FRIEND, I ALWAYS SAY...

OH, HOW RIGHT YOU ARE...

I'M EMBARRASSED! I'D ADMIT THIS ONLY TO FRIENDS AS TRUE AS YOU... BUT MY SUCCESS... IT'S HIS BRAINS THAT HAVE MADE ME RICH...

HIS BRAINS?

I MERELY INVEST AS HE TELLS ME... IT ALWAYS PAYS OFF AT LEAST A THOUSAND PER CENT!

DID YOU HEAR THAT?

A THOUSAND PER CENT... HOW MANY NAUGHTS IS THAT?

HE HAS TOLD ME NEVER TO MENTION HIS NAME... BUT I... WELL... YOU FOLKS HAVE BEEN SUCH GOOD NEIGHBORS...

OH, WE'D NEVER REPEAT A WORD...

OH, YES, OF COURSE...

THIS MAN COULD BUY AND SELL ALL OF THEM... BUT HE HATES PUBLICITY! ME, I'M ONLY AN OFFICE BOY TO HIM... BUT HE LIKES ME... HE LIKES TO SEE ME MAKE MONEY...

I... I'M TAKING AN AWFUL CHANCE... BUT I'M GOING TO TELL YOU HIS NAME... HE IS F. FRANCIS FINNOG... HA! I TOLD YOU YOU'D NEVER HEARD OF HIM...

BUT AFTER WHAT YOU HAVE TOLD US... HE MUST BE A WONDERFUL MAN...

WONDERFUL! HA! HE'S MORE THAN WONDERFUL! HE'S HUMAN!... I'M GOING TO HAVE YOU MEET HIM! SOMEHOW I FEEL HE'LL LOVE YOU FOLKS!

OH, MR. KNILS! ARE YOU SURE IT'LL BE ALL RIGHT?

F. FRANCIS FINNOG, EH? BIGGER'N EVEN "DADDY" WARBUCKS, EH? TH' GUY MUST HAVE A HOLE IN HIS HEAD... OR FIGGERS TH' EBUR'S HAVE...

OH, WELL... NONE O' MY BUSINESS, I S'POSE... IT'S THEIR MONEY... Y'NEVER GET ANYWHERE TRYIN' TO TELL FOLKS THEY'VE MADE A BAD GUESS!

AND I COULD BE WRONG... NO POINT IN BUTTIN' INTO THEIR BUSINESS... EDWARD AN' ELLA EBUR HAVE BEEN AWFUL GOOD TO US... JUST ABOUT SAVED YOUR LIFE... EH, SANDY?

HEH! HEH! WE USED TO SAY THAT WHEN I WAS IN SCHOOL!

IT WAS ORIGINAL IN HIS DAY, JILL!

WHAT DO YOU MEAN?

DADDY AND LONGFELLOW WERE CONTEMPORARIES!

DID YOU GET A COMIC VALENTINE FROM ZIGGY THIS YEAR?

NO, HE SAID HE REFORMED... THAT MUST BE HIM NOW!

ARTHUR GODFREY says:

In sniffle season, more than ever —
It's "Kleenex Tissue Time"

Listen to ARTHUR GODFREY TIME
daytime program, CBS Radio-TV

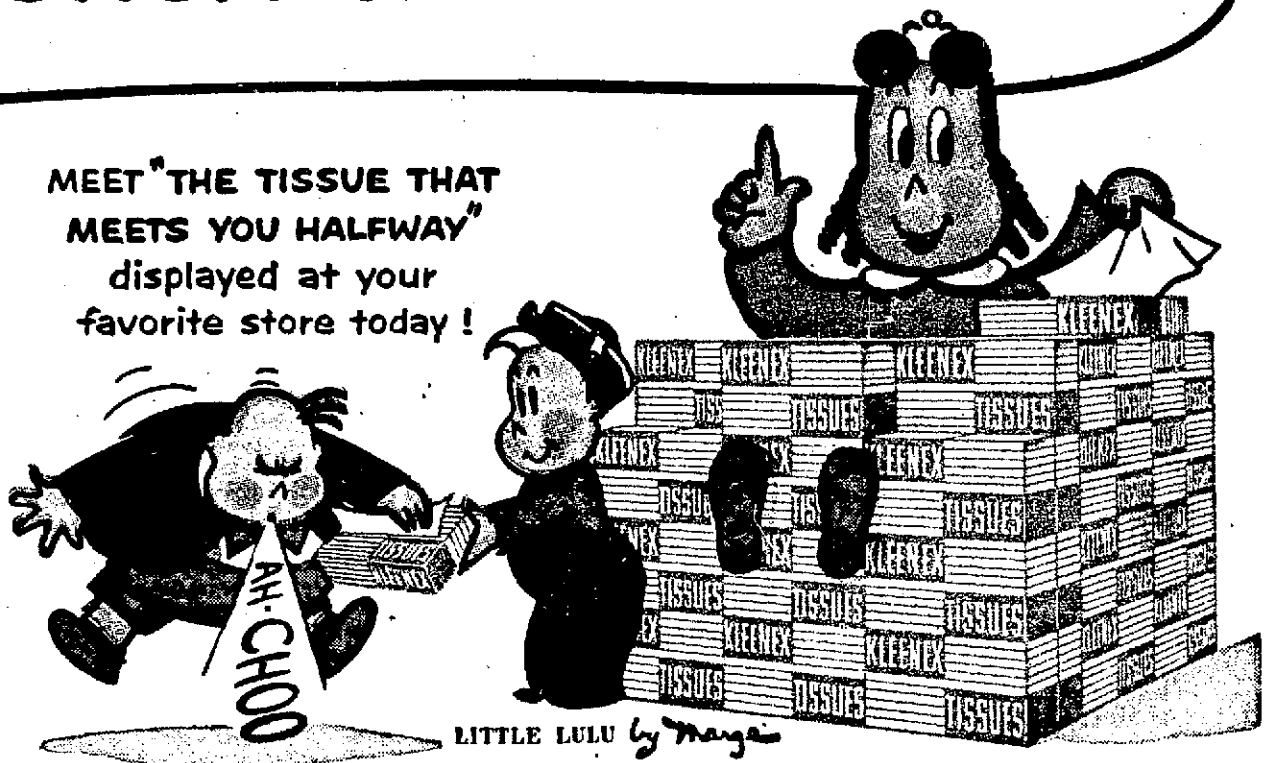

Let cold-weather sniffles freeze your beezer — wrap it in soothing Kleenex* tissues! Wonderfully soft — yet plenty strong — this gentle tissue is brown enough to cope with gusty blows; sneezes. So lint-free, Kleenex comforts tender noses.

Cover "kerchoos" with Kleenex — to save spreading colds to others. Use a tissue, then destroy — germs and all. Only Kleenex meets sneezes halfway! That handy box serves one at a time — ends waste, saves trouble, money!
